Jack Richardson, 541 Homewood Ave., after 61 years of building boats here, doesn't know what to do with his spare time. "Just sit down, I guess."

He deserves it, for he spent most of that three score years and one on his feet, first as a boat-builder with the Ontario Canoe Co., and later as a finisher with the firm which became the Canadian Canoe Co.

In honor of his retirement which took place at the end of April, fellow employees who grew to know Jack during his long service, were hosts at a banquet Friday night.

They presented him with a chrome smoker, pipe and accessories during the evening

OUTLIVED THEM ALL

None of Jack's original co-workers were there, however. Now 81, he outlived every one of them.

Mr. Richardson started with Ontario Canoe at the age of 20. Since then he has seen the evolution of the popular board canoes and skiffs to the canvassed canoes and outboards.

He considers the introduction of the outboard motor the greatest contribution to the change in boat designing.

Another change was wrought when builders started using cedar strips to construct boats instead of cedar and basswood boards

Also no longer built are the 18-foot freighter canoes which rose to popularity with "the great gold rush," circa 1898. Orders subsided however, and the big freighters are no longer.

Mr. Richardson is a bachelor and lives with his sisters, Harriet and Elizabeth. His only hobby at the moment is gardening.

Coronation Season's End Relief To Clothes Renters

LONDON (Reuters)—The Coronation season is ending and a score of busy people down among the fruit and vegetables of London's Covent Garden market can sigh with relief and start thinking about vacations.

The folk concerned are not purveyors of cabbages or carnations, but employees of Moss Brothers, world's largest clothes hire firm. For the last 10 week they have been running themselves ragged supplying finery for the festivities at $10 and up for a complete outfit.

Moss Bros. have furnished correct attire for every function on the Social calendar including the Coronation itself. Even Adlai Stevenson, U.S. Democratic leader called on them when he found his London program included a Buckingham Palace garden party requiring formal morning dress.

EQUITY NEAR $100,000

The firm won't divulge figures, but it's safe to estimate their equity in one of these garden parties, which attract some 7,000 guests, is close to $100,000.

For a day at the Ascot races it's more than twice this amount. Their income on these occasions, mainly for rental of morning suits complete with grey topper, is about $3.500 a day.

After the sun sets men's suits are of secondary importance to evening gowns.

"Our business this year was simply tremendous," said Miss Muriel Sutcliffe, in charge of the women's department. At one ambassadors' reception at Buckingham Palace, for instance, 40 of the women were outfitted by Moss Bros.

The firm's wardrobe of 2,500 dresses was doubled for the Coronation season. Several hundred gowns of embroidered satin and brocade were specially made to wear under robes at Westminster Abbey.

Average charge for these was $25 a day. Rental for an ordinary evening or cocktail dress varies from $7.50 to $35 depending on its quality and the number of times it has been worn.

Get Surplus Butter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Needy Europeans will receive 10,800,000 pounds of surplus United States butter. The agriculture department said Friday it was giving the butter to the war relief services of the National Catholic Welfare Conference for distribution in Austria, Trieste, Italy and Germany. The department still has about 260,000,000 pounds of butter on hand.

May Lift Ban On Hog Sale At Stratford

STRATFORD (CP)—The three-month-old ban on sale of hogs through community sales here may be lifted Monday allowing sale of swine in the area for the first time since hog cholera broke out in Western Ontario in mid-May.

A telegram received Friday from Ottawa by Dr. G. P. McKenzie, health of animals branch inspector for the dominion department of agriculture for Perth county ordered new inspection of sales barns and lifting of hog sale quarnatine if barns are found clean. The order will be general throughout Ontario provided no new cases of hog cholera are found today.

Dr. McKenzie said this directive from dominion department of agriculture applies only to barns. Previously, movement of hogs was permitted, following quarantine. However quarantine on farms which have been infected by disease remains until further notice from Ottawa.

Hog cholera was first noted around Breslau. The first infected hogs were traced to a lot sold through Kitchener and other community sales in mid-May. The hogs had originated in the Chatham area. Two days after the first case was found, a ban on sales throughout Ontario was imposed.

To Direct Relief Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—C. Tyler Wood, deputy foreign aid chief, was named Friday to direct the relief and reconstruction program in Korea. Wood, who is deputy to foreign aid director Harold Stassen, will serve as Gen. Mark Clark's chief economic staff officer in carrying out the program. Wood was one of the architects of the Marshal plan for European reconstruction.

RUFOUS, as the bird became known to Wall Street bird watchers, is back in the pet shop from where he flew the coup through an open skylight a few days ago. After giving the ASPCA a "wild goose" chase for two days, he has been returned after buzzing New York and tieing up Manhattan's traffic with his high altitude acrobatics. The hornbill originally came from Bangkok, Thailand and is valued at $200.

Bush Training Given Cadets At Banff Camp

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—The rugged territory of Banff national camp teaches self-reliance while providing a vacation-time prize for top qualifying members of Canada's 60,000 high school students in khaki.

About 150 teen-age cadets attend the camp, established six years ago as a counter-attraction to the foreign tours sponsored for other cadets by the navy and air force. The army camp features citizenship and the theme: "Know Canada First."

E. R. Hall, a civilian instructor at the camp, stresses realism. He is a naturalist and teacher of chemistry and zoology at Kenora, Ont., the rest of the year.

FORGET FABLES

When a cadet leaves the bivouac camp, where he learns woodcraft as well as military tactics and discipline, he knows that the childhood fables of Mother Goose and such are not much use in the woods.

Here bears, wolves and lynxes take second rating to the lowly mosquito. For instance, the boys are told that bears are more afraid of cadets than the cadets are of bears. Mr. Hall says there has never been a proven case of a wolf attacking a human, although the wolf, like the lynx, will follow a man for hours out of curiosity.

"I'm much more afraid of the mosquito than I am of the bear," says Mr. Hall. The stings of a swarm of mosquitos and the resultant itch and irritation have been known to drive a man crazy.

As a result of their bush training, the boys learn to fend for themselves when in a group or alone. As for getting lost, they are told "the only thing to fear is fear itself."

RULES FOR OUTDOORS

They learn the proper way of hiking—"have an objective. Learn to observe, and travel slowly. The curse of all travel is perspiration. The important thing in bush travel is to know your speed."

Cadets are taught to find and keep their direction. "There is no person with a compass in his head," they are told. "One in his pocket is a lot better."

They learn how to toughen their feet by soaking them in a solution of salt and rubbing alcohol.

Capt. W. L. Barteaux, a cadet officer and superintendent of schools at Kentville, N.S., was in command of the camp and the cadet company was headed by Major Jacques Paulin of Montreal.

The instructors included well-qualified army personnel such as Sgt. Emile Boucher of Montreal and WO2 R. F. Hanlon of Kingston, Ont.

RIDES 100TH WINNER

LEWES, England (AP)—Sir Gordon Richards, world's leading jockey with 4,725 victorious rides, booted home his 100th winner of the 1953 season Friday—for the second time.

He brought Stroke of Fortune home in front in Lewes' second race. This would have been his 100th victory. But his winning mount, Edradour, at Sandown Park May 29 was disqualified on technical grounds weeks after that race. Richards made certain of his 100 mark officially in the fifth race aboard Jamie.

Raise 2 Powerful Barriers To New Communist Attack

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and its Allies have raised two powerful barriers to any new Communist assault on South Korea.

But no public answer has been given to the question of whether the U. S. can prevent South Korean President Syngman Rhee from taking up arms against the Reds again six months hence.

The United States reported to the United Nations late Friday that 15 UN members with troops in Korea have signed with the United States a declaration warning the Communists that if they violate the armistice the UN countries will fight—and the fight probably will reach beyond the boundaries of Korea.

Although two signers, Britain and Canada, made it clear they were not committing themselves in advance to strike at Red China itself, the declaration raised such a possibility if Chinese forces were again involved along with North Koreans in a drive to conquer all Korea. In the past the Allies strongly opposed any military action directly against Red China on the ground it migt set off a world war.

RELEASE TEXT

At Seoul Friday State Secretary Dulles and Rhee released the text of a mutual defence treaty under which the United States would regard an attack on free Korea as "dangerous to its own peace and safety" and would act to meet the danger "in accordance with its constitutional process."

The U. S. administration expects the Senate early next year to ratify the treaty.

In a joint statement Dulles and Rhee affirmed an agreement to walk out of a prospective UN-Communist conference on Korean unity, scheduled to begin within three months, if the Reds after 90 days are found to be negotiating in bad faith.

But at this point, the statement declares that Dulles and Rhee recognize "the inherent right" of the South Korean government to deal with its own problems and says that Rhee has agreed "to take no unilateral action to unite Korea by military means for the agreed duration (90 days) of the political conference."

The implication is clear that Rhee has not agreed not to act on his own to unite Korea by military means after the 90-day period.

U. S. officials are strongly hopeful that when the time comes he will not do so. But until then the question mark over his attitude will continue to make the truce an uneasy one.

Warwickshire Gains Moral Victory

LONDON (Reuters) — Warwickshire gained a moral victory over the Australians Friday when the tourists, left with 170 minutes to score 166 runs for victory, were forced to play defensively and hit only 53 for the loss of five wickets.

Australian captain Lindsay Hassett was roundly booed when he left the field. The crowd had also clapped rhythmically and jeered while Hassett batted for two hours and 50 minutes to score only 21 runs.

Friday's final scores:

Warwickshire 270 for eight declared and 76 for three declared, Australian Tourists 181 and 53 for five. Match drawn.

Middlesex 216 for nine declared and 175 for six declared, Kent 129 and 163. Middlesex won by 99 runs.

Derbyshire 368 for seven declared and 82 for seven, Sussex 127 and 325. Match drawn.

Nottinghamshire 361 for eight declared and 96, Lancashire 345 and 115 for four. Lancashire won by six wickets.

Surrey 284 and 141 for nine declared, Hampshire 172 and 148. Surrey won by 105 runs.

Somerset 458 for eight declared and 179 for three declared, Glamorgan 336 and 202 for six. Match drawn.

Gloucestershire 269 and 190, Northamptonshire 163 and 217. Gloucestershire won by 79 runs.

Leicestershire 251 and 182, Yorkshire 255 for eight declared and 172. Leicestershire won by six runs.

2nd Naval Squadron Formed At Collins Bay

HAMILTON (CP)—Ontario's second naval reserve air squadron for training reserve crews will be formed at Collins Bay airport near Kingston in September.

Announcing the plan for the squadron Friday, Commodore Kenneth F. Adams, commanding officer naval divisions, said the squadron will be a tender to HMCS Cataraqui, Kingston's naval division. At first the group will have Harvard aircraft, but later naval operational aircraft will be added.

Holmes, Shirk Stage Upsets

By PETER REILLY

BRANTFORD (CP) — Only two members of Ontario's 1952 Willingdup Cup team survived quarter-final round match play here Friday to enter today's semi-finals of the Ontario amateur golf championship.

In one of two upsets Friday Ted Holmes of the host Brantford Golf and Country club eliminated Keith Kirkpatrick, a member of last year's Willingdon Cup entry, one up on the 19th hole.

Holmes, who injured his back during the Second World War and was not expected to play again, won when Kirkpatrick, who overshot the green on his second shot, chipped past the cup, then missed his putt. Holmes' second shot landed on the front of the green, and he two-putted for a par four.

In the other shakeup, veteran Phil Farley of Toronto Scarboro, who didn't feel well during both rounds Friday, lost out on the 16th green to 23-year-old Grant Shirk of Kitchener.

PLAYED WELL

Shirk, whose father was caddying for him, played well, taking advantage of his good short game to outlast Farley, who has won the Ontario amateur more than anyone else, with six victories since the tournament was inaugurated in 1923.

Nick Weslock of Windsor eliminated the sole remaining Toronto player, Kenny Jacobs of Scarboro, 4 up on the 15th. The red-trousered Jacobs advanced into the quarter-final round on the strength of a win on the 20th green over fellow Torontonian Sony Adams in the morning round.

Weslock was three under par when the match ended. He birdied the second, 13th and the final holes. Despite his loss, Jacobs showed occasional flashes of brilliance. On the 13th he holed a 35-footer for a birdie.

ELIMINATES NORMAN

Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, still the choice to win the title for the third year in a row, eliminated Moe Norman, also of Kitchener with a comparatively easy 4 and 3 win.

Kesselring kept up his par-smashing pace with an eagle and three birdies. However, he finished only one stroke under at the 15th due to extra strokes on the first and fourth holes and two extra on the 10th, when his second shot wound up tangled in the roots of a tree.

Gerry used a putter to get out of that one, and took a six on the par-four hole.

One of the nicest shots all day was a trip-shot by Holmes on the seventh. His drive on the par-three hole imbedded itself in the sand just below the lip of a trap to the left of the green. Holmes had to stand on a hill to get at the ball, and the slope made his footing treacherous. He reached out and blasted to within six feet of the hole, then dropped his putt for a par-three.

Today's semi-final draw sends Kesselring against Grant Shirk and Weslock against Holmes.

OLIVER GRABS GOLF LEAD

CHICAGO (AP)—Ed (Porky) Oliver, shooting a five-under-par 67, out-golfed a collapsing Lew Worsham in a late afternoon downpour to capture the halfway lead in the $75,000 "World" pro tournament Friday by two strokes at 135.

That put Porky nine under par for 36 holes.

Worsham, repeating his blow-up in the final round of last year's World, staggered to three one-over-pars between the 14th and 17th greens. He wound up with a 72 after Thursday's pace-setting 65 and a 36-hole total of 137. Worsham was 12 under par through Friday's 12th hole before he nervously came apart.

Oliver, from Wilmington, Del., carved Tam o'Shanter's par 36-36—72, 6,915-yard course for a splendid 33-34 after opening with a 68.

The "world" top prize is $25,000, golf's biggest purse.

The reeling Worsham, who last year also blew up on the back stretch, shared the 137 second spot with Dave Douglas and Bob Toski.

Notched at 138, three strokes off the pace, was Chandler Harper with a second-straight 69.

Four players had 139, including Jack Burke, Al Besselink, Freddie Haas and Skee Riegel.

The lone Canadian competitor, Henry Martell of Edmonton, shot a 70 Friday for a 144 total.

Marlene Nearing Record Of Three Straight Titles

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A record of three straight Canadian women's close golf championships was within reach of Marlene Stewart today and one will get you five she doesn't miss the chance.

Marlene went into today's final 18 holes of the 54-hole medal play tournament with a six-stroke margin over her closest rival, Mary Gay of Kitchener. Marlene tacked on an even-par 76 Friday to a brilliant opening-round 71 for a 147 total compared to Miss Gay's 77-76—153.

Next in line is Rae Milligan, dark-haired golfer from Jasper, Alta., who scored a 77 Friday to go with her opening 79 for a 165 total.

IN FOURTH PLACE

In fourth place, 11 strokes off the pace, is Shirley Woodley of Toronto with 80-78—158, and fifth place is held by Anne Sharp, of Fonthill, with 80-79—159. The rest of the field of more than 100 competitors range from 13 to 87 strokes behind Miss Stewart, the little golfing dynamo from Fonthill.

No golfer has won the title three straight years since the tournament was started in 1926 but Toronto's Ada Mackenzie, who won the championship that year—before Marlene was born—has taken it five times. And Miss Mackenzie, an active campaigner and a tutor to many promising golfers, can still keep up with the youngsters.

She is 15 strokes off the pace this year with 80-82—162 but far ahead of many golfers 20 or 30 years her junior.

HAS TO SCRAMBLE

Marlene had to scramble to get her 76 Friday and admitted later she was forced to "work awful hard" to hit women's regulation figures for the 5,998-yard Sunningdale layout. She was one over par on the first nine and birdied the 18th to come in with a one-under 38.

Miss Gay, 1952 Ontario champion, also hit par figures with four birdies and as many bogeys.

Good Music Booming In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES.—Good music is booming in Argentina as a consequence of enthusiastic and sustained efforts by both government and private groups.

Radio is the leading medium and there is hardly a period of the day in which a turn of the dial does not produce music of the best kind.

Deserving of special credit is the Direccion General de Cultura, a section of the Ministry of Education, which through its music division is energetically promoting Argentine music of every species.

Private groups have also much to do with the increased musical activity and even American capital has helped to pay music's way. A case in point is that of a large American oil company which this year underwrote the cost of a bi-weekly radio program that has been organized with lavish attention for detail and quality.

On the other hand, a decree issued on Dec. 20, 1952, by President Juan Peron should certainly contribute to the general advancement of Argentine music providing its provisions are eventually carried out.

This decree directs that all concerts, recitals, music broadcasts and television programs must include at least one work by a contemporary Argentine composer. As stated, the work "will be placed conspicuously in the program and its duration will be in proportion to the other performed selections."

Exceptions are made in the case of concerts devoted to one work alone or concerts devoted exclusively to one composer. It was originally indicated that infractions of this rule would be strictly penalized, but thus far eight months have already elapsed and no person, group or company has been punished despite the fact that the decree is only partially complied with. This, however, is understandable since the Argentine repertoire is not very extensive—it is only 80 years old—and following it accurately at the moment is obviously impossible. Even though tentatively applied to date, the presidential fiat has already produced a tedious repetition of a handful of the best known Argentine works.

Finds Canadians Fortunate In Number Of Nurses Here

TORONTO (CP)—It took an international conference to make Canadians feel they are fortunate in the number of nurses available here.

Helen McArthur, president of the Canadian Nurses Association, says she realized at a meeting of the International Congress of Nurses in Brazil that Canada stands among the four or five leading countries in regard to number of nurses per capita.

Just returned from the trip, Miss McArthur quoted the president of the Brazilian Nurses Association as saying Brazil has so few nurses that Brazilian hospitals cannot enjoy the luxury of a staff nurse.

ADMIRE CANADIANS

"Canada's stock is very high in Brazil—and not only because of the fact that a good deal of Canadian capital is invested there," said Miss McArthur.

"Canadians in Brazil have carried their country's name with distinction. Everywhere we went, Brazilians thought Canada a wonderful place. They made us feel proud to be Canadians."

Most of the congress sessions were held in a luxurious hotel in the mountains.

"A woman lawyer who came in as an observer told the congress that our meetings were being followed with interest by people all over Brazil," said Miss McArthur. "They felt the nursing profession had contributed a great deal to the status of all professional groups."

After the congress, Miss McArthur and Pearl Stiver, general secretary of the International Congress of Nurses, remained for the meeting of th Pan American Union of the World Health Organizatin.

"It was the first time Canadian nurses had participated in a conference of this kind," Miss McArthur said.

Miss Muerette Dunford assisted in serving the guests.

Neapolitan Loaf Main Dish For Summer

This is a tasty and attractive platter mould to set before summer guests, prepared in three layers and called neapolitan loaf:

MEAT LAYER

1 12-ounce tin canned pork
1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water
½ teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
1 tablespoon catsup
1 teaspoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon finely chopped celery

Shred canned pork finely. Soak the gelatine in the water for 5 minutes, then melt over hot water. Meanwhile combine pork with remaining ingredients. Add melted gelatine and blend well. Oil or rinse with cold water an oblong loaf pan, approximately 9" x 4½" x 3". Cover bottom of pan with meat mixture. Allow to stand at room temperature while preparing other layers.

POTATO LAYER

2 cups mashed potatoes
½ cup celery diced
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon gelatine
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
¼ cup cold water
¼ cup mayonnaise

Combine mashed potatoes, celery, onion and green pepper. Meanwhile soak gelatine, then melt over hot water. Add mayonnaise, blend well and combine with potato mixture. Arrange this on top of the meat layer.

TOMATO ASPIC LAYER

2 tablespoons gelatine
½ cup cold water
1 20-ounce tin tomato juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt.

To prepare the tomato aspic, soak the gelatine and melt over hot water. Combine tomato juice, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, salt and melted gelatine. Pour over potato layer and chill thoroughly until firmly set, about 4-6 hours. Unmould on platter and garnish. Cut individual slices and serve on lettuce. Yield: 8 servings.

PEACH-LIME-CHEESE SALAD (Serves 6)

This is pretty as a picture. Glamorous, and, best of all fairly low in calories.

1 package lime gelatin.
1 cup peach juice.
1 cup water.
6 peach halves.
Cottage cheese.

Drain peach halves. Combine peach juice and water and bring to boiling point. Dissolve lime-flavored gelatin in boiling liquid. Pour ⅓ of mixture in oiled 8" x 8" square pan. Chill until set.

Fill centres of peach halves with cottage cheese. Place in pan. Pour remainder of lime gelatin over peach halves. Chill until set.

Cut in six squares, allowing one peach per square. Lift onto plates that have a bed of crisp salad greens. Serve with fruit dressing, fancy breads and beverage.

How To Use A Steam Iron In "Remaking" Wardrobe

You don't like to simmer over a hot iron in the summer. And yet you want lettuce-leaf crispness in your wardrobe. There must be some way to reconcile these things.

One answer is to eliminate all fabrics that need pressing from your summer wardrobe. But that lets out so many beautiful cottons, linens and floating chiffons.

Have you thought of a steam iron? This type of iron is said to eliminate at least half the work involved in pressing. In most cases, no dampening is needed beforehand and, since you encounter no frustrating dry spots as you work, the pressing job is speeded up. It's handy to have one in addition to your regular iron.

If a cotton dress is still clean, but deeply creased, don't trouble to launder it again right away. Hold a steam iron an inch or two away from the deep creases for a few seconds and then press them quickly.

Your washable summer hat, that you thought would be so practical, may have proved unwearable after washing and ironing. The next time, you might try a steam iron on it. Stuff the hat with tissue paper or towelling and steam-press thoroughly. You can reshape the hat easily by directing a jet of steam at strategic spots.

PAT VEILS INTO SHAPE

Steam will bring lifeless artificial flowers, veils and straw hats back to usefulness. Start with a full head of steam one-eighth of an inch away and gradually lessen the steam. Take care not to stretch veils—just pat them into shape.

You can reblock a knit dress with a steam iron. Hold the steam an inch above the baggy spots. Follow with a careful pressing from waist to hem, preferably using a thin presscloth.

A summer chiffon or organdy is ruined if the hem-line dips in spots. But all is not lost—gently stretch and simultaneously steam the sections that don't match the dips. You can slightly shrink the dipped parts to bring them into line. Your guide for evenness is the straight of the fabric at the side seam.

It's easy to avoid dipped hemlines in chiffons and organdies—just never put these dresses on hangers. The weight of the dresses pulls the hems out of shape. Store them, in many folds of tissue paper, in a drawer.

PUCKERED SPOT

Thin crepes are easily puckered and shrunk in spots. If you should be unlucky enough to stain a crepe dress, you can restore the puckered spot, after stain removal, with steam. Use a thick terry-cloth towel on your board when ironing crepe, and work on the wrong side only.

Steam is wonderful for your quilted cottons. Have you found them troublesome to iron in the regular way because you had to have them almost soaking wet? With a steam iron, you can have these garments only slightly dampened. A jet of steam brings up the quilting.

Steam restores shape to thin summer wools, dresses, sweaters and stoles. Shrink stretched parts, such as wrists and necklines, back to a good fit. It's safest to work on the wrong side.

It's Sweater-Time! Here Are Washing Rules

Your beautiful cashmere sweaters will remain your pride after laundering if you follow the rules for washing.

Lay the sweater on a sheet of plain heavy wrapping paper and draw its outline, so you can ease the sweater back to its original measurements.

Have tepid water and thoroughly dissolve some mild soap flakes. Squeeze the suds through the sweater, always keeping it under water. After only a few minutes of this gentle squeezing, gather the sweater up in both hands to lift it out of the water. This will prevent the water, which is heavy, from causing the wool to snag.

Rinse in several waters until there are no more soap curds. While rinsing, follow the same precautions of keeping the sweater under water and scooping it out at the end. At little cologne in the final rinse water will keep it sweet a long time.

Lay the sweater between two thick towels and press the excess moisture out.

Now ease it back to the original shape on the wrapping paper. Lay both paper and sweater on a towel to dry, making very sure that you have a flat surface large enough to accommodate it.

Between wearings, fold the sweater away in a drawer rather than put it on a hanger which would stretch it.

If you're going to store it, wrap the folded sweater in several thicknesses of tissue paper, sprinkle on some anti-moth crystals or liquid, seal with tape, and finally seal it in heavy wrapping paper with an identifying label.

Shorter Skirt Fashions Sign Of Loose Morals Era

By MARJORIE EARL

LONDON (Reuters) — Shorter skirt fashions are a sure sign that the world is about to plunge into an era of loose morals, broken homes and inflation, London museum official James Laver said Friday night.

From his dusty office in the Victoria and Albert Museum, Laver offered historical evidence of his theory. The 53-year-old scholar has written dozens of books on the relation of fashions to morals and economics through the ages.

He said Paris designer Christian Dior, who has just decreed shortened skirts and banished waistlines, is "a medium" capable of sensing intuitively the morals of the future.

"He can see what's coming before it's visible to anyone else," Laver said. "Don't let anyone tell you it's all a racket either. Sales promotion has nothing to do with it. "Dior doesn't invent new styles just to make a fortune for the dress manufacturers. He merely interprets what's in the air."

MORE TROUBLE

Laver shook his head sorrowfully at thoughts of the future. He said it will bring more "female emancipation," more headaches for husbands—more trouble for everybody.

"The smooth line and the shortened skirt mean promiscuity," he said. "On the other hand, tight-laced eras are characterized by tight-laced clothes."

Shuffling through sheafs of historical records, Laver said that the chief periods of moral laxity in modern history occurred in 1600 after the French Revolution and in 1925 after the First World War. Clothes in both periods were smooth and the waist "was in the wrong place," he said.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX:

Too Often With His Buddies Causes Wife To Complain

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a bride of eigth months, living at my mother's home with my husband. We all get along fine. My husband works during the day and goes to school at night, while I work, too, sometimes putting in a good deal of overtime. Thus, my husband and I see very little of each other. On Sunday, which is the only day we could be together, he insists on inviting friends over, without consulting me. This is a practice that has been going on since we first met. When he was courting, he'd frequently bring one of his buddies along. I don't like to seem unsocial, and I assure you I'm not, but I would like to make him realize that one day together isn't too much. These visits also strain our limited budget, and make more work for my mother. I am 22 and my husband is 27.

A. W.

HE LIKES HIS PALS

ANSWER: Your young husband's devotion to his pals was so marked before marriage, that I'm surprised he ever got to the altar. Apparently, what's happened to you two is that you are so involved in work, school, and domesticity that you've never had a chance to become really acquainted with each other. The sort of intimate companionship that is the source of all marital joy isn't automatically achieved through the exchange of marriage vows. It comes as the result of working and playing together toward a definite end With both of you working so hard to have a successful marriage, you probably will laugh at the idea that you're aiming in the wrong direction—yet it's so. Your husband's social inclinations have always tended away from you, and you must make a mighty big effort to turn them in the right direction at this late date. Such an adjustment is usually part of courtship and the engagement period.

Try to persuade your husband to schedule his Sundays—one for you, one for the old gang. Then make your Sunday so enjoyable for him, that he'll learn to rely on you for entertainment rather than on his buddies. No nagging—just fun.

DEAR MISS DIX: My friends have many parties, during which their parents always manage to disappear. I don't dare have a party at my house because my folks are so conservative they insist on staying around to chaperone. Is there any way I can hint to them that they aren't wanted? They are really wonderful parents, and this is the only fault I could possibly find in them.

SALLY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I must agree with your parents that one of them, at least should remain at home during the course of a party. Young people should not have a house to themselves at a party. Perhaps your young friends may not like the idea of chaperonage, but I'm sure their parents do even though they, themselves, lack the courage to enforce their convictions.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I've being going with a boy for several weeks, and like him very much. The trouble is that he wants me to give up my girl friend, who is a lifelong chum. I've suggested double dating, but even this he doesn't like.

CONNIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A boy so demanding—so inconsiderate—will never make a satisfactory companion for you, Connie. Beware of any boy who wants you to give up all friends for him. Either he hasn't the qualities to attract people himself, or he is so possessive that he doesn't want to share anything Both types are poor friends.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My 15-year-old daughter will not date because she still cares for a boy with whom she had a recent misunderstanding. She's passing up a lot of nice boys, and I'm really provoked with her.

MRS. R.

ANSWER: In time, she'll come to realize how many good times she's missing, and the mooning period will pass. Nagging will do little good in alleviating the situation, though some prodding from her girl friends might.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I parked with a boy I like, although I didn't want to. Now I'm afraid he got the wrong impression of me. If I apologize, would he think I was running after him?

GERRY

ANSWER: He certainly would! You are the one entitled to the apology. Don't compound a mistake by putting the boy in right. And don' repeat it. If the boy invites you out again, let him know for sure that there's "no parking."

Readers' Saturday Column by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I hope you will help me. We have baked a wedding cake, a fruit cake and do not know just the best place to keep it during the summer months. Would the refrigerator be a good place. At present we have it wrapped in wax paper in a tin box. Mrs. W. H. H.

ANSWER: Since you must have room in your refrigerator, that is the best place for the cake. Professional bakers wrap their cakes in cellophane and put the wrapped cakes in cartons and store them in refrigerators at 38 deg. Fahr. In the summer months the temperature is so high that cakes will mould around the currants and raisins, if not refrigerated.

QUESTION: I have a bone to pick with you—however it is only a little bone, and in view of the fact that you have given us so many lovely recipes I may even consider blaming it on the gremlins at the printers. I am referring to the enclosed recipe for "Jiffy Cake". I made it once and the batter was runny, too thin to hold any nuts as described, but the cake turned out not too bad. The second time I made it it was definitely a flop. Later I came across a former column of yours with a recipe for the same cake with all ingredients the same but the milk —which was only ½ cup instead of 1 cup. I thought "aha"—however meanwhile I had displaced the first one so couldn't prove anything. I didn't see any complaint about it though in the paper. Which amount of milk is correct? Also what is the difference between powdered sugar and icing sugar?

I have found in getting lunches (I get 8 every day) for a change the family likes Dagwood sandwiches: Butter, a slice of meat, a slice of cheese, lettuce, onion, pickles or what have you. Of course they don't need so many sandwiches then. Topped off wtih a jar of milk and fruit and cookies they are satisfied.

I want to tell you again how much I enjoy your column. Reading about the gal who used a dairy thermometer to make candy reminds me of the time when I was young and took my temperature with a dairy thermometer. When I looked at it it read "cheese"! More power to you.

"Les"

ANSWER: Thanks for a good laugh "Les" also for the Dagwood sandwich tip and reminder. The recipe for "Jiffy Cake" contains one-half (½) cup milk. These are a repetition of the ingredients (all put in bowl together and beaten until smooth): 4 tablespoons soft shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, ½ cup milk, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups sifted flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Spread smooth batter in greased paper-lined pan. Sprinkle over unbaked batter a mixture of 2-3 cup brown sugar, ¼ to ½ cup chopped nuts or cocoanut. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 35 to 40 minutes. When you consider the fractions I use in these recipes every day I think the printers do remarkably well to make so few errors. Come again.

QUESTION: I already have your reducers' recipes for Jan. 12, 1953. But was wondering if you have recipes for some cakes and pies. Some girls I know have wanted these reducing recipes so I passed on the Jan. 12 ones and they all really appreciated them. We would like cakes and pies or whatever you have on hand (for reducers). Keep your good recipes coming for we all love you for it. Everyone I know says "why that's a Mary Moore recipe. Grand isn't it?"

This is a recipe of my mother's and when she bakes for church affairs it is spoken for and gone long ahead of time for doors to open:

SPICE CAKE

(contributed by Jean F.)

One cup butter or best shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup sour milk, 1 teaspoon soda dissolved in the milk, 2 heaping cups flour, 1 teaspoon allspice, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon salt. Mix as usual cake method, adding milk last. Bake at 35 0to 375 deg. F.

Jean F.

ANSWER: Thanks for the highly recommended Spice Cake and congratulations to your mother. If you want to make a sugarless apple pie dissolve 15 sucaryl tablets in 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Mix together 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt and mix with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Put 6 cups peeled, sliced apples in pastry-lined pie plate. Mix the lemon juice and dissolved tablets with flour-butter mixture very well and springle evenly over apples. Put on gashed top crust. Seal edges. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 45 to 55 minutes.

QUESTION: I wonder if you can help me. I used to make simply gorgeous angel food cakes, and as I have had 3 babies in fairly rapid succession, I have had lots of egg whites to work with. However, in the past year I have had literally dozens of "flops". They all do the same thing: they come out of the oven looking gorgeous, and a minute or so after being inverted they fall out of the pan. I just read your recipe published a few days ago and baked it at 350 deg. Fahr. for the full 45 minutes and still it fell. I can't understand it, as I just never had this happen before we moved here. I'm sure I am doing everything the same as I used to. Could you tell me some of the reasons for this happening and maybe I can put my finger on my trouble. —Marilyn M. A.

ANSWER: Since you say this has happened since you moved I am wondering if you are using the same stove and the same tpye of fuel. I think possibly your oven thermometer is registering 350 deg. Fahr. falsely, and that your oven is actually not this hot. The symptoms described sound as if the cake is underbaked. Try this: Bake the cake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 50 minutes and see if this corrects your trouble. Be sure your flour is not damp too and that your egg whites are at room temperature when you beat them. If whites are very cold temperature of cake is low when it is put in oven and batter takes longer to heat through and start baking. Write again if these suggestions do not correct your trouble.

QUESTION: ...Recently I tasted a cucumber pickle which was called "icicles". The dill-sized cucumber was cut into long strips, was very sweet and crisp. I was told that in the process of making them more sugar was added each day. These were really delicious. Would you have a recipe? Thanks, Margaret P.

ANSWER: It was very pleasant to hear from you again. Since you live near me I would enjoy meeting you.

ICICLE PICKLES

One 6-quart basket, 3 or 4-inch cucumbers are washed, dried and cut in halves lengthwise. Add 1 gallon boiling water to 2 cups common salt. Pour this over the cut cucumbers in a crock or preserving kettle. Let stand 4 days. BRINE WILL FERMENT. On the 5th day drain brine from pickles and cover with clear boiling water. Let stand 24 hours. On 6th day drain. Dissolve 1 tablespoon powdered alum in boiling water and pour over cucumbers to cover and let stand 24 hours. On 7th day drain. Make a syrup of 2½ quarts cider vinegar, 8 cups sugar and 3 tablespoons whole mixed spices. Heat to boiling and pour over cucumbers. On 8th day drain and reserve liquid. Heat to boiling, add 2 cups sugar and pour over cucumbers. On 9th day repeat above (that is add 2 more cups sugar). On 10th repeat by adding 2 more cups sugar to boiled syrup and pouring it over. On 11th day drain. Place cucumbers in hot sterile jars. Heat syrup, add 2 cups sugar and strain it to remove spices. Pour over pickles in jars. Seal.

NOTE: If you have a cool cellar in which to store them these pickles may be kept in crock, covered with wax paper and plate and weighted down. NOTE 2: 16 cups of sugar are added by the time these are finished. NOTE 3: Chill these in refrigerator to crispen them more just before serving. NOTE 4: I would be grateful if pickle makers would clip this now if they intend to make icicle pickles this year.

65 YW Campers Start 10 Days At Kawartha

Seemingly interminable weeks of waiting will come to a climax Sunday as 65 nine to 12-year old girls get installed in Camp Kawartha on Clear Lake for the YWCA ten-day camp.

Last year's popular director Mrs. Irene Campbell (Scotty) is again in charge. Mrs. K. Pilkington as waterfront director and Mrs. D. Snelgrove as nurse will also be remembered from last year's staff.

Eight councillors include three out-of-town girls, Misses Anne Jolly from St. Thomas and Doreen Raddon and Pauline Fitzgerald from Lakefield. The Peterborough girls are Shirley Green, Mary White, Pan Neal, Elaine Rowbotham and Franelda Gibson. These girls go into camp today.

Repeat campers will also be happy to see cook Mrs. Wagnar again on the job, assisted by daughter Joan, and Patsy Taylor and Margaret Fell of Peterborough will also be kitchen assistants.

Assisting the campers on Sunday will be YW program director Miss Marion Foster and Y Board representative Miss Flora Leeper.

4—In Memoriam

CALBERRY—In loving memory of Ronald Calberry, who passed away August 9, 1950.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days.
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.
—Ever remembered by mother, father, brothers and sisters.

DALLIDAY—In loving memory of Mrs. Irene A. Dalliday, who passed away ten years ago, August 9.
You are not forgotten mother,
Nor ever will you be,
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
—Ever remembered by her family.

MITCHELL—In loving memory of a dear husband, Robert Mitchell, who passed away August 8, 1947.
I have only your memory, dear husband,
To remember my whole life through,
But the sweetness will linger forever,
As I treasure the image of you.
—Always remembered by his wife.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to thank the Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, the attending doctors, all friends who visited me, sent flowers, candy, cards and all other kindnesses shown me during my stay at hospital.—Mrs. Ben Davidson.

Fine And Costs Total $79.80

LINDSAY (ENS)—Murray Scott, 22, Brechin, was fined $37.50 and costs of $42.30 when he pleaded guilty here on Friday in Magistrate's Court to the charge of leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a license.

According to the evidence a collision occurred near Brechin involving a car driven by George Vickers of Hamilton and another vehicle which failed to remain at the scene of the accident. Vickers told the court the car left bits of red paint on his fender and also debris from a broken headlight.

Provincial Constable John Williams of Fenelon Falls, investigated and the next day questioned Scott at his home. Scott admitted being in an accident. Damage to his car was about $50, to Vickers' $400.

The second charge was laid when the officer discovered Scott still had his 1952 license.

The fine on the charge of leaving the scene was $35 and on the license count $12.50. Costs were high because of the presence of crown witnesses from Hamilton.

Saw 3 Captives Die After Innoculations

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—A U. S. soldier returned in today's prisoner exchange said he saw three desperately-ill captives die within minutes after receiving inoculations from the Chinese.

"Everyone called them mercy shots," said Pte. Cleveland Clairmont, 23, of Madison, S. D., who spent 32 months at Pyoktong PoW camp near the Yalu river.

Clairmont estimated that about 1,700 prisoners died at Pyoktong from dysentery, pneumonia, exposure and starvation.

Cut Turkey's Debt

LONDON (AP) — The treasury today agreed to permit Turkey to settle its war debt for a one-third of the amount still outstanding. The treasury said the unpaid portion of the debt totalled about £24,000,000 and that it would be settled for £7,500,000. The debt, consisting mostly of credits for the purchase of arms here, was contracted just before, and during the Second World War.

Dies In Explosion

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—One boy was killed and a companion was severely injured Friday in the explosion of a chemistry set with which, a detective said, they were trying to make gunpowder. Charles Phillips, 11, died when the blast struck him in the neck, severing the jugular vein. James W. Alpha, 13, in whose basement the boys were working, lost part of his left hand.

CARRIES BALLOT BOXES — Part of the job of Canadian government icebreaker the d'Iberville, as she patrols Canada's Eastern Arctic this summer, is to carry ballot boxes to almost inaccessible places in the north for the Dominion election. Here the d'Iberville is anchored among the icebergs off Cutthroat, near Hebron on the Labrador coast. Hebron is 500 miles from Newfoundland's northern tip.

Youth Sentenced To 3 Months

COBOURG (ENS)—Three Cobourg youths, Gregory Jackson, age 17; Blake Sommerville, 16 and William Sommerville, 18, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering charges Friday. Their arrest cleared up two incidences of shopbreaking and theft and one of lifting a wallet from a carnival worker.

Charged with breaking into Primeau's store and theft of $75 on July 23; breaking into Tait's store on July 7 and theft of $43 and stealing a wallet with $7.00 on July 31 from Raymond Parsons of Toronto, Jackson received three months concurrent on the first two and one month concurrent on the last charge.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Blake Sommerville pleaded guilty to breaking into Tait's store and was placed on suspended sentence for two years and directed to pay the court costs and make restitution of $17.00, his share of the stolen money.

Constable E. Butler said that entry into the two stores was made by forcing open a rear door. William Sommerville pleaded guilty to the Primeau store robbery and was placed on suspended sentence for two years and told to make restitution in the amount of 37.50 plus court costs. The case was solved after Jackson was picked up on July 31 for stealing the wallet and he admitted the other two robberies. A juvenile acted as look-out when the stores were robbed, the constable said.

Constable Butler informed the court that Jackson had left his home a year ago and did not advise his family where he was for a considerable time. Blake Sommerville helped to support his mother. The other Sommerville was in the army and prior to joining the army helped to support his mother. He was A.W.O.L. from the army since June.

Liftlocks Held To Two Hits

LINDSAY—(ENS)—Jack Debois, making his first Lakeshore League mound start, held the Peterborough Liftlocks to two hits here last night, to lead the Lindsay Merchants to a 6-1 win over the visiting juniors before a slim crowd.

Debois was not responsible for the single Peterborough run, either, which came in the fourth on a walk and two errors. The Merchants earned five of their six runs.

Jim McGrath started for the visitors, but allowed four hits and a walk for three runs in the first without retiring a batter. Doug Beech relieved him and got the next nine men in order.

The Merchants scored three in the first on four singles and a walk, and another trio in the fourth on two singles, two doubles and an error.

Pammett, with a single over second and McGrath, with a foul-line double were the only Liftlocks to solve Debois' slants. Bill Edger, with a double and single, and Hank Debois, with two singles, were the winners' leaders at the plate.

Debois struck out four and walked one. Beech struck out three, walked none and allowed five hits in his six innings.

Doesn't Want To Talk Politics—St. Laurent

BARRIE (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday he didn't want to talk politics.

He made the remark, in the final week of the Aug. 10 federal election campaign, before a crowd of about 500 in a brief visit to this Ontario community celebrating its 100th birthday.

Two officials, dressed in the top hats and long coats of the 19th century, met him at the train and later during a basket picnic in Barrie Park presented him with a plate commemorating Barrie's centennial.

Gulls Force Plane Down

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Seagulls forced a British airliner with more than 30 Britons aboard to land at Kastrup airport within a few minutes after its takeoff today. A dead seagull had stuck in the engine air-take.

Christians In Minority

ROME (Reuters)— There are three non-Christians to every two Christians in the world today, according to figures issued by the Vatican. About 1,000,000,000 of the world's estimated population of 2,440,000,000 are Christians. The rest are non-believers in Christ.

For Parents Only

Helping Handicapped Child Do Not Make Him Feel 'Odd'

By NANCY CLEAVER.

Do you remember when your son or daughter was born, how eagerly you asked the doctor, "Is he normal—or, has he any defect?" Perhaps while you were waiting for his arrival, you watched a small girl on crutches or a boy in a wheel chair go down the street. Instantly a prayer rose from your heart, "Oh, God, may my child not be handicapped!"

But in spite of your prayers, and of your care, perhaps the little child who came into your home had some defect. It may be that he was quite normal in every way except for one specific disability. Poor vision or hearing, a club-foot, a crippled arm, a cleft palate, a hare-lip — the list of physical handicaps is a long one. How much heartache this disability caused you as parents, only other fathers and mothers of handicapped children can know.

You sought the best medical aid you could afford—and if your financial resources were very slender, perhaps a service club, or a church group or a hospital came to your assistance. You accepted for your child, what you might have hesitated to take for yourself. This little handicapped son or daughter was infinitely precious. You wanted to enable him to live as normal a life as possible.

ANGEL IN DISGUISE

In countless cases the family doctor has been an "angel in disguise" in comforting and advising parents of children with physical disabilities. Sometimes a specialist has brought comfort and hope, and practical advice to distraught parents.

The consultant on psychology to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Dr. Edgar A. Doll, has pointed out the importance of both the parents and the handicapped child accepting the defect or deficiency and concentrating on the rest of his personality which is not handicapped. "It is a great help to his inner poise if he can accept his own disability without bitterness and not constantly 'feel handicapped,'" this specialist once wrote.

If his trouble has fallen on him through some childish accident or illness, it is imperative that neither the parents nor the child should be blamed. "What's done is done," and this burden is heavy enough for them to carry without the extra weight of disapproval.

As parents you likely have often wondered whether you are helping your child from day to day as much as you can. It is often puzzling to know what to do. You have a specially tender place in your heart for your "little bird with a broken wing"—but is it wise to make exceptions for him in taking responsibility for family chores? "Guidance can be found in some of the case histories in an excellent recently published book, "Mastering Your Disability" by H. A. Littledale (Rinehart & Co. Inc.) in the chapter "Getting On With Your Folks." These throw special light on sensible family patterns for a family with a handicapped child.

A young man says from his own experience, "Disabled persons like to be and ought to be treated just as much like others as possible. They shouldn't be babied and seldom like it when they are." An adolescent girl wrote: "When I was first hurt, everything was done for me.... as I got stronger, I took great pride in being able to wipe the dishes for Mother. Now I take care of my own room, make the bed, dust the floor and keep it picked up. It's my job and I'm proud of it."

WORRY TO PARENTS

The playtime of a disabled child frequently worries parents. In this connection it is interesting to know that a youngster who had had a spastic paralysis from birth paid this fine tribute to her parents' training: "If I was playing with my brother and sister or any other children, the games were not changed for me. I played when I could, and when I could not, I watched. This was the same principle at home. I was brought up to fit in and not to feel that I was the odd one."

No one likes to be "the odd one". Special attention is apt to make the handicapped child feel conspicuous. He wants, as far as possible, to be on an equal footing with the other children in the family and with his chums at school.

He requires the best of medical care to make his body as normal as possible. As he grows older, it is his right to be educated to take his place as a useful citizen in the adult world. But most of all, the handicapped child needs the loving understanding of mother and dad, who will refrain from blaming themselves or him for his trouble, and who will rear him in a happy home atmosphere.

Plan Three Airports Duplessis Announces

QUEBEC (CP)—Three isolated St. Lawrence river north shore centres soon will have airports, Premier Duplessis announced Friday.

Riviere au Tonnerre, Havre St. Pierre, and Natashouan, respectively 350, 450 and more than 500 miles east of Quebec, will get the airports under an arrangement between the Quebec government and local municipal administrations. Cost was not announced.

Ontario, U.S. Teams Enter Tournament

TORONTO (CP)—Teams from Ontario and the United States are slated to take part in the 19th annual provincial lawn bowling tournament starting here Monday.

The U. S. has entered more than 15 rinks.

Canadian entries include teams from Kingston, Lindsay, Oshawa, Cornwall and Port Colborne.

Making Headway

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Sea Wolf, the second United States atomic submarine, will begin taking shape Oct 1. The navy said Friday its keel would be laid at Groton, Conn. It is estimated to cost $32,700,000 without its nuclear power plant, which is being built by the General Electric Co. The first atomic submarine, the Nautilus, is estimated to cost $29,000,000 without its power plant.

COPPER-COLORED PROTEST—The Indians are on the warpath against movies which suggest the Redskins always bite the dust. Chief Howard Skye, of the Six Nations Indians from Oshweken reserve near Brantford, Ont., who carried a protest to the Motion Picture Council of Canada at Toronto, from his fellow tribesmen, pickets an offending movie.

Porcupines Pests Or Picturesque

Two neighboring states have taken opposite views of a prickly problem: what to do about porcupines.

New Hampshire, believing that the notorious gnawer should be dealt with sternly, has increased its bounty on porcupines from 25 to 50 cents. Adjoining Vermont, on the other hand, has removed its 50 cent bounty entirely.

In Ontario they are left to themselves.

The porcupine's foes include foresters who decry the animal's taste for the life-giving inner bark of trees.

A few hours of porky's gnawing they say, can girdle a tree, thus killing it, or leave wounds by which tree blights enter. In the West, where porcupine damage in yellow pine stands is particularly serious, a single rodent may kill or damage 100 trees in a winter.

HARM LIVESTOCK

Porcupine gnawing is a costly nuisance to owners of woodland camps. Stockmen become porcupine haters when their over-curious calves and colts sniff the walking pin cusions and receive a dose of quills.

Porky's friends reply that he is picturesque, and that the damage he does is exaggerated. They recall that a code of the woods once protected from wanton slaughter the only animal a lost and unarmed man can overtake and kill for food.

Popular or not, the stodgy, deliberate porcupine waddles about his business with malice toward none, asking only to be left alone. Some 30,000 needle-sharp quills back up his position.

When molested, the "quill pig" ducks his head, hugs the ground and bristles his armament. Although he cannot shoot his quills, he often backs toward the foe, lashing his spiny, club-like tail. The dog, wildcat or owl that presses the attack is doomed to suffer and perhaps die from the thousand barb quills that stick in muzzle or feet, working ever deeper into the flesh.

A passion for salt brings porcupines into the camps of people. Driven away, they will return repeatedly, thus gaining a reputation for stupidity. Tests have shown that part of the reputation, at least, is due to poor eyesight.

The porcupine is playfully congenial both with its fellows and with humans when reared as a pet. Not so in the woods, however, where it leads a solitary and unsociable life. In winter a porcupine may remain alone in a single tree for days on end. In warmer seasons it dens in the daytime and forages at night.

Porcupine family life is sketchy. The male takes no interest in the single big baby born in the spring, and ties between mother and child usually end within a couple of months.

Death Sentence For 10 Officials

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio reported today the North Korean supreme court has sentenced to death 10 high government officials accused of plotting to overthrow North Korea's Communist regime. Two others were given long jail terms.

The 12 defendants in a typical Communist purge trial "confessed," the radio said, to spying and carrying on other subversive work for the United States and South Korea.

Topping the list of those sentenced to die former justice minister Lee Sung Yup. Among the others were former deputy propaganda minister Cho Yun Nyong, former foreign minister Pak Hong Wong, and the Communist party's former deputy propaganda chief, Rhee Won Cho.

One of the jailed officials was sentenced to 15 years, the other 12.

Kinmount Driver Fined After Crash

LINDSAY — (ENS) — Norman Hughes, Kinmount, was convicted Friday of careless driving in Magistrate's Court here and fined $10 and $25 costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

Hughes' light truck was involved in a collision on Highway 35, south of Powles Corners on July 7. The second vehicle was a car driven by Lorne Pennock, 903 Dovercourt Rd., Toronto.

According to Pennock he was driving toward Lindsay when he saw Hughes' truck coming toward him on his side of the road. He attempted to swing to the left to pass the truck he said when Hughes swerved back toward his side of the highway causing the collision near the centre of the road.

Hughes claimed that he had noticed the Pennock car on his side of the road and could not avoid the collision.

Magistrate Gee accepted Pennock's story in light of evidence presented by Provincial Constable George Mountsteven of Lindsay.

To Leave Moscow

LONDON (AP) — Britain's ambassador to Russia, Sir Alvary Gascoigne, will leave his Moscow post in 10 days the foreign office said Friday night. Gascoigne, 60, is being succeeded by William Hayter, 47.

Seven Editors Expelled

BERLIN (AP) — Seven editors and nine photographers have been expelled from the Communist-controlled press association of the Soviet zone for "tendentious" coverage of the June 17 revolt, Northwest German radio reported today.

A NEAT EXCAVATION JOB is going on these days on the west side of George between Simcoe and Charlotte Sts., as contractors trench through the sidewalk in preparation for the burying of utilities wiring. The cement sidewalk has been neatly sliced and a small power shovel makes quick, clean work of removing earth to the required depth. This current program follows the first section of main street that was finished between Hunter and Simcoe Sts. some time ago.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Russian Film Omits Red Propaganda

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON (AP)—A new kind of movie from the Soviet Union reached London the other day.

It is brimming with sex and spectacle; with glorious color and beauteous sets; with adventure and true love.

There is not a line of propaganda in it; not a Red flag is waved; not a dialectic is turned.

But there are two young ladies as beautiful as anything seen in Hollywood. Their names are given merely as E. Myshknova and A. Larionova.

Myshknova is a stunning brunette. She plays a water princess who is the "good fairy," as there must be in all Russian folk tales. Larionova is a demure but buxom blonde of fuller features but as lovely as anyone could want for a wife. And that's what A. Stolyarov, the tall, handsome hero wants—even though he has been travelling the world over so many years in search of the bird of happiness.

He finds the happiness he wants back in his own backyard—in Novgorod.

The story, as you may have guessed, is a fantasy—the one that became the opera "Sadko" by a resident of Novgorod, Rimsky-Korsakoff. His music is played as background and Stolyarov, an opera star with a magnificent baritone voice, sings through much of the 80 minutes.

The rest of the time, of course, he's fighting evil and using his honest charm and chess talents to win the supposed bird of happiness from an unreliable eastern prince. He wins the game, and the bird as the prize, but he finds that, after all, it is not what he is looking for.

Larionova is.

Stolyarov, incidentally, has a profile to rival Barrymore's and uses it against such impressive background sets as ancient Novgorod, the stormy sea, a palace in India and in a clinch with comrade Larionova.

Hope, Confidence Lacking Between All Parties In Korea

By NED RUSSELL
Special To The Examiner

WASHINGTON — The current talks between U.S. Secretary of State Dulles and South Korean President Rhee are taking place in an unhealthy and perhaps dangerous atmosphere. The danger lies in the element of suspicion that seems to hang over the conversations at Seoul.

At this moment, when the shooting has died down and the Communists and the United Nations are moving timidly toward an effort to negotiate a general political settlement in Korea, there ought to be, by all normal standards of international behavior, an atmosphere of hope and confidence.

UN POWERS TO BLAME

But this is lacking. The trouble is not so much that the UN and the Communists are watching each other with such deep distrust. Rather, it is that the UN powers who fought the war in Korea for three years, are openly distrustful of each other; or, to put it more bluntly and more accurately, the United States finds itself in the ugly position of being regarded by many of its UN partners with considerable uneasiness and suspicion. These nations, by and large, followed the United States' lead while the fighting raged. But now that the guns have been silenced and diplomacy has taken their place, the attitude toward the United States changed perceptibly.

Traders called this a week of "creeping advance" at Toronto and New York stock exchanges. Montreal markets, however, gave mixed performances.

In Toronto, industrials reached their highest index point since mid-April in sparking the market's second week of advance. Golds closed at their best level in 10 weeks, but base metals and western oils made little headway.

The advance in New York exchanges was interrupted in mid-week, but got rolling again Thursday and Friday. At week's end, Wall Street traders once more were predicting the long-awaited summer rally.

A buoyant group of paper stocks featured mixed trading at Montreal. Observers attributed the firmness in papers to the recent flow of favourable half-year earnings reports from paper companies plus a $12,000,000 rise in newsprint exports during the first six months of the year, compared with the same 1952 period.

TORONTO FAVORITE

On the Toronto stock exchange, traders favored stocks receiving special news. Canadian Marconi gained 55 cents at $4.30 following an announcement Wednesday that control of the company had passed to the English Electric Co., Ltd., of London.

The 50.6-per-cent interest in the 50-year-old Canadian firm was purchased from Cable and Wireless Ltd., a firm controlled by the British government. The significance of the transaction, traders said, was the transfer of control of Marconi from public to private enterprise.

Further reports of oil discoveries in Western Canada touched off some selective buying in the oils group. An announcement of a strike near Red Deer, Alta., was followed by a 95-cent jump during the week for the shares of Great Plains Development. The company is said to hold leases in the Red Deer region.

Of significance to the base metals industry this week was the lifting of the British government controls on copper sold at the London metal exchange. Copper in London fell about 4½ cents a pound on Thursday, the first day of free dealing.

Earlier in the week, a leading U.S. custom smelter firm cut its price from 29¾ cents a pound to 28½ for the "red" metal. Eyeing these developments in the market position of copper, Toronto traders marked down narrowly the shares of several large Canadian base metal producers, including consolidated Smelters, Waite Amulet and Noranda.

NARROWLY MIXED NOTE

The Toronto market opened the week on a narrowly mixed note. A gently firmer trend took over Wednesday and carried through till Friday's close.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto stock exchange's indexes showed industrials up 2.42 at 312.69, golds up 1.79 at 77.83, base metals up .48 at 153.81 and western oils down .86 at 104.75.

Montreal averages had papers up 15.22 at 710.61, banks up .10 at 34.14, utilities up 1.6 at 95.7, industrials down .9 at 190.3, combined down 12 at 058.7, and golds down .66 at 57.83.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents to $109.10.

Visitors Entertained By Fenella WI

FENELLA (ENS)—Approximately 60 members of Coldsprings and Baltimore Women's Institutes were guests of Fenella WI. Altogether there were about 85 present.

On the platform were the Coldsprings president and secretary, Mrs. A. Linton and Mrs. H. McKinley; Baltimore president and secretary, Mrs. E. Davey and Mrs. J. Staples; Fenella secretary, Mrs. Percy Macklin and president, Mrs. Jim Waldie, who presided for business.

The secretary-treasurer's statement showed a balance on hand of $73.12. The electric stove for the hall kitchen was paid for and a box of fruit sent since the last meeting.

The September meeting will be held in the hall, with Mrs. Gordon Jewel as hostess and Mrs. M. Lonsberry and Mrs. Hugh Sherwin hostesses.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Frank George.

With the Coldsprings branch were some visiting ladies, Miss Carrie Armstrong and Mrs. K. H. Olsen, Minnesota; Mrs. Harry Cousins, Toronto and Mrs. Teney, Rochester

Mrs. E. Davey, Baltimore, introduced a vocal solo by Mrs. Garnet Linton and a piano solo by Mrs. Gertrude Roberts. Mrs. A. Linton, Coldsprings, introduced vocal duets by Marlene and Linda Turk and by Mrs. C. Minifie and Mrs. C. Timlin.

Mrs. J. Waldie, Fenella president called on Mrs. W. I. Montgomery for her talk and demonstration on creative arts. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Montgomery by Mrs. N. C. Leach.

The meting closed with the National Anthem. Lunch was served.

On behalf of Baltimore and Coldsprings branches, Mrs. A. Linton moved a vote of thanks to Fenella.

Guild Rejects Two Offers

SEATTLE (AP)—The American Newspaper Guild (CIO) Friday rejected two offers by the Seattle Times to end a strike that has shut down the newspaper for 23 days and made approximately 700 employees idle.

Don Brazier, publicity chairman for the Times unit of the Seattle-Tacoma local, said the vote was unanimous on a voice vote by the 250 members.

The guild is seeking a 7.8-percent wage increase and other benefits for its member editorial employees, advertising salesmen, clerks and other employees.

The Times' offers were made Aug. 5. One "levelel out" a previous offer and offered increases ranging from $2 a week for employees receiving $50 weekly or less up to $3.50 weekly for employees in the $90-to-$110 bracket.

Cavan News

Mr. and Mrs. A. Crawford, Port Colborne, were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. James Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Caldwell, Newmarket, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Argue returned on Thursday from a trip through Eastern Ontario. They took the 1000 Islands boat trip from Kingston and also visited old Fort Henry.

Fewer Passengers

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa transportation commission Friday reported a sharp drop in passengers carried in the first half of the year and blamed it on increased use of automobiles. Henry Welch, chairman of the commission, said Ottawa street cars and buses carried 25,205,104 passengers in the first six months of 1953, compared with 26,386,903 in the same period in 1952.

Cashed $17,000 Bogus Cheques

WINNIPEG (CP)—Robert Howard Alberts, 37, of Vancouver, who told police he had cashed bogus cheques worth $17,000 in various parts of Canada since April, was sentenced Friday to three years in penitentiary.

He pleaded guilty in court to nine charges of forgery, eight of uttering, one of attempted uttering involving $677, and one of theft.

He told police that since last April he had cashed cheques in Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Ont., and Montreal.

Mrs. Potter Hostess To Blue Banner Group

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The Blue Banner group of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. R. M. Potter with 16 members and seven visitors present.

Mrs. George McCubbin gave a paper on "How the Church Can Help Its Pastor." During the lunch period, favorite recipes were sold.

The September meeting will be held at the manse with the pastor's wife, Mrs. T. E. Kennedy, hostess.

REBUILD ST. BRIDE'S—St. Bride's Church in Fleet St., London, heavily damaged during the blitz, is being rebuilt with the help of newspapers around the world. The steeple, one of the most beautiful ever designed, is the work of the master-architect, Sir Christopher Wren. The 230-foot spire survived the bombing but the church was burned out. It was near the site of St. Bride's that William Caxton set up Britain's first print shop in the 15th century.

Newspapers Give Assistance In Rebuilding Of St. Bride's

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—St. Bride's, the bomb-gutted "cathedral of Fleet street" whose slender spire has been imitated on countless wedding cakes, is being rebuilt with the help of newspapers around the world.

The splendor of the Christopher Wren church was laid in ruins Dec. 29, 1940—the same blitz night seven other Wren-designed London churches were hit hard by German incendiary bombs.

Only the 230-foot tapering column of stone remained intact, towering over Ludgate Circus and Fleet street, with the huge dome of St. Paul's Cathedral rising behind it on Ludgate Hill.

CENTURIES-OLD SITE

Its reincarnation began this summer, 800 years after the first recorded mention of a structure named after St. Bridget, charming, vivacious Irish lady who befriended St. Patrick.

Government war damage payments will cover costs of the bare walls and roof. The £210,000 required for the rich trappings and carvings must come from the public, which already has chipped in with £80,000 as the result of the first phase of a three-part funds drive. More than £1,000 came from Canadian and other overseas newspapers, asked to help.

The response was natural enough because St. Bride's and the press have been friends for a long, long time, at least since William Caxton left Westminster Abbey late in the 15th century with England's first printing press and set up shop just around the corner from St. Bridget's church.

Friendly bonds betwixt St. Bride's and journalism, a profession whose rank-and-file members rarely are credited with excess piety, were strengthened through the years.

FAMOUS FIGURES

Caxton's prize pupil, aptly-named Wynkyn de Worde, was buried in the nave in 1534. So were cavalier poet Sir Richard Lovelace and printer Samuel Richardson, author of "Pamela," the first English novel.

Poet John Milton, defender of the freedom of the press, lived in the churchyard for a time while Dr. Samuel Johnson lodged nearby and often ate his favorite steak, mushroom and lark pie at the Cheshire Cheese, a venerable pub still much frequented by Fleet streeters. Izaak Walton, author of "The Compleat Angler," plied his trade as haberdasher nearby.

Samuel Pepys, gregarious chronicler of London, was christened in St. Bride's at the age of eight days.

Hence the deserved emphasis on journalism in the makeup of the church's restoration fund. Appeal president is Col. J. J. Astor, chairman of the Times. Other patrons include Sir Christopher Chancellor, general manager of Reuters' News Agency, and such press lords as Sir Harold Harmsworth, Lord Iliffe and Viscounts Camrose, Rothermere and Kemsley.

HUB OF JOURNALISM

Working journalists are plentiful on the executive, drawn from the cosmopolitan street which ranks as the most concentrated area of domestic and international newspaper men in the world.

The present vicar of Fleet street, Rev. Cyril M. Armitage, is a small man whose large ideas are prominent in the restoration of the Church of England edifice. His position in the London newspaper world is illustrated by the middle-aged Presbyterian journalist who, putting an arm around him, once assured the vicar:

"Do not forget that you belong to us and we belong to you."

It was the vicar's idea to settle some of the St. Bride's legends by excavating the site during the course of rebuilding. It paid off with proof that the church covers remains of Roman building. It has bared a small Saxon basilica-style church foundation dating to the sixth or seventh century.

It also has given a clearer idea of the three churches on the site between the Saxon-built structure and Wren's church. The latter was built to replace one destroyed in the great fire of 1666.

More than 2,000 skeletons have been uncovered in the ruins and stored for re-interment. Cambridge University has received 1,000 of them for scientific perusal of the 16th and 17th century Briton.

FIVE-YEAR PROJECT

The vicar hopes that St. Bride's will be completely restored within five years, despite the keen competition for public help from other London churches, including Westminster Abbey. To date, only six of the 24 heavily-bombed Anglican churches in London have been restored. Some have been abandoned.

St. Bride's resumed operations as a church soon after the damage, using the small portion of the premises left erect. The Sunday congregation actually is small, because only janitors and caretakers live in the area. Ministering to Fleet street takes up the week.

A while back, with the lord mayor of London in attendance, the church marked the replacement of its 12 lost bells by an electrically-operated carillon, not unlike that in the Peace Tower in Ottawa. Its playing has struck a nostalgic note for old-timers in the giant press buildings that crowd ever closer and higher around St. Bride's.

It also augurs well for the church's rebuilding.

Prolific Writer Dies

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—J. Victor Bate, 46, former Detroit newspaper man who saw 700 of his detective stories published, died in a Tucson hospital Thursday after a few hours' illness. Bate turned to free-lance writing after 15 years on the Detroit Times. His part in helping solve a Michigan murder case was dramatized on a national television program March 12, 1952.

The Movie Column

All Movie Stars Have Favorite Story-Director

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The trouble with movie stars," says producer Ted Richmond, "is that they all have a story to sell you."

Richmond is one of the fair-haired boys at Universal-International, ever since "Mississippi Gambler." That film is headed for a $5,000,000 gross and is enriching its star, Tyrone Power, who owns 50 per cent of the profits.

"Ty is just like all of them," said Richmond. "He's got a script that he's always wanted to do. He's even got $40,000 worth of writing in it."

"Every star has a script they've 'always wanted to do.' You talk to Joan Crawford for 15 minutes and she whips out her story about a school teacher. They're all that way."

PET PROJECTS

Just about every actor I've met has some pet project he has always been trying to promote. Cornel Wilde is one. For years, he has been after producers to film the life of Lord Byron, with Wilde as star, of course. Wilde has worked over the story many times, but still no takers.

Gary Cooper has long nursed the desire to portray Andrew Jackson on film. When he was toying with his own film company, he swore he was going through with his plans to play Old Hickory. Now Charlton Heston has beat him to the punch. Jackson's domestic life was shown in "The President's Lady."

Heddy Lamarr, fired by the success of "Samson and Delilah," has been eager to play the role of Esther on the screen. She has had the story developed for her and says it is the only thing for which she would return to the screen. So far, she hasn't been able to find a moneybags to back her project.

I know of at least two players who realized their long-time ambitions. Charles Laughton always wanted to portray Galileo on the stage, and Rosalind Russell had the urge to play Sister Kenny. Both productions were flops.

Set Fire Fatal To 15

WILLOWS, Calif. (AP) — Standord Pattan, 26, pleaded guilty Friday to charges of starting a forest fire which killed 15 men July 9. He was sentenced on each of two counts of "willful burning" on which the penalty is from one to 10 years. The two terms are to run consecutively and he will serve a minimum term of two years. Pattan, unemployed, admitted starting the fire so that he could get a job with the firefighting crews.

OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD—Dawlath Soliman, sultry Egyptian belly dancer and one-time favorite of Egypt's ex-King Farouk, is reported to be recovering from a bullet wound in her shoulder after she was shot by an unknown gunman as she was nearing the climax of a night club performance. The assailant fought his way through spectators at the club and escaped. According to police, a "foreigner" had been telephoning the dancer's hotel repeatedly and had used "bad language."

Battle Of Ogopogo Raging Full Blast Vernon Beats Kelowna To Punch On Monster

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — The noise coming over the mountains is from the battle of Ogopogo.

Ogopogo is a pawn in a developing row between the neighboring Okanagan communities of Kelowna ("Land of the Ogopogo") and Vernon.

Kelowna has been plugging Ogopogo for years. Ogo is the monster—so publicity-wise Kelowna people say—who has been appearing in Okanagan lake for many years.

But not any more he won't.

A group of Vernon business men, headed by A. J. Seabrook, manager of radio station CJIB, has copyrighted the word. That means Kelowna can't use the word Ogopogo any more unless it gets permission from the Vernon copyright holders. And if you think that will be easy, you don't know Vernon.

"Of course we will be glad to lend Ogo to Kelowna once in awhile, but that is as far as we will go," quipped Mr. Seabrook Friday.

Kelowna naturally is hot under the collar for Ogopogo is the theme around which is built the town's famous regatta and whole tourist trade.

Would Examine Drivers

STRATFORD (CP)—The Canadian Trotting Association should institute medical examinations before issuing licences to harness horse race drivers, a coroner's jury recommended here Friday night. The jury was investigating the death of Harry Field, 71-year-old Hamilton driver who was killed in an accident last Monday at the Stratford race meet when a horse fell.

Tourist Traffic Up

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A substantial increase in tourist traffic into Canada through the international boundary here during July was reported Friday by Harold Beardmore, collector of customs and excise. Some 82,690 cars entered Canada on tourist permits during July compared with 76,704 during the same period last year.

RETURN FROM HELL — Army Cpl. Richard M. Davis, of Battle Mountain, Nev., is borne on a litter to a waiting ambulance after his repatriation at Panmunjom, Korea. Cpl. Davis, one of the first UN prisoners freed by Reds, told of a death march that cleaimed 1,250 American lives in February, 1951. "Of 1,400 men who began the march," he said, "only 150 survived."

Urges French To Keep Eyes On Future

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP) — Jean Desy, former Canadian ambassador to Italy, Friday night told French-Canadians to take their eyes off the past and look to the future with confidence.

In a speech in French prepared for delivery at the Congres des Educateurs De Langue Francaise, (convention of French-Language Teachers) Mr. Desy said the time has come for French-speaking Canadians to take the initiative and enrich Canadian life with the culture, faith and customs of their race.

"Instead of letting ourselves be fascinated by our brilliant past, let us fix our eyes on the future. . . ."

DON'T NEED TO APOLOGIZE

"French-Canadians," he said, "need apologize to no one for their presence in Canada."

But, he went on, mere ethnic survival is not sufficient. Unfortunately, French-Canadians in their bearing were sometimes uncertain and lacked the self-assurance to perform their daily tasks.

While Canada's rise to the position of a world power was due to the English genius of organization, it was to French-Canadians that the country owed its stability, its realism and its Christian sense.

Head-On Crash Injures Six

ARKONA, Ont. (CP)—Six persons were injured, one severely, when two cars met head-on Friday on the brow of a hill on No. 7 Highway, three miles south of here.

In serious condition in Strathroy General Hospital is Mrs. Christina Heikkila, 51, RR 2, Royal Oak, Mich. Her two daughters, Thelma, 21, and Martha Heikkila, 23, suffered multiple lacerations and undetermined injuries.

Three occupants of the second car, Harold Albert Cable, his brother, Carmen, 16, both of RR 4, Forest, and Ronald Faulds, 16, of Arkona, suffered multiple lacerations.

11 Miners Trapped

NAGPUR, India (Reuters)—Eleven mine workers were killed in an accident at Majri, central India, reports reaching here said Friday. The men were trapped when flood waters from heavy rains rushed into their mine shaft.

6 Drown In Flood

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP)—Six persons were drowned and 300 houses collapsed following 42 hours of rain that flooded streets five feet deep in parts of Karachi Friday. Suburbs of the capital were cut off for 16 hours.

DEFIANT TO THE END — Two truckloads of North Korean PoWs move down a road at Panmunjom during the height of the "Big Switch" prisoner exchange. Defiantly, the prisoners wave oversized Red flags to celebrate their repatriation.

Injuries Prove Fatal

TORONTO (CP) — Kenneth Cousineau, 28, of Toronto died Friday in hospital from injuries suffered July 27 when his motorcycle collided with a car on No. 27 highway.

Run Over By Tractor Boy 8, Dies In Hospital

CHARGED WITH MURDER — Closely guarded by Cobourg police and Toronto detectives are Clarence "Chick" Bowen, formerly of Cobourg, and Richard Campbell McCart, 45, of Toronto. They were arrested in connection with the murder of two elderly men, Joseph George King, 81, and George E. Weaver, 78. The two were arrested by Chief H. Pearse (front row, left) and Constable E. Butler (back row, right). In the photo (front row) are Chief Pearse, Bowen and McCart handcuffed together. Back row, Det. Sgt. Barney Loveridge, Det. Walter Heaslip and Constable Butler.—(Murray Smith Photos)

Arrest Pair In Cobourg For Slayings

Two Men Holding House Party When Police Arrive

COBOURG (ENS)—Cobourg police and provincial police and four Toronto detectives surrounded a house on Bay Street here Saturday afternoon and arrested a former Cobourg man, Clarence "Chick" Bowen, age 32, and Richard McCart, age 45, of Toronto. Their arrest was the sequel to an investigation into the murder of two old age pensioners in Toronto on Friday.

Detective Inspector John Nimmo on Saturday afternoon phoned Chief H. Pearse to ask if he knew anything about a man named Chick Bowen as he was wanted for questioning in connection with the Toronto murder. The Chief had earlier learned that Bowen was in Cobourg and when advised of this fact Inspector Nimmo sent down Detective Sergeant Barney Simmonds, Detective Sergeant Barney Loveridge and Detectives Vic Joyce and Walter Heaslip.

Pending the arrival of the Toronto police, the Cobourg police kept the house under observation and when the detectives arrived they entered. Chief Pearse and Constable E. Butler arrested Bowen and McCart. When they entered the house a party was in progress.

LENGTHY QUESTIONING

Bowen and McCart were taken to the police station and after a lengthy questioning they were locked up in the county jail overnight and taken back to Toronto on Sunday morning. Inspector Nimmo arrived in Cobourg around six p.m. on Saturday and took over the investigation.

Inspector Nimmo praised the efficiency of the Cobourg police department in picking up the two wanted men.

Slain in the rooming house were Joseph George King, 81 and George E. Weaver, 78. Weaver's throat was cut and King was strangled with his tie.

DRINKING PARTY

Police said Weaver's throat was slashed by a table knife—found carefully wiped clean of blood—or the broken edge of a wine bottle. The tie was twisted tightly about King's neck and bits of a broken wine bottle were around his bloodied head.

It was believed that the two men were killed in a fight that followed a drinking party in the cheap, dingy room. The room was littered with empty wine bottles.

VICTORY SMILE — Lionel Bertrand, Liberal candidate in the Quebec constituency of Terrebonne, smiles happily after receiving word of his election by acclamation to the House of Commons. Mr. Bertrand's only opponent, a Progressive Conservative, withdrew from the federal contest, thus making Mr. Bertrand the first candidate elected.

Voting Light In Many Ont. Centres

Expect Improvement As Weather Clears In Province

TORONTO (CP)—Voters in Southern Ontario were greeted by rain and dull skies today as they cast their ballots in the federal election.

In the northern parts of the province there was sunshine and generally clear weather.

In many centres the morning vote was reported light but was expected to pick up later in the day.

At Toronto more than the usual number of voters turned out under cloudy skies to cast early morning ballots. Later the voting lagged. Skies were overcast.

In the area surrounding London, Ont., the vote was light during the first few hours. At Goderich and Exeter, in the new riding of Huron, and at Aylmer, in Elgin, about 10 per cent of the eligible vote was cast in the first hour.

In Oshawa, where it was cloudy with some rain, the vote was light but was expected to pick up in the afternoon.

Cornwall reported the voting was normal despite steady rain. A heavy vote is expected.

It was sunny and warm in Brantford, Brant-Haldimand and Norfolk ridings with voting reported light, as is usual in the mornings. A heavier turnout was expected during the last two hours the polls are open.

In Ottawa rain started less than two hours after the polls opened. The weatherman said it would continue raining all day in the Ottawa valley.

HEAVY VOTE

A fairly heavy vote was reported in the new riding of Niagara Falls where there was a steady downpour of rain.

In Kent and Lincoln voting in the forenoon was reported light. In Lincoln rain fell throughout the morning. In St. Catharines, the riding's largest centre, the city's biggest industry which employs about 5,000 persons is shutdown for a vacation. Weather in the southwestern Ontario county of Kent was termed ideal.

In Leeds a steady rain which started during the night continued into the day. At Brockville voting was reported extremely light but

Does Home Chores Before Injuries Known To Parents

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Ronald Timlin, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Timlin, died Sunday in Civic Hospital after being run over by a tractor more than 12 hours before in a field near his farm home, a mile and a half southeast of Roseneath. The left wheel of the speeding tractor that he was driving passed over his stomach after he had been thrown to the ground. It was going too fast to make a turn in the laneway leading from the field to the roadway. It crashed through the rail fence, lined along the bottom with stones, threw the boy off, ran over him and continued on, crashing through three more fences before coming to a halt.

Strangest aspect of the fatal accident is that the eight-year-old boy, though obviously shaken up, claimed he was unhurt. It was not until an hour and a half later that his parents noticed anything was wrong.

TAKEN TO DOCTOR

When he became pale and there were symptoms of internal bleeding his mother took him to Dr. Barry Wood of Cobourg for X-rays. Dr. Wood, after examination, ordered him to Civic Hospital where he was admitted at 8 p.m.

He died at 4.30 a.m. after an operation to remove his spleen and one kidney.

Cause of death is hemhorrage and shock.

Exactly what happened to cause the fatal accident is not known. There were no eyewitnesses and the boy didn't give any details before he went on the operating table.

Saturday afternoon the boy's father was threshing at a nearby farm and his mother was stooking oats in a field 500 yards away from their home. Young Ronald was with her.

GIVEN PERMISSION

At 4 p.m. Ronald got permission to use the family tractor to go and get a pail of cold water. Mrs. Timlin, who knew he could drive it, gave her permission.

Ronald made a wide circuit in the field and headed for the laneway leading from the field to the road. It is believed he was going too fast to make the turn and the tractor plowed into the rail fence throwing him off onto the ground.

The tractor ran over his stomach and broke through three more fences before being halted when it ran into a log and an upright post on the farm of neighbors John and Joseph Robins. The field where the oats were

Strikers Win Second Round Of Controversy

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Striking truck drivers Sunday won the second round of a controversy over attempts by a Toronto transport truck to deliver goods after they caused a traffic jam on a street near downtown Windsor.

The truck, owned by McKinlay Transport, Ltd., and driven by Donald MacKinnon, 32, arrived here Friday with a load of zinc alloy for a local manufacturing firm. The truck was stopped by strikers and moved into a strike-bound transport company yard.

Sunday provincial police escorted the truck out of the yard and to the firm where the cargo was unloaded.

Soon more than 100 strikers, among some 1,500 who went on strike throughout Western Ontario July 18, arrived on the scene. The strikers parked their cars along the street outside the company yard and soon a number of other cars and five city buses were caught in the traffic jam which lasted more than three hours.

REFUSE LOAD

Company officials met with union officials and announced they would not accept the load of zinc. The cargo was re-loaded on the vehicle.

Later a representative from McKinlay Transport arrived and conferred with union officials and police. Following the meeting it was announced the truck would be taken to a private parking lot and remain there for the duration of the strike.

Soon afterwards, the jam was untangled and the strikers moved off.

Meanwhile, crown attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald has decided there are no grounds for prosecution against truck driver Bob Beer who was questioned Saturday after three strikers charged Beer had menaced them with a rifle.

Say Gl's Working For Reds

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP)—Americans freed from Red prison stockades said today Red-indoctrinated U.S. prisoners are among those returning—including 30 "Progressive" en route home to preach communism in the the United States. Cpl. Leslie E. Scales, 22, of Folsomville, Ind., said the 30 were members of his 306-man company at Camp 5 in Pyoktong on the Yalu river. Most of the men in the company were anti-Red, he said in an interview at Inchon, but he knew the 30 personally. Other repatriated prisoners have told of Americans who collaborated with the Reds, but only Scales told of repatriates returning to work for communism in the U.S.

Scales said he had heard the 30 talk about joining organizations called the "ex-PoWs for peace" and the "veterans for peace," but he did not know if they had been formed.

Scales said he did not know if the "Progressives" planned to join the Communist party in the U. S. but said he heard them talk of a reunion at the home of a friend in San Francisco to discuss their next moves.

Scales said he also knew of several British PoWs returning who had collaborated with the Reds. One, he said, had told him he was a card-carrying Communist.

Scales said not all of the 30 were "rats" (informers) in camp. He said some believed in communism but did not inform.

Most, he said, were in their '20s, poorly-educated and had served long terms in the camp.

Asked if army investigators knew about the men, Scales answered: "I hope they do."

He said if enough "reactionaries" from his company arrive in time to catch the ship "it wouldn't be safe for them (the 30) to go back. . . ."

Scales said he got his information because he worked in the camp kitchen near camp head quarters where the "Progressives" hung out.

Cpl. Harold Wilson, 32, of Mobile, Ala., said one prisoner—considered the "No. 1 Progressive" in Camp 5—had said he would "kill his own mother and father if they interfered with him being a Communist and would never even spit on an American dollar again."

Three other Americans who returned Monday said the Reds have returned "No. 1 Progressives" from Camp 5.

The prisoners labelled men who swallowed the Red line "Progressives" and said many were informers in the PoW camps.

Some have elected to stay behind, prisoners have said, either converted to the Communist philosophy or fearful of what their fellow inmates might do once the Red protection was gone.

Second Canadian Prisoner Has Been Freed By Reds

By BILL BOSS

MUNSAN (CP)—Brigade headquarters today announced that Gunner Orval J. Jenkins of Toronto and Hamilton will be flown Wednesday to Tokyo and Thursday from Tokyo to Vancouver. The member of the 2nd Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, will fly regardless of the outcome of a board of inquiry scheduled to begin sittings today at quarters of the 38th Canadian Field Ambulance unit to which Jenkins was transferred late Sunday from Britannia Camp.

This means Jenkins, who was captured Aug. 24, 1951, and released Sunday, will travel with Cpl. Joseph Pelletier of Chatham, released Aug. 5 as the first Canadian prisoner exchanged since the truce.

Maj. William Pearce, 25th brigade public relations officer, said today the findings of the board of inquiry must be forwarded to Ottawa where decisions will be taken. He said there is a possibility Jenkins will be unavailable for interview by correspondents prior to his departure for homc.

TAKES WRONG ROUTE

Jenkins was captured when he left a forward observation party in search, he said, of drinking water. He took a wrong route and ended up in an enemy-occupied village.

Jenkins was described by Capt. Tom Sailman, Halifax public relations officer, as fit, happy and grinning broadly when he reached Munsan. There he got a welcoming handshake from Brig. Ronald Morton, commander of the Canadian military mission to Tokyo, who is visiting Korea.

Maj. Pearce [illegible]ted Jenkins as saying he was well during his early captivity but picked up and is quite well now.

Army officials in Ottawa said it is "normal" procedure to have released prisoners-of-war interrogated by security officers before allowing them to be questioned by correspondents. They said, however, they knew nothing specific about Jenkins' case.

Ouster Threat Facing Union

CHICAGO (AP)—The AFL executive council held an ouster threat over its crime-laden East Coast waterfront workers union today at a showdown hearing on clean-up demands.

Joseph P. Ryan, lifetime president of the AFL's International Longshoremen's Association, was expected to defend his 65,000-member organization from charges of harboring criminal elements and to claim the ILA already has launched its own purge.

The AFL council, all-powerful ruling agency of the 10,000,000-member AFL, was reported lukewarm about the embattled union's purity plans and about to kick the ILA out of the AFL.

Hold 4 Youths In Crime Wave

TORONTO (CP)—Four youths termed by police "real young hoodlums, who wouldn't tell us the time of day" were arrested here Sunday after carrying out a small crime wave.

Police said the four youths, whose names were not released, smashed their way out of Bowmanville Training School Saturday. They broke into a grocery store to supply themselves with food, then hopped a freight to Toronto.

In Toronto they smashed open two newspaper boxes and stole $6. Later they rifled four cars making off with several articles of clothing. A mile further they stole a change of clothes from a clothesline.

They were finally nabbed as they attempted to jimmy the window of a parked car, but not before constables drew their guns and threatened to shoot.

Churchill Preparing To Resume Duties

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill, 78, gave fresh evidence today that he is gradually recovering his old form and preparing to resume his full duties as prime minister.

The veteran statesman, who six weeks ago was ordered to rest after a spell of overwork, has arranged for R. A. Butler, who has been carrying out the day-to-day duties of prime minister, to take a holiday.

Butler, normally chancellor of the exchequer, will leave town tomorrow for a vacation in Yorkshire and Scotland. It is not known when he is due back.

The prime minister's medical advisers have still to say when he will be fit to return to his office but authoritative sources say he is making good progress.

Bengough Serves Notice:

TLC Will Continue Fight For Health Insurance Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Percy R. Bengough, 70-year-old Trades and Labor Congress president, served notice today that no matter what government is elected at the polls, the 550,000-member labor body will continue its fight for a national health insurance plan.

The veteran labor leader, who starts his 11th presidential term, told the TLC convention at its opening that the country's biggest labor body also will continue its drive for other social benefits.

"We want to see the age limits for old-age pensions reduced," he said in a prepared address. "We want the monthly payments increased. We want the coverage and provisions of the Unemployment Insurance Act extended. There are immediate and necessary goals of our congress today."

The congress will continue to help Canada keep up its guard against the inroads of communism, Mr. Bengough said.

Labor must constantly be aware, he said, that despite the current thaw in the cold war and the Korean truce, "international communism through its enslaving dictatorship in Moscow is the outright foe of democracy and all free trade unions."

The Communists, he said, have "murderously enforced" a ban on strikes in East Berlin. The use of Soviet tanks against striking workers was a "glaring" example that the Kremlin was completely opposed to free trade unions and freedom of workers to seek better conditions.

"Whatever the present and immediate future may hold in international affairs," Mr. Bengough said, "We shall have to remain ever on the alert for new actions and activities of the agents of conspiracy, and in particular any attempts which they may make to insinuate themselves into our organizations."

U.S. May Adopt Reciprocal PoW Measures

DENVER (AP)—State Secretary Dulles said after a conference today with President Eisenhower that the United States probably would adopt "reciprocal measures" if the Communists refuse to return some American prisoners of war.

Dulles left no doubt that he meant the U.S. would take retaliatory steps if prisoners are withheld in violation of the armistice terms.

The secretary arrived at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters this morning after an overnight nonstop flight from Honolulu on the way back from South Korea, where he conferred with the president of that republic, Syngman Rhee.

GETS FULL REPORT

Dulles told reporters he gave Eisenhower "a very full report" on his talks with Rhee. The secretary then noted that a communique released before he left Korea had said that the South Koreans had given "categorical assurance" that they won't upset the newly-won armistice.

Gaspe Arrest Reported Near

QUEBEC (CP) — Solicitor-General Rivard said today there are "important and serious developments" in the gruesome murder of three Americans in Gaspe peninsula.

Mr. Rivard, who cancelled plans to hold a press conference amid growing unofficial reports that the case may have been solved, added:

"The ends of justice would be obstructed if details on current police work were revealed."

GAINS MOMENTUM

The investigation gained momentum with the discovery in Montreal last week of an automatic pistol and articles said to have been carried by the trio when they entered the Gaspe bushland June 9.

Mr. Rivard offered no comment when asked if an arrest was made, or would be made shortly. It is believed the automatic pistol was the murder weapon.

Eugene H. Lindsay, 45, his 17 year-old son Richard and and Fred Claar, 20, all of Hollidaysburg, Pa., were the victims.

Find 24 Fliers In Desert Crash

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP).—The U.S. Air Force today rescued 24 American airmen who parachuted into the Libyan desert late Saturday night, minutes before their disabled C-119 "flying boxcar" crashed into the sands.

Three of the airmen were found much later than the first 21. The crash area was 60 miles south of the big U S. base at Wheelus Field, Tripoli.

The survivors, none seriously injured, were taken by helicopter and ground rescue teams to the air force hospital at Wheelus. Some had suffered cuts and bruises and ankle injuries in the jump.

The plane, carrying a crew of six and 18 passengers, was on a flight across the Mediterranean from Udine, Italy, to Wheelus field, the big air force base near Tripoli.

Earlier reports said the craft crashed into the sea and five survivors had been picked up, but the wreckage and the survivors were spotted in the desert today from the air by Col. Royal Anthis, commander of the Wheelus air base.

The plane had been missing since Saturday midnight, when it reported that it was 30 to 50 miles off the North African coast. British and American and Italian planes from Naples, Wheelus and Malta had searched all day Sunday and resumed the hunt again today.

PROTEST FILED

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A Progressive Conservative protest is being filed today in South Essex because of an error in the official listing of two polling places in Anderdon township, R. D. Thrasher, president of the Amherstburg Progressive Conservative Association said today.

Soviet Parliament Approves Beria Purge

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Parliament rubber-stamped its approval today of the purging of Lavrenty P. Beria and ordered the case against the Kremlin's No. 2 man to the Soviet Supreme Court.

The decree of the Supreme Council (Parliament), broadcast by Moscow radio, indicated that the stage is being set for the trial of Prime Minister Malenkov's one time top deputy who rose to power as the head of Stalin's secret police.

The broadcast said the council had confirmed the 54-year-old Beria's ouster for "criminal and anti-state activities" approved stripping him of "all awards and ranks, and (approved) transferring (his) case for consideration by the U. S. S. R. Supreme Court."

Bail Now Set For 2 Drivers

CORNWALL (CP)—Bail has been set for the drivers of a passenger bus and a truck that plunged into Williamsburg canal near Morrisburg July 31, claiming the lives of 20 of the 37 bus passengers.

Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan said today bail of $1,000 cash or $2,000 property has been fixed for bus driver Lorne Chesebrough, 28, of Kingston, and Max Roodman, 40, of Toronto, driver of the truck. Both are charged with manslaughter.

No date has been set for the preliminary hearing of the charge. The hearing will take place at Morrisburg.

Chesebrough was released from hospital Saturday and returned to his home in Kingston. Roodman, still in hospital, is recovering from shock and injuries.

Election Results

Tonight The Examiner's newsroom will be a busy place. For into it will come election results from all sections of Canada. To handle these and provide a service to our readers The Examiner will provide special radio broadcasts and telephone service.

CHEX will commence broadcasting at 7.30 with the first results from the Peterborough riding. Other local results will be heard at 8.30, 9.30, 10.25 and 10.45. Then at 8.00 o'clock CHEX will join the national network and for the rest of the evening will carry national results, with the exception of the times set aside for local results.

In addition The Examiner will give results until 11.00 o'clock by telephone over 4641 and the accompanying lines which are hooked to The Exiner switchboard.

Strike Delays Canadian Votes

LONDON (CP)—The French postal strike, it appeared today, may toss a small spanner into the Canadian election works.

Reports reaching here indicated a mailbag or two containing Canadian service votes may have gone astray when postmen went on strike in France. Asked to comment, special returning officer Maj. Palmer said postal author- Ont., said in London:

"The votes are coming in very well. We have been informed of a possibility that some of the ballots would not reach this office in time to be counted, due to the French postal strike."

"Maj. Palmer said postal authorities, the RCAF and the Canadian embassy in Paris were making "determined efforts" to overcome difficulties.

Malenkov Speech Rules Out Agreement

By REUTERS NEWS AGENCY

Western observers are more concerned with Russian Premier Georgi Malenkov's pronouncements on foreign affairs than with his announcement that Russia has or can build a hydrogen bomb.

Western scientists were not surprised to learn about the H-bomb. Their feelings were expressed by Prof. Marcus Oliphant, director of Australia's National University research school of physical sciences, who said the principle of the hydrogen bomb is well known.

"It is just a question of making the necessary effort," he said. "It would be a grave mistake to believe that Russian scientists are not capable of doing this in principle, or that Russian technologists are not capable of carrying it out."

But as far as politics are concerned, Malenkov's speech to the Supreme Soviet Saturday is believed to rule out any chance of early agreement on world issues.

His speech indicated that Russia does not want to negotiate isolated problems; it demanded that the West abandon plans to bring West Germany into the European Defence Community; and it again branded the Atlantic alliance as the "main threat to world peace."

But the West is not likely to abandon either NTO or the EDC just to have the honor of talking things over with the Kremlin.

Malenkov's speech does, however, clarify Soviet foreign policy as set out in a note to the Big Three last week answering proposals for a foreign ministers' conference to discuss German elections and an Austrian peace treaty.

The note suggested vaguely that the ministers should tackle the over-all problem of Germany and ways of relaxing the cold war and said Communist China should attend the conference.

WILL DISCUSS ANSWER

Big Three diplomats will meet soon to discuss an answer to the note, but they are not likely to agree to Communist China sitting in.

The West wants more proof of Soviet sincerity in wanting world peace, preferably at the forthcoming Korean political conference or in an Austrian peace treaty, before agreeing to a conference to discuss the entire cold war.

Hopes of an Austrian treaty were dashed by Malenkov, however, when he reiterated that he wants the bigger problem of Germany settled first. His address showed he wants to discuss all or nothing.

Expect Record Vote Will Be Cast

OTTAWA (CP)—This is the day the Canadian voter takes over. He is electing the country's new government.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Arctic to the border, the men and women wielding the pencil of power went to the polling booth at 8 a.m. local standard time to choose their candidate.

Some time after the ballot boxes are closed at 6 p.m., Canada will know the make-up of her federal administration for about the next four years.

More than 6,000,000 voters—a Canadian record—are expected to make the decision from among four major parties and a miscellany of independent candidates—totalling in all 896.

At stake is the future of the Liberal government, in office 18 years. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, 71, is looking for his second general-election win after leading his supporters to power in 1949 with the greatest parliamentary majority in Canadian history.

George Drew, 59, former Ontario premier and Progressive Conservative leader since 1948, also is in his second general federal contest and seeking to bolster a 48-member representation in the lower House.

The only other party with enough candidates in the field to form a government is the socialist CCF, which had 13 of the Commons' 262 members at dissolution. Under redistribution, the new House will have 265 members, of whom the Liberals already have elected two by acclamation in Quebec.

An electorate estimated at a record 8,500,000 is making the choice in this first August election since 1874. The actual figure will not be known until enumerators report after election day.

However, the popular vote is expected to exceed the approximately 5,900,000 of 1949.

This year's number of candidates also is ahead of the figure for that election, though not up to the record for 1945's wartime balloting. In the last election, there were 849 candidates. Four years earlier, 954 ran.

Women were out in force among the candidates today, in greater numbers than ever. A total of 48 are in the running, 34 of them in Ontario and Quebec. The Communists went in most strongly for feminine vote-getters, with 21. The CCF was next with 13. The Liberals ran only three.

In their personal campaigns, the five party leaders are spread through four provinces.

Prime Minister St. Laurent is looking for re-election in Quebec East, where he had the biggest majority of anyone in 1949. Mr. Drew is running in Carleton, which returned him then. Mr. Coldwell is in Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., and Mr. Low is in the northern Alberta district of Peace River. Mr. Buck is making his personal bid in Toronto Trinity. He has never been in the Commons.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9.50 a.m.:

Synopsis:

The weather disturbance, which moved across the lower lakes regions during the weekend, is now drifting very slowly eastward across the New England States.

Skies are generally clear throughout Ontario, except for southeastern regions, which lie in the circulation of moist air around this disturbance.

Numerous thundershowers occurred during the night along the southern shore of Lake Ontario. Thundershower activity today will generally be limited to New York state but a risk remains of one or two thundershowers occurring north of the lake in southeastern Ontario. Cloudy conditions with scattered showers will persist over southeastern Ontario today but skies will clear over night. Tuesday will be a pleasant sunny day in all regions except northwestern Ontario. The approach of cooler air from the Prairies will result in cloudy weather with scattered showers over these regions.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Tuesday:

Eastern Lake Ontario: Cloudy with scattered showers and risk of thundershowers today. Tuesday, sunny with not much change in temperature; winds northeast 15 today, light tonight and Tuesday; low tonight and high Tuesday at Trenton 60 and 75. Summary for Tuesday: Sunny.

Niagara and Haliburton regions: Hamilton city: Cloudy with a few sunny intervals and widely scattered showers today; sunny and a little warmer Tuesday; winds northeast 15 today, light tonight and Tuesday; low tonight and high Tuesday at St. Catharines and Hamilton 60 and 80, Killaloe 50 and 75. Summary for Tuesday: Sunny.

Mrs. John Haig Dies Suddenly

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mrs. John T. Haig, 74, wife of the Progressive Conservative leader in the senate, died suddenly today at her Winnipeg home.

She was born Josephine Dickie in Scotland. She married Senator Haig in 1907.

Besides her husband, survivors include: Two sons, Campbell and Douglas, both of Winnipeg; four daughters, Mrs. Allyn Taylor of London, Ont., Mrs. Roy Jones of Toronto; Mrs. Gerald Williams and Miss Marion Haig, both of Winnipeg; four sisters, Mrs. Alfred Bailey of Toronto, and Mrs. Norman Black, Miss Elizabeth Dickey and Miss Ruby Dickie, all of Winnipeg; and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held here Wednesday.

Prices Edge Higher On Stock Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Prices edged higher in early afternoon stock market activity today.

Leading the advance in industrials were papers, steels and banks. Manufacturing companies were down as Holden A and Dominion Coal Preferred lost $1. Up were Ford A, Page-Hersey and Thrift Stores. Canadian Bakeries dropped 1½ points.

Golds gained, led by Broulan Reef, Macassa, Pickle Crow and Preston East Dome and Kerr-Addison firmed.

Base metals overcame early weakness in higher-priced stocks to regain most of Friday's losses by 1 p. m. Higher were Falconbridge, East Sullivan, Noranda and Golden Manitou. Steep Rock dropped 15 cents.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals moved within a narrowly mixed range. Lower were Nesbitt Labine, Radiore and Sudbury Contact while Brunswick and Gunnar rose.

Firmness in a few leading western oils like Calgary and Edmonton and New British produced a small index rise.

being stooked was rented from another neighbor, Mrs. William Marsden.

Ronald got up off the ground and went back to tell his mother what happened. He said he was not hurt and the pair continued stooking. Then he walked back home with his mother and later got the cows for his mother from a nearby field.

SAID HE WASN'T HURT

"No, I'm not hurt," he repeated to several people who asked him about the accident.

It wasn't until he began to pass blood and look pale, an hour and a half after the accident, that Mrs. Timlin knew that he had received some injury.

He was taken to Cobourg and then rushed to Peterborough where he was operated on.

After his long operation he rallied briefly. Coming out of the anesthetic he recognized his father and said "Hi Dad." He also mumbled that he felt "fine."

INQUEST UNDECIDED

At 3 a.m. the parents who were at the hospital were told he had taken a turn for the worse. He died 4:30 a.m.

Coroner Dr. Herbert Young, who has been in touch with Cobourg provincial police and the Durham-Northumberland Crown Attorney, said today there will be no inquest.

Besides his parents Ronald leaves a sister Cheryl, 7; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Timlin of Cobourg, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Elder of Roseneath.

The funeral will be 3:30 p.m. Tuesday from the home of his uncle, George Elder of Alnwick Township, the Rev. J. R. Wheeler of Roseneath United Church officiating.

Spy Gives Tipoff

TOKYO (Reuters)—Police said today a suspected Communist spy had given them information leading to the capture of a Russian fishing vessel inside Japanese territorial waters Saturday night. The police said the spy told them the ship was coming to pick him up so he could deliver his information.

KILLED BY THIS TRACTOR, Ronald Timlin, eight-year-old Roseneath boy shown left, at first claimed that he had not been hurt. He was thrown off the tractor and one of its wheels ran over his abdomen. He died in Civic Hospital early Sunday. Here his second cousin, Hilton Linton, of Roseneath, examines the bent steering column of the tractor. See story Page 1.—(W. W. Reid Photo).

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains were easy at the opening on the board of trade today. Dealings were quite active, particularly in wheat.

The early decline was a continuation of the selling movement which began Friday. This was based upon concern over how wheat farmers would vote next Friday on marketing quota proposals.

Wheat started to a cent lower, Sept. $1.90; corn unchanged to ⅝ lower, Sept $1.46, and oats ⅛-¾ lower, Sept 77. Soybeans were ¼-1½ cents lower, Sept $2.53.

Use Truce Period To Train For Offensive

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee said today South Korea's army will use the armistice period to train "for an offensive whenever necessary."

The statesman also said in a statement that if the post-war political conference fails to unify Korea in 90 days "the 16 United Nations, including the U.S., will join us in an effort to achieve our unification by other means."

United Nations headquarters in New York announced Friday that the 16 countries with troops in Korea had agreed to take up arms again if Red forces break the truce and attack South Korea again. The announcement made no mention of renewing the war to unite Korea or of a time limit on the political conference.

Rhee told his people "there is no definite commitment that they will resume warfare." But he said the countries involved "certainly recognized our right to pursue our objective by our own means and, in such a case, we firmly believe we will have the more effective aid from the United Nations Allies."

Charges CMA Fails Maintain Discipline

OTTAWA (CP)—John F. Cauley, vice-chairman of the Ontario workmen's Compensation Board, charged today that the Canadian Medical Association has "fallen down terribly" in maintaining discipline among its member doctors.

Canadians hardly ever hear of the association taking disciplinary action against any doctor in connection with competence, Mr. Cauley told the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress.

It is time the association put "its house in order" or have the federal government set up an independent board to license and control the medical profession as a "public protection," he said.

Prime Minister, Wife Cast Their Votes

QUEBEC (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent cast his vote this morning in Quebec South riding where his old friend Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power is running for re-election.

Accompanied by Mrs. St. Laurent, the 71-year-old prime minister stepped out of his home along Quebec's Grande Allee at 10 a.m.

Wearing a grey fedora, grey suit and pink carnation Mr St. Laurent took Mrs. St. Laurent's arm and posed for a half-dozen newspaper and newsreel cameramen outside their home.

Farmer's Body Found By Wife Near Barn

COBOURG (ENS) — The body of a Hamilton township farmer, Alfred James Dolley, 45, was found about 8 p.m. Saturday by his wife near the barn. A .22 calibre rifle was lying by his side.

No inquest will be held. Coroner R. E. Rathall, of Port Hope, was called to investigate with Provincial Police Constable Bill Warner.

Dolley was the father of eight children ranging in age from 16 months to 19 years.

One of the reasons for the interrogation was that prisoners might have information about the enemy which it might not be wise to release.

At Ottawa, the army said it still cannot shed any light on the question of whether the Chinese Reds may be holding more Canadian prisoners than they say they are.

Release of Jenkins cuts to 13 the number of Canadians the Reds say they hold as prisoners. But the army listed 18 men as prisoners-of-war and return of Jenkins reduces the number to 17.

Doctor's Big Fish

Has 50 Years' Service With Railway

MONTREAL (CP)—S. A. Bilodeau, responsible for handling baggage on two royal tours, has completed 50 years service with Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Bilodeau, now 62 and almost three years away from retirement, joined the CNR in 1903. He has risen from call boy to district baggage and mail agent, with headquarters in Montreal.

Described as a man who moves mountains of baggage in Quebec and New England, Mr. Bilodeau was chosen to handle the royal baggage during the 1939 tour of the late King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, and the 1950 tour of the then Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

KEPT CLOSE WATCH

During the 1939 tour, he guarded the royal baggage with his life, sleeping in special quarters in the baggage car throughout the cross-Canada trip.

There were 130 pieces of baggage stored in one half of the car, and clothes were moved to the car of the King and Queen as they were needed.

"We always knew what the King and Queen were going to wear the next day," he recalled.

Mr. Bilodeau's job now is to supervise the handling of baggage and mail over 3,010 miles of line in Quebec and to Rouses Point, N.Y., and Portland, Me.

He regards his work as his hobby.

TIME GOES QUICKLY

"When I joined the railway, I an engineer was retiring after 50 was 12 years old, and at that time years of service," said Mr. Bilodeau. "I wondered how he ever did it. Now I think how quickly 50 years can go. But then, I've always liked my work."

Born Oct. 13, 1890, at Levis, Que., Mr. Bilodeau joined the railway in 1903 as a call boy with the operating department. At Levis he worked as a junior clerk, night baggagemaster, junior baggagemaster and baggagemaster until 1922.

He then transferred to the passenger traffic department at Quebec City as a special baggage representative. The next year he came to Montreal as a travelling baggage agent. In 1951 he was transferred to a similar position at Toronto. He was appointed district baggage and mail agent in Montreal in 1952.

Reds Staging Food Swindle

BERLIN (AP)—Refugees from the Russian zone reported today that the Communists were staging a big swindle by selling confiscated American food in their state-owned stores at profiteering prices.

Red propagandists have widely advertised that the American food parcels which they have been confiscating from East Germans are being given back to "needy West Berliners."

But refugee reports say much of the stolen food—especially milk and fats—finds its way onto the tables of Communist party officials. Other stocks are wrapped in labels of the HO (Handels Organization) state stores and sold there. These stores sell off-theration foods which many workers cannot afford to buy.

Meanwhile, West Berlin and West German government representatives decided today to start a second food relief plan for East Germans on Aug. 27—12 days after the present one ends.

Voting Light

in the riding's rural districts the vote was reported better than usual in the first three hours.

At Kirkland Lake voting was reported "better than average" with sunny skies and a temperature of 58 making for ideal election weather. A heavy vote was expected after 4 p. m. when the day shift at the mines are off work.

BUSINESS HEAVY

Early balloting in Lambton West and Lambton Kent indicated a heavy vote in those ridings. Fair weather prevailed.

A drenching rain at Belleville kept many voters at home or at work in the morning. If the rain continues the vote may not be more than 40 per cent.

At Welland, where it rained early in the morning then became cloudy, the vote was light.

At Peterborough voting was reported slow up to noon when about 11 per cent of city voters had cast their ballots. In the nearby village of Lakefield about 18 per cent had voted. Rain fell during the opening hours of the polls. Later it was dull and cloudy.

It was sunny at Woodstock and Ingersoll where voting was reported light in the morning. A heavy early vote had been expected. In the nearby rural areas a heavy turnout of farmers was expected as week-end rains had made grain too wet to thresh.

Cloudy skies cleared at Hamilton toward noon. The vote was reported to be about average.

Accident Spoils Perfect Crime

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP) — Joe Masson, 45-year-old liquor store clerk, was shot in the head by a killer who hoped to commit the "perfect crime" by hiding the body under a pulpwood boom, police said Sunday.

If the plan for disposing of the body had succeeded, the killing might have gone undetected for months—and possibly forever.

A freak accident brought the corpse to light. Police said Masson's body was jammed down through the floating pulpwood sticks in the Spanish river near this pulpmill town 40 miles southwest of Sudbury and then fastened with a chain which linked two booms. But Masson's belt apparently caught on a log and the soles of the victim's shoes popped up to the surface.

Ernie Laplante and Edmond Lachance, moving the boom to a different location, spotted the shoes and found the body 180 feet from shore Saturday, about 48 hours after Masson was last seen alive.

Casts First Vote In 27 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—The man who for more than a quarter of a century championed the secrecy of the ballot in Canada today cast his first federal vote in 27 years.

He is Jules Castonguay, former chief electoral officer.

Shortly after the polls opened in Ottawa East constituency he dropped his ballot in the box—something he has been unable to do in a federal election since he last voted in 1926.

The law lists the chief electoral officer among those not entitled to vote. Nelson Castonguay, son of Jules, is the present election officer.

Most of the Americans who returned in the sixth day of "Operation Big Switch" looked lighthearted and healthy, but inside the warehouse processing centre they told ugly stories about their long months in captivity.

Cpl. Jerry W. De Wesse of Detroit said about seven per cent of his all-white company of 300 prisoners were either Progressive or "played along with the Commies to get better treatment."

"No one could tell for sure which believed communism and which were just taking advantage of the situation," he said.

Cpl. Carl J. Raup of Franklin, Pa., said that between Feb. 1 and Aug. 1, 1951, 4,400 prisoners died at the Pyoktong camp.

U.S. Officials Watching Russia For Bomb Data

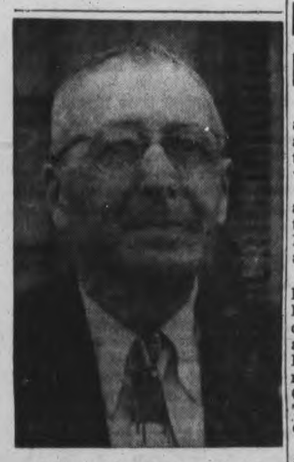
WASHINGTON (AP)—The next week or so could be a tense watch-and-wait period for U. S. officials scanning the atmosphere for proof of Russia's boast that it has the hydrogen bomb.

This follows from the unofficial view of an atomic scientist, Dr. Ralph Lapp of Washington, that:

1. Russia may actually have done a "small scale" test of a primitive H-bomb late last week—small scale as far as the hydrogen end of it is concerned, but conceivably involving a triggering atomic bomb 10 times as powerful as the one dropped on Nagasaki.

2. By Lapp's own estimate it would take at least a week for radio-activity detection devices to certify such an event. While the United States has never said how it detected the first Russian A-blast in 1949, Lapp suggested that the country-wide U. S. system for scenting the atmosphere from radio-activity from Nevada tests probably has "global arms extending right up to the iron curtain."

HASN'T MONOPOLY



Prime Minister Malenkov's announcement to the Soviet Parliament Saturday that "the United States no longer has the monopoly of the hydrogen bomb" drew a mixed reaction in the free world.

Most of it was on the skeptical side, but there were many expressions that it at least could be true.

Representative Jesse van Zandt (Rep.-Pa.), a member of the joint atomic energy committee, in voicing suspicion of the Russian claim, said: "Why, we didn't know we had one ourselves until last October when we exploded a hydrogen device."

May Take Gown

LONDON (Reuters)--The Queen may take "the loveliest dress in the world," her own Coronation gown, with her when she tours Australia and New Zealand at the end of the year. The hand-woven satin dress with its emblematic embroidery has been on show in the royal school of needlework exhibition here.

FIRST VOTE TODAY—John Pratt, retired railwayman, voted today for the first time in his 71 years. Most of his life was spent in the United States where he worked for the New York Central at Cleveland for 55 years. As he retained his Canadian citizenship he had no vote in the United States. He retired about five and a half years ago but only came back to Canada last February and took up residence in Cobourg, his home town. "I am going to live out my retirement years in Cobourg, the town in which I was born and I am voting for the first time in my 71 years at this present federal election," said Mr. Pratt.

Cars Damaged Drivers Unhurt

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)— A small English auto was badly damaged Saturday night when it overturned on Highway 45 near Hastings, after being struck by another car.

The small car was owned by Donald C. Telford, and driven by his 16-year-old son Raymond of Norwood.

A car driven by Paul Smith 22, of RR 1 Hastings was travelling north, police believe, on the wrong side of the highway. The Telford auto swung to the left in an attempt to go around the approaching vehicle, but collided with the Smith car. The side of the Telford car was badly damaged, and it continued on and rolled onto its roof in the ditch.

No one was injured.

Provincial Constable Archie Eady who investigated, said charges of careless driving would be laid against Smith.

Mules Drew Stage In 1908 To Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Boyd of Toronto and Timagami visited friends in the village the latter part of the week.

Approximately 45 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Boyd came to Roseneath to teach in the local school. Mrs. Boyd as principal and Mr. Boyd as teacher of the Jr. Room.

When visiting their ex-pupils here the past week Mr. and Mrs. Boyd, in a reminiscent mood, recalled coming by train to Cobourg and then by stage-coach to Roseneath. The stage that carried the mail from Roseneath to Cobourg was in charge of the late Thomas Ingham who drove a team of mules.

Mr. Boyd is now superannuated and they spend their summers in Toronto and Timagami and their winters in Florida.

OBITUARY

ROBERT BRUCE NELSON

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The death occurred Saturday, at his home, of Robert Bruce Nelson, 71, after a lengthy illness.

Born in Alnwick township, the son of Stephen Nelson and Ann Powell, Mr. Nelson spent the most of his life farming in Percy township. He retired to Warkworth village in 1941.

Surviving him are his wife, the former Maza Merrell; two daughters, Mrs. Lorne McComb (Mae) of Morganston, and Mrs. Douglas Goodfellow (Bertha) of Codrington, and two sons, Carman and Merle, both of RR 4 Warkworth. There are 18 grandchildren, also one sister, Mrs. F. Garbutt (Florence) of Toronto.

Mr. Nelson had been a director of the Hamilton township Mutual Fire Insurance Co. for 17 years and a member of the Percy township council for two years. He was also a member of the Warkworth Agricultural Board and a trustee in St. Paul's United Church.

Funeral service will be from the home Tuesday at 2.00 p.m. and burial will be in the Warkworth cemetery.

The Rev. T. E. Kennedy will officiate.

AMBROSE DORRIS

An armature winder in Toronto and a veteran of the First World War, Ambrose Dorris of that city, died on Sunday at Sunnybrook Hospital following a short illness.

He was born in Peterborough 67 years ago, son of the late William Dorris and Catherine Hallahan, and moved from here to Toronto 35 years ago. His wife, the former Martha O'Brien, predeceased him 25 years ago.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. F. C. Warrender (Marcelle) of Ottawa, and a son, William A. Dorris, and a brother A. M. (Bert) Dorris, both of Peterborough. A sister, Mrs. J. W. Fairhall, lives in Vancouver.

Mr. Dorris enlisted as a gunner with the 4th Battery, C.F.A., 1st Brigade, in 1914 and was transferred to the 7th Battery of the 3rd Brigade, going to France the following year. He was wounded at Vimy Ridge and invalided back to Canada. He attended St. Michael's Cathedral in Toronto and was a member of the Canadian Legion.

Funeral will be held on Wednesday from the Anglesey funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass will be said at 9 a.m. Burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. CARL OLIVER

HASTINGS (ENS).—Mrs. Carl Oliver, 52, died Saturday in Peterborough hospital, following a short illness.

Mrs. Oliver was born and raised in Highland Grove, daughter of James Bowen and the former Annie Hubble of Gravenhurst. She had lived in Hastings for the past 29 years and previous to that in Campbellford. She was a member of Trinity United Church and a member of the Women's Auxiliary.

Surviving are her husband, Carl Oliver of Hastings; five daughters: Mrs. Murray Stephens (Muriel) of Newmarket; Eva of Toronto, Doris, Frances and Karen; two sons, Raymond and Kenneth, all of Hastings; five sisters and three brothers: Mrs. Archie Johnson (Beatrice) of Northwood; Mrs. Clarence McGuiness (Eileen) of Singhampton, Mrs. Elmer Bradley (Winnifred) of Sudbury, and Jessie of British Columbia; Charles, also of Sudbury, and William and Earl Oliver of Gravenhurst.

Funeral service will be held Tuesday at Trinity United Church at 2 p.m. The Rev. N. Cole will officiate. Burial will be in Trent River cemetery.

Mrs. Patrick Perdue

The funeral for Mrs. Patrick Perdue, the former Olive Herlihey of Downeyville and an Examiner correspondent for 25 years, was held Saturday from her home to St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, for requie mass.

Mrs. Perdue died last Tuesday in city hospital.

The Rev. Simon Perdue officiated. Present in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley of Lindsay, Rev. C. Kay of Downeyville, Rev. P. Lynch of Ennismore and the Rev. F. Fitzpatrick of Lindsay.

The pallbearers were Peter and Ed. Perdue, Austin O'Neil, Gerald O'Neil, Earl Herlihey and Albert Herlihey. Burial was in St. Luke's cemetery. The Rev. Kay said the graveside prayers.

Liberal Charge Dishonest, Cruel, Cowardly: Drew

COBOURG (ENS) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, addressed a large crowd in Victoria Park Saturday afternoon as his campaign neared a close.

He promised tax reductions, flayed government waste and promised to restore the British markets if his party were elected. tives had only 17 seats in the years ago, when the Conservatives had only 17 seats in theh Ontario Legislature to the Liberals' 96 the voters transformed the picture and gave the Conservatives a big majority. It could happen in the present federal election, he said.

He promised that the Conservatives, if elected, would reduce the down payment on low priced homes and increase the length of time in which the payments would run. He also promised to ease the municipal tax load by making government property taxable.

Mr. Drew said, Liberal statements that social welfare services would be reduced by the Conservatives were "dishonest, cruel and cowardly in the extreme." A Liberal candidate at Hamilton had declared that the only way to keep the mothers' allowance in effect was to vote Liberal. It was ridiculous to make such a statement, he said because the mothers' allowance was handled by the Ontario government.

The Liberals said the Conservatives would reduce the army and cut pay and pensions but the fact was that the greatest number of war veterans were on the Conservative side of the house and the spokesman on army affairs was General Pearkes.

DEPLORES TACTICS

He deplored the tactics used by the Liberals to retain office. He charged that they sent a campaign letter to the troops but denied the lists to the Conservative. He said the letter contained twisted statements and attached was a list of the Liberal candidates who were running throughout Canada.

"They used government aircraft to get those letters distributed abroad and here," said Mr. Drew.

He denied the Conservatives had any intention of amalgamating the railways as he had always favored the competition of the two railways.

Mr. St. Laurent had said that every economic advance had come during a Liberal government but the CPR was built under Sir John A. Macdonald and the CNR was created under Sir Robert Borden.

The Liberals had labelled the Conservative promise to reduce income taxes as only an election promise but the record showed that, in April 1951, the Liberal members all voted against income tax reductions. Mr. Drew promised a $1,500 exemption for single men and $3,000 for married men.

"In a radio address the other night, Mr. St. Laurent said that the incidences of waste only amounted to one million dollars. Earlier in the campaign he said at Halifax that it was only two thousand dollars," Mr. Drew said.

MILITARY EQUIPMENT

Continuing, he declared that military units such as the one in the artillery town of Cobourg didn't have enough equipment to go into the field but the Defence Department had provided such things as 22 million pairs of army boots, which worked out to 20 pairs per man, and a million and a half ties. It had also provided 13 pairs of overalls per man.

He drew a ripple of laughter from the crowd when he said that there were 15,000 pairs of drawers for the 1,000 women in the service.

"They are flannelette drawers at that and one would wonder, in view of the dislike of most women for flannelette pants, if the Department of National Defence is trying to discourage feminine enlistments. Why not stockpile artillery weapons and things we need for defence, not such a surplus of ties, boots, overalls and flannelette drawers," he said.

"We will provide all that is needed for defence but not for the contracts of friends of the government," Mr. Drew added.

Turning to a discussion of export markets, he said that Mr. Gardiner had spurned the British markets and found to his error that the United States market was not sufficient. Not a pound of Canadian cheese, pork, beef or dairy products was sold to the British last year. The first thing he would do if elected would be to restore the lost British markets, he promised.

"PINWHEEL" — This dramatic aerial picture shows four outboard motorboats trying to catch a runaway put-put (making circle) in the Mississippi River near St. Louis, Mo. The skipper swam to shore, after he was tossed from the craft which spun sharply when the motor was started. It took 20 minutes for rescuers to get the spinning boat under control.

Lift Quarantine On Kent Barns

CHATHAM (CP) — Government officials today lifted qarantine restrictions on community sales barns throughout Kent county.

Community sales barns in Kent county have been under quarantine restrictions since May 19 when an outbreak of hog cholera was traced to community sales in the Kitchener area. Farmers from Kitchener were reported attending sales in this area.

The original outbreak of hog cholera was discovered on the Willard Cressman farm at Breslau, near Kitchener. Within a few weeks it spread through 12 counties in the Kitchener area. Quarantine restrictions were put into effect and the community sales barns were closed in Kent county. No new cases have been reported for some time.

Eisenhower Receives First Hand Report

DENVER (AP) — President Eisenhower today received a first hand report from State Secretary Dulles on the cabinet officer's talks with President Syngman Rhee of South Korea.

The Eisenhower - Dulles conference got started shortly after the secretary arrived by plane at the president's vacation headquarters, following a flight from the Far East.

Dulles said in Honolulu Sunday that he had received "categoric assurance" from Rhee that the South Koreans won't upset the three-week-old truce.

Asks For Allowance

Typhoon Reported

TOKYO (Reuters)—A typhoon is moving north-westerly from an area about 125 miles south-east of Guam in the Pacific Mariana islands, Japan's weather station reported today. It is the seventh so far this season.

OVERLOADED—Looks worse than it was. No one was killed when this 45,000 pound tractor toppled onto a car parked along an Allentown, Pa., curb. The air brakes on the tractor failed, and in order to avoid hitting six other cars, the driver, Gilbert McElrath, made a sharp turn and toppled his load.

Government Makes Profit On De-Nationalizing Steel

By WILLIAM J. HUMPHREYS
(Special to The Examiner)

LONDON — If the former owners of the United Kingdom's iron and steel mills want to buy back their old properties, they are going to have to pay more than the 1948 prices for which they sold the plants to the Labor government of that day.

This was made clear this week by Sir John Morrison, chairman of the Iron and Steel Holding and Realization Agency, the organization set up by Sir Winston Churchill's government to restore the industry with £3,00,000,000 ($840,000,000) capital to private enterprise.

Announcing the sale of the first of denationalized companies back to its former owners at five shillings (70 cents) a share profit to the government, Sir John warned that the slight difference in price must not encourage others to think they also could get such favorable terms.

The chairman of the agency liquidating the nationalized holdings admitted the sale of the Tembleborough Rolling Mills for £1,000,000 ($2,800,000) was due to a lot of hard bargaining. But, he added, it was unlikely that other stock could be bought back at prices so close to what the Labor government had paid for it.

FAIR AND REASONABLE

Prices for the remainder of the £299,000,000 ($837,200,000) worth of denationalized holdings will be "fair and reasonable," Sir John said with a nod to the material changes on the general level of interest rates and the yield of equity stocks since 1948.

But former shareholders are to be given preferential treatment. When the agency is ready later in the year to offer Britain's "big seven" for sale, owners of stock as of February 15, 1951—the vesting date of nationalization—will be sent special forms asking for bids.

In addition, the agency intends to ease future transactions by arranging for conversion rather than cash operations according to Sir John. He said "the investor will be given the opportunity of tendering holdings from a wide list of government securities in lieu of cash."

Britain's "big seven" are Colville's, Dorman Long, Lancashire Steel, Stewart's and Lloyd's, United Steel, Whitehead Iron and Steel, and John Summers and Sons. One of these will be the agency's first equity offer to private investment in months to come.

HEADACHE ON HAND—Pte. George Abanavas, stationed in Bamberg, Germany, is a billionaire, but it doesn't do him much good. It's all in Greek drachamas—15 billions of them —which he learned he was heir to when he visited his parents in Greece recently. Due to Greek money regulations, he can't take his bankroll out of the country. Here he looks over a handful of drachmas, which are worth 30,000 to one dollar.

Plan New Stamps

BONN (Reuters) — West Germany will issue two new stamps to commemorate the June revolt in East Berlin and East Germany. One stamp of 20 pfennigs (four cents) will show two raised fists manacled together, while another, of 30 pfennigs (six cents) will show the Brandenburg gate on the East-West sector border in Berlin. Both stamps will bear the inscription "June 17, 1953."

Uses Mastodon Ivory For Jewelry

VICTORIA (CP)—Dick Diment works with ancient mastadon ivory, gold and "black diamonds" to fashion jewelry, but regards himself as a machinist rather than a jeweler. Most of his product is sold in the Yukon, where he formerly lived.

He began teaching himself the unusual vocation when he was in charge of Dawson City's utilities in 1935. His hobby began paying and he opened a shop in Dawson with his wife, Margaret, as manager.

"Then the war came along and there was terrific activity," he said. "I supplied service men with souvenirs of the far north."

IVORY JEWELRY

Most sought-after were brooches, earrings and pendants carved from Canadian ivory. After setting up shop in Victoria he centred his business around the ivory and has many chunks of the heavy, ancient bone in his little factory.

It is estimated the ivory is at least 50,000 years old. It is cut from huge tusks of the extinct mastodons, thrown up by gold dredges working the creeks and rivers of the Yukon.

"If I could get the tusks when first dug up, I could take care of them properly. When tusks are allowed to dry normally, they crack."

Also popular are Alaska black diamond items, actually tinstone or cassiterite, glittering like tiny black mirrors.

MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1953

This Day Four Years Ago

Four years ago, on Monday, June 27, Canadians also went to the polls. The day was hot here in this riding, reaching a high of 85 degrees. Whether it was the heat of the elections, the heat of the day, or the close call the victorious candidate had (Mr. Fraser was re-elected by a majority of only 243 votes), that evening in the Conservative headquarters, coats were off. In our next issue we carried photographs of Mr. Fraser and his chief workers as they showed their victory smiles. Mr. James Juby and the Hon. Harold Scott in shirt sleeves and open collars; Mr. Fraser in shirtsleeves and tie. A warm day, all 'round.

* * *

The total vote across the country was unusually large and Mr. St. Laurent personally in his own constituency and across the country generally, won an overwhelming victory. Even in Ontario the Conservatives took a beating. They won only 25 Ontario seats for the expanded 262-seat House, compared with 48 Ontario seats they had in the former 245-seat house.

* * *

In a time of prosperity and stable government—and no major scandals—notable election issues are hard to find, especially by Opposition parties. The Government parades its record, the Opposition its promises. The Liberal slogan was "Forward With Liberalism." The Conservatives advertised that they were "On The March." Well, the country marched forward but it was the Liberals whom the voters chose to lead it. The most lively issue was the personality of Mr. Drew, as compared with that of Mr. St. Laurent. Mr. Drew, in that campaign, had as a chief supporter the late George McCullagh, an advantage some earnest Conservatives did not appreciate.

* * *

Locally Mr. Fraser asked the electors to "Play Safe", and Mr. Dit Clapper, the Liberal candidate, told electors to teach the local "Little Tories" that this seat was not just a platter to be handed every time to the Conservative party. The CCF candidate, Mr. John Miles made a good run, securing 2,804 votes against Mr. Fraser's 10,981 and Mr. Clapper's 10,738.

* * *

Generally the election campaign in 1949 was neither more nor less exciting than the present campaign has been. One notices, leafing through the 1949 newspaper files, that the Conservatives did less national advertising than they have done this year. Canadian elections are not, in the main in this century, tempestuous affairs. This is because, in the provinces as well as in Ottawa, government year in year out and from one decade to the next, is fairly competent, and the country has been prospering while the people have been getting a fair share of that prosperity. This quietness is noticeable in Ontario, which has contently put a Conservative Government into Queen's Park, and at the same time, in 1949, elected more Liberals than Conservatives to support the kind of Government which the Liberals have provided during many years. Another reason for quiet election campaigns in Canada, and an intense but sober attitude to voting, is that Canadians are not volatile people. They blow hot and cold with the weather, not with politics. Jackets were off and shirt sleeves rolled up four years ago because of the physical, not political heat.

An Outside View

The outside world has noticed that Canada is having an election; in former times—at least until the war—other nations cared or said little about what went on in Canada. The New York Times has editorialized on the election campaign; the London Economist has made a thoughtful survey, in which it remarks that: "The free world must expect to take an increasing interest in Canada politics; that is one of the surest consequences of Canada's economic expansion and of its growing importance in diplomacy." Then the Economist says:

> But if this pleases the pride of Canadians, it will also expose them to some irritating misconceptions. The outside world too readily regards Canadian politics as a mixture of British and American.

It points out that the Quebec Liberals are not comparable to the "solid South" Democrats. Liberal Quebec is a result not of regionalism but of racial and religious complications. Nor are the Liberals and Conservative parties in Canada closely identifiable with their British namesakes.

The Economist makes this retrospective assessment:

But while the drawing of parallels is dangerous, one is, in 1953, irresistible. In Canada, as in the United States, the more conservative party was in office when the world of the twenties was dashed to pieces by the Great Depression. At the next election it was, naturally, thrown out—the Republicans in the United States in 1932, the Canadian Conservatives in 1935—and its opponents gained the opportunity to rule through two decades of recovery, victorious war and unprecedented post-war prosperity. The Canadian Liberals, like the American Democrats, acquired with this experience a changed political philosophy. They became more internationalist in outlook, they embraced many social security measures, they turned to Keynesianism in economic policy; in short, they became, more clearly than before, the party of the Left—the Left, that is, in North American terms, which still allows it adherents to look askance at the socialism they claim to find in the British Conservative party. And as they moved to the Left, and the boom went on, the Liberals became more and more the popular party, until in 1949 they scored one of the most resounding victories in the history of parliamentary politics, giving them nearly three-quarters of the seats in the House of Commons.

That was in 1949, says the Economist. "The past four years have brought higher prices and taxes heavy enough for resentment. The Canadian Conservatives are certainly not without hope." The article ends:

> Their (the Conservative) program indeed reflects the inevitable difficulties of opposition in a country where one party has managed to establish itself so broadly across the centre of politics. Despite, for example, their leftward movement in welfare legislation, the Liberals have firmly maintained disinflationary policies that in Britain would be dubbed reactionary.
>
> The Conservatives have accordingly found at times little room for manoeuvre on the right of the Liberals and have stepped out of character to advocate policies—notably an extensive use of physical controls during the 1951 inflation of prices—that might have been expected to come from the left wing. Partly for this reason, business opinion is far less closely linked with the Conservatives than it is with the Republicans in the United States. Indeed, in an expanding economy, the Canadian Government's liberal policies for foreign trade have been widely welcomed not only on the Prairies but also in the traditionally protectionist areas of Ontario.

More Range For TV?

We know nothing at all about the mechanics of television broadcasting or receiving and so have nothing to say about the practicality or scientific basis of a set which a young French engineer called Guy Boncourt has built.

Present commercial sets can pick up signals adequately only from a relatively short distance, and operate only on one definite system. A machine set to reproduce a picture transmitted on four hundred and five lines cannot pick up an impression sent out on eight hundred and nineteen lines.

Boncourt, it is reported, has now built a set with all the power and range of a modern radio, which he claims could be retailed at a little above current prices. It automatically adjusts itself to any definition system using between four hundred and nine hundred lines. Its future owners will be able to switch from station to station simply by turning a knob. Its range? Working with a prototype in Switzerland, Boncourt can pick up London, Paris, Moscow or South Africa at will. If this invention is developed commercially, television as we know it today will soon seem as comically archaic as the crystal and cat's-whisker of early radio.

There is sufficient validity in their reports to send a number of American television gentlemen flying to Geneva to investigate Guy Boncourt and his set.

Too Many Wives

Down in Arizona near the Utah border, there has been a curious, secluded colony for the last twenty years. It is called Short Creek. The colony was disrupted recently by a police raid. The police took off the men.

It seems that Short Creek is long on wives. Some of the men had as many as six wives. The concubinage has resulted in scads of children but since the community does not have scads of money the welfare of the children was sometimes overlooked. Whether the police raid was intended to rescue the children, teen-aged wives or the men from the clutches of too many females is not clear from reports reaching us. In the Sunday morning raid the police arrested 34 men, 50 women and 263 children. They had warrants for the arrest of 122 men and women, including a dozen teen-age wives, but some slipped through their hands across the nearby Utah border.

Of the arrested men, women and children, only the men and six fanatical women were shipped off to jail far from Short Creek. The men, be it noted, were sent to a place called Kingman.

Polygamy is no longer countenanced in the United States. Is it one reason for the many Hollywood and Reno divorces?

NOTES AND COMMENT

1,680,000 golf balls were made in this country in 1951. A comment on our golfers' skill in losing them?

Since 1943 Canadians have been greater users of coffee than of tea. A sure sign of Canadian independence, that this country has been weaned from the Mother Country's dish of tea?

Churchill And His Heirs

By ROBERT MILLER

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE to make any sense of the reports about Sir Winston Churchill's health. Reliable witnesses—people who ought to know—say that he had a mild stroke and others that his heart was affected. The other day I was given two opinions that flatly contradicted one another. The first was to the effect that Sir Winston now walks with a slight limp as a result of his stroke and that one side of his face is paralysed. The other report, given to me an hour later and from a source that is equally reliable, said that he might be able to preside over the Cabinet before the end of August.

✧ ✧ ✧

SO WHAT is one to believe? The Government has remained obstinately silent and the various announcements issued by the doctors are so vague that they bring no light. The only tangible evidence is a photograph that appeared in the newspapers the other day which showed Sir Winston's familiar figure when he moved to Chequers. The Premier certainly looked very fit in that. Unfortunately, we all know that photographs are not always reliable—that blemishes can either be emphasised or concealed.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVEN if one accepts the pessimistic reports, they do not get us very far. If Sir Winston had a mild stroke, experts on the subject tell me that there is no reason why he should not completely recover between now and the time the House meets again in October. In fact the silence of the Government strongly suggests that no one really knows whether Sir Winston is going to return to Downing Street or not.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS UNCERTAINTY makes it very difficult to look into the future. If Sir Winston were to retire in the near future, who would succeed him as Prime Minister? Mr. Anthony Eden (the Foreign Secretary) has been the heir-apparent for many years but he, too, has been ill for some time and is not yet back at work. Would the Conservatives accept a man who may not be able to stand up to the gruelling and merciless strain of political life? The alternative would obviously be Mr. R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer and the particular hero of the younger Conservatives. And yet there is also a question against Mr. Butler's name, though not on the ground of ill-health. Mr. Butler did not do well in the last full debate on international affairs.

That disquieting failure has made many Conservatives ask themselves whether he is in fact the ideal leader they had supposed.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOR is it at all certain that Mr. Butler would consent to any conspiracy against Mr. Eden. The Chancellor is often said to be a very ambitious man and here let me say that I have never been able to see why a politician should be supposed to be without taint of original sin. Do not soldiers wish to be field marshals, sailors admirals, and journalists editors? Why is it particularly wrong then, for politicians to wish to be Prime Ministers? All the same, even if one reduces the argument to its lowest level, there are very good reasons why the Chancellor might hesitate to encourage anybody who wants to put him on the throne. The Conservatives have always been suspicious of intrigue and they would not lightly forgive a man who appeared to be plotting against his leaders.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT DOES SEEM to be fairly clear is that there will be a re-shuffle of the Cabinet before the year is over. It may be postponed a little if Mr. Eden goes back to the Foreign Office. If he did not, or if he returned only for a short spell, then there would certainly have to be a profound re-organisation of the Cabinet. My own favorite for the Foreign Office is not Mr. Harold Macmillan, at present Minister for Housing and Local Government, whose interest in international affairs is well-known, but Sir Walter Monckton, the present Minister of Labour. Sir Walter has been one of the big successes of this Government. Shrewd, level-headed, an able negotiator, he obviously has claims on the Foreign Office that could not be ignored. It should be also remembered that, in his time, he has travelled widely and been in contact with many famous people all over the world. He is known and liked in international circles.

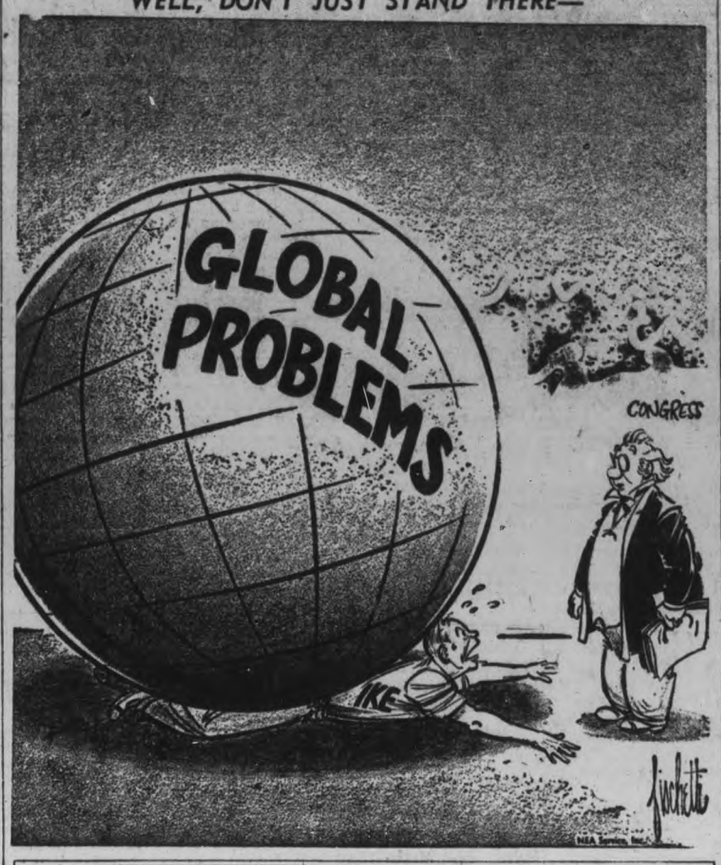
✧ ✧ ✧

IF SIR WALTER were to get the job, then Mr. Macmillan would, I should say, get some tempting consolation prize. The favourite guess among Conservatives is that he would become Minister of Agriculture. If Britain could produce more food, her economic position would be immeasurably stronger. Mr. Macmillan, who has shown such drive in building houses, would seem to be the ideal man for the job.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE has been a good deal of disappointment in British circles that so little has come out of Mr. Nehru's visit to Karachi. Everything seemed to point to an agreement between India and Pakistan on the obstinate problem of Kashmir. Tension between the two countries had recently eased and indeed this was the first high-level meeting between them that had taken place for nearly three years. There was yet another reason for optimism. Mr. Nehru had met Mr. Mohammed Ali, the Pakistan premier, during the last Commonwealth conference in London and had seemed to get on very well with him. Why, then, did so little come out of the talks in Karachi? That is the question which so puzzles informed circles in London.

✧ ✧ ✧



ONE SHOULD NOT, however, take too pessimistic a view of the future of Indo-Pakistani relations. The two Premiers are to meet again in September in Delhi and it may be that their talks in Karachi have helped to create a confidence and friendliness that would make a final solution possible. Besides, if one compares the position today with what it was some years ago, one cannot help feeling that relations between the two countries have immensely improved. There is no longer any talk, for instance, of a war between India and Pakistan, and that is surely a gain.—(Copyright.)

Dilemma Over Germany

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

No one can say with certainty in what direction German ambitions may turn in the future, whether we are dealing with a West Germany closely allied with the Western powers, or whether we are to see a re-unified pan-Germanic power, with the sovereign right to direct its own foreign policy . . . Germany, divided or undivided, seems to present a monstrous dilemma, both to the Western powers and to Russia.

Suit For B.C. Millions

(Roy W. Brown in the Vancouver Sun)

AN innocent three-line item in the "fifty years ago" column of the Sun recalls one of the most exciting legal cases in the whole B.C. history.

It was the suit brought by renowned actress Edna Wallace Hopper against James Dunsmuir for a slice of the fabulous "Dunsmuir Millions."

Dunsmuir was then the top name in B.C. The family had achieved great wealth following discovery of coal near Nanaimo by Robert Dunsmuir. He was already dead when the historical legal action was launched on July 4, 1903.

Robert's son James was the head of the family in Victoria. James was the man who erected that vast mansion at Hatley Park.

James got into politics in his early middle age. He was a sober-minded, bearded man, nothing notable about his personal achievements, though he became premier briefly in a period made really famous by "Fighting" Joe Martin.

Anyway, there was another brother. He was Alexander. His taste did not run to B.C. politics. So he went to San Francisco on the sales end of the coal business.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALEXANDER came to regard himself as a citizen of San Francisco. He was a bit of a playboy and engaged in more than one matrimonial adventure.

About 1900 he surprised his friends by marrying a widow named Wallace at San Leandro, Calif., where he had a fine house and a stable of horses. This property is said to have been valued at $30,000—a sort of miniature of the famous estate developed later in the same area by William Randolph Hearst—and like a good lad on a happy day he deeded the house and all its subsidiary assets to his bride.

Certain inter-family negotiations followed quickly, it being obvious that fear existed he might also give away his estate in B.C.

So Alexander made a will, leaving his shares in the company, worth several millions, to brother James. It seemed to be clear from testimony later given in court that his bride agreed to the arrangement, because she had already received the San Leandro acres.

Within a few months of making this will, Alexander Dunsmuir died. His wife died soon afterwards. Mrs. Dunsmuir left a daughter by a previous marriage who by this time was that well-known actress, the divorced wife of De Wolf Hopper (Casey at the Bat), a famous comedian.

She could recall—and in court as a lovely and gracious witness, she did recall—that during the last few months of his life, her step-father was often under the weather from drink. She revived bedroom scenes in the Palace Hotel in San Francisco and alleged that on the occasion when Alexander determined to leave his cash to his brother he was not quite mentally competent. So she tried to break the will in spite of the fact that James offered her an annuity of $10,000.

She hired a celebrated advocate of that day, Judge E. P. Coyne, of New York, who came to Victoria and entered suit.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE stakes were high and several of the ablest counsel of B.C. in that period were engaged. For Edna, Harry Helmcken, MLA, member of one of the original families of Victoria, was hired.

With him were E. P. Bodwell and L. P. Duff. And associated with them as leading counsel on trial day was Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. His excellent handling of the case won him recognition amongst citizens of his adopted Vancouver. For James Dunsmuir E. P. Davis, a redoubtable QC, led a group which consisted of C. E. Pooley, a former attorney-general and A. P. Luxton.

All these people are now dead except Duff, who lives in Ottawa—Right Hon. Sir Lyman P. Duff, retired chief justice of Canada. Still living also is the venerable Miss Hopper, now 80, but still fresh as a daisy, though she did not break the Dunsmuir will.

They put up a tremendous fight, but I felt then they had picked an impossible task. The Dunsmuirs were well entrenched in B.C., the top "first family," and the law had to be pretty clear and the facts incontrovertible before an invasion from the "American side" could succeed,

The charming young lady Hopper, appealing and demure as she shed lovely smiles from the witness stand, put on a great show, but she couldn't overcome the handicap.

It may have been that the old school tie of Victoria in the eighties and nineties had too strong a hitch.

Unconsidered Trifles

Prisoner Visitor: "My friend, have you any religious convictions?"

Prisoner: "Well, I reckon that's the right word. I was sent here for robbing a church."

Asked the teacher: "Now, if I were to lay five eggs here and two eggs there, how many would I have?"

"You couldn't do it, teacher," replied Jimmy.

A little boy worried his parents by refusing to be scared into being good. "It's no use telling me the angels will write down in their book if I'm naughty," he said "I might as well tell you they think up in Heaven that I'm dead!"

"But why should they think that?"

"Because I haven't said my prayers for a fortnight."

A landlady entered her boarder's room on the morning of his departure. "I see, sir," she said quietly, "there's a hole burnt in that easy chair. Of course, I shall expect you to pay for it."

"Not likely," replied the boarder, decisively. "I don't smoke."

"Of all the nerve," exclaimed the landlady. "I've had this house for over two years, and you're the first visitor who has refused to pay for that hole."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now Moses kept the flock of Jethro his father in law, the priest of Midian: and he led the flock to the backside of the desert, and came to the mountain of God, even to Horeb.

And the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush: and he looked, and, behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed. And Moses said, I will now turn aside, and see this great sight, why the bush is not burnt.

And when the Lord saw that he turned aside to see, God called unto him out of the midst of the bush, and said, Moses, Moses. And he said, Here am I . . .

And the Lord said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people which are in Egypt and have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters; for I know their sorrows . . . Come now therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, that thou mayest bring forth my people the children of Israel out of Egypt . . .

And Moses said unto God, Behold, when I come unto the children of Israel, and shall say unto them, The God of your fathers hath sent me unto you; and they shall say to me, What is his name? what shall I say unto them?

And God said unto Moses, I AM THAT I AM: and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I AM hath sent me unto you.

And God said moreover unto Moses, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you: this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations. (Ex. 3: 1-4, 7, 13-15.)

He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death. (Ps. 68: 20.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him. (Luke 20: 37, 38.)

Hay In The Bank

(Lethbridge Herald)

We note where some Calgary district farmers are worrying because there's such a good hay crop the price has fallen from the peaks of two years ago to a mere $14 a ton. That shouldn't be a worry. It should be a pleasant experience to have a surplus of hay. Then some can be put in the feed reserve bank against the possibility of one of those Texas-type droughts. We've had such droughts here in South Alberta when hay was being shipped in at very high prices and sold in areas which usually have hay for export.

Seed, feed and cash in the bank — that's the way to beat droughts such as come in their cycle. It's hard to keep the lesson in mind. This year, with a phenomenal hay crop all across South Alberta is the time to put enough hay in stacks and storage to last two or three years. Then drought will not fall with such a heavy hand if it should come.

On Exhortations to Vote

(Ottawa Journal)

All over the country well-meaning organizations are exhorting people to vote.

Such exhortations are good.

They would be much better, more in line with democracy's real meaning and need, if they were accompanied by urgings that the elector, before voting, should try to find out what the voting is about.

Candidates Waiting Election Results As Seven-Week Campaign Furore Ends

By Canadian Press Staff Writer

The politicians had shown all their election cards today, but the voters held the mystery card.

Tonight, that card will be revealed to determine the complexion of Canada's new government.

The seven-week, hot-weather campaign shut up shop during the week-end and party leaders and their candidates anxiously awaited the E-Day outcome.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, was the only leader to close out his campaign outside his home riding. He spoke Saturday night at Kingston.

Prime Minister St. Laurent carried his campaign right down to the wire Sunday night with a meeting in his home constituency of Quebec East. CCF leader M. J. Coldwell wound up his electioneering in his home riding of Rosetown-Biggar, Sask., and Solon Low, Social Credit leader, in his constituency, Peace River, Alta.

About 2,000 persons heard this parting shot from Mr. St. Laurent: "I think that even if I still was practising law on Ste. Anne street and you came to ask me who to vote for I'm pretty sure I would advise you to vote for the Liberal party."

Earlier, the prime minister addressed another 2,000 in the church square at Baie St. Paul in Charlevoix riding, where Frederic Dorion, chief Progressive Conservative Quebec organizer, is a candidate.

DENIES CHARGE

Mr. St. Laurent said Mr. Dorion had accused him of spending his time in Ottawa "trying to obtain forgiveness for being a French Canadian and a Catholic."

The audience applauded as Mr. St. Laurent said: "The time now is past when in this country one has to be forgiven for being a French Canadian and a Catholic, as long as one conducts himself like a gentleman. I have noted during my tour of this country that racial and religious prejudices are dying. . . . We are better Canadians by remaining what we are and upholding our family traditions than by trying to become pale imitations of other cultures."

Mr. Drew casts his ballot near his home in Ottawa East riding. Residence qualifications prevent him from voting in Carleton, where he is a candidate. Carleton takes in part of Ottawa.

He finished his campaign on the same note as he started it—a promise to cut taxes $500,000,000 a year without reducing social services or impairing defence efficiency.

CAMPAIGN OF ABUSE

Before a Kingston audience of about 1,400, he charged the Liberals with a "campaign of abuse." He was prepared to accept personal attacks "but they have attacked my wife and my children and that I am not prepared to accept." The prime minister had given no indication of unwillingness to accept an election victory based on personal attacks.

Mr. Drew said defence spending can be cut 10 per cent by ending "waste, extravagance and inefficiency." He described as "ridiculous" defence stockpiling of such items as neckties and 15,000 pairs of women's flannelette drawers.

"People don't object to paying taxes for a job that has to be done. But they do object to paying for waste and extravagance . . . and for contracts awarded to friends of the government without any tenders or competitio, of any kind."

At Davidson, Sask., Mr. Coldwell said only the CCF, which believes in co-operative work "for the good of all and placing humanity first," can find solutions to present-day problems.

SUITED TO NEEDS

His party's program was suited to the needs of all Canadians because it was a product of a cross-section of the people with the sole purpose of promoting a better life for all.

The CCF had stressed the need for greater economic assistance to the under-privileged peoples of the world as the only effective solution to the ills which cause wars. At home, the CCF wanted economic planning to prevent unemployment and to develop Canada's natural resources in the interests of all the people rather than for a special minority.

"Canadians will decide . . . whether these problems are to be solved in the interest of all or whether we are to continue the old method practised by the private-enterprise parties of placing the profits of the few before the needs of the many."

SHOULD CHECK FACTS

At Melville, Sask., Agriculture Minister Gardiner, closing his 12th election campaign, said Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan should have checked facts before he said Canada is losing trade with Britain. The minister contended Canada's trade with Britain has been increasing every year.

At Regina, Mr. Douglas, addressing an audience of 1,200, said the CCF offers a policy of economic security at home and peace abroad while the Liberals offer no program at all. This distinction was the major issue before the people. The CCF could prevent Canada being plunged into depression.

32 Fatalities Accident Toll For Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thirty-two persons died in accidents in Eastern Canada during the weekend, including 15 highway fatalities and 10 drownings.

A Canadian Press compilation early Monday showed that 14 deaths were reported in Ontario, 11 in Quebec, four in Nova Scotia and three in New Brunswick.

There were two triple fatalities in Quebec. Roger Mathieu, 31, of Montreal, and two children were killed when Mathieu's car collided with a bus on Jacques Cartier Bridge. Police said the children have not been identified, but they were between the ages of three and five.

Raymond Boyer, 30, Majella Lefebvre, 33, and Mrs. Claude Longtin, 19, were fatally injured in a highway collision near St. Philippe de Laprairie. Boyer's car swerved and crashed into a ditch and was rammed by a second auto.

TRACTOR ACCIDENTS

Accidents with tractors caused the deaths of two children. Ronald Timlin, 9, of Roseneath, was fatally injured when the tractor he was driving on his father's farm went out of control and overturned. At St. Esprit, Que., Michel Gregoire, 9, died when a farm tractor he was driving collided with a truck.

Other Ontario deaths: traffic—Mrs. Doreen Whitford, 25, Toronto, when the car in which she was riding crashed into a light standard; Leonard Pilon, 35, Windsor, struck by a car in New Toronto; John Edward Arthur Morgan, 32, London, when the car in which he was riding crashed off the road; Frances Watson, 11, Staples, when the truck in which she was a passenger collided with two cars; Clifford John Dodge, 11, Leamington, struck by a car.

Drownings—George Jack, 27, Toronto, in a pre-dawn swimming party in the Credit River; Clifford McDiarmid, 42, Oshawa, trying to land a large bass near Fenelon Falls; Lorne E. Ehgeetz, 60, Stratford, in a pit used for swimming; Claude Becker, 14, of Timagami, trying to retrieve a boat drifting from shore at Cross Lake; George Webb, 8, of Birmingham, Mich., when he slipped off a rock at Armich Lake where he was staying at a boys' camp; Basil Ralph Fisher, Walpole Island Indian Reserve, when a boat carrying him and seven others capsized in the St. Clair River near Wallaceburg.

Miscellaneous—Ross Tacy, 61, Amaranth Township, when a car slipped off a ramp on top of him; Donald A. House, 26, Ingersoll, when crushed by logs he was loading on to a truck.

Underwater Voyage

DUNEDIN, N.Z. (CP) — The British submarine Tactician will attempt to cross the Tasman Sea between Australia and New Zealand under water in September. The distance between Sydney and Auckland is 1,280 miles and the voyage will take about 10 days.

Guelph Mother Hears Son Freed By Reds

PANMUNJOM, Korea (CP)—Rifleman Leslie Elliott, whose mother lives in Guelph, Ont., was among 400 Allied prisoners of war released Sunday under terms of the Korean armistice.

Elliott, a member of the British Royal Ulster Rifles Regiment, joined up five years ago in Ireland when he was 18.

His mother, Mrs. Martha Elliott, went to Canada from the United Kingdom four years ago and settled in Guelph, where she is employed at Homewood Sanatorium.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Local grid drills resume nightly this week, all being open practices yet. Autumn and the football season not afar off . . . just another reminder that summer is slowly shuffling off the '53 scene. On the subject of football we note where Canadian Press (the national news-gathering agency) is polling sports writers to get the okay on two new methods of reporting games. It is proposed to eliminate starting grid lineups and use a run-in style instead, listing all players dressed for each position. This is because of the two-platoon system, offensive and defensive. The new idea would, for instance, run a Toronto lineup like this: Flying wings, R. Smylie, D. Smylie; halves, Bass, Krol, Copeland, Curtis, Fedesoff, Toogood, Gray, Soergel; and so on. Sounds okay to us.

* * * * * *

The other proposal (to establish uniformity in Eastern and Western Canada) would change the names of some positions, using the U.S.A. titles. We'd still have flying wings, halves and quarters, but the line names would be centre, guards, tackles and ends . . . rather than snap, insides, middles and outsides. Out west they've been using the American position names for some time, and the habit is becoming more common also in the east recently. We see nothing against the new names, as they describe player tasks better, just so long as we borrow no further U.S.A. plays. The Canadian game is okay as it is.

Yorks And Petes Again

It's senior playoff time once more. OLA has ordered Orillia Yorks (or Terriers) to open the best-of-seven senior "A" semi-finals here tonight at 8.45, weather permitting. Second in Orillia on Wednesday and third here on Friday. Perhaps a fourth Saturday in Orillia, though we're not sure yet. Fergus opens the other semi-final set this eve in St. Catharines. When playoffs commence, you can forget what occurred in the regular schedule. The chips are down and teams really play for keeps. No love lost between the rough Yorkers and the scrappy Petes, and every game will be a hard battle. Each one should draw bumper crowds as fans recall the classic playoff series these teams staged last lacrosse season.

St. Kitts' scribe remarks: "Jim McNulty, St. Catharines' hockey and lacrosse star, who led the OLA senior league in scoring until sidelined seven weeks ago with a badly pulled shoulder, got into one game last week and immediately re-injured the same shoulder. He is now definitely out of any future Orillia lacrosse plans for this season, and may even miss the early part of the hockey training. He was slated for a tryout with either Toronto Maple Leafs or the AHL Pittsburgh Hornets." That's tough luck, indeed, for Jim, and for Orillia. However, the Yorks otherwise will be a full strength, including Merv. McKenzie, "the Commissioner." Chuck Davidson will coach 'em in playoffs, leaving Scotty McPhail free to concentrate on playing.

'Twould Shock Samuel

Shades of Champlain! More than 300 years ago, 'tis said that Samuel paddled down the Otonabee River, but of course things were different around here then. Wouldn't he have been startled to come around the bend in his canoe yesterday and see those water skiers in action? Golly. It was quite a show that the Peterborough Water Ski Club and the Jaycees put on, though the attendance wasn't too good —and rocks in the water did a lot of damage to boats. Three Bobcaygeon experts and Carol Ann Duthie of Toronto won the main trophies; Bruce Poole, Margaret Gilbert and Gus MacIntosh being the 'Caygeon victors. Two local youngsters Stephanie Stuart and Terry Hill, did right well, to. Alf Pink, Steve Evans, Doug Vaisey, Gord Minty and the others who worked so hard to stage the show can take a bow for a job well done.

Rain Saturday e'en halted the UEW-Seabrooke softball playoff at the Bowl at the end of the fourth inning with Seabrooke's in front 9-3. This touched off a bit of a rumpus as the East City crew argued hotly with Umpire Pat Calladine to have the game continue. But 'twas no soap, and the series still stands at one win for Seabrooke's in the best-of-seven set, another game being tied earlier. They resume with a twin bill Tuesday night. Woods and Dalton were on the rival slabs Saturday, and homers had been hit by Red Sullivan and Howie Dalton. We hear that Seabrook's took another Sunday jaunt to Kingston to play the pen "Angels" and had 'em tied 8-8 in the last inning but the cons finally won out.

Eddie Mathews Even With Babe Ruth Pace

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Eddie Mathews' 36th home run Sunday brought the young Milwaukee Braves' slugger even with Babe Ruth's pace when the Babe hit his record total of 60 homers in 1927.

Mathews actually was one day ahead of Ruth, since the Babe hit his 36th Aug. 10, 1927. Both sluggers reached the total in their 110th game.

P-W Club Gains Easy Win Against Toronto

On Saturday the Peterborough "A" cricket team played against St. Edmund's "B" of Toronto in a Toronto and District Cricket Council match and gained a decisive victory. The final score being St. Edmund's 60, Peterborough "A" 63 for 1 wicket.

This was a return match to one played between the two clubs on June 27 when the locals won by a very similar margin. The score in that match being Et. Edmund's 51. Peterborough "A" 60 for 1 wicket.

On Saturday St. Edmund's "B" batted first and made quite a good start, scoring 49 for 2 wickets. Thanks to good batting by C. Ince (20). The rest of the side collapsed readily and only 11 runs were scored by the bat . . . but 13 extras raised their total to 60. F. Booth took 5 wickets for 2 runs and Wright 2 for 7.

The local "A's" made short work of scoring the necessary runs. B. Roberts was out at 4, but E. Bedford 20 (not out) and F. Booth 39 (not out), scored the necessary runs (63) without being parted. And the Petes had scored the necessary winning runs with 9 more wickets to fall.

Next Saturday, Aug. 15, Peterborough "A's" play St. Simon's in Toronto and at the Oval the "B's" will play Parkdale "B".

SCORE

St. Edmund's "B"—Batting: E. Edwards 9, W. Nuttall 5, C. Ince 20, Smithson 0, Brereton 2, Richardson 0, J. Penny 8, E. Gracie 1, J. Willie 0, W. Whitton 0. Extras 13. Total 60.

Fall of Wickets—1 for 13, 2 for 47, 3 for 47, 4 for 47, 5 for 47, 6 for 53, 7 for 53, 8 for 59, 9 for 59, 10 for 60.

Bowling—T. Clarke 1 for 17, C. Boardman 0 for 12, F. Booth 5 for 11, E. Cotton 1 for 3, W. Wright 2 for 7.

Bowling— C. Ince 0 for 16, Smithson 1 for 19, Edwards 0 for 12, Brereton 0 for 16.

Peterborough "A" won match by 9 wickets.

Local Cricketers Defeated By Avro

On Saturday, the local cricketers' "B" team went to Toronto to play against Avro "B" who have been doing well this season, and they gave the local B's a hard time. The final score was, Avro "B" 152, Peterborough "B" 44.

The Avro men batted first and by some good, steady batting throughout the team scored 152. The opening pair, H. Lee (14) and G. Cheetham (31) took the score to 52 before the first wicket fell. No. 8 on the batting list, F. Wrighitt was top scorer with 46, and three other players scored double figures.

Bowling honors were shared by F. Dyer, who bowled 14 overs and took five wickets for 40, and by Holroyd, who had four for 39.

On the "B" men going to bat, they had a rough time of it against the Avro bowlers. W. Norman (10), B. Higgins (9), and H. Holroyd (8) gave the side a fair start and it was 29 for three wickets, but the rest did little and the score only reached 44.

Avro "B":

Batting—W. Lee 14, J. Cheetham 31, R. Wallace 0, D. Swanston 0, T. Hallbus 10, E. Bedendorf 10, V. Mercer 4, K. Wrebnite 46, E. Rankin 10, W. Best 3 (not out), G. Walker 4; extras 14; total 152.

Marlene Stewart Captures 3rd Straight Close Title To Break Tourney History

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Marlene Stewart, who has scoffed at golf tradition in her brief three-year competitive career, went out today to prove that she's just about the niftiest woman amateur on the continent.

Marlene, the links sensation from Fonthill, and jubilant holder of the Canadian women's Close title for 1953, headed a large Canadian contingent in the week-long Open tournament that has attracted many American golfers. It is medal play today and match play the remainder of the week.

Tradition breaking is Marlene's favorite pastime. In 1951 she became the only woman to win both the Close and Open titles in one year. She added another feather to her tartan cap this year when she won the British Open at Porthcawl, Wales, the first time a Canadian feminine golfer had captured a national title outside Canada.

WINS THIRD STRAIGHT

And the sweep was completed Saturday when she posted a record-breaking 54-hole 226 score to win her third straight Canadian Close championship. No one had ever done this in the 27-year history of the tournament.

She finished 10 strokes up on the second-place Mary Gay of Kitchener. Third spot was taken by Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta., with a 239 total. No one in the field of more than 100 gave the shy, poker-faced youngster a battle at any time.

She sizzled around the 5,998-yard par-76 Sunningdale course in a record-breaking 71 the first day of the three-day tournament to take a six-stroke lead over Miss Gay. Marlene and the 20-year-old Kitchener girl posted even-par 76s on the second 18 and on Saturday the champ "blew" to a 79 becaues she "forgot to concentrate" and Miss Gay came home with a blooping 83.

IN FOURTH PLACE

Hard-hitting Barbara Davies of Vancouver was fourth with 244 and from there in the field of golfers from Nova Scotia to British Columbia ranged from 246, posted by 19-year-old red-haired Dorothy Herbertson of Victoria and veteran Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, to well above the 300 figure.

Marlene's 71 was the best competitive score she ever recorded and her 226 total broke her own record of 229 in the championship set last year at Edmonton.

There isn't much chance the excaddie will "forget to concentrate" on her game this week when the field will be much tougher. "I've learned my lesson," she said after winning the title on Saturday.

"I'll concentrate on every shot from here in."

Fourteen golfers scratched from Saturday's round to try out the London Hunt layout, scene of the Open.

Dodgers Take Win Against East City

Dodgers downed East City 7-2 in a bantam baseball game on Saturday, scoring a run each in the first, second and fourth frames, and two apiece in the third and fifth, rain then halting the tilt. The losers got two runs in the third. Casey hurled a no-hitter in the five heats, his mates booting three, while he whiffed eight and walked three. He had two wild pitches. Anthony allowed six hits and two walks while fanning 10, his buddies having two miscues. Whitehill got two hits in three times up, and Kimball clouted a triple.

Dodgers—R. Rowe, 3b; W. Rowe, rf; Griffin, 1b; Whitehill, cf; Patterson, ss; Riel, lf; Morley, 2b; Kimball, c; Casey, p; McArthur, c.

East City—Fitzgerald, 1b; Dinsdale, 3b; Dorrington, ss; Tetlock, c; Guerin, cf; Crowder, rf; Driscoll, lf; Paul, 2b; Anthony, p.

Lambert Wins Tennis Crown

TORONTO (CP)—Pierre Lambert, a top-seeded 17-year-old from Victoriaville, Que., won the men's singles championship in the Ontario junior tennis championship finals Saturday from another Quebec player, Marcel Rodrique of Granby.

He downed Rodrique 6-2, 6-3, 6-3. The French-Canadians partnered each other in the men's doubles title and defeated Toronto's Harry Hall and Jean Paquette of Hull, Que., 6-1, 6-3.

Harry Freedhoff of Toronto outpointed Oakville's Peter Barnard 6-0, 7-5 to win the boys' singles title.

Top-seeded Mary Nunns took the women's singles, defeating Joan O'Brien 6-2, 6-4 and the two combined to win the women's doubles crown from Georgette Delacretaz and Cornwall's Dawn Macdonald 7-5, 6-0.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Besides regular schedule games on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday night, the ladies' open trebles tournament is coming up on Friday. It's set for 1.30 o'clock. The Family Hour tournament Saturday night had to be called off. That heavy shower around 7.30 o'clock caused it all.

The annual Selkirk Trophy tournament gets under way on Monday, Aug. 17 and continues Tuesday and Thursday.

Believe it or not, the ladies wind up their regular schedule games on Monday, Aug. 31 and that's only three weeks away.

As yet we have seen no notices regarding the novice singles competition, the Review trebles tournament or the Globe doubles; and time is running out.

It's the truth:—

Scots Drop Decision To Bowmanville Stars

Darlington All-Stars of Bowmanville defeated the local Scots in Bowmanville last weekend by 3-1 in a friendly game. Scots' backline were busy in the first half against the fast, tricky home forwards. Reynolds scored early for the homesters and later Croll collected the ball at midfield and beat three men to score on his own rebound. But Johnson got that back and Woodcock robbed Venning of another as the half ended in a 2-1 lead for Darlington.

After they resumed, Scots attacked hard but Darlington got the only goal, Venning tallying on a hard shot 15 yards out. Croll had tough luck on two free kicks as Scots pressed the rest of the way, with Croll, Burnett, Allan and Rice outstanding. Teams:

Darlington: Yeo, Sharpe, Baker, Jones, Lobb, Sobil, Chant, Reynolds, Johnson, Venning, Werry, Pascoe, Gilroy, Hills, Nemis, Muir, Caverley.

Scots: Woodcock, Rice, Allan, Gallacher, Burnett, Downer, Ballantyne, Croll, Daly, Gilchrist, Caldwell, J. Gilchrist, Galloway, Hammel, Kynaston.

'Caygeon Skiers Get Three Of Four Main Trophies At Inverlea Aquatic Meet

Bobcaygeon aquatic experts captured three of the four main trophies at the Ontario closed water ski championship meet held at Inverlea here over the weekend. Carol Ann Duthie of Toronto, North American and Mexican junior girls' champion, won the over-all girls' championship at the local meet, while Bruce Poole of Bobcaygeon (Canadian junior boys' champion) won the boys' trophy in the over-all scoring. Margaret Gilbert of Bobcaygeon was the women's winner, and Gus MacIntosh of Bobcaygeon (North American senior titleholder) swept honors in the men's division of the meet staged jointly by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Peterborough Water Ski Association.

FIVE SHOWINGS

Youthful Stephanie Stuart of Peterborough made an excellent showing in finishing second to Carol Ann Duthie for the girls' meet championship, and she took the Jaycees' "rookie award" trophy. Terry Hill of this city also extended the classy Gus MacIntosh in the men's slalom, both having a run-off to settle it.

Gord Minty was the announcer, and Steve Evans joint executive chairman. George Duthie, CNE water sports director, praised the work of the local club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce in staging the first water ski meet to be held in Peterborough. It was sanctioned by the CWSA and that association supplied the judges. On the showing of skiers at this meet and the one last week in Orillia the Ontario team will be picked shortly to compete at the CNE.

ATTENDANCE DOWN

Intermittent showers and threatening weather kept down the attendance of spectators, but hundreds saw the smart water-skiing from either bank of the river and many from the bridge. The two-day tourney did not finish till after dark Sunday night and flashlights were being used to compile figures near the close.

It was a successful show from the standpoint of quantity and quality of entrants, and as an introduction in this city of this fine summer sport. But it was scarcely a success financially, since the meet had to be staged in the river—rather than Little Lake, reported to be polluted—and no less than eight propellers and two drive-shafts of towing motorboats were broken. The local club will have to foot this bill. Alf Pink—meet promoter—mournfully remarked afterward.

An interesting exhibition was put on by Bobby Thompson on the "aqua disk", a saucer-like affair invented by Jack Quinn of Lindsay.

THE RESULTS

The official results: Over-all meet champions—Girls, Carol Ann Duthie, Toronto; Stephanie Stuart, Peterborough; Altamae Thomas, Bobcaygeon; boys—Bruce Poole, Bobcaygeon; Robert Thompson, Port Elgin; Bob Smith, Whitby; women—Margaret Gilbert, Bobcaygeon; Isobelle Weale, Toronto; Joan Fydell, Toronto; men—Gus MacIntosh, Bobcaygeon; John Clifford, Ottawa; Dave Hyman, Ottawa.

Women's events—Slalom: Margaret Gilbert, Isobelle Weale, Joan Fydell; trick: Sally Smith, Rochester, Isobelle Weale, Margaret Gilbert; jumps—Margaret Gilbert, Barbara Metcalfe of Toronto, Joan Fydell.

Men's events: Slalom—Gus MacIntosh, Terry Hill of Peterborough, Owen Switzer, Toronto; trick—Gus MacIntosh, Don McAuley of Toronto, John Clifford; jumps—Gus MacIntosh, Hawley Staight of Owen Sound, Don Malcomson, Toronto.

Girls events: Slalom—Carol Ann Duthie, Altamae Thomas, Stephanie Stuart; trick—Carol Ann Duthie, Stephanie Stuart, Altamae Thomas; jumps—Stephanie Stuart, Janet Lyntell of Ottawa, Altamae Thomas.

Boys events: Slalom—Robert Thompson, Gus O'Brien of Chemong, Bruce Poole; trick—Bruce Poole, Bobby Smith, Richard Echtenkamp of Buffalo; jumps—Bruce Poole, Raymond Bedard of Ottawa, Robert Thompson.

Canada Clinches Tennis Zone Semi-Final

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's Davis Cup hopefuls came out of the weekend's tennis tussles with the Cubans, on the winning side in the final reckoning, but all they got out of Sunday's closing singles was a wealth of experience.

Canada clinched the North American zone semi-final tie Saturday when Lorne Main and Paul Willey romped through to a straight-set victory, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, over the Garrido brothers, Orlando and Reynaldo. Added to singles victories Friday by Main and Henri Rochon the count then stood 3-0.

Sunday Dr. Georges Leclerc, Canada's non-playing captain, decided that with the series already clinched he would let his youngsters, Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., and Willey, of Vancouver, take a fling at it in their Davis Cup singles debut.

FINAL STANDING

The young Garrido brothers, who carried the entire load for Cuba throughout the competition, fought their way through to victories in each match and the final standing was 3-2 in Canada's favor.

Orlando opened with a 9-7, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2 win over Bedard, and brother Reynaldo matched this four-set victory by beating Willey 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 11-9.

Each match was replete with errors, but the Cubans got across more placements and that just about told the difference. Orlando had 43 placements to Bedard's 28 and Reynaldo 51 to Willey's 46.

Willey's first test in Davis Cup competition was in Saturday's doubles, and he made it a brilliant one. Backed by Main's steadiness and court generalship, Willey served and volleyed with confidence and the Canadians swept through the three sets without suffering a service-break.

Mrs. J. E. Foster Heads Ladies' Golf Union

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. J. E. Foster of Halifax was elected 1954 president of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union at an annual meeting held Saturday night at the London Hunt and Country Club.

A silver salver was presented to Marlene Stewart, a member of the Canadian overseas golf team, on behalf of the club. The presentation was in honor of Miss Stewart's winning the British ladies open amateur championship for 1953.

White Sox Blank Yankees 5-0 Behind Pierce

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Whether Chicago's Billy Pierce is the best lefthanded pitcher in baseball is open to argument, but there is no doubt where the White Sox would be today without him. The 25-year-old ace, sore arm and all, shut out New York Yankees Sunday 5-0 to keep alive the American League flag hopes of the runner-up White Sox. The victory left Chicago seven games behind New York with 44 left to play. Sunday proved a great day for the "big names" of baseball. Ted Williams, making only his second appearance at bat for Boston since his return from Korea, smashed a 420-foot home run into the distant centrefield bleachers at Fenway Park. Williams was serving as a pinch hitter against Cleveland's Mike Garcia in the seventh inning.

Despite the 325th round-tripper of Ted's career, the Red Sox bowed to Cleveland 9-3 as Mike Garcia coasted to his 14th victory.

17TH HOMER

Stan Musial rapped his 17th home run this season with a teammate on base in the seventh to help St. Louis Cardinals defeat New York Giants 6-2 for a sweep of the three-game series.

Ralph Kiner blasted his 28th round-tripper to lead Chicago Cubs to a second-game 6-5 after Philadelphia Phillies won the opener 7-0.

Duke Snider also clouted a four-bagger with the bases loaded as the National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers crushed Cincinnati Reds 9-1.

Eddie Mathews, National League home run leader, smacked his 36th as the Milwaukee Braves swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh Pirates 7-4 and 8-3.

Philadelphia's Gus Zernial took over the American League's home run lead, hitting his 28th and 29th as the Athletics defeated and tied Detroit Tigers 4-3 and 8-8. Each game went 10 innings. Satchel Paige relieved St. Louis Browns' starter Duane Pillette to snuff out a Washington threat in the eighth and was credited with the first 3-0 game victory. The Senators walked off with the second game 12-3.

PROVES LIFE-SAVER

Pierce's brilliant pitching was a life-saver for the White Sox whose pennant hopes were dampened considerably when the Yankees won the first three of the vital four-game series.

Rookie first baseman Bob Boyd, playing in place of the injured Ferris Fain, smashed three hits including his first major league home run to pace a 10-hit attack against loser Vic Raschi and two successors.

Showing no signs of folding, the Braves pounded out 26 hits in their double victory over Pittsburgh to cut Brooklyn's first-place margin to seven games.

Russ Meyer threw a three-hitter against Cincinnati, his 12th triumph against five losses, as the Dodgers handed the Red Legs their sixth-straight defeat.

HURLS 5-HITTER

Joe Presko hurled a five-hitter against the Giants as the Cardinals moved into a third-place tie with the Phillies.

Home runs by Bob Kennedy, Bob Avila and Joe Tipton made Garcia's path easy as the Cleveland righthander spaced nine hits for the Red Sox victory.

In Saturday's games in the American League, the Yankees swept a doubleheader from Chicago, 1-0 and 3-0. Boston edged Cleveland 5-4 and Philadelphia defeated Detroit 9-5.

In the National League, Brooklyn downed Cincinnati 7-4 and St. Louis thumped New York 8-3. Milwaukee scuttled Pittsburgh 7-4 and Chicago defeated Philadelphia 4-1.

Batting: Gus Zernial, Athletics and Ted Williams, Red Sox. Zernial hit his 28th homer in the first game to beat the Tigers 4-3 and smashed a grand slammer in a pinch-hit role in the second game as the Athletics came from behind to tie 8-8.

Williams, making only his second appearance at the plate since he returned from Korea, slammed a 420-foot home run as a pinch hitter for Boston but couldn't stop Cleveland from defeating the Red Sox 9-3.

Pitching: Billy Pierce, White Sox, shut out the Yankees 5-0 with three hits while striking out eight to extend his consecutive scoreless inning streak to 24 2-3.

Argos Wallop Beaches 36-12

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts, gathering momentum in the second half, swept to a 36-12 victory over their Ontario Rugby Football Union farm club, Toronto Balmy Beach, in an exhibition game at Varsity Stadium Saturday.

The Beaches, with several Argo players in their line-up, held the parent club to two touchdowns and a convert in the first half. But in the second half the Argonauts overpowered them with a dashing passing and running attack good for four more touchdowns.

Except for the first touchdown which came on a 30-yard pass from Knobby Wirkowski to Zeke O'Connor, all the Argo majors came off ground plays. Doug Smylie swept across for two and Royal Copeland, Johnny Fedosoff and Jack Carpenter got one each.

20 Expected To Enter Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP) — The names of some 20 three-year-old trotters, each accompanied by a cheque for $1,000, were expected to be dropped into the entry box today for the 28th Hambletonian, which will be raced over Good Time Park's triangular track Wednesday.

The race figures to be the richest in the history of the trotting horse derby, exceeding the 1951 renewal when Mainliner took down the major share of $93,358.65. Only a score of entries are needed to push the value above the $100,000 mark.

As the four-day grand circuit meeting opened, Newport Star remained the strong favorite for the Hambletonian.

Winner of his last four starts for Octave Blake of South Plainfield, N. J., Newport Star will be driven by 33-year-old Del Cameron.

HOW CAN YOU MISS?—Bill Wiehr, of Sheboygan, Wis., demonstrates a highly versatile gun which is sure to bag game in one way or another. The muzzle-loader can shoot around a tree to get an elusive bird, and if one barrel misses, the other barrel is ready to fire. It has a built-in watch, thermometer, weather vane, mirror, spectacles for better sighting, and a knife for skinning the catch. A compass keeps the hunter on the trail, and if he's still unsuccessful in bagging any game, there's a can opener so he won't starve.

Mother Weeps At Word Of Son's Release

FORT ERIE (CP)—Mrs. Martha Elliott, mother of Rifleman Leslie Elliott who was freed Sunday by the Communists in Korea, says she "just wept" when she got word of her son's release in a terse army message this morning.

"Oh yes, I was overjoyed," she told The Canadian Press in a telephone interview. "I only hope that Leslie can pull a few strings to come to live with me in Canada."

Rifleman Elliott, a member of the British Royal Ulster Rifles Regiment, joined up five years ago in Ireland when he was 18. Four years ago, Mrs. Elliott came to Canada and settled in Guelph where she is employed at the Homewood Sanitorium. She is visiting here this weekend.

EXPECTING RELEASE

She said she was expecting his release because she received a letter about a month ago that said: "Don't worry mommy, I'm well and will be home soon."

"He was taken prisoner on Jan. 4, 1951," she said.

"Now I'm saving for the day when he can come to live with me. I hope to start fixing up a place for myself where he can stay."

Fatal Bounce

VANCOUVER (CP) — A three-year-old boy bouncing in play on a studio couch was fatally injured here Saturday when he toppled through a low window and dropped three storeys to a concrete sidewalk. Andrew Hooper died in hospital 2½ hours after receiving a fractured skull in the 30-foot plunge.

Unfurl 3 New Flags

LONDON (Reuters)—Three new flags fluttered from the Houses of Parliament Sunday—the work of an unknown climber who scaled the 340-foot high Victoria Tower during the night and tied them to the turret. The flags—a six feet by three feet Union Jack, a blue pennant with a white ensign, and a maroon swallow-tail flag with blue edges—are believed by police to have been put there by students.

Six Men Compete For Best Pilot Title

BRANTFORD (CP) — Six men competed here Saturday for the title of best amateur pilot in Ontario, and the honor went to Glen McLarty, 21, Toronto, with 86.64 per cent of the total possible marks.

The others were: Roscoe Hodgins, Lucan, of Leavens Brothers Air Service, London, 84.74; Bill Grigg, Toronto, 83.84; Willis Spring, Galt, 82.73; Saul Clark, Langton, 80.16; Alfred Oldland, Niagara Falls, 79.04.

The winner will compete at Quebec City Sept. 25 with six other regional winners, seeking the Webster Trophy and the title of Canada's best amateur pilot.

Say Canadians Aren't Really Rough People

TORONTO (CP)—Forty enthusiastic English youths from 17 to 19 years of age have spent the last two days in Toronto and say that Canadians aren't the rough people they are sometimes made out to be in books and movies.

On a 12-day tour of Canada, sponsored by the W. H. Rhodes Canada Educational Trust, they said they like the food and think Canadians are the most hospitable people they have ever met.

Before leaving for Britain from Quebec Aug. 19, they will visit Niagara Falls, Timagami and Ottawa.

Seaplane Crashes Two People Escape

OTTAWA (CP) — A 33-year-old Timmins pilot and his passenger escaped unscathed Sunday night when his small seaplane crashed in an alder swamp at Kingsmere, 13 miles north of here.

"We were sure lucky," said Romeo Corriveau, whose plane apparently caught in a downdraft after taking off from Lake Kingsmere for Ottawa. His passenger was his sister, Mrs. Lucien Leduc of Ottawa.

Corriveau said he bought he plane two weeks ago for $2,350. It was almost a complete wreck.

WINS LOL CAR

Mrs. M. Baker, of Pickering, won the 1953-model car which was drawn for Saturday during the celebration of 'Derry Day. The draw was sponsored by LOL 41, Emily, and R. E. Sanderson, of Havelock, grand master of LOL for Eastern Ontario, drew the winning ticket for Mrs. Baker.

ACCIDENT VICTIM

Condition of Clarence Strain, 20, 706 Cameron St., was reported not serious by officials of Port Hope General Hospital, where he was taken after being hurled to the pavement on Highway 28 Saturday when he was caught by hydro and telephone wires while seated on top of a transport trailer loaded with three storage tanks.

DOG KILLS CHICKENS

A collie dog was caught last night on the property of Daniel Rostocky, 747 Monaghan Rd., after it had killed 10 chickens in a flock of 45. Mrs. Rostocky and her eight-year-old daughter, Catherine, heard the peeping of the young chickens and they went out to the chicken pen to investigate. The female dog was locked in the cellar until the Rostockys find out who owns it.

Young People Of Omemee Elect Council

The village of Omemee is well equipped with officials these days. In fact the number has been doubled—but no one is protesting.

The reason for this increase is the result of a plan of some of the village leaders. L. W. (Mac) McKenzie, president of Omemee's Chamber of Commerce, H. V. Smith, past president, and A. Stephenson, secretary-treasurer, were the members of the committee responsible.

Omemee, like similar communities throughout the country, was experiencing difficulty in keeping its youth out of mischief. Things were getting just a little out of line.

The committee held a meeting Friday night in the council chambers and invited the youth of the village to attend. More than 70 appeared.

Chief of Police Stephens spoke to the boys on safety measures, then the younger group (under 12) were excused. The remaining teen-agers were then told of the plan to instigate a junior official staff, and it was decided (by the youths) that the nominating and voting take place immediately.

The plan was to form a junior municipal organization including reeve and council and a police force. They would be given authority over the village youth. It is hoped that with the village's young people looking after themselves in this way, there would be less michief and a greater knowledge and regard for law and acceptable conduct.

The first office, that of junior reeve, was hotly contested, but after three ballotings Jim Gladding was voted in. Four councilmen, Bill McKenzie, Ross Hyland, Hubert Fox and Leonard James, were elected with 100 per cent. support. Ken Murray was elected clerk for the junior council and Don Blakey junior chief of police.

Six constables are to be added to the 'police force.'

'Court' will be held periodically and offenders will be tried and judged. Minor offences will net 15c fines and 10c costs. Working boys will be fined 75c and 25c costs. A treasury will be established and a treasurer appointed.

Youths Go For Swim At Lakefield Get Second Ducking When Car Rolls In Four Peterborough youths: Paul Harding, 260 Euclid Ave.; George Dack, 264 Caddy St.; David Meeks, 336 Euclid Ave., and Jack Connelly, 845 Water St., went swimming at the Lakefield public pool late Sunday afternoon.

They parked their 1946-model sedan about ten feet from the edge of the waterfront cribbing and had three hours of fun on floats and diving tower.

Two unidentified girls used the vacated car to sit in but disappeared from the beach just before the boys went back to their car about dark to change their clothing.

It started to roll down the slight incline, having been thrown out of gear by the girls, and plunged into ten feet of water. Connelly managed to jump clear but his three companions were trapped in the car. All the windows were rolled down and they escaped with no more than a ducking.

A tow truck worked for almost an hour to hoist the car to the bank and towed it to a garage for repairs. It was owned by George Dack and was insured.

City Police Kept On Run Investigating Accidents

Heavy traffic and heavy rain might have been partly responsible for a rash of accidents Saturday and Sunday in Peterborough, but policemen, whatever the cause, were rushed off their feet as reports came streaming in. Most serious was a crash involving a 1931 model sedan and a brand new high-priced American limousine Sunday. Driver of the old model car, Claude McNutt of RR 2, Norwood, was sent to Civic Hospital where he is undergoing treatment for a badly cut elbow.

Driver of the limousine, Stanley Kozak, 32, of Elwood City, Pa., was fined $12.50 for driving through a stop sign. His car smashed into the 22-year-old sedan, spun it around, and knocked it 40 feet on its side at the intersection of Sherbrooke and Aylmer.

Though taken to the hospital, McNutt's wife and baby were uninjured.

Damage to the older car was set at $150 while the limousine sustained $200 in damages. Though barely marked on the outside, the visiting vehicle underwent extensive damage under the hood.

WASHED AWAY GAS

Firemen were called to the scene where they washed away inflammable oil and gasoline from the tipped McNutt car. McNutt had been driving north on Aylmer St. and Kozak, west on Sherbrooke St. when the accident occurred. PC's Harold Andrew and Jack Wilson investigated.

HIT SIGNAL POST

A second man, John Naish of 638 Chester, was treated for a bruised chest, knees and abdomen, lacerations to the right eye and contusion to the forehead, after he struck a level crossing signal post at the CNR tracks on George St.

The accident, on Sunday morning, caused $450 damage to his car. PC Wilfred Perry investigated.

Slowly moving traffic on Water St. spelled doom to an outboard motor on a boat being towed by Walter Parkes of Toronto Saturday at noon. Parkes was starting and stopping with the other traffic when a Colonial coach nosed into the back of the boat, causing a total of $450 damage.

Beverly Mann of 614 Little St., was driver of the bus. PC William A. Scott investigated.

CAR WANDERED

A three-hour absence from his car was disastrous to Wilson Plumpton, 24, of 121 Stewart St. He parked his car pointing downhill on Murray about eight o'clock Saturday night and came back to find it a few feet further down the road, nosed into a tree with $30 damage.

Events surrounding the runaway's cause are being investigated by police detectives, because Plumpton left the car in gear with the emergency brake on. The car was out of gear and the emergency brake off when he discovered it.

Stopped on George St. for the Charlotte light, a car driven by Paul Gibson of Midland Pt. was damaged to the extent of $65 when struck from behind by a car driven by Paul Gendron of 27 Aylmer St. The accident, occurring Saturday night, was investigated by PC Sherman Keliele.

A truck driven by Thomas Kelfe, 36, of Haviland lost a fender to an unknown car Saturday while parked on a downtown lot.

Damage to the truck was set at $50 by investigating Constable Keliele.

SKIDDED ON WET ROAD

Wet pavement prompted a truck driven by J. A. Coones, 19, of RR 1, Harvey, to skid into a left-turning car Saturday on Water St. Though the truck escaped damage, the car, driven by Betty See, 31, of Mesa, Arizona, sustained $150 in damages. PC Keliele investigated.

In another car-truck collision, a truck driven by Allen Lambert, 23, of Oshawa, collided with a car driven by Mrs. Hazel Hanbidge, 57, of RR 11 Peterborough, resulting in a total of $500 damage.

The accident, at the intersection of Lock and Lansdowne Sts., occurred when Mrs. Hanbidge, southbound on Lock St., nosed her vehicle into the intersection. She was then unable to back up to avoid being in collision with Lambert's truck, heading west on Lansdowne St.

PC Cecil Bowyer investigated.

Another intersection crash, at Reid and Sherbrooke Sts., occurred Saturday between vehicles driven by Charles Klingensmith, 33, of 39 Manning Ave., and Irwin Sloan, 43.

Starting across the intersection, driving north of Reid, Klingensmith was forced to stop when he was cut off by an unidentified car. Sloan, driving west on Reid, collided with Klingensmith. Damages were set at $75.

PC Bowyer investigated.

Saunders Urges Keep Ties With Britain

Controller Leslie Saunders of Toronto in an address to 3,000 Black Knights of Ireland on Saturday afternoon struck out at those who wish to erase the symbols of our connection with Great Britain. He criticized people and organized groups who want to change the name of Dominion Day, and advocate a new national anthem and a distinctively Canadian flag.

His was the major address that climaxed the biggest parade ever held in Peterborough. Twenty thousand Black Knights, their families and friends came to Peterborough for the annual 'Derry Day celebrations.

Four thousand are estimated to have marched in the parade that stretched from Lansdowne St. to McDonnel St.—a mile and a quarter long.

Mr. Saunders was the principal speaker during the hour-and-a-half program at the Exhibition Grounds.

TEST CANDIDATES

He called on the Black Knights—late though it was in the election campaign—to test each of the candidates with their stand on maintaining those symbols of the British connection. Do they wish to abolish "God Save the Queen" for some other national anthem? Do they want to change the name of "Dominion Day"? Do they want a new Canadian flag that excludes the Union Jack?

"If they won't give you a correct answer, then don't vote for them," urged Mr. Saunders.

Mr. Saunders also said that there were clerical attempts to try and represent the international situation as worse than it is. He quoted a Roman Catholic bishop as saying that in the future there would be two world capitals—Rome and Moscow.

"He was trying to give the impression that the only effective opposition to Communism was Roman Catholicism and we'd have to line up with them," said Mr. Saunders. "He was wrong; we won't have to choose one or the other."

As a matter of fact Communism has a greater hold in non-Protestant countries in Europe and South America than in Protestant ones, he said. There isn't the same threat of Communism in Great Britain, United States, Canada, New Zealand, Australia and the Scandinavian countries as there is in the predominantly Roman Catholic countries of Italy and France.

Mr. Saunders also said that there is a threat in the world today of "clerical fascism." McCarthyism is one type of this resurgence, he stated.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers were Mrs. Margaret Scott of Toronto, past grand mistress of British America; Samuel Richardson of New York, past grand master of the United States; William Wright of New York, supreme grand master of the Orange Association in the United States; Arthur Brooks of St. Catharines, grand master of Western Ontario; and Roland Darling, grand master of Eastern Ontario.

Also present were James Jackson of Owen Sound, deputy grand master of British America; and Mrs. Elizabeth Cooke, county mistress of the Ladies' OBA, Toronto and York.

Sidney Brown, preceptor of Weir RBP No. 261, the Black Knight preceptory in Peterborough, welcomed the Black Knights and their friends and families. Arthur Holden of the Peterborough preceptory was program chairman.

Thieves Steal 600 Pounds Of Butter

Lorneville Creamery Robbed; No Attempt To Take Money

During the hours of darkness early today thieves broke into the Eldon Creamery Co. Ltd. in Lorneville and stole 600 pounds of butter valued at $372. Lorneville is 13 miles northwest of Lindsay.

The thieves pried open the top section of a rear door to get into the creamery. Then they took the 600 pounds of butter from the refrigerator. They didn't even bother to look and see if there was any money in the office till.

The creamery was checked at 7 p.m. Sunday and again at 1 a.m. today. At 7.30 a.m. George Johnston, buttermaker's helper, discovered the breakin when he came to work.

S. J. Newman, the manager, reported the breakin and theft to Lindsay provincial police who are investigating.

Brother, Sister Escape After Car Rolls

A brother and sister on their way to church Sunday morning escaped with only bruises and a shaking up when their car turned over on a Douro Township road after a rear tire blew out.

The 1950-model car received $1,000 damage.

Gerald Coughlin, 20, and his sister, Mary, 16, both of RR9, Peterborough, were driving to church in Douro shortly before 11 a.m. along the township road between Nassau and the Five Corners. Two and a half miles east of Nassau they were confronted by an oncoming car on the crest of a hill.

Coughlin pulled to the right shoulder of the road to avoid a collision but the right rear tire struck a stone and blew out. The car continued along the shoulder for a short distance and then turned over in the ditch. First it rolled on its roof then it settled on its left side—facing west, the direction it had come from.

The brother and sister crawled ont through the shattered windshield.

OPP Constable James Healey investigated.

ACCEPTED WRONG RIDE

If the drunk had been a girl, he probably would have been told, as a youngster, not to accept rides from strange men. However, he was a man, and he was staggering down the middle of a Peterborough street Saturday night. A car pulled past him, then stopped about 50 feet further along the road. The drunk broke into a lumbering run, intent on getting a free ride home. He opened the rear door of the car, hopped in and with thanks on the tip of his tongue, looked at the two men in the front seat. The thank-you stuck in his throat and he settled back in the seat cushions for a ride to jail—with the two cops in the cruiser.

POLL 16 AT 516 WATER ST., was moderately busy at 10:30 this morning as ten percent of the total 357 voters made their appearances to cast their votes. Three Sea Cadets Rescued After Boat Overturned

COBOURG (ENS)—Three Port Hope sea cadets were rescued Sunday afternoon after their whaling boat had overturned in a squall in Lake Ontario, half a mile from shore and they had climbed up on the hull. The three, all 15, Larry Henderson, Hope St.; Ronald Shortreed, Ward St.; and Roger Wilkins, John St.; were none the worse for their experience.

All cadets of HMCSC Skeena, the trio had taken out the 27-foot whaling ship, which has a sail, for a jaunt as part of their regular training.

A sudden squall and hail storm about 3 p.m. capsized the boat and tossed the boys into the water. Following their cadet training, the boys climbed back on the overturned boat and called for help.

After a time, their shouts were heard ashore and a Mr. Holmes of Ridley Beach went out in his boat and brought them ashore. They had been waiting on the boat about an hour.

Their whaling boat was later towed in.

Dollar Days Annual Sale Starts Thursday

Just two more days must elapse until Peterborough housewives make their onslaught on local merchants for the biggest sale of the year. The three day Dollar Days sale will begin Thursday.

Approximately 100 merchants throughout the city have joined forces to present the biggest three day sales value of the year—and quite possibly in the history of the city. The event took place last year for the first time in many years, and its success has installed it as an annual event.

Thrifty shoppers will be sure to take advantage of this mammoth sale. One trip will be sufficient to cover the whole downtown area and the community sale will provide bargains everywhere.

Stores participating in the sale will be identified on the outside by special 'Dollar Day' stickers and on the inside by counter and shelves piled high with bargains of every description.

At this time of the year especially, out-of-towners will be pleased about the sale. They too, as well as local shoppers are welcome.

As the end of summer approaches practically everyone will be in need of various articles of clothing and what better time to do that necessary shopping than during this three day sales event.

'Dollar Days' is a joint effort of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and the Peterborough Examiner.

FINDS OLD U.S. COIN

Hoeing a field that he had worked all his life, James Grattan, R.R. 8, Peterborough, in Otonabee township, last week turned up an 1865 American two-cent coin about the size of a nickel, but made of copper. He had to scrub it and clean it before he was able to read its value and date.

Money-Makers

REGINA (CP)—Regina's parking meters now are taking in more than $1,000 weekly. The city installed about 500 new curb meters on July 1, supplementing 262 off-street meters previously in operation.

Repeat Performance

Shortly before 7 p.m. Saturday, some of the Black Knights of Ireland gave a repeat performance of the afternoon's celebration. The Westminster Flute Band, of Toronto, marched—in more or less good order—out of a Simcoe St. beverage room, took up positions in the middle of the street, and started a hoe-down—Derry Day style. Drums, flutes and vocal renditions were all included in the impromptu program. Swiftly a crowd gathered and there was a round or two of dancing. The celebration, which seemed to be just warming up, came to an abrupt end when a Toronto bus edged its way through traffic and pulled up in front of the hotel to pick up the strays. A hearty round of applause, mixed with cheers, came from the Peterborough spectators as they said good-bye to the Toronto band.

Voting In City Very Slow During Morning 11 Per Cent Use Ballots

Twice As Many Voted By Same Time In 1949 Activity Speeds Up At Noon Lakefield Voters Show Better Record

Voting was reported to be going "very slowly" by election officials in a spot check of 19 polls by The Examiner at noon today. In every case the total number of ballots issued to voters was fewer than at the same time in the last previous general election, June 27, 1949.

Of the 19 polls checked, with a total of 5,524 eligible voters, only 595 ballots had been issued, an average of slightly less than 11 per cent.

BETTER IN LAKEFIELD

The voting appeared to be somewhat heavier in Lakefield where, in three polls, with a total of 1,060 eligible voters, 188 ballots had been issued—an average of slightly better than 17.5 per cent.

At the same time of day in the last general election, the total number of ballots issued was almost twice as many in almost every case ni the city.

Things began to speed up slightly at noon, however, and there was a suggestion that this morning's downpour of rain may have kept some voters at home until this afternoon, who would ordinarily have voted this morning.

Party workers at candidates' headquarters reported they were kept busy all morning transporting voters to the polls. No unusual incidents were reported. As one worker said, while they were busy, everything was going smoothly.

At District Returning Officer McClellan's headquarters on Charlotte St., while both telephones rang incessantly all morning, no hitch had occurred in arrangements for the voting, it was reported.

Following shows the number of ballots issued up to noon today in a spot check of 19 polls. The number of eligible voters is shown in brackets:

Two Cottages On Round Lake Robbed Of Gear

CAMPBELLFORD —(ENS) — Two cottage break-ins in the Round Lake district north of Havelock were investigated over the weekend.

A 3.6 h.p. outboard motor, a carton of mixed canned goods and a gasoline can were stolen from the cottage of Fred Chevis of R.R. 1, Richmond Hill.

The cottage, called Stone Haven, is on Round Lake. Mr. Chevis had returned to his home in Richmond Hill and the break-in was discovered on Saturday. Provincial Police from Campbellford are investigating.

A cottage on the same lake, owned by E. R. B. T. Taylor of 50 Birchcliffe Ave., Toronto, was also entered during the week and a quantity of fishing equipment, canned goods and other foodstuffs, clothing and a 5 h.p. outboard motor were taken.

The theft was discovered by Earnest Sanderson of Havelock, who has a cottage nearby. He notified police and Mr. Taylor. Provincial Constable Archie Eady is investigating.

Drew Spends Election Day At His Office

By ALAN DONNELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. George Drew, 20,000 miles of campaigning for votes behind him, today awaits the voters' verdict on the Progressive Conservative party's appeal for their support.

The 59-year-old party leader, looking rested despite an exhausting seven weeks of travelling and talking, cast his ballot with Mrs. Drew an hour after the polls opened in a school near their home in Ottawa East constituency.

Residence qualifications keep him from voting in Carleton constituency, where he is a candidate.

He planned to work at his office in the Parliament Buildings during the day and go to his party's national headquarters here this evening to watch the election returns come in.

His final speeches were made Saturday at Oshawa, Cobourg and Kingston, Ont. They followed the pattern set all across the country with the emphasis on the first point in the Progressive Conservative 16-point election platform—a promise to cut taxes by at least $500,000,000 a year without reducing social services or impairing defence efficiency.

ATTACKS ABUSE

At Kingston before about 1,400 people, he coupled with that a sharp attack on what he called a Liberal "campaign of abuse" against himself. He charged that Prime Minister St. Laurent has given no indication of unwillingness to accept an election victory won through personal attacks.

Mr. Drew said he was prepared to accept personal attacks on himself. "But they have attacked my wife and my children and that I am not prepared to accept."

He had voiced his respect for Mr. St. Laurent as prime minister and as an individual.

"I wish I had heard one word from him which indicated his regret that those who support him have been carrying on a campaign of that kind."

Voters' "couldn't have a clearer issue" than the Progressive Conservative promise of tax reductions which, he said, would save $170 a year for the head of an average family of five persons.

A Progressive Conservative motion in the Commons two years ago to increase personal income tax exemptions had been opposed by every government supporter.

STAND BY PROMISE

Mr. Drew said he will stand by his tax-cut promise "with the firm conviction that it can and must be done in the interests of our people."

He reiterated his argument that defence department spending can be cut by 10 per cent through ending "waste, extravagance and inefficiency," and described as "ridiculous" defence stockpiling purchases of supplies of neckties, overalls and 15,000 pairs of women's flannelette drawers.

"People don't object to paying taxes for a job that has to be done. But they do object to paying for waste and extravagance. . . . and for contracts awarded to friends of the government without any tenders or competition of any kind."

OBITUARIES

MR. JOHN FALLIS

John Fallis, 72, lifelong resident of Manvers township, died suddenly on Saturday, August 1, while visiting his daughter, Mrs. Bruce McGill. Although he had been under treatment for a heart ailment for several years, he had apparently been enjoying reasonably good health. He had motored to Peterborough the day previous and at the time of his death was assisting his son-in-law and grandson to bring in hay from the field.

His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fallis, pioneers in Manvers township, and he was the last surviving member of a family of twelve.

He was a member of Manvers United Church and received his education at the Ballyduff School.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Bruce McGill (Bertha), of Bethany, Mrs. Charles Crowe (Ethel), of Fraserville, and Mrs. Glen Bradley (Alice), of Pontypool; also three grandsons, Charles McGill, Robert Crowe and Randy Bradley. His wife, the former Sarah Webb, predeceased him six years ago.

The funeral was held on Monday from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bruce McGill, and was largely attended. The Rev. C. Grant, of Bethany United Church, officiated, assisted by the Rev. T. S. Gault, of St. Paul's Anglican Church. Burial was in Fallis cemetery, Manvers township.

Pallbearers were six nephews, Messrs. Herb Parker, Fenton Fallis, Harold Fallis, Delbert Bowins, Lloyd Webb and Herman Webb.

MRS. LEONARD ANTHONY

Mrs. Leonard Anthony, 479 Park St., died suddenly in hospital on Saturday. She was 39 years old.

Formerly Audrey Crary, she was born in Peterborough, the daughter of Carrie Loucks and the late Herman Crary. She was a lifetime resident of this city.

Her husband and eight-year-old daughter Dawn survive her. Also sisters Mrs. Harry Rudkins (Lenore) and Mrs. Alberta Nichols and brothers Walter, Jack and Ray Crary, of Peterborough, and Sgt. Del Crary, Kingston.

Graduate of Queen Mary's School and PCI, Mrs. Anthony was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral. She was active in the Parent-Teacher Association and the Catholic Women's League.

The funeral will take place from the Kaye funeral home on Tuesday. Requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral at 9.00 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

London Fears Soviet Note Marks Return To Old Way

BY JOSEPH NEWMAN
Special to the Examiner

LONDON, — British officials were deeply disturbed by the Soviet reply to the Western proposal for a four-power conference on Germany. It was felt the note suggested a return to the late Prime Minister Stalin's hostile policy of no compromise and no concessions.

Soon after the text of the Soviet note was received here from Moscow, it was sent to Prime Minister Churchill, who is continuing to rest at Chequers, the Prime Minister's official country residence.

Sir Winston and Foreign Office experts read the note again and again, searching between the lines for some sign of the "new look" in Soviet foreign policy which Sir Winston thought he observed in May, when he called for high-level talks with Russia.

STALIN'S "OLD LOOK"

Instead, the British officials found something which seemed very much to resemble Stalin's "old look" policy. As a result, the high hopes inspired by Stalin's death and by encouraging gestures from Moscow are being deflated.

The Soviet note, as interpreted in London, marks a step back toward the sterile diplomatic exchanges of the cold-war period preceding Stalin's death.

The following deductions were drawn here from the Soviet note:

1. Russia refuses to surrender East Germany, and, therefore, rejects the Western proposal of a meeting of foreign ministers to prepare free elections as the first step toward reuniting Germany.

2. Russia advances the counter-proposal of a five-power instead of a four-power conference so as to include Communist China and extend the agenda to cover the entire globe. The German problem would be considered as one of many global problems, but negotiations would deal with the general principles of German unity and a German peace treaty rather than with the specific issue of free elections.

PROPOSALS UNACCEPTABLE

It is assumed that Russia realized its counter-proposals would be unacceptable to the West, because the latter insists on free elections as the first step in any consideration of the German problem and because the United States would not recognize the Peking regime as qualified to represent China at such a conference.

Russia is countering the unacceptable Western proposals with unacceptable Soviet proposals. The reason some British officials are disturbed is that the Soviet aim in playing this game is not to seek the hardest bargain it can secure but to avoid negotiations for a German settlement altogether while trying to divide the Western powers and make them appear as the ones who are blocking the reunification of Germany.

Rare Accident

Coldwell Says CCF Program Adapted To All

DAVIDSON, Sask. (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell wound up what could be his last federal election campaign in his home constituency of Rosetown-Biggar Saturday night, telling 140 persons at a party rally here that the CCF program is suited to the needs of all Canadians.

Mr. Coldwell had opened his campaign in Saskatchewan last month and then travelled to the Maritimes, westward to British Columbia and back to the province he has represented in the House of Commons since 1935.

During his campaign, the CCF leader said he might retire from politics if the next government of Canada institutes a national health plan. National health was the chief subject of Mr. Coldwell's addresses.

CO-OPERATIVE WORK

In his last speech here, Mr. Coldwell said the CCF party believes in co-operative work for the good of all and placing humanity first. It can find solutions to present-day problems, he said.

The CCF program was suited to the needs of all Canadians because it was a product of a cross-section of the people with the sole purpose of promoting a better life for all.

The CCF had stressed the need for greater economic assistance to under-privileged peoples as the only effective solution to the ills which cause wars.

His party wants economic planning to prevent unemployment and to develop Canada's natural resources in the interests of the people, rather than in the interests of a special minority, he said. It would seek long-term markets to absorb Canada's surpluses; would undertake subsidized low-rental housing; a comprehensive welfare program, and adequate family allowances.

Promising Voters Nothing P.M. Says In Final Speech

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC (CP)—A dapper 71-year-old gentleman today awaited the results of Canada's general election with perhaps a little more anxiety than most of his fellow citizens.

Taking things easy in his three-storey yellow-brick home—much like other homes of well-to-do Quebec business men who live on historic Grande Allee — Prime Minister St. Laurent planned to cast his vote in Quebec South riding where his old friend C. G. (Chubby) Power is running for re-election.

Sunday night he closed a gruelling cross-country campaign in his Quebec East constituency—a seat formerly held by two other powerful Quebec Liberals, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Ernest Lapointe, whose death during the war led to Mr. St. Laurent's entry on the Canadian political theatre.

Before an enthusiastic crowd in the Limoilou parish hall Mr. St. Laurent, speaking in French, talked about Canadian unity, the country's growth as an adult nation, his government's social welfare measures, and Canada's duties as a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

NO PROMISES

Mr. St. Laurent told the voters he would promise them nothing, not even that there would not be a third world war.

He had found that people did not mind paying what it cost to maintain defence measures but were anxious that there be no waste.

There had been cases of abuse in the armed forces and wherever they were found punishment was meted out.

Mr. St. Laurent said he found general agreement among Canadians on the question of a health insurance plan. This would be arranged with the provinces when the money was available. The plan would have to be administered by the provinces.

Some persons asked why the government did not give a pension to incapacitated persons. He felt the federal government should stick to cut-and-dried welfare measures such as family allowances and old age pensions.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE

He did not like to authorize federal welfare measures which would leave decisions to the discretion of civil servants.

"I am not in favor of extending the powers of bureaucracy," he said.

Earlier at an election meeting in the Charlevoix constituency town of Baie St. Paul, he lashed out at Frederic Dorion, chief Progressive Conservative organizer and a candidate in today's election. Mr. St. Laurent said a series of questions published Friday in a Quebec newspaper constituted "a caddish action."

The questions, in the form of an open letter, dealt, among other things, with use of French in the armed forces, the Quebec-Newfoundland-Labrador boundary line, and the question of appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican.

Mr. St. Laurent also referred to a newspaper account of a speech by Mr. Dorion July 26 in which he is reported to have said Mr. St. Laurent lied or spoke in bad faith on the question of an ambassador to the Vatican.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had not been called a liar throughout the campaign. He regretted the accusation had been made by a fellow member of the Quebec Bar.

Mr. St. Laurent terminated the campaign without oratorical flourish. His parting words to Quebec East voters were:

"I think that even if I still was practising law, on Ste. Anne street and you came to ask me who to vote for I'm pretty sure I would advise you to vote for the Liberal party."

4,000 Black Knights March In City's Largest Parade

Four thousand Royal Black Knights of Ireland marched down George St. Saturday afternoon from the Armouries to the Exhibition Grounds, staging the biggest parade believed ever held in Peterborough. Altogether 20,000 members of the Royal Black Preceptories and Crystal Chapters, together with their families and friends, came to Peterborough for the day.

They were celebrating the 265th anniversary of the relief of the Siege of Londonderry. The stubborn, 15-week defence of the walls of 'Derry ended in the decisive defeat of the forces of James II, who was trying to regain the English throne, and the victory has become symbolic of the firm establishment of the Protestant faith in the British Isles.

FIRST JOINT AFFAIR

Saturday was the first time that preceptories (i.e. lodges) from both eastern and western Ontario had celebrated a "Derry Day" together. Thirty-seven preceptories of Black Knights from as far west as Brampton and as far east as Ottawa and Kemptville rolled into the city Saturday morning in 16 special railway coaches, 35 buses of various sizes, and in private cars. In addition there were seven Crystal Chapters, or women's lodges.

Special accommodation for feeding the invading host had to be arranged, mainly by converting church basements into temporary dining halls. Tents from various women's organizations were also set up in the Exhibition Grounds, stocked to sell everything from soft drinks and candy bars to hot meals. Restaurants in the downtown district were packed.

Officers and members of Weir RBP No. 261, Peterborough, were hosts to the Grand Lodge Officers of British America and Eastern and Western Ontario, and to visiting Black Knights and women of the Crystal Chapters.

Though delayed 45 minutes because of rain the parade was believed to be the biggest ever held in Peterborough. And there was a record turnout of city residents as well as families of the Black Knights to see it.

Parade Marshal Jonathan Brown of Smith Township estimated that the number who marched exceeded 3,000. And Ralph Langley who was in charge of registration put the number at 4,000 at least. Fully another 1,000 of the Black Knights —some because of age or infirmity —lined the route as spectators.

The moving column is reported to have stretched the full mile and a quarter from Lansdowne St. to McDonnel St. The color party was said to be entering the Exhibition Grounds when the last lodge, Weir RBP No. 261, were leaving McDonnel St. after marching from the Armouries.

It took 40 minutes for the full parade to pass by.

The thing that especially caught the eyes and ears of the spectators was the large number of bands. There were 20 in all — pipe bands, bugle bands, fife and drum bands, and brass bands, ranging from three instruments to a full scale band.

A number of the Toronto preceptories had a feature that was popular with the Peterborough spectators—high stepping majorettes in short-skirted costumes. They got a special cheer as they walked in front of the bands, dextrously twirling their batons.

There was no estimate of the number of people who saw the parade. The downtown district—from McDonnel St. to Sherbrooke St.—was packed with men, women and children, from the store fronts spilling out over the curb. Both sides of George St. were lined with spectators from Sherbrooke St. south to the gates of the Exhibition.

A strong detail of city police kept back the crowds and sealed of intersections in relays so traffice would not try and break through as the parade moved south. North-south traffic was diverted to parallel streets but even so there was a traffic tie-up, particularly in the downtown district, as tourists and shoppers tried to get through.

DELAYED BY RAIN

The column was scheduled to move off at 2 p.m. but a heavy downpour of rain delayed the start till 2.45 p.m. In the front rank was the Parade Marshal, Jonathan Brown of Smith township, clad in his preceptory regalia, and carrying an upright sword. He was flanked by the color party—Black Knights, both carrying Union Jacks.

Next came the popular CGE Pipe Band, a couple of cars with high-ranking Black Knights, and then the 44 preceptories and chapters marching to the martial music of 20 bands.

When the marchers dispersed at the Exhibition Grounds the 90-minute program began. J. Arthur Holden of Peterborough, program chairman, announced the following winners:

RBP No. 398, Blackstock, winner of four silk union jacks for being judged the best rural preceptory on parade. Later, one of the flags was presented by Blackstock to the Prince of Orange Band, Toronto, for their smart turnout. The Toronto band had preceded them and members of the Blackstock preceptory felt that their martial music and appearance had helped Blackstock to win the award.

Temple RBP No. 292, Toronto, credited with being the world's largest preceptory of Black Knights, won a union jack for having the biggest turnout on parade.

Best dressed award went to Victory RBP No. 420, Toronto. Maple Leaf RBP No. 337 won a cup for their marching exhibition. And a silk union jack was presented to No. 2 Crystal Chapter, Toronto, for being the best of the seven women's lodges on parade.

Altogether there were 17 preceptories from Toronto and York, including Aurora, Mimico and Todmorden. Others were from Millbrook, Bancroft, Havelock, Blackstock, Oshawa, Picton, Haliburton, Marmora, Lindsay, Kirkfield, Allandale, Brampton, Port Hope, Norwood, Ottawa, Wallace, Kemptville, Campbellford, Wellman's Corners, Perth, and Peterborough.

Crystal Chapters were from Toronto, Ottawa, Picton and Peterborough.

Most of the visitors returned by train and bus before 7 p.m., marking a short but colorful invasion of the city.

Happy PoWs Leave For Home

PANMUNJOM (CP) — Seventeen disabled but happy Americans left Tokyo tonight by plane for the United States, leaving behind grim months in North Korean prison camps. The first Canadian will be flown home Wednesday.

Another 328 Americans boarded a navy transport in Inchon harbor, and will sail for home Tuesday. About 1,300 U.S. Marines returning home on regular rotation also are aboard the ship, the Gen. Nelson M. Walker.

The big air force plane carrying the vanguard of more than 3,000 Americans scheduled to be liberated in the massive prisoner exchange took off from Tokyo's Haneda airport at 7:07 p.m. (6:07 a.m. EDT today).

Cpl. Joseph Pelletier, 26, of Chatham, the first Canadian prisoner released under the armistice Aug. 5, will be flown from Camp Britannia to Tokyo and then to Vancouver aboard a Canadian Pacific Air Lines plane.

Today 389 more Allied soldiers returned from North Korean stockades. The second Canadian was freed Sunday. He is Gunner Orval J. Jenkins, son of Arthur Jenkins, Toronto, formerly of Hamilton.

Among the prisoners released Sunday was Rifleman Leslie Elliott, whose mother, Mrs. Martha Elliott, lives in Guelph. She came to Canada from Ireland four years ago and settled in Guelph, where she is employed at the Homewood sanatorium.

MOODS DIFFER

Panmunjom's mood swung between sadness and gaiety today depending on what nationality was on the trucks.

The 125 Americans and 25 Turks all appeared in good condition. The Britons, too were in excellent spirits.

But there were grim faces on the tough U.S. Marines who unloaded Red ambulances loaded with wasted, emaciated RoK soldiers.

Cynical Communist press photographers largely stayed away since the South Korean living dead offered no propaganda possibilities for them.

There were 200 non-Koreans exchanged Monday. It was the first day that more non-Koreans than RoKs have been returned. Early Monday the Reds suddenly announced they were substituting 25 more Americans and 25 more Britons for 50 South Koreans. Whether this was merely a mixup in the Red schedule or had some deeper significance remained to be seen.

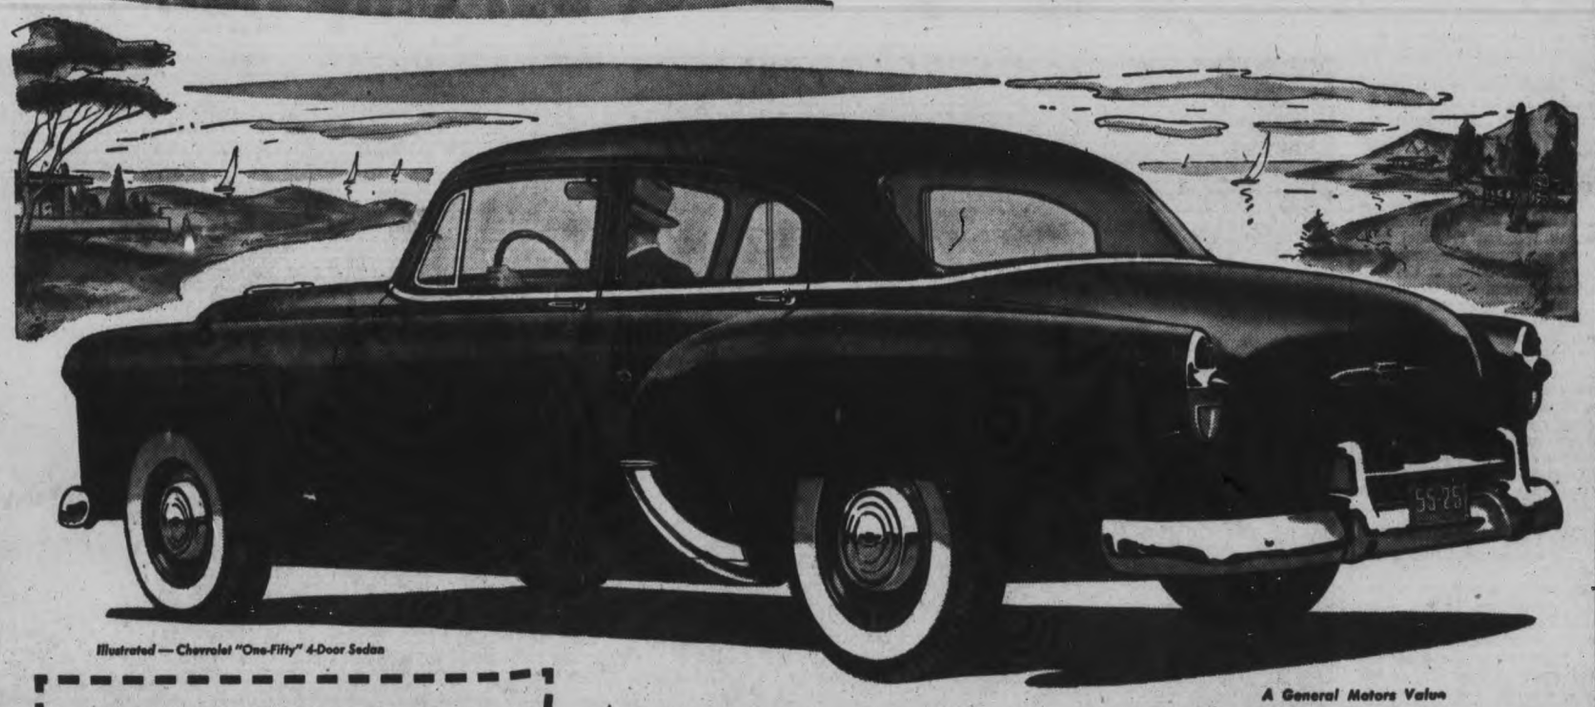
HIDING FROM NEHRU?

There was speculation the Reds made the sudden switch to avoid delivering the ghastly RoK litter cases before the eyes of India's Foreign Minister, R. K. Nehru.

Nehru, a member of the neutral nations advisory commission which will oversee prisoners who refuse repatriation, reached Panmunjom in time to witness the third hourly delivery of prisoners. This was the exchange group that was switched by the Reds.

Tuesday's group, the Reds announced, all will be in good health. It will be made up of 100 Americans, 25 Britons, 25 Turks and 250 South Koreans.

There were fewer incidents in the switch today. Sunday nearly 475 Red nurses, wives and camp followers were repatriated in scenes of bitter violence.



READY FOR FIGHT

Today the only trouble came from a handful of North Korean prisoners who jumped off their northbound trucks here and appeared ready to start a fight.

They claimed some South Koreans had thrown stones at their truck. Military police and other Red prisoners restrained them with angry shouts.

While Allied soldiers told of grim months under Communist captivity, Red propaganda mills broadcast stories of "brutality" in UN PoW camps.

Catchy Titles For Shows Big Broadway Headache

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of the most difficult tasks in the theatre are those which, at first glance, would appear to be the easiest.

Playwrights now are doing their final editing on musicals and dramas which will open the new season, but they're also worrying over titles. Although almost everything else is ready to roll, there's still a blank at the top of many a manuscript — a title which will arouse curiosity and lure playgoers to the boxoffice.

Many ticket buyers for the current Broadway musical hit, "Can-Can," have admitted at the boxoffice that they knew little about the Cole Porter musical, but had been hearing about the French "Can-Can" dance all their lives. It is the title which brings them to the boxoffice, because the musical has no widely known stars. In advertising, the author, Abe Burrows, and the composer, Cole Porter, get star billing. There's no mention of the names of the lovely girls who make up most of the cast.

EXTRAORDINARY SALE

In the same mood there is a new play coming to Broadway in September which is having an extraordinary advance sale.

The title is "A Penny To See The Peep Show."

Apparently ticket purchasers are thinking it is in the mood of "Can-Can." They are in for a surprise, because "A Penny To See The Peep Show" concerns the murder of an Englishman and the hangings of his wife and her lover.

A playwright who leans toward titles as disturbing, puzzling and intriguing as her plays is Mary Chase. Take the comedy "Harvey" about the drunk and the invisible rabbit. The usual choice would have been something long the line of "Peter Rabbit." But, she chose a name which sounds like an English butler or a Yale freshman and thus lured thousands when "Harvey" became a household word.

For the long run hit starring Helen Hayes, "Mrs. McThing," the usual title would have been something like George Kelly's "Daisy Mayme" or Barrie's "Mary Rose." But Miss Chase chose "Mrs. McThing," an impossible name to adults but plausible enough to the nine-year-old boy, Howay, in a wonderland of shantyland pool hall gangsters.

COMBINE CLASSICS

Sometimes playwrights combine the classics with the ridiculous such as Rodgers and Hammerstein in their musical, "Me and Juliet." Other times, they will pick a title of complete dignity, such as "The King and I."

Playwrights don't always exhaust titles. Arthur Koeber wrote his hit comedy, "Having Wonderful Time." Then he utilized the second part of that well known phrase for his current musical, "Wish You Were Here." Viewing the thousands who flocked to those two shows, he now is thinking of writing a sequel called: "P.S. Hurry Back!"

Reforestation Begins

DACCA, Pakistan (CP)—Agriculture Minister Mafizuddin Ahmad recently planted the first seedling in what it is hoped will become a vast reforestation project. Every citizen was urged to plant at least one sapling.

Experts Say Wheat Crop Late Quality To Be Questionable

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may turn out an above-average wheat crop this year, the experts say, but the crop may be late and the quality questionable.

Hit by a deluge of rain early in the season, Prairie wheat fields have soaked up a lot of moisture. In some places planting was late and growth held back by lack of strong and prolonged sunshine.

Nevertheless, though the crop may be late, government statisticians are just about ready to make their first official estimate of the size.

The first estimate comes out Friday. There will be further estimates in the weeks ahead until harvest time.

ACREAGE DOWN

The Prairies, which last year turned out a record wheat crop of some 664,000,000 bushels, may possibly turn out about 450,000,000 bushels this year. Acreage is down slightly.

But the real concern is the quality and the lateness of the crop. Some experts believe the quality will be definitely down from a year ago.

The lower the grade, the less the value of the wheat and the less the farmer has to spend for the goods Canada produces.

The price Canada gets for her wheat from domestic and world markets affects her ability to pay debts and buy goods from other countries.

OTHER PROBLEMS

A late crop also has its problems. Biggest is the fear of frost which in the past has destroyed thousands upon thousands of bushels of wheat.

But whatever may come this year, Canada appears to be in a relatively secure position as far as supplies are concerned.

Her wheat crop for all Canada last year reached an all-time high of 687,000,000 bushels. Her exports were heavy, but she nevertheless is expected to have a big stockpile to carry over into the new crop year which opened Aug. 1.

What that stockpile amounts to will be disclosed Aug. 18. It is almost certain to be above average and well over 300,000,000 bushels.

Detectives Question More About Cremation

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A homicide detective from Milwaukee arrived Sunday to question Gordon Weber, 40, formerly of Kitchener and Hamilton, Ont., who told officers last week he cremated the body of his father-in-law in a public dump in Wisconsin four years ago.

The officer, John Teevan, talked with Weber briefly, but postponed further questioning after Weber complained of a headache.

Sheriff's officers here said Weber told them Rudolph Maier, 69, died following an altercation in a Milwaukee railroad depot in 1949. Weber said he took the body to a dump in suburban Hartland, Wis., and burned it.

Bad Luck Delays Attempt To Lay Longest Pipeline

ST. IGNACE, Mich. (AP)—Bad luck Sunday delayed the attempt to lay the world's deepest and longest underwater pipeline. An equipment failure halted operations before the first half-mile section was fully in place.

When all but 50 feet of the first section of 20-inch oil pipeline had been pulled below the waters of the Straits of Mackinac a shaft on the enormous winch on the southern shore snapped.

The engineers in charge reported that it will take a week or more to machine a new shaft and fly it to the site from the west coast.

The engineers, however, hoped to pull the first section the rest of the 50 feet today and then pull a second 2,500-foot section with a spare drum.

ATTEMPTS FAIL

Attempts to pull the first section the remaining 50 feet with seven tractors on the southern shore failed.

The launching of the pipeline was 14 hours behind schedule.

The pull, called the greatest engineering feat of the generation, is the longest water crossing ever attempted by the pull method. This whole process will be done all over again in about a month and the second 20-inch pipe will be pulled across 1,250 feet to the east.

The double line across the straits will be linked on both sides to the 30-inch pipeline being laid between Superior, Wis., and Sarnia, Ont.

Food Weapon For Communists

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP)—Frank Noel, Associated Press photographer, returned Sunday after 32 months in North Korean prison camps and said the Communists "used food and medicine for a weapon."

Noel, 54, disclosed he had made three attempts to escape. After the third one failed he was held in solitary confinement for 42 days. For more than half the time he was in prison camps he was under 24-hour guard.

The photographer said the Communists repeatedly tried to use him for propaganda, telling him "I could do right by telling their side before the American publishers." He refused.

Identify Amnesia Victim

COOKSVILLE (CP)—Police Sunday identified a middle-aged, rifle-toting amnesia victim as Stephen Lipa, of no fixed address. He is being held in Brampton jail pending further investigation. When taken into custody Saturday in nearby Dixie, 15 miles west of Toronto, Lipa was carrying a .22-calibre rifle and a bag of shells.

OBITUARY

MRS. ALBERT BARTLETT

MARMORA (ENS)—Mrs. Albert Bartlett, well-known in this district, died sudednly at her home here early Sunday morning of a heart ailment from which she had suffered for the past two years. She was 71.

A daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Vilneff, she was born at Blairton, receiving the Christian names of Annie Melzena.

Six months ago, she and her husband, who served overseas in the First World War with the 21st Battalion, celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary. The greater part of her life was spent in the Marmora district.

She was an adherent of St. Andrew's United Church and a Past Mistress of Harmony LOBA 600. She has been active since its formation in the Ladies Auxiliary of Marmora Branch 237, Canadian Legion.

She had a gift for knitting and, during the Second World War, had a record for knitting socks and other woollen comforts for the boys overseas.

There are no children of the marriage. Besides her husband, she is survived by one brother, George Vilneff, of Belleville, and one sister, Mrs. Chris Thompson, Port Colborne.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday from the Wells funeral home for service at St. Andrew's United Church at 2 p.m. Burial will follow in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD S. ADAMS pictured as the bride, the former Miss Jean Thomas, signed the marriage register of Hastings United Church Saturday afternoon.

Adams-Thomas Nuptials

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — Hastings United Church, decorated with gladioli and ferns, was setting for a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon when Margaret Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas of Hastings, became the bride of Donald Stanley Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams of Roseneath.

Lieut. Arthur Shadgett of the Salvation Army, station at Windsor, Nova Scotia, who is a brother-in-law of the bride, performed the ceremony. The wedding music was played by the bride's sister, Mrs. Ben Smith of Peterborough, and her brother, Mr. Murray Thomas, also of Peterborough, sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register. Mr. Thomas also gave his sister in marriage, as their father is at present confined in hospital.

The bride was lovely in an ankle-length gown, of pale blue net over taffeta. The strapless bodice topped a bouffant skirt trimmed with appliqued flowers. She wore a bolero and mittens of matching net and a floral headdress and short veil in the same shade of blue. Her bouquet was of deep red roses. Maid of honor was her sister, Miss Marilyn Thomas, who wore an identical gown in pale yellow with bolero and mittens and a floral headdress to match. She carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers in pale mauve shade.

Mr. Neil Adams of Roseneath was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Laverne Thomas and Trevor Brown of Roseneath.

The reception following was in the Sunday school hall. Mrs. Thomas received in a gown of navy silk faille and wore a white lace hat and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Adams was dressed in navy printed nylon and was wearing a navy straw hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride and groom left later on their honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and district. The bride was wearing a white linen suit and navy hat and accessories and her corsage was of red roses.

They will live in Peterborough.

Alderville Fetes Bridal Couple Wed In Akron

ROSENEATH (ENS)—The marriage of Neil Frederick Crowe, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Borden Crowe of Alderville, to Rose Frances, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cosentino of Akron, Ohio, was solemnized on the evening of August 1st in the rectory of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Akron.

The couple are honeymooning in Canada, and upon their arrival at Alderville on Friday evening they were tendered a shower of miscellaneous gifts by the community, and a dance was held in their honor at Alderville School.

There were at this event guests from Akron, Toronto, Hastings, Cobourg, Campbellford and Roseneath. It was also a family reunion as nine of the ten children of Mr. and Mrs. Borden Crowe were present. They were Neil and Roger of Akron, Glen of Cobourg, Mrs. Clifford Smoke of RR 3, Cobourg, Wallace, Larry, Mirle, Sheila and Dolores of Alderville.

After their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Crowe will live at 252 Pioneer Street in Akron.

For her wedding the bride chose a ballerina gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. The scalloped neckline was studded with simulated pearls and the fitted bodice had long sleeves tapering to points over her hands. A wide border of Chantilly lace enhanced her veil which was held in place with a halo of pearls and she carried a cascade of white gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bretta Jr. were the attendants. Mrs. Bretta wore a ballerina gown of shell pink taffeta with matching headdress and carried a cascade of orchid gladioli.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately after the ceremony. The bride's mother received the guests in a gown of aqua silk and wore white accessories. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore an orchid French crepe dress and white accessories, and each had a corsage of deep red roses.

Supper was served at long tables underneath shady trees by the Institute members.

Esther Meiklejohn Weds

The wedding of Miss Esther Isabel Meiklejohn, formerly of the Peterborough Public School teaching staff, to Mr. Jack Carleton Chynoweth, BA, took place at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday in the Rylstone United Church. The Rev. H. Beare, of Springbrook, officiated, assisted by Mr. Kenneth Stewart, of Selwyn.

Gladioli and ferns decorated the church and the wedding music was played by Mr. Gerald Taylor. Before the ceremony, Mrs. Charles Milne sang "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register she sang "At Dawning."

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Meiklejohn, of R.R. 2, Harold, and was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white tissue faille, with a train, and featuring a scalloped yoke and sleeves of imported Chantilly lace. A tiara of seed pearls and bugle beads held her fingertip veil of silk illusion and she carried a white Bible with gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Harvey Good was her matron of honor and the groom's sister, Miss Phyllis Chynoweth, was bridesmaid. They were in full length gowns of tissue faille in yellow and green, both fashioned similarly to the bride's, but with short scalloped sleeves and they wore matching mittens. Little Barbara Chynoweth, also a sister of the groom, was flower girl, and wore pink tissue faille with a pale blue velvet sash. Each wore a bonnet of matching net over tissue faille and they carried bouquets of mauve and yellow 'mums with maidenhair fern.

Mr. Frank Chynoweth was the groomsman and ushers were Cameron Meiklejohn, brother of the bride, and Tommy Faulkner, cousin of the groom.

The reception was held at the bride's home with guests attending from Woodstock, Bracebridge, Lakefield, Peterborough, Coboconk, Norland, Toronto, Stirling, Cambray, Lindsay, Warkworth, Campbellford, Madoc and Consecon.

Mrs. Meiklejohn received, dressed in pale blue crepe with a lace bodice and wearing a white straw hat and corsage of sweet peas. The groom's mother assisted, wearing figured nylon and white accessories and also had a corsage of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Chynoweth are going to Paris, France, where they will live for the coming year.

2-Ring Rites At St. Paul's

A double ring wedding ceremony performed Saturday at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church by the Rev. C. G. Boyd united Ruth Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Warner of Peterborough and James Albert Delos Dennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delos Dennett of RR 1, Brigden.

Gladiolas and ferns decorated the church and white ribbons marked the guests' pews. The wedding music was played by organist Mr. Christopher Gledhill, and during the signing of the register Miss Mary Dennett of Brigden, sister of the groom, sang "Because."

The bride chose a floor-length gown with lace bodice trimmed with pearls and rhinestones and skirt of nylon net over taffeta. Her fingertip veil was trimmed with lace and caught to a coronet of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses and white shaggy 'mums with white satin streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, she was attended by her sister, Mrs. James Atkins of Peterborough, as matron of honor, and the groom's sisters, Mrs. Gordon Shephard of Briden and Mrs. James A. Gibbs of Sarnia, as bridesmaids.

The atendants' frocks were made with lace bodices and skirts of net over taffeta and they wore matching lace boleros and net mittens. The matron of honor was in pink and the bridesmaids in turquoise and yellow. Each wore a pearl coronet and short veil to match her gown and they carried nosegays of 'mums and roses in contrasting colors.

The groomsman was Mr. Gordon Shephard and ushers were Gordon Barker, cousin of the bride, and James A. Gibbs.

A reception for the guests, who were from Brigden, Sarnia, Wilkesport, Toronto, Hastings and Peterborough, was held at the bride's home, 226 McGill Street. Her mother received, wearing a navy sheer dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of pink Delight roses. The groom's mother also received, dressed in blue and grey silk, and wearing a white hat and corsage of white carnations.

A wedding trip to British Columbia is being taken by Mr. and Mrs. Dennett. For travelling the bride chose a light blue shantung dress and white accessories and her corsage when going away was of pink Delight roses.

They will live in Corunna, Ontario, on return.

Eileen Piggott Weds Thomas Lucas

In St. Luke's Roman Catholic Church, Downeyville, the Rev. C. R. Kay joined in matrimony Eileen Therese, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Piggott and Keith Thomas Lucas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lucas, all of Downeyville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a full-length bouffant dress of nylon net and Chantilly lace. The short-sleeved lace jacket covered a fitted bodice of lace, and the skirt of net had tiers of pleated net and lace on the sides; shimmering through was a satin slip. The matching lace mittens were knuckle-length. The veil of illusion tulle was held with a small pearl-beaded lace cap with net ruchings, and she carried a small cascade of white carnations and stephanotis.

The altar was decorated with white lilies and baby's breath, and during the ceremony Shirley and Carman Lucas, sister and brother of the groom, sang "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "Mother at Thy Feet is Kneeling" and "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," accompanied by organist Mrs. Walter Herlihey.

Miss Alma Pigott was bridesmaid for her sister, wearing an orchid waltz-length gown of orlon, with matching shoes and mittens, and she carried a cascade of roses and sweetpeas, ranging in color from pink to mauve. The groom was attended by his brother, Urban Lucas, and the ushers were Mark Piggott and Carman Lucas, brothers of the bride and groom.

A reception was held at the bride's home following a wedding dinner at the Benson Hotel, Lindsay.

The bride's mother received in a dress of navy sheer over flowered crepe, with white and navy accessories, and wore a corsage of white gardenias. The groom's mother wore a dress of dusty rose crepe with lace insertions and navy and white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Guests were present from Chicago, Cleveland, Woodstock, Port Hope, Peterborough, Lindsay and Toronto.

The bride and groom left for a motor tour to St. Anne de Beaupre. For travelling the bride chose a dress of grey and white with red and white accessories, and wore a corsage of sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

They will live in Peterborough.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH LUCAS

Wendy Dunford Bride Of Ernest Dooley

St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield, was decorated with mixed colors of gladioli for the wedding on Saturday afternoon of Wendy Mary Violetta, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Dunford of "Glenleigh", RR 4, Peterborough, to Mr. James Ernest Dooley, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dooley of Toronto. The Rev. L. J. Delaney officiated, and Mrs. E. Lee played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a strapless gown of white shantung, with long full skirt of double box-pleats, and topped with a matching bolero. Her fingertip veil of illusion tulle was held by a pearl encrusted brim and she carried white roses and stephanotis.

Bridal attendants Mrs. G. R. Greep and Miss Mauretta Dunford were frocked in lime green and yellow shantung. Their face veils were caught with flowers and they carried muffs of mixed sweet peas.

The groomsman was Mr. Paul Hutchison and ushers were Abel Nightingale and Arthur Seymour.

The reception was at the Empress Hotel in Peterborough. Mrs. Dunford received, wearing a suit dress of dusty pink corded silk, a navy hat and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother chose a suit dress of periwinkle blue, a white hat, and had a corsage of pale pink roses.

When the bride and groom left later on a motor trip to northern Ontario the bride was wearing a pale blue dress and jacket with white accessories and her corsage was of white roses and sweet peas.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the University of Toronto and they are going shortly to Manchester, England, where the groom will do post graduate work.

Poole-Reid

HASTINGS (ENS)—Tabernacle United Church, Frankford, was scene of a pretty summer wedding when Constance Betty, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Reid, Frankford, became the bride of Leslie Horace Poole, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Poole, of Hastings. The Rev. W. Fletcher officiated.

Miss Margaret Phillips sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the ceremony and during the signing of the register sang the "Wedding Prayer." The music was played by Miss Myrtle Hardy.

The bride, given in marriage by his father, wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace over satin. The matching jacket had a Queen Anne collar and sleeves pointed over the hands. Her fingertip veil of tulle was held in place by a seed pearl crown. Her flowers were a cascade of gladioli petals with coral rosebuds.

Miss Helen Snider, of Carrying Place, was maid of honor and wore an ankle-length gown of imported Chantilly lace over a mauve underskirt, made with a halter neckline. She had a matching jacket and mitts, and floral halo and carried gameclear. Bridesmaids Miss Marion Free and Miss Helen Charlesworth were similarly gowned in yellow and green and they carried blaskets of multi-colored glamellias.

The groom was attended by Mr. Ron Graham, of Castleton, and ushers were Leonard Reid and Harold Reid, brothers of the bride.

A reception for 75 guests was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother received in a gown of navy and white silk with navy and white accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a gown of navy french crepe with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was pale pink roses and carnations.

For the wedding trip to New York, the bride chose a three-piece white ensemble and navy accessories. Her corsage was of blue cornflowers. They will live in Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Millen, O'Carroll Ave., have had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, of Saskatoon, Sask.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES E. DOOLEY, the bride formerly Miss Wendy Dunford, were married Saturday at Lakefield.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Some Hearty Breakfasts For Underweights

Read this letter and weep—then take heart if you are underweight: ". . . would appreciate very much a variety of recipes for hearty breakfasts. A member of my family needs desperately to gain weight. Likes rice, cornmeal, fish and meat especially. The most commonly used breakfast meats such as bacon, sausages, and smoked ham seem to disagree with his stomach; waffles, pancakes and sweets seem to do likewise. "This person is allowed to eat anything by order of his doctor so long as he can gain weight. ". . . would appreciate a variety of recipes for preparing eggs . . . Mrs. Lloyd H."

Being underweight often is not as bad as it looks. Often underweight folk accomplish more and feel better than overweights. Because of the patient's indigestion you will notice I have made specific references to the ways of cooking foods, and use of ripe bananas. Junior and baby foods would be ideal.

HEARTY BREAKFASTS

No. 1—Half grapefruit (with sugar—see note), Long-cooked Whole Grain Cereal with Cream and Brown Sugar or Honey, Coddled Egg, Whole Wheat Toast and Butter, Black Currant Jam, Whole Milk, Coffee with Cream.

Note: I would never suggest using sugar on grapefruit except to someone who is very underweight. Excessive use of sugar is not advisable. To make the cereal more easily digestible start it cooking the night before, and reheat it in top of double boiler at breakfast time. To coddle eggs put 2 teaspoons butter in custard cup, drop in fresh egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper and stand cup in hot water. Cover and simmer until egg is set.

No. 2—Sliced very ripe Bananas on Shredded Wheat with cream and honey, Broiled Steak, Whole wheat toast with marmalade, whole milk, coffee with cream.

No. 3— Blueberries with cream and honey, Hot Cornmeal with cream and brown sugar or honey, eggs Benedict, Whole Wheat toast with comb honey, Cafe au lait.

Note: Your underweight may tire of milk or feel too full to drink both milk and coffee. Sometimes make double-strength coffee and serve half strong coffee and hot whole milk. This is cafe au lait.

No. 4—

This dish is the most delicious breakfast I know. It is made up of a slice of bread toasted or a split and toasted English muffin. Place on the toast or muffin a thin slice of fried ham (in your case use a slice of broiled pork or beef tenderloin and on top of that place a poached egg. Cover with hot Hollandaise sauce and serve at once.

Hollandaise: ½ cup butter, 2 egg yolks, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of cayenne, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Melt butter very gently. Beat the yolks in a warmed bowl with rotary beater until they are very thick and lemon colored. Add the salt and cayenne and three tablespoons of the melted butter, ¼ teaspoon at a time, beating hard between each addition. Then add the remaining butter a little faster, alternately with the lemon juice until all has been added. This must be done patiently. Store in refrigerator until ready to use if any is leftover—it melts as soon as it touches hot vegetables.

No. 4 — Juice of 2 oranges, Flakey Hot Boiled Rice with maple sugar and cream, Broiled Fish fillets, Sliced Tomatoes, Toasted Rye Bread and Butter, Peach Conserve, Whole Milk, Coffee.

Note: A lovely egg dish which I have not included is Eggs a la Suisse. This is eggs poached in cream. Use 3 tablespoons heavy cream for each egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover tightly, and poach until eggs are set. Serve on toast. Pour cream over.

Elizabeth First Sovereign To Visit Tonga

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (Reuters)—When the Queen visits the Crown colony of Fiji and the protected state of Tonga during her forthcoming Commonwealth tour she will be the first reigning British sovereign to set foot upon that tropical and semi - tropical empire of island set in the vast sweep of the blue Pacific ocean.

Details of the festivities taking place during the Royal visit have not yet been announced but the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh can be assured of the warmest and most picturesque of welcomes from these Pacific islanders.

The Fijians are noted for their melodious singing, their artistic performances in the traditional Meke dance, and their age - old Kava drinking ceremony which is a colorful feature of all important functions.

At the installation of a new governor, Fijian chiefs always pledge their loyalty and allegiance to the crown at a ceremonial Kava drinking, and the Queen and the Duke may well take part in the custom.

The Fiji islands, lying at the crossroads of the South Pacific, are mountainous and of volcanic origin. The peaks rise abruptly from the shore to higher than 4,000 feet.

Palm trees abound in the main parts of the Fiji group which comprises 320 islands of varying sizes, ranging from the great island of Viti Levu, where Suva lies, covering 4,011 square miles, to mere rocks a few yards in circumference.

About 105 of the islands are inhabited.

Much of Fiji's early history is soaked in the strife of tribal wars and bloodshed, but with the spread of Christianity the "ferocious and dangerous, habitual and determined cannibals" (as one writer referred to the Fijians less than a century ago) were subdued, and their energies bent to the more peaceful pursuits.

Seafood, Beef Most Popular With Tourists

HALIFAX (CP) — Tourists in Nova Scotia prefer fresh seafood and plain, wholesome beef dishes.

That, says Eddie Gebistorf, hotel chef here, offers the most appeal to visitors.

"No fancy dishes or sauces," he says. "They seem to like their seafood fresh and their beef uncluttered by garnishes."

Most popular seafood is Atlantic salmon, with lobster, tuna and swordfish next in that order.

"There isn't much call for scallops or some other Nova Scotian delicacies, mainly because they are not known to the tourists and they shy away from ordering something they may not like.

CRAVING FOR BEEF

"Tourists also seem to have a great craving for beef," he noted. Steaks are by far the most popular beef dish with grilled spare ribs and roasts following.

Gebistorf also has noted a trend during the last year or so toward more plain food with low calory content. He credits this trend toward more sensible eating to the publicity given in newspapers and magazines to the dangers of overeating.

DOROTHY DIX:

Husband Looks Upon Women As Slaves

DEAR MISS DIX: Five years ago I married a man, father of two boys aged 15 and 16. Their mother had left them, and the fault was supposed to be hers; now I know different. At the time of our marriage I had an eight-year-old daughter, whom he promised to treat as his own. The boys have had every possible care from me, which they gratefully acknowledge.

Our first trouble is money. My husband refuses to buy anything at all for the house, the children or me, and I am supposed to run the place on $50 a month, including food, insurance, light, telephone, and anything else we need. Such penury is not necessary, since the man has a job with a good salary.

If I work, what money I earn must be used as house allowance. My daughter is treated like the proverbial stepchild and she never gets a kind word from her stepfather. He drives the car wherever he wants to go, yet gripes about the gas I use to go marketing. Visiting relatives is out of the question; he'd cuss for a week over the cost of the gas.

He looks upon women as slaves; they never need pocekt money, they are not entitled to comforts in the home. Perhaps something in your column will have a beneficial effect. He reads your articles, but if he doesn't agree with them, says you are crazy.

MARIE.

TWO ALTERNATIVES

ANSWER: Stories of selfish, greedy, despicably mean husbands are no news to my desk, but yours, which has been slightly censored, is one of the worst. There is absolutely no hope that a man so devoid of decency as your husband will ever change. There are, therefore, but two alternatives for you. Either you stay and continue to take the treatment he mees out, or you leave him and make a new life for yourself.

Obviously, you hope a middle course will open up for you, but the possibility is nil. You don't mention your age, but by calculation, you are not so old that earning a living is out of the question. You had a good job before you married this man, which was just five years ago, so surely you haven't aged so much in so short a time.

The chronicle of your daily schedule, including housework, farm work, canning, and outside jobs, indicates no lack of ambitio nor energy. Weigh what little security you now have against permanent peace of mind, and make the decision for yourself. I'm sure the change will be good for your child too.

Your husband's attitude toward my column is not surprising; everyone who doesn't agree with me naturally concludes that I'm in the wrong.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 21 and have been going with a boy the same age for four years. However, my father is very strict about my dating and I can only go out on Wednesday and Saturday nights. My boy friend has been called into service and we plan to be married when he gets out. I know my father will object, since he will never speak to me when I come home from a date. I work, pay my share of the household expenses and also help pay for the family automobile.

LUCY.

ANSWER: If Dad is so strict about dating, how come you managed to snag a boy friend? Somewhere along the line, father's sternness must have been relented. Obviously, you're entitled to to more time out than you claim to have, but I'd really like to hear Dad's side.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm engaged to a man I love dearly, and we expect to be married soon. This will be the third marriage for both of us. Both my husbands are dead, but his wives are still living. I have been told that he still gives money and gifts to his former mates. He says he likes to be friends with everyone, and sees no reason why exceptions should be made of his ex-wives.

SALLY.

ANSWER: These are the problems that beset wives whose predecessors are still around. If you can't take the competition, or exbest to worry about the wives as possible rivals, this marriage is not for you.

The sources commented on Prime Minister Malenkov's statement that Russia would welcome Japan's initiative in resuming normal relations with Russia.

Albatross Type Following Dodo To Extinction

WASHINGTON — The short-tailed albatross of the Pacific Ocean may have followed the dodo, the great auk and the Labrador duck into extinction.

The short-tailed or Steller's albatross (Diomedea albatrus) was the largest and handsomest of the three Pacific albatrosses. Steller's was not the wandering albatross of the Southern ocean, which likes to follow ships, but a shy bird going its windswept way from the South China coast to Kamchatka, from the Bering Sea to Lower California.

NESTED OFF JAPAN

First described by an ornithologist in 1780, it nested in numbers in the northern Bonin Islands, the southern Izus and southern Ryukyus—all islands off the coast of Japan. Then came the world feather trade, starting about 1885, which almost cost America its white egret.

Hunters, mostly Japanese, started a persecution of the big white bird which ended at last in January, 1933, with the ruthless slaughter of 3,000 Steller's albatrosses on volcanic Tori Shima, between the Bonins and the Japanese home islands. Wiped out in anticipation of a Japanese law to save them, these birds were the last known definitely to exist.

Several times since that infamous massacre, mariners have reported seeing lone Steller's albatrosses at sea. The latest report came in 1951 from scientists aboard the British ocean graphic survey ship Challenger, which discovered the record 35,640-foot Challenger Depth southwest of Guam.

But unfortunately Steller's resembles the other two Pacific albatrossess. Adults look like the fairly common Laysan albatross, the young resemble the black-footed albatross. Without an actual specimen to back it up, not even an expert's sighting can be regarded as scientific evidence—and no specimen has been taken since 1933.

A wildlife expert with the American occupation forces in Japan made a determined search for Steller's in its nesting islands, but found not a single bird or egg. Regretfully, science is ready to conclude that if anyone has seen a Steller's at sea since 1933, the bird was an elderly individual, too old to breed, living out its last days in hopeless loneliness.

There is a possibility that, as in the case of New Zealand's chickenlike takahe, the species may rise again from the progeny of a few pairs still nesting in some out-of-the-way place. The trouble with this hope is that Steller's bred only in a limited, well-explored area. And this area swarms with Japanese, Okinawan and Chinese fishermen who will land and hunt down for food any big bird they may see on islands they pass.

Shy at sea, Steller's albatross was tame and stupid on the nesting grounds. A hunter could club several hundred a day on their nests, built on the ground. Eggs frequently were left to spoil and chicks to starve. If the bird did try to fly away, hunters could easily catch it while making the long run needed for its takeoff.

Stellers hatched only a single chick at a time. Ihsect parasites and crows often killed the little ones. Even grown birds occasionally perished if they landed in a valley or depression where there was no room for a takeoff run. But ornithology's record in this tragic case is crystal clear. Man killed off the Stellers albatross, as he has exterminated so many others of the world's specialized birds.

Two Youths Charged With 19 Counts

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Two 17-year-old Welland youths, Robert Keeler and William Martin, today were charged with 19 counts of breaking and entering, all within a five-day period.

Police said the loot would cover several pages and included rifles, radios, jewelry and money.

The break-ins started on Aug. 4 at summer cottages at Thunder Bay, Rose Hill and Oak Hill Forest.

Three Men Live On Tiny Atoll

MELBOURNE (Reuter) — The three men who form the entire population of Australia's loneliest colony, a tiny atoll in the Coral sea almost 300 miles off the North Queensland coast, now have their daily newspapers delivered—sometimes.

Four - engined reconnaissance planes of the RAAF are carrying "storepedoes" in their bomb hatches as they patrol in anti-submarine exercises from their mainland base.

Swooping down to 200 feet over an upturned saucer of coral 300 yards long and 120 yards wide, the bombers drop fresh food packed in dry ice, mail, newspapers, magazines and stores to the volunteers who for 12 months at a time man Australia's Willis island weather station, 1,500 miles south of the equator and deep in the cyclone belt.

Until the new service began with an experimental trip in April, the Willis island staff was isolated except by radio. Their supplies were left by a lighthouse relief ship which called to change personnel at the end of the February-March cyclone season. And for the next year they were alone except for hundreds of thousands of seabirds.

Willis is no holiday resort. Nowhere more than 28 feet above mean sea level, it is whipped by gales and spray that may keep the staff indoors for days on end. No vegetables will grow there.

Its two 60-foot radio masts, guyed to stand winds of up to 100 miles an hour, are the highest points for hundreds of miles around.

From the living quarters, on the only level section, a stone can be thrown into the surf on either side.

The hardier of the Willis island staff who seek fish along the low-tide seabed find sharks swimming lazily beside them. Fish are speared or, more usually, shot with a high-powered rifle.

Hold-Up Construction

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Twelve hundred baby mink are holding up reconstruction of a road near here. The highway department hopes to get to work on the job about Aug. 15. By then the mink are expected to be weaned. Work halted after a mink ranch proprietor notified officials he would hold the county responsible if any unusual noises caused the mother mink to destroy their young.

Rochester Clips Royals' Wings Over Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Red Wings dropped Montreal Royals from first position in the International League during the weekend, enabling Buffalo Bisons to move into the league's No. 1 spot.

But the Herd lost their manager as Jack Tighe Sunday was handed an indefinite suspension by League president Frank J. Shaughnessy after a rhubarb with umpire Max Felerski at Buffalo Saturday night.

The Red Wings edged the Royals 3-2 Saturday at Montreal, and then walloped them Sunday 7-4 and 7-1, while Buffalo blanked Springfield Cubs 1-0 Saturday at Buffalo and went on to take the opener of a doubleheader Sunday 6-1. The second game was washed out.

DIVIDE TWIN BILL

In other weekend games, Toronto Maple Leafs split a doubleheader with Baltimore Orioles Sunday at Toronto, the Leafs taking the opener 6-0, then bowing 2-0 to the Orioles. A Saturday contest between Toronto and Syracuse Chiefs was postponed because of rain. Ottawa Athletics put Syracuse away 2-0 Sunday at Syracuse.

Victory at Montreal gave the Red Wings the important Montreal-Rochester five-game series 4-1.

In Sunday's opener the Birds, aided to victory by the pitching of Dennis Reeder and Jack Crimian who combined to hurl a six-hitter, tallied three times in the first inning and never looked back. First-sacker Charlie Kress clouted a double, a triple and a single in five times at bat.

SCORES THIRD WIN

In the abbreviated second game, right-hander Octavio Rubert, a one-eyed hurler, scattered five hits in scoring his third win.

At Buffalo, the Bisons barely beat the elements to down the Cubs for their third victory in the four-game series. The game was held up with two out in the Springfield half of the fifth. Play resumed long enough to permit the Bisons to score a run with two out in their half of the inning before another deluge terminated matters. Ernie Nevel held the Cubs to four hits.

Don Johnson scattered five hits in the first game at Toronto to gain his 10th victory for the Leafs against eight losses. Joe Rossi's two-run single in the first inning and Bobby DelGreco's two-run homer in the fifth provided Toronto's scoring punch. In the second game, Leafs' starter Bobby Hogue gave up only four infield hits, but the Orioles made use of bunts to get both of their runs.

At Syracuse, only two Athletics got on base until the seventh and final frame, but Jack Littrell, Joe Taylor and Taft Wright came through with successive ground singles in the seventh with Littrell scoring from second and Taylor reaching third on Wright's blow. The second tally was scored on Walt Rogers' fly.

Slo-Mo-Shun Wins Gold Cup 3rd Time

SEATTLE (AP) — Slo-Mo-Shun IV, the sturdy old lady of speedboat racing, danced over the breeze-rippled waters of Lake Washington Sunday to win the Gold Cup for the third time in four years against a fleet of challengers from Detroit. She made the run in record time, averaging better than 90 miles an hour for all three of the 30-mile heats.

Slo-Mo-Shun piled up 2,000 points in the scoring system used for the Gold Cup race. The Gale II was second with 825 and Such Crust III third with 694.

Slo-Mo-Shun V was unable to compete after ripping her bottom out during a practice run last week.

COLLECTORS' ITEMS — British gold and silver articles made this year rate a special place in the collector's showcase. In honor of the Coronation, the 1953 hallmark stamped on all such items will include the Queen's effigy. The hallmark as a mark of identification and quality was formally started in 1340 when the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths established the Goldsmiths' Hall in London. This photo from the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths shows the Queen's hallmark (at right) and some earlier ones.

Queen's Effigy In Hall Mark Of Gold And Silver Articles

TORONTO (CP) — British gold and silver articles made this year will rate a special place in the collector's showcase.

In honor of the Coronation, the 1953 hall mark stamped upon all such items will include the Queen's effigy.

Dating back to the early 14th century, the hall mark is actually a series of symbols pressed into the metal denoting where made, by whom and when. This mark of identification and quality was formally started in 1340, when the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths established the Goldsmiths Hall in London.

OLD TRADITION

At one time hall marks included the reigning monarch's head. This started in London in 1784 and stopped in 1890.

However, in 1935 to celebrate the silver jubilee of King George V, both his effigy and that of Queen Mary appeared on gold and silver goods, the first time in the long history of the hall mark when a King's and a Queen's head appeared together.

George Carter of Toronto, head of the silverware department of a large Canadian jewelry house, said a great deal of British gold and silver was purchased that year and he has not come across any of it since.

Collectors of silver have great respect for the initials "HB" included in a hall mark. They belong to a famous woman, Hester Bateman, who ranked as one of the best of the early Georgian silversmiths.

About the period 1774 to 1800, Mrs. Bateman favored a comparatively simple line of design.

She evidently passed her skill on in the family and much fine silver bears the initials of her eldest son, Jonathan Bateman and Peter and Ann Bateman, Hester's second son and his wife.

Here And There In Sports

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

TORONTO (CP)—Tentative dates for the Memorial and Allan Cup playoffs next spring were announced Sunday by W. B. George of Kemptville, Ont., president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Under the schedule adopted by a CAHA executive meeting here during the weekend, the junior Memorial Cup final will open in Eastern Canada, April 25. The final for the senior Allan Cup will be in the West, starting probably on April 24.

The playoff schedules drawn up here will be submitted to the CAHA semi-annual meeting in Winnipeg Jan. 9-10 for approval by the various branches.

Here are the suggested dates:

Allan Cup
Western Playoffs

Series A: Alberta champions vs Saskatchewan champions, opening March 13.

Series B: Thunder Bay vs Manitoba, opening March 13.

Series C: Series A winner vs series B winner, March 27.

Western Final: Series C winner vs British Columbia champions April 12.

Eastern Playoffs

Series A: Maritime champions vs Ottawa district champions, March 13.

Series B: Series A winner vs Quebec champions, March 27.

Eastern Final: Winner of series B vs Ontario Hockey Association champions, April 10.

Memorial Cup
Western Playoffs

Series A: British Columbia champions vs Saskatchewan winners, March 16.

Series B: Series A winner vs champions of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League, March 26.

Series C: Thunder Bay vs Manitoba, March 27.

Western Final: Winner of series B vs series C survivor, April 10.

Eastern Playoffs

Series A: Northern Ontario Hockey Association champs vs Ontario district winners, March 11.

Series B: Series A winner vs Maritimes, March 22.

Series C: Series B winner vs Quebec champions, April 7.

Eastern Final: Series C winner vs Ontario Hockey Association champions, April 13.

The majority of the series will be best-of-seven affairs.

Argyel Grattan Wins $7,500

TORONTO (CP)—Dunc Campbell's magnificent five-year-old pacer, Argyel Grattan, won Saturday's $7,500 Canadian Cup harness race at Thorncliffe track.

But what left a record crowd of 9,521 gasping was the payoff of $128.40 on a 60-1 outsider, Daisy P. Grattan, owned by William Woods of Chesley and driven by Hugh McLean in the feature race.

Because Argyel Grattan had been barred from the betting by the management, Daisy P. Grattan's second position in the second heat of the feature paid off as a straight ticket.

Daisy P. Grattan broke stride in the first heat and finished last in the seven-horse field.

The victory of Argyel Grattan in the two heats—in 2:08 and 2:06 3-5—represented the 19th and 20th triumphs by that five-year-old black gelding in 21 starts. The winning share of the richest purse in Canadian harness racing sent Argyel's winnings to $6,673.

Freddy Mohler Wins Soap Box Derby

AKRON (AP)—Freddy Mohler, 14-year-old 93-pounder from Muncie, Ind., won the 16th All-American soap box derby Sunday He defeated 150 other youngsters from all parts of the U.S., Canada, and Alaska. Dale King of Los Angeles was second, and his brother Jon was third.

Two Canadian entrants, Fred Cameron of Mission City, B.C., and Brian Thususka of St. Catharines, Ont., were eliminated in first-round heats.

Cameron placed third in the 25th heat and Thususka placed second in the 26th. Only heat winners advanced to succeeding rounds.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—First polio death of 1953 at Victoria Hospital here, that of a seven-year-old Tillsonburg area boy, occurred Sunday. Garry Pieters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Pieters, RR 1, Clear Creek, had been admitted to the hospital's isolation ward a week ago.

600 Riflemen Begin Shooting At South March

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP) — Some 600 top-ranking riflemen from Canada, Britain and the United States sprawl along these ranges today as shooting in the 85th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize meet gets under way.

Only one of the opening-day matches, the Macdougall from 200 and 500 yards, counts in the scoring for the grand aggregate competition. In addition, the Tyro, Sherwood, Borden and Barlow matches will be shot.

During the week-long shoot, top aggregate standings are added to scores posted in the final stage of the Governor-General's match and from these are chosen the 18-man team to represent Canada at the 1954 shoot at Bisley, England.

CLIMAX TO SHOOT

The climax to the shoot, largest held in Canada, is the Governor-General's Gold Medal competition, the most prized award. It was won last year by Lt.-Col. Des Burke, 49, of Lansing, Ont., a radiologist at Toronto's Sunnybrook hospital who is rated Canada's top marksman.

Britain is represented by two teams—a crack 10-man Cambridge University Rifle Association team and an 18-member Imperial Cadet team.

Another featured match of the shoot is the Queen's Medal match Wednesday from 600, 300 and 100 yards. It was won last year by a 48-year-old Calgary marksman, Lt.-Col. Steve Johnson, author of "Shoot to Live," a manual used in the Canadian Army.

Some 16 women from across Canada also have filed entries.

Mrs. Minnetta Forbes

HAVELOCK (ENS).—The funeral took place Sunday of Mrs. Minnetta Isadore Forbes, 84, widow of the late Edward Forbes.

Brother Yacos of Toronto conducted the service at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gavin Buchanan. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Pallbearers were all grandsons: Glenn Yeo of Toronto, Roy Adams and Gordon Ames of Campbellford, John Hamblet of St. Catharines, Bill Buchanan and Douglas Adams of Havelock.

Mrs. Forbes' death followed an illness which began last autumn and had confined her to her bed for the last 10 weeks.

She was born at Chrambie Hill, Campbellford district, daughter of the late John Puffer and Sarah Quackenbush. Her parents moved to Norwood when she was a child and she lived there for some years. Following her marriage in March, 1896, to Edward Forbes, the couple took up residence on a farm at Oak Lake, later moving from there to Glen Alda in Chandos township and from there to Haliburton county, where, after 23 years, they moved to Belmont township. About 14 years ago she came to Havelock when her husband retired. Mr. Forbes died in December, 1949. Mrs. Forbes was a Jehovah's Witness.

Surviving are five daughters: Mrs. Mae Adams and Mrs. Gavin Buchanan of Havelock, Mrs. Harold Yeo of Toronto, Mrs. Percy Fike of Kettleby, Ont., Mrs. George Karila of Port Arthur; a son: Ray of Belmont township; 19 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Champion Fiddler

SHELBURNE (CP)—Ward Allen of Wiarton and Hamilton Saturday night won the Canadian open fiddlers' championship. Lorne Donaldson of Orton, with daughter Betty as accompanist, won second prize. Proceeds of the affair were donated to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children.

Woman Dog Catcher

LEAMINGTON (CP) — Town council Satirday appointed Mrs. Irene Ives as town dog catcher. Mrs. Ives was the only person to apply for the job.

"She applied for the job and if she can do the work she can have the job," said councillor Bob Mayhew.

Stockholm Invitation Studied By CAHA

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association plans to give further study to unofficial invitations to have a CAHA intermediate team compete in the world tournament at Stockholm, Sweden, next year and another to make an exhibition tour of Japan.

W. B. George of Kemptville, Ont. CAHA president, said the matter was discussed at an executive meeting during the weekend. He said various teams have applied to make the trips but did not name the applicants.

A final decision will be made and announced "at a later date," the CAHA president said.

It approved the addition of Quebec Citadelles to the OHA Junior A series, previously ratified by the OHA executive last week.

Pirie Outruns Wes Santee

LONDON (AP)—Gordon Pirie of Britain, six-mile world record breaker, edged out Wes Santee of Kansas in the ballyhooed "mile of the century" race at White City Stadium Saturday before a wildly roaring crowd of 40,000. The time was 4:06.8.

Pirie, never known as a runner with a strong finishing kick, actually outran Santee down the stretch of the race which track fans had hoped would produce the long-awaited four-minute mile.

Santee, personal choice of world record holder Gunder Haegg to be the first four-minute miler, had taken the lead in the backstretch of the last lap. But Pirie blazed past him. Santee was second in 4:07.2.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A deluge of rain scattered crowds at the New York polo grounds just before the bell rang for the Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers world lightweight title bout 15 years ago tonight. The bout was postponed until a week later and Armstrong took the title from Ambers, afterwards calling his opponent "the most bothersome fighter" he'd met.

Lew Worsham Wins Tourney By One Stroke

CHICAGO (AP)—Lew Worsham has the answer to a question that has bothered golfers since the game was invented.

"Is a hole-in-one luck or skill?"

Worsham didn't make an ace. He did sink a long approach, estimated by onlookers as 140 yards, for an eagle 2 on the last hole Sunday to beat out Chandler Harper by one stroke for the $25,000 first prize in the "world" golf championship at Tam o'Shanter.

That shot, made with a sand wedge while Harper was being congratulated on winning the tournament, was worth $15,000. It was the most lucrative single shot in the history of the game.

It meant winning the "world" championship of golf, a title lacking in prestige but compensating in cold cash—a first prize of $25,000, tops in golf. Second place paid $15,000 less.

Harper, who had lost two other tournaments this season by one stroke margins, had just finished with a 70 for 279, nine under Tam o'Shanter par, by pitching a No. 9 iron shot 20 inches from the cup for a cinch birdie 3.

Television cameras were trained on Harper Radio commentators were praising his finish.

THEN CAME WORSHAM!

Then came Worsham. He had just dropped a seven-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 17th hole. He needed another birdie 3 on the 410-yard next hole to tie Harper and send the showdown into a sudden-death playoff.

Worsham belted a tremendous drive. About 140 yards in front of the green, Worsham took a sand wedge and fired. The ball lit on the green, bounced about three times and covered 35 to 40 feet before it rolled into the cup.

Old-time observers contended that it was the greatest shot in the game's history—which can be debated endlessly in the hot-stove league.

Henry Martell of Edmonton, lone Canadian in the tournament, finished in a three-way tie for 10th place to win $400.

Patty Berg, a runner-up for the title in each of the last five years, won the "world" title for women pros.

SCORCHING ROUND

The stocky little redhead, who lives in Minneapolis but registers out of Chicago, picked up the $5,000 first prize in the world field with a scorching last round of 38-36-74 for a 72-hole total of 300, four under par.

Louise Suggs of Atlanta, 54-hole leader with 224, drifted to a 40-39—79 for a 303 total to collect the $1,600 second prize.

Babe Zaharias made a great bid for the title to climax a comeback in tournament golf after a cancer operation April 17.

The Babe fired a par 38 on the first nine but blew to a 43 coming in.

Her 81 gave her 307 for third place and $1,000.

Frank Stranahan easily won his fourth straight "world" golf title for men amateurs with a final round of 36-38-74 for a 72-hole aggregate of 289, one stroke over par.

May Strengthen Team Chances

LONDON (Reuters)—Peter May Saturday strengthened his chances for a place in the England team for the fifth test cricket match with a 159 for his county, Surrey, against Middlesex.

May hit a six and 17 fours for his highest total of the season. Surrey was all out for 299 in the crucial game between the country championship leaders.

Final scores:

Australian Tourists 372, Lancashire 34 for no wicket.

Surrey 299, Middlesex 15 for no wicket.

Gloucestershire 328 for seven vs. Sussex.

Derbyshire 150, Northamptonshire 129 for eight.

Essex 343, Somerset 42 for no wicket.

Warwickshire 377 for five declared vs. Yorkshire (to bat).

Leicestershire 298, Kent 18 for two.

Worcestershire 340, Glamorgan 29 for one.

Hampshire 333 for nine vs. Nottinghamshire.

Kesselring Edges Weslock For Golf Title

By PETER REILLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRANTFORD (CP) — Gerry Kesselring, who has proved beyond a shadow of doubt that he is Ontario's top amateur golfer, will try later this month to prove his supremacy over the national field.

The 24-year-old Kitchener golfing ace took a 4 and 2 win from veteran Nick Weslock of Windsor over the Brantford Golf and Country Club course Saturday to win his third Ontario amateur golf championship in as many years.

Both he and Weslock will enter the Canadian amateur championships at Montreal later this month. No Ontario amateur has been able to win the Canadian since Sandy Somerville of London won it 2 and 1 from Phil Farley of Toronto in 1937.

UNDER PAR ALL WAY

Gerry, who said after his final match that he thought he "played good," met seven opponents in all on the match-play road to the title. He kept his medal score under par all the way, the highest being a one-under on two occasions.

The youth movement was apparent all the way through the 31st annual tournament, with veterans and top-ranked golfers bowing out to the youngsters.

The first such upset came when Bruce Castaior of Toronto Islington couldn't cope with young John Skeaff of Toronto St. Andrew's in the first round.

The most startling shakeup was veteran Phil Farley's 4-2 quarter-final defeat at the hands of 22-year-old Grant Shirk of Kitchener. Another highly-ranked amateur to fade in the stretch was Keith Kirkpatrick of London, who lost out on the 18th green to Ted Holmes of the host club.

Holmes, who has a back injury that limits him to a short backswing, played the pluckiest golf of the tournament against Weslock in Saturday morning's semi-final round. The match went to 20 holes before Weslock finally holed a 30-foot putt to win.

In the day's other semi-final, Kesselring beat Shirk 7 and 6, being three-under par when the match ended on the 12th green.

LOOKED EVEN

In the final, Weslock and Kesselring looked fairly even over the first nine holes. Kesselring was putting a little better and he was one up at the turn.

Then Weslock set the stage for Kesselring's win with a big six at the 10th, sending the Kitchener golfer two up. From there on it was all Kesselring. Weslock took one hole, but his putting—usually faultless—fel apart. The match ended on the 15th green when Kesselring sank an easy two-footer for a birdie.

By virtue of his win, Kesselring is assured of a place on the Willingdon Cup team for this year. Last year's team was made up of Kesselring, Farley, Kirkpatrick and Weslock.

Polio Patients Learn New Way To Breathe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Many patients whose ability to breathe has been affected by polio now are able to leave their iron lungs for hours at a time after they learn "frog breathing."

This new method of gulping air was demonstrated Sunday at Los Angeles county's Rancho Los Amigos, where there are more post-polio respiratory cases than anywhere in the world.

Thirty-five of the 133 patients whose normal breathing muscles are paralyzed have learned to take in oxygen by the new method, which requires from a day to several months to learn. It was discovered by a patient.

EXPLAIN TECHNIQUE

Technicians explain "frog breathing" this way: The air is held in the lungs by closing the larynx. The esophagus is filled with air and forced into the lungs by a pumping action of the cheeks and tongue. This process continues until the lungs are filled.

Then they are emptied, usually through partly closed lips. The process of filling the lungs is started again. Usually patients can take six of these "breaths" a minute.

Spirit Is Subject Of Lesson-Sermon

"Spirit" was the subject of the lesson sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world including First Church of Christ, Scientist, Peterborough, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God."

Selections from the Bible included the following from Ephesians 4:4-6: "There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; One Lord, one faith, one baptism, One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science text-book included the following: "Spirit being God, there is but one Spirit, for there can be but one infinite and therefore one God. There are neither spirits many nor gods many."

Those on board—the exact number was not known—spent a harrowing few hours in darkness on the cruiser before being rescued by Indians from the Kettle Point reserve.

Chinese Five-Year Plan Slipping Behind Schedule

By MARGUERITE HIGGINS
(Special to The Examiner)

HONG KONG. — An internationally important turning point in Red China's policies was conveyed to a British business delegation in Peking last month. With astonishing frankness, Communist officials admitted, it was learned, that the Chinese five-year plan for building up heavy industry and armaments could not as previously hoped, be fulfilled on schedule through primary reliance on the Soviet Empire but would require a sharp increase in trade with the West.

According to British reports to London, the Communist officials stressed that nothing will be allowed at this stage to interfere with priority for the five-year plan and therefore with efforts to obtain from the West some of the products essential to its success.

As is borne out by a current China's dictator, Mao Tse-tung, campaign in the Red Press, believes that with the military and political consolidation of China completed, all other considerations — including pressure against the peasants for collectivization—should be subordinated to the five-year plan which is the Communist leader's own personal project.

PLAN GIVEN PRIORITY

The Chinese government's decision to give the five-year plan priority over all else gives a sense and pattern to many other Far East developments, explaining among other things Communist eagerness for a truce in Korea.

In Peking, British and Indian diplomats have noted the new Communist line which began developing after the death of Stalin, but were surprised at the frankness with which China's desire for capitalist help was outlined to Britons.

Diplomatic circles in Peking are so convinced of the Red emphasis on the five-year plan that they believe this will affect international strategy. For instance, they believe the Communists will go cautiously in Korea so as to avoid resumption of hostilities, especially since the Reds themselves have admitted that the army in Korea has been a factor in putting the plan behind schedule.

Formosa, about which the Reds have been uncharacteristically silent, is another case where the Communists will postpone an all-out effort if they believe it would bring the kind of retaliation that would set back industrial development, the diplomats say.

China's dream of greatness and power depends on the five-year plan, in diplomatic opinion, and Mao Tse-Tung can be expected to make as iron-willed an effort to have his country catch up with the modern world industrially as did Stalin in his day in Russia.

Members of the British delegation to Peking who reached Hong Kong last week reported that Communist officials had a businesslike approach. Chinese prices are somewhat high in terms of the world market, the Britons said, but they indicated belief that the Reds want trade badly enough so that these difficulties can be overcome.

The representative of one engineering corporation stated, "it would be unwise to underestimate the fantastic revolution that has gone on in Red China. The facts are that production is up all round—though not as much as the Reds want. The Red leadership has a talent for administration and efficiency that is new to China. I think they are ready to deal fairly on a quid pro quo basis."

Red China's frank admission that the Soviet world's assistance is at this stage insufficient for the five-year plan in China should not be interpreted as a sign of strain or disatisfaction between the two countries.

On the contrary, as intelligence and diplomatic reports from all iron curtain areas indicate, Moscow has taken the lead in urging renewal of trade ties with the West, even in the question of consumer goods. This is partly to drive a wedge between Western European countries and the United States, and partly in a definite effort to placate unrest in the satellites, according to Western analysis.

BUS CRASH KILLS 25

300 Minnesota Centres Profit From Liquor Sales

By ADOLPH JOHNSON

ST. PAUL (AP)—If you come to a Minnesota town with better-than-average streets, parks or schools, maybe you can mark it down to liquor.

More than 300 Minnesota communities are profiting under a liquor law enforcement idea adopted by the state legislature 19 years ago.

It decreed that towns under 10,000 population in wet counties could open their own liquor stores, and that no private dealers could be licensed to compete with them.

Now 360 villages and towns have such stores, most of them selling both by the bottle and by the drink. They are manned by city employees and the city gets the profits.

Last year these stores sold more than $33,000,000 worth of liquor, about one-fourth of the state's total sales, and realized a profit of $6,000,000.

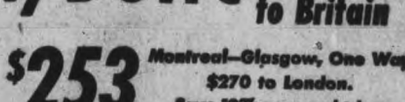
BETTER FACILITIES

Take Richfield, a Minneapolis suburb. It showed $130,422 in profits on sales of $771,179. In one year Orr, with population of 234, netted $37,260—or $159.20 per capita. Not all make such profits and a few even lose money. But some travellers say you can spot a town with municipal stores by its better streets and street lighting, its better schools and parks, and such luxuries as municipal swimming pools.

The desire to get in on rich profits has led to some strange shenanigans.

The village of Warroad, in dry Roseau county, built a peninsula into Lake of the Woods, which is in a wet county of the same name, as a site for its liquor store. Other villages bordering wet counties have taken similar steps.

In addition, nine counties which voted dry at the time of the repeal of prohibition have since voted wet to the extent of permitting municipal stores.



Use Canadian Troops In Atomic Tests Soon

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian troop participation in atomic tests is likely in the near future, Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the defence research board, said Friday.

He was interviewed at Winnipeg on his way east to vacation at Quetico Park, Ont.

"The matter of Canadian troop participation in atomic tests is under discussion at the moment with the U.S. government, and we hope the way will be smoothed for such participation at an early date."

LIBERALS RETURNED

PRIME MINISTER LOUIS ST. LAURENT led his Liberal party to its second victory under his leadership Monday when the Liberals won 171 seats. In the 1949 election they won 193 seats, but when the House dissolved this spring there were 181 Liberal members. Monday the Progressive Conservatives won in 50 ridings, the CCF party in 23 and Social Credit in 15.

Liberals Hold Big Share Of Ont. Seats

Conservatives Able To Recover Some 1949 Ground

TORONTO — (CP) — The Liberal government held a big share of Ontario's 85 seats in the House of Commons today despite an opposition drive to woo voters back to the Progressive Conservatives' once-powerful stronghold.

Ontario Liberals joined in another country-wide sweep in the general election Monday by winning 51 seats, including all six ridings created or reshuffled in redistribution last year.

The Progressive Conservatives, however, recovered some ground lost in the Liberal landslide four years ago and ended up with 32 seats, a gain of seven over their 1949 figure. They also elected two of the three women who will represent Ontario constituencies in the 265-member House. The three women make up the largest contingent ever to sit in the Commons.

The other two seats went to the CCF party and a Liberal-Labor candidate. The CCF member is J. W. Noseworthy, veteran politician who retained York South with a clear-cut margin. William Benidickson, only Liberal-Labor candidate in the province, was re-elected in Kenora-Rainy River.

CAMPAIGNED VIGOROUSLY

The Conservatives campaigned vigorously to revamp their political holdings in the province. Their total was reduced from 48 to 25 in the last election. Monday they gained such seats as Halton, London and Perth but dropped behind in most of the new ridings.

The one close decision in the new constituencies was in York-Humber. Margaret Aitken, Toronto newspaper columnist running in her first federal election, lost by only 36 votes to Ken Thompson, a Liberal. There was no immediate indication whether or not a recount would be asked.

Party leader George Drew won personal victory in his riding of Carleton in the Ottawa area. In Peel, near Toronto, Gordon Graydon, the party's expert on international affairs, was re-elected.

Conservative member Robert Barber lost to Liberal Arthur White in Waterloo South. That was the only seat the Liberals gained from the opposition.

The Communist Labor-Progressives threw 29 candidates—10 of them in the Toronto area—into the battle but none got elected. Party leader Tim Buck was defeated in Toronto Trinity by Lionel Conacher, a Liberal and Canada's greatest all-round athlete.

Conacher was one of two sports figures elected in Ontario The other was W. K. (Bucko) McDonald, who retained his seat for the Liberals in Parry Sound-Muskoka.

ALL RE-ELECTED

All the cabinet ministers representing Ontario ridings were re-elected. They are External Affairs Minister Pearson in Algoma East, Trade Minister Howe in Port Arthur, Revenue Minister McCann

Fraser Re-Elected For New Term With Plurality Of 3,009 Votes

Sets Riding Record Has 13,062 Votes

By PHIL CALDER

Gordon K. Fraser, who represented Peterborough West in the Canadian House of Commons for 13 years, was returned by the voters of Peterborough riding in Monday's general election by a plurality of 3,009 votes over his nearest rival, Liberal candidate Max Swanston, and a majority of 1,239 over the combined totals of Mr. Swanston and CCF candidate Maurice Ketcheson.

The Progressive-Conservative candidate, with a total of 13,062 votes, set a record for the riding in winning his fourth general election. Mr. Swanston's total was 10,053 and Mr. Ketcheson's 1,770.

Mr. Fraser increased the total he obtained in the general election of June 27, 1949, by 2,081 votes, while Mr. Swanston obtained 685 votes fewer than the 1949 Liberal candidate, Dit Clapper, and Mr. Ketcheson was given 1,034 fewer votes than the 1949 CCF candidate, Howard Miles. In the 1949 election, Fraser obtained 10,981 votes, Clapper 10,738, and Miles 2,804.

While the total number of votes cast in the riding at Monday's election was 362 greater than in 1949, a slightly smaller percentage of those eligible to vote in the riding turned out at the polls.

Of 31,475 eligible to vote in 1949, 24,686, roughly 78 per cent, voted. In Monday's election the number of eligible voters had increased to 33,219 but only 24,685, about 75 per cent, cast their ballots.

LITTLE DOUBT

There was scarcely any doubt about Mr. Fraser's re-election from only a short while after the polls closed at 7.00 p.m. Less than an hour later, at 7.55, with results in from more than half the polls, The Examiner predicted victory for the Progressive-Conservative candidate, who by that time had a majority of almost 2,000 votes.

At 8.13 p.m., Mr. Swanston telephoned to the Progressive-Conservative committee room to congratulate his successful opponent, who was the first of his party's candidates in Ontario to be conceded election.

Mr. Fraser had a majority in 78 polls in the city and 30 in the rural part of the riding, for a total of 108 of 125 polls. He carried every poll in the village of Lakefield and in Smith and North Monaghan townships.

Of 19,095 votes cast in the city, 9,728 were given to the winning candidate, 7,943 to Mr. Swanston, and 1,424 to Mr. Ketcheson.

In the rural part of the riding, of the 6,240 votes cast, Mr. Fraser obtained 3,334, Mr. Swanston 2,560, and Mr. Ketcheson 346.

MAJORITIES IN NORTH

Mr. Swanston had majorities in Galway - Cavendish, Ennismore and Douro. Although he led in only one poll in Otonabee township, he ended with only 71 votes fewer than the winning candidate, Mr. Fraser.

In Douro township, Mr. Swanston had a majority of 71 votes, which he gained by winning only two of the five Douro polls. Mr. Fraser carried the remaining three.

In the city, Mr. Swanston's main strength came in Ashburnham, where he was given majorities in six of 11 polls.

Mr. Fraser was given a majority of all but one of 19 polls in the

Drew Promises Vigorous Opposition Party Calls For New Efforts

OTTAWA — (CP)—Hon. George Drew, defeated in his second bid to lead the Progressive Conservative party to election victory, Monday night called for a continued effort toward that goal, "Tomorrow is another day," he said in a formal statement, and pledged a vigorous Opposition in the next House of Commons. He asked his supporters to start today to build the party's strength "for further service to the country that we love" and said Canada's future—not the success of any party—was the election issue. "Let us all join hands in building a strong and united Canada."

The 59-year-old Opposition leader, steadily smiling and patient throughout a series of election-night duties that gave him little rest, took time out for a brief press conference with reporters who had travelled with him on his seven-week, 20,000-mile campaign tour.

A LITTLE SURPRISED

He said he had not expected the outcome "to be as one-sided as it was," but declined to comment on whether he felt there was any over-all reason for the result.

He was asked if he intends to step down as Conservative leader or go before a party convention for a "vote of confidence."

"Those are not decisions that are made by an individual," he replied. "Those decisions are made by the executive."

Whether any convention would be called would be decided "by the meetings of the party."

For the immediate future, he said, he has no plans beyond going to his home town of Guelph, Ont., before the end of the week for a few days. There were no vacation plans.

Mr. Drew was at home with his wife and two children when The Canadian Press reported the Liberal government's return early in the evening.

THANKS HELPERS

They left soon after for a Lansdowne Park committee room, where Mr. Drew gave his personal thanks to the men and women who waged a successful campaign for him in Carleton constituency while he toured the country.

France Faces Second Tieup

By ROBERT C. WILSON

PARIS (AP)—Rail traffic was snarled throughout France today as a new Communist-ordered transport strike began to creep across the country. Once more the workers fought Premier Joseph Laniel's economy decrees.

Other walkouts threatened and it appeared that France faced a second gigantic tieup like that last week when 2,000,000 workers in state and municipal services and government-run industries quit their jobs.

The new tieup was launched by the Communist-led Confederation Generale du Travail (CGT) which called its 270,000 member railwaymen off their jobs. The non-Communist Socialist Force Ouvrier went along on the walkout.

Most of last week's walkouts were for 24 to 48 hours. This time no limit was set by the CGT.

In Paris, many of the big train terminals were closed.

There also were indications that the strike would spread to the city's subway and bus system during the day.

Government Has 171 Of 265 Seats

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Liberals today start an unprecedented fifth term of Canadian government. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's party lost some of its record-shattering Commons majority in Monday's general election but came up with a solid working margin over all parties.

The 71-year-old prime minister, who staked the Liberals' future solely on their record, brought home 171 of the Commons' 265 members to give him an over-all edge of at least 77.

In his record 1949 win, 193 Liberals steamrollered into office. That number had been cut to 181 by the time the 21st Parliament was dissolved in June.

Monday, all the House parties sliced further into that representation. The CCF made the biggest gains, boosting their number to 23 from 13 chiefly on the strength of a Socialist onslaught in Saskatchewan that overthrew the Liberal majority from that province.

FAIL TO MAKE SWEEP

George Drew's Progressive Conservatives added just two to their dissolution total of 48, failing to make the sweeping Ontario gains they had looked for to start them on the way to power.

The official Opposition added a half-dozen to its Ontario membership and gained one extra seat in Quebec, but lost most of that advance on the Atlantic seaboard where the Liberals swept Newfoundland and snatched PC seats in the Maritimes.

The Social Credit group tacked on five to its former representation of 10 members. It took one away from the Liberals in Alberta and cracked the British Columbia field federally for the first time

Whirlwind Hits Beach People Tossed Into Sea

SOUTHEND, England (Reuters)—A freak one-minute whirlwind threw terror among drowzy sun bathers crowding the beach at nearby Westcliffe Monday.

Screaming vacationers were suddenly thrown onto their faces, blown about like leaves, and dumped into the sea. Chairs and clothing were scattered in all directions.

One woman was picked up with her deckchair and carried out into deep water where she was rescued badly injured. Another woman suffered a broken ankle.

Witnesses said there was not a cloud in the sky when the whirlwind suddenly struck the water with a loud bang, sending a spinning thread of water 50 feet up into the air.

Bitter PoWs Vow Vengeance On Comrades

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A bitter band of diehard Americans came back from their Red prison camps today, vowing vengeance on weaker comrades who turned to communism under pressure.

They spat out "progressive" as a dirty word, and wore with honor the badge of "reactionary" fastened on them by Red Chinese who clubbed and tortured them but did not break their spirits.

One tough American had to be held back by force when he spotted a "progressive" at the Freedom Village reception centre.

"I'll get that S.O.B. when I get home," he said.

One hundred Americans came back from the north, along with 24 Britons, 25 Turks and 250 South Koreans in the seventh day of the Korean war prisoner exchange.

Holding Gaspe Prospector As New Evidence Found

QUEBEC—(CP)—Solicitor-General Rivard said today that Wilbert Coffin, 37-year-old Gaspe prospector, is being held as a material witness in connection with the deaths of three Pennsylvania hunters in the Gaspe wilds. Mr. Rivard said a coroner's inquest into the deaths of the hunters will be re-opened next week. The delay, he said, is necessary to permit witnesses to be called from the United States and Montreal.

He indicated the inquest would be re-opened in Gaspe where a coroner's jury ruled July 27 that two of the hunters had been murdered and a third had died from unknown causes.

Mr. Rivard declined to say where Coffin, an important witness, at the coroner's inquest, is being held.

Reports circulated during the week-end that police had located a revolver and some of the personal belongings of the hunters during a search of a Montreal home. Police declined to confirm or deny the reports.

Doubtful Body On Golf Course

KITCHENER (CP) — Police said today they are doubtful a body could have been buried on a district golf course without their hearing of it.

They were commenting on a report from Los Angeles that Gordon Weber, of Kitchener and Hamilton, had said he burned the body of his father-in-law on a golf course here four years ago.

Police Chief John Patrick said Kitchener detectives will interview greenskeepers, but added he believed if digging or a fire had taken place, greenskeepers would have reported it. He said Kitchener police had no reason for thinking Weber had committed any crime.

Weber, 40, first told officers at Los Angeles 10 days ago that his father-in-law, Rudolph Maier, was fatally injured in an altercation at a Milwaukee railroad station in 1949, and that he burned the body in a Wisconsin dump.

Later he changed his story to say he killed the 69-year-old man in a Guelph hotel, put the body in a trunk, burned it on a Kitchener golf course, buried the remains and later carried the ashes to Wisconsin.

Liberals Take 48 Per Cent Of Popular Vote At Polls

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Liberal candidates polled 48 per cent of the vote in Monday's Dominion election, it was shown in incomplete compilations today.

With 36,356 of 40,575 polls reported, the national vote totalled 5,230,469. This compared with 5,848,766 votes cast in the 1949 election when the Liberals obtained 50 per cent of them. In 1945, they received 39 per cent of 5,246,130 votes.

The Canadian Press compilation showed that the Progressive Conservatives polled 31 per cent of the vote. This compared with 30 per cent in 1949 and 27 per cent in 1945.

The CCF percentage was 12. The Socialists polled 13 per cent of the vote in 1949 and 16 per cent in 1945.

FAIL TO ELECT ONE

The Communist Labor-Progressive party, which put a record 100 candidates in the field without electing one, polled 55,463 votes. This was 1.1 per cent of the national total.

Social Credit, with a total vote of 270,447, got 5.2 per cent of the national total. The party concentrated its candidates in the West.

Throw 40-Mile Cordon Around East Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters)—West Berlin police said today that the East German police have thrown a 40-mile cordon round Berlin to prevent East Germans from collecting free U. S. food parcels.

Quoting East German eyewitness reports, they said East German police have set up checkpoints on all road junctions, railroad stations and on the East German-West Berlin border.

Reports also said special police squads accompanied all trains to and from Berlin.

The East German government was reported jailing farmers for "sabotaging" the Soviet zone harvest.

Resourceful food seekers meanwhile eluded Red travel controls by mingling with the thousands of East Berlin workers who commute.

Mossadegh Gets Landslide Vote

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Iranian provinces — apparently with strong Communist support—gave Premier Mohammed Mossadegh a landslide mandate Monday to wipe out the opposition rump-held Parliament. Now the country is uneasily waiting for the Reds to present their political bill

The vote in Monday's plebiscite was a sweeping 1,441,156 to 694. The pattern followed closely last week's voting in Tehran and its suburbs. In this area the vote was 166,607 to 116 in favor of Mossadegh's demand for dissolution of the Majlis (lower house of Parliament) made up only of 22 opposition members who have hamstrung all government legislation proposals.

Mossadegh has been quoted as saying he plans to hold general elections 15 days after dissolution of Parliament.

It is believed he intends to go to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi to seek an imperial dissolution decree within five days.

The plebiscite leaves Mossadegh to a large extent politically indebted to the Communists for voting support.

To Stand Trial

BRANTFORD (CP) — Constable Thomas Jordan was committed for trial Monday on a manslaughter charge in connection with a traffic accident in which Jack Wilkes, a Brantford fireman, was fatally injured.

Dr. W. J. Holley testified Jordon's blood after the accident contained alcohol in the neighborhood of the "arbitrary level" at which intoxication is indicated.

Union Leader Stresses Menace Of Communism

OTTAWA (CP)—The man who led the walkout from the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions today described communism as a "conspiracy against human beings and humn goodness."

Arthur Deakin, council vice-chairman of the powerful British Trade Union Congress, said the Communist countries had never forgiven him for the walkout which resulted in the formation of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

But he didn't need their forgiveness, the 63-year-old Mr. Deakin told the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress. He had tried, "honestly" to work with the people of the eastern countries, but it became evident from 1945 onwards that the World Federation of Trade Unions was being used as a political instrument for the furtherance of communsm.

In 1949 Mr. Deakin said he saw the "sinister" shadow in the Canadian seamen's strike. British unionists wanted to take a hand in the strike but he warned them to keep clear, for it seemed to him that in that strike "sinister forces were at work with wider implications than could be seen on the surface."

Win $500 Bet From PM's Son

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver contractor is $500 richer today —the result of an election bet with Jean Paul St. Laurent, son of the prime minister.

Robert H. Little, a former Albertan, accepted a wager made by Mr. St. Laurent while campaigning here that the Liberals would take more seats in Alberta than Social Credit.

Final results from Alberta showed Social Credit with 11 members elected. Liberal representation was cut to four seats from five.

"I'm glad to take money out of Ottawa," said Little.

Stock Market Prices Mixed To Lower

TORONTO (CP) — Afternoon stock market prices were mixed to lower today.

In industrials papers sold at mixed prices. Canada Steamship Lines rose 2½ points in utilities while a majority of banks and foods improved. Lower were liquors and constructions.

Golds slipped as Giant, Kerr-Addison, McIntyre and Consolidated Discovery declined.

Bathurst area base metals were up, led by Anacon New Larder U and Brunswick. Uraniums were mostly lower. Gunnar countered the trend with a 5-cent rise but Beaver Lodge, New Delhi and Chimo faded.

Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou and Silver Miller added as much as 25 cents in base metals. Lower were East Sullivan and Normetal.

In western oils, Central Explorers, Canadian Williston, Peruvian and New British posted losses, New Superior and Central-Leduc firmed.

Topo' the World

ALUMINUM has a habit of turning up almost everywhere. But "farthest north" was reached recently, when a U.S. Air Force pilot set down his aircraft at the geographic North Pole — on a pair of aluminum skis.

Aluminum's lightness - with - strength has made it the basic material of the aircraft industry. And because aluminum is only ⅓ to ½ as heavy as other base metals, a pound of it goes a lot further. Which is one more reason why so many manufacturers of so many products have turned to aluminum to help keep their prices down. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Believe Malenkov Now Unchallenged As Ruler

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Prime Minister Malenkov has successfully weathered a grim power struggle inside the Kremlin and now stands virtually unchallenged as Russia's ruler.

This is the carefully-considered view of senior U.S. foreign affairs experts who have been watching developments within the Soviet Union since Premier Stalin's death.

Active support by powerful Red Army leaders, they said, probably was a deciding factor in maintaining Malenkov's power despite widespread uncertainty after the sudden purge of deputy-premier Lavrenty Beria.

It would be no surprise to these American experts if in the coming weeks Malenkov's most prominently mentioned rival, Foreign Minister Molotov and his defence minister, Marshal Nicolai Bulganin publicly avow their loyalty to Malenkov.

DEFINITELY ON TOP

A closing of ranks within the Soviet high command, in their view, does not rule out potential unrest within Russia and the satellite world later. But it does plainly indicate that Malenkov now is definitely top man at the Kremlin and director of the Communist network stretching throughout the world.

The conclusion that Malenkov has won his battle, at least temporarily, stems partly from the tone and content of his speech last Saturday to the Soviet Parliament. He scolded Communist party chiefs and talked like a man completely confident of his position.

George Kennan, former American ambassador to Moscow, meanwhile predicted in a speech that "revolution eventually would break out" in the Soviet orbit.

SEVERE STRAINS

He told a university seminar here Russia's structure is "faced today with severe strains and crisis" and said: "It will eventually earn the retribution it so richly deserves."

Kennan cautioned against any American government interference in Soviet affairs at this time, lest it unify the Communist world and prevent the revolt he foresees.

Kennan, author of the Truman administration's "policy of containment" toward Russia, thus took issue with the Eisenhower administration's policy of aid to Russia's satellites by every peaceful means to help them throw off the Communist yoke.

Challenges Hees To Eat His Shirt

KITCHENER (CP) — Norman Schneider, victorious Liberal candidate for Waterloo North in Monday's election, today challenged George Hees to make good a promise and eat his shirt in the public square here.

Early this year at a London, Ont. rally, Mr. Hees, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Toronto Broadview, said he would publicly eat his shirt if Elizabeth Janzen, Progressive Conservative candidate in Waterloo North, didn't win the seat.

Miss Janzen trailed Mr. Schneider by 5,343 votes.

Drew Promise

His next visit was to his party's national headquarters, a crowded house in uptown Ottawa, where he was met with cheers and applause from a crowd which had been sombre before his arrival as election returns showed the steady Liberal sweep.

Mr. Drew shook hands all round, posed with his wife for television, newsreel and press photographers, and then retired into a closed room with his closest advisers to prepare his statement.

He read it, in French and English, for radio broadcasting and then repeated the performance for television and newsreel.

"The people of Canada have made their decision in no uncertain manner and I accept it cheerfully," he said.

"Naturally I wish it had been otherwise. . . . However, I shall never question the judgment of our people in a free vote. . . .

MERELY INCIDENT

"It is my earnest hope that all those who worked so hard for the Conservative party will remember that today's election is merely an incident in the long march of democracy towards better things. Tomorrow is another day. . . .

"Let us all start tomorrow morning to build the strength of that party for further service of the country that we love. . . .

"As Her Majesty's loyal Opposition, we will give to the government at all times our support when we believe it is right and constructive and vigorous criticism when we think it is wrong. . . .

"To those who have been elected I extend my congratulations. Once again the government has a commanding majority. I hope that their assurances may be better founded than our fears. . . .

"After all, it was not the success of any party that was at issue today. It was the future of our country. Let us all join hands in building a strong and united country."

Real Estate Co-Op Sells 18 Properties

Property sales totalling $175,600 were chalked up by the co-operative division of the Peterborough Real Estate Board during its first two months operation.

This total represents 18 sales, nine of which were completed in June and nine in July.

The average price of all the property sold during this period was $9,755 with the highest individual sales a $39,000 business.

All realtors in Peterborough are participating in the co-operative listing system which is sponsored by the Peterborough Real Estate Board. Property may be listed "co-op" with any realtor, who in turn lists it will all real estate offices in the city and district through the co-op office managed by Don Lillico, of Peterborough.

Union Steps Up Strike Action

HAMILTON (CP) — Striking members of the Hamilton local of the truck drivers union stepped up their efforts to bring the strike to a head today when they began stopping incoming and outgoing trucks at all entrances to the city.

Although a few trucks were ignoring the picketers and driving right through the lines, most drivers stopped. After being questioned by the strikers as to the contents of their trucks, some were allowed to continue on their way.

Scores of trucks were being pulled off to the side, however, and many others were turning back without delivering their loads.

Social Credit's British Columbia showing was an evident let-down for that party in the light of its two provincial wins there since the last federal election.

For Prime Minister St. Laurent, who first entered politics in 1941 by exchanging his lawyer's shingle for a cabinet portfolio, it was the second win of the two campaigns he has led. The white-haired government chief, now the grandfather of 17, took over the Liberal leadership from Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in 1948.

For Mr. Drew, 59-year-old former premier of Ontario, it was the second unsuccessful bid for the country's top political office. He, too, became party leader in 1948.

While Mr. St. Laurent waged a "no promises" campaign, his chief opponent offered the country a 16-point program that had as its main items promises of a $500,000,000-a-year tax slash and improvement in Canada's trade abroad.

THIRD HIGHEST TOTAL

But a record electorate of about 8,500,000 eventually picked the Liberals with—on the basis of incomplete overnight returns—the third highest total a party ever brought to Parliament. The 1940 Liberal figure of 178 stands next to the 1949 high mark.

But while the Liberals failed to reach those levels this time, they did break the four-term records of earlier governments. The first of these was set by the Conservatives from 1878 on, and later the Liberals had four consecutive terms under Sir Wilfrid Laurier, starting in 1896.

However, the Liberals in the current run of administrations already had the record for longevity in terms of years in office, 17, by the time they came up to Monday's election. They had been in office since 1935, the Conservatives under R.B. Bennett winning their last election in 1930.

In the popular vote, the Liberals this time were carrying 48 per cent on the basis of a Canadian Press tabulation from 36,356 of the 40,575 polls. The Progressive Conservatives had 31 per cent, the CCF 12 and the others nine.

The tabulation indicated one of the highest votes in Canadian history, but it will not reach the 5,848,766 record of 1949. Monday's election was the first one-day August election in Canada's history.

EARLY INDICATIONS

A concentration of Liberal votes in the east pointed to a government sweep early in the ballot count Monday night. The Canadian Press trend analysis showed the Liberals to be the winners an hour and 15 minutes after the polls closed in the 160 constituencies of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Drew conceded loss of the election at 9:30 p.m. EDT.

In traditionally Liberal Quebec, Prime Minister St. Laurent clung to 66 seats of the province's 75, losing one from his dissolution total. The Progressive Conservatives boosted their representation to four from three.

Ontario gave the Liberals 51 compared to the 55 they held at dissolution, while the Conservatives added six to their June total of 26. Another of the 85 Ontario seats went to a Liberal-Labor candidate, William Benidickson, in Kenora-Rainy River. He is a definite supporter of the government as a parliamentary assistant.

His election assured the government of a working majority of 79, which could be strengthened further with the help of a couple of Independent Liberals in Quebec. The 1949 over-all majority of the Liberals was 124.

SUFFER LOSSES

In the Maritimes and Newfoundland, the Progressive Conservatives backslid from their Ontario-Quebec gains. Liberals took away the two ridings in St. John's, Nfld., the only ones in the 10th province held by the Progressive Conservatives as the result of the first election there since 1949 confederation. That made Newfoundland the only province in this election to fall into the lap of one party.

Despite Progressive Conservative gains in Nova Scotia's May provincial election, the Liberals took two Conservative-held seats. The only Progressive Conservative survivor there was George C. Nowlan, national president of the party, who held Digby-Annapolis-Kings.

The Progressive Conservatives held their own in New Brunswick, swapping a pair of seats with the Liberals, but lost one to the government in Prince Edward Island for a net loss of five in the four seaboard provinces.

As the count moved into the West, the Progressive Conservatives held their three Manitoba seats while the Liberals dropped two in that province which had its provincial representation of 16 cut by two in the Commons redistribution. The CCF held at three.

SASKATCHEWAN STORY

Saskatchewan, with 13 Liberals at the end of the last Parliament, this time elected 11 members of the CCF, which had only five from there before despite the province's record of Socialist provincial governments. The Liberals elected five this time, and one Progressive Conservative went in.

The Progressive Conservative was John Diefenbaker, one of the top men in his party, who won Prince Albert after redistribution wiped out his old Lake Centre seat.

Alberta lifted its Social Credit membership from 10 to 11, with that party making a net gain of one from the Liberals, who elected four. The two Progressive Conservatives in the province, which has a Social Credit provincial government, were returned.

Both the CCF and Social Credit made gains in British Columbia, where the Liberals held nine of 18 seats at dissolution. Of the 22 B.C. members after redistribution, the Liberals took eight. The CCF jumped its supporters to seven from three, taking over a riding formerly held by an Independent who customarily voted with the government.

Social Crediters moved in on four of the British Columbia ridings, while the Progressive Conservatives held their three seats in that province.

New CCF members going in from B.C. included Harold Winch, who resigned recently as provincial CCF leader.

All national party leaders except Communist Tim Buck of the Labor Progressives were re-elected comfortably. Buck lost his deposit in Toronto Trinity. None of the party's 100 candidates was returned.

Prime Minister St. Laurent had the largest plurality of any candidate, 19,937 over a Progressive Conservative in a five-way fight in Quebec East. He polled 25,564 votes.

George Drew was re-elected in Ontario's Carleton with a 5,574 lead over Liberal John McDonald in a four-way battle. He scored 19,781.

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell went back in Saskatchewan's Rosetown-Biggar, and so did Social Credit leader Solon Low in Peace River, Alberta.

All cabinet ministers were returned, and so was virtually every major figure in the last House. One parliamentary assistant fell, Dr. E. A. McCusker of Regina, assistant to Health Minister Martin. He lost to a CCF opponent

Three women were elected, more than the Commons has ever seen. One was Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West), only woman in the last House.

The others were Mrs. Ann Shipley, as a Liberal in Ontario's Timiskaming, and Sybil Bennett, Progressive Conservative, in Halton, Ont. Miss Bennett is a niece of the late Conservative prime minister.

Elderly Couple Suffer Heart Attacks While Helping Fight Orangeville Barn Fire

ORANGEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—An elderly couple collapsed with heart attacks while helping the town's volunteer fire department fight a fire which destroyed their barn here Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey McKenna were reported to be recovering today in hospital.

A second fire in the town, reported a few minutes after the farm fire started, melted telephone cables and prevented a doctor from being called to the McKenna farm. Mrs. McKenna, who had collapsed after running a half mile to report the fire, lay on the ground for an hour before medical assistance could be summonsed.

Before the fire was brought under control the flames had put 350 of the town's 1,300 phones out of commission and cut long distance lines connecting it with Toronto, 45 miles to the south.

Verdicts Very Close

Recounts Loom In 13 Constituencies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Possibility of recounts loomed today in 13 federal constituencies where results in Monday's voting were tight enough to give unsuccessful candidates hope of upsetting the verdict.

The soldier vote, due to be announced Aug. 17, alone might be sufficient to reverse the reported result in some of these contests.

Liberals were declared winners in five of the tight-squeeze constituencies; Progressive Conservatives in four; Social Credit candidates in two and CCF candidates in two.

Closest margin shown in results available early today was the 16 votes for R. F. L. Hanna, Liberal, Strathcona in a four-way race.

Wallace Nesbitt, Progressive Conservative candidate in Oxford, Ontario, had only eight more votes in his race against Liberal A. C. Murray, the constituency's member in the last House.

YORK-HUMBER RACE

In Ontario's York-Humber riding, Liberal Ken Thompson had an edge of only 36 votes over Miss Margaret Aitken, Toronto Telegram correspondent running for the Progressive Conservatives.

Other close contests:

In Queens, Prince Edward Island, J. Angus MacLean had a margin of 114 votes for re-election as Progressive Conservative member.

In Dorchester, Quebec, Progressive Conservative Robert Perron had a margin of 149 votes over Liberal Armand Landry.

In Roberval, Quebec, Liberal Georges Villeneuve had an edge of 141 votes in a two-way fight.

In Wellington-Huron, Ontario, Marvin Howe, Progressive Conservative, had a victory margin of 98.

137 VOTES

In Selkirk, Manitoba, 137 votes separated R. J. Wood, Liberal seeking re-election, from his nearest opponent in a six-candidate race.

In Kindersley, Sask., the plurality for Mervin Johnson, CCF, was 107.

In Moose Mountain, Sask., F. G. McCullough, CCF, was 105 ahead.

In Swift Current-Maple Creek, I. W. Studer, Liberal, had a margin of 82 votes in his campaign for re-election.

In British Columbia's Cariboo riding, Bert Leboe had a margin of 132 on the basis of partial returns; and in New Westminster George Hahn, another Social Crediter, was declared elected with an edge of 138.

Orders New Check In York-Humber

TORONTO (CP) — Returning officer Charles Ring said today that the election result in York-Humber still is in doubt. He added that much "disorder" surrounded the preliminary counting and he had ordered a complete check.

Shortly before midnight it was announced that Ken Thompson, a Liberal, had been elected by 36 votes over Margaret Aitken, Progressive Conservative. A short time previously Miss Aitken and her supporters had started a victory celebration believing that they had won the seat, created by the recent distributing.

Report Shah Ready To Flee Iran

LONDON (Reuters)—The London Evening News says today Shah Mohammed Rez Pahlevi of Iran is planning to flee his country—"openly if he can, in secret if necessary."

The foreign office refused comment on the report, based on "information reaching London by way of Baghdad."

The Evening News said the shah's struggle for power with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh has "come to a head."

Bitter PoWs

Meanwhile, 328 Americans repatriated earlier sailed from Inchon aboard the troopship Gen. Nelson M. Walker for the 14- to 15-day voyage to San Francisco's Golden Gate.

GO HARD WAY

The latest group of Americans released won the "reactionary" honors the hard way.

There were bitter men among the first groups last week, but few matched the anger of the last groups.

They spoke with passion of those who have suffered.

"If any progressives get on the boat with me," said one, "they'll be shark bait. They are hated worse than the Chinks."

"If I met one in a bar, I'd hit him in the mouth," said another. "One of us wouldn't walk out, and it wouldn't be me."

U.S. officers and newspaper men were startled at the violence of the reactions and immediate steps were taken to keep some of the groups separate to prevent possible bloody clashes.

STILL DEFIED REDS

After months and years behind the Red curtain, many still had courage to defy the Communists.

For mocking at Red propaganda lectures, disputing Communist lies, and standing up for their legal rights, these men received special attention of their guards:

The "ice bath", standing barefoot for hours on the frozen Yalu river . . . choking confinement in crude, one-man dungeons . . . beatings and clubbings . . . hanging by the arms with ropes . . . starvation . . . and deliberate withholding of medical care.

But bitter as the men were against the Chinese Communists, they hated the "progressives" more.

"There were stool pigeons in my own squad," said Cpl. Robert A. Ginn of Columbia, S.C., with hate in his voice.

"Two men squealed on one of our friends, and the Chinks sentenced him to a year in jail two weeks ago."

Stole Ballot Box

MONTREAL (CP)—Four Montreal men today were sentenced to a year in jail after pleading guilty to stealing a ballot box in Montreal St. Henri riding during Monday's general election. They also lose their right to vote in any election for seven years.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 3-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the bank of Canada reported at noon. Monday's noon rate was 98 29-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.78⅝, against $2.78⅜.

Ladies' Open Golf Results

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Match play results in the second round of the Canadian Ladies Open golf championships at the London Hunt Club today included:

SECOND FLIGHT

Mrs. D. McDougall, Saskatoon, defeated Mrs. C. M. Elliott, Brantford, 6 and 5.

Mrs. John Stubbs, Toronto, won from Ruth Wilson, Vancouver default.

Mrs. C. D. Willson, London, defeated Shirley Fry, Victoria, 2 up.

Mrs. M. Hutton-Potts, Vancouver, defeated Donna Noble, Hamilton, 4 and 2.

Mrs. N. J. Carlson, Toronto, defeated Mrs. Frank Little, London, on 19th.

Mrs. A. Neundorf, Toronto, defeated Barbara Siddall, Peterborough, 3 and 2.

Russia Demands Compensation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia demanded today that the United States pay compensation for shooting down a Soviet IL12 transport plane last July 27.

The Soviet foreign office made the demand in a note handed to American ambassador Charles E. Bohlen in Moscow.

The Russians have claimed their plane was shot down by an American fighter inside the Chinese frontier, killing 15 passengers and six crewmen.

The United States has categorically denied the incident took place over Chinese territory.

Suggest Suez Canal Be Internationalized

CAPETOWN, South Africa (CP) Premier Daniel F. Malan today suggested the Suez canal be internationalized, perhaps under United Nations control.

He told the lower house of the South African Parliament in a foreign affairs debate that he believed Britain, Egypt and a number of other countries should be represented on an international control board to make sure that the waterway is kept open for world traffic.

Delegation Heads Arrive For Parley

NEW YORK (AP)—The heads of Russian and British delegations to the United Nations arrived today for the UN sessions which will arrange a political conference on Korea.

Andrei Vishinsky, smiling and affable, but uncommunicative, arrived on the liner Queen Mary.

Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state, who came by air, was just as affable and talked freely of the forthcoming meetings.

The feminine touch will be provided by Ellen Fairclough in Hamilton West and Sybil Benett in Halton, both Progressive Conservatives, and Mrs. A. Shipley, Liberal, Timiskaming. All told, 23 women ran.

Mrs. Fairclough moved into the Commons years ago in a by-election. It will be the first term for Miss Bennett, a relative of the late Viscount Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, and for Mrs. Shipley.

The Progressive Conservatives got George Hees re-elected in Toronto Broadview. He beat four candidates, including Herbert Gargrave, a CCF member of the British Columbia legislature from 1941-49.

C. H. Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America, was one of three candidates defeated by Rodney Adamson, a Progressive Conservative, in York West. Mr. Millard, CCF standard bearer, lost his $200 deposit by failing to poll half the winner's total.

Holding Gaspe

The hunters were Eugene Lindsey, 45, his 17-year-old son Richard, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

They left their homes June 5 to hunt bears 65 miles west of Gaspe, a spot where the elder Lindsey had hunted on several previous occasions.

Police believe they were killed on or about June 10.

In Montreal, provincial police said Coffin was being held as a result of evidence uncovered in Montreal last week.

GIVEN TIPOFF

The police said a woman in Montreal had tipped them off where a revolver could be found. She had taken them to the north-end home of a Montreal man who had purchased the revolver.

She also told police where they could locate a hunting knife that allegedly belonged to the American hunters.

north end, all but two of six polls in the central part of the city, and all but one of 12 in the west end. In the southend, he captured 14 of the 18 polls, exclusive of the area south of Lansdowne St., where he won 17 of 20 polls.

Clayton Hodgson Returned Third Time In Victoria

LINDSAY (ENS).—With one of the largest majorities ever accorded a federal member in the Victoria riding, Clayton W. Hodgson, Haliburton lumber operator, was returned as Progressive Conservative MP for the third successive time in yesterday's voting. He defeated his Liberal opponent, Dr. Foster Graham, Fenelon Falls, by more than 3,500 votes.

The sweeping victory came as much a surprise to his party followers as it did to the voters of the county. Taking an early lead and building it up continually throughout the night, Hodgson, after two hours of counting were completed, and slightly more than two-thirds of the polls reported, was conceded election by Dr. Graham.

The large majority was mainly the result of a swing to the Conservative candidate in the southern part of the riding—Victoria County. The move proved the success of his campaign strategy—to let his workers Haliburton County, his home territory—do most of the work for him there, and to concentrate on the town of Lindsay and surrounding district.

The Liberals never expected the landslide for Hodgson. At the 1949 federal election, Bruce McNevin, a farmer candidate, polled only 1,000 votes less than Hodgson. In that election also a CCF candidate ran. Observers were watchful of that vote, which totalled 615. The Lindsay vote this time 2,971 to 1,905 for Hodgson was an increase of some 800 votes in his majority over the Liberal candidate. In other southern townships, Mr. Hodgson won Mariposa, this time by almost 300 votes after losing it by 100 in 1949.

CLAYTON W. HODGSON

LIBERAL STRONGHOLD

Dr. Graham's strongest support came in the area around Fenelon Falls, and from the traditionally Liberal townships of North Ontario County. Mara township went Liberal 592 to 500 votes. Rama township, with one poll unreported, was lost to Graham, but had given him 174 votes to 213 for Hodgson. Fenelon Falls went Liberal 421 to 286, and Fenelon township the same, 394 to 352. The Liberal candidate won five municipalities in the voting, including Emily township, Sherbourne township and Sturgeon Point where 12 of 13 eligible voters cast their ballots giving Graham a majority of 7-5. His largest single poll majority came in an Emily township section traditionally Catholic and Liberal which gave him a vote of 156 to 22.

As the counting progressed, crowds gathered around the two committee rooms, where loud speakers were broadcasting the local results. At 9.01 Dr. Graham went to the Hodgson committee rooms in the town hall and conceded the election.

After the candidates had made short speeches to the assembled crowd Hodgson was driven through town atop a fire truck, to the cheers of his supporters. From that time on, excitement ran high at the headquarters of the Hodgson organization.

Premier Leslie Frost, who gave the PC candidate strong support in Lindsay and district, during the campaign, was present with Hodgson through the night.

Dr. Graham in conceding told the crowd at Hodgson's rooms that he was disappointed that the riding could not send a member of the government to Ottawa, but complimented his opponent on his campaign, and his victory.

Hodgson thanked his workers for their support during the campaign and promised a continuation of the service he had been giving his electors during the past two terms.

Voting during the day, which ran up a total of slightly less than the 1949 election, was unmarked, in Lindsay, by any incidents. At one polling place, according to reports, a good many voters were being challenged by the scrutineers of both parties, but none refused to take their oath and no trouble was reported to District Returning Officer Charles Williams.

The concession and the results of the voting came in near record time. This morning only four polls sub-stations were to be heard from.

Odds 950,000 To 1 But Grocer Wins

BALTIMORE (AP)—The odds were 950,000 to 1, but Maurice Lyons won.

Last week somebody stole his car from a garage. Into his grocery today walked 22-year-old Frank Bryant for a can of spaghetti and meat balls.

Lyons recognized the car Bryan drove as his missing auto. He grabbed Bryant, who admitted the theft.

Out of 950,000 Baltimoreans he had to meet the man whose car he stole.

Unofficial Durham Count Gives James 91 Vote Edge

BOWMANVILLE (Special to The Examiner).—John M. James, Liberal MP for Durham from 1949-1953, was re-elected Monday by an unofficial margin of 91 votes.

Unofficial returns gave Mr. James 6,608 votes and his Progressive Conservative opponent, Charles Stephenson, 6,517. Official returns, with 83 out of 86 polling divisions reported, gave Mr. James 6,438, Mr. Stephenson 6,177 and M. Roy Armstrong, CCF candidate, 1,227.

The three polls which are not reported are located Manvers and Cavan townships.

In his home town of Bowmanville, Mr. James had a majority of 551 votes over Mr. Stephenson, polling 1,487 to Mr. Stephenson's 836. In Port Hope, the home of Mr. Stephenson, this situation was reversed; Mr. Stephenson had a majority of 124, polling 1,534 to Mr. James' 1,410.

In municipalities where all polls had reported the following were the results: Darling—James, 1,160; Stephenson, 936; Armstrong, 212. Hope—James, 600; Stephenson, 620; Armstrong, 71; Village of Millbrook—James, 130; Stephenson, 247; Armstrong, 31; Village of Newcastle—James, 289; Stephenson, 187; Armstrong, 25. Cartwright township James, 211; Stephenson, 399; Armstrong, 46.

Aged Man Stricken On His Way To Vote

ROSENEATH (ENS. — George Arnold, 88, of Alnwick Township, suffered a stroke on Monday forenoon while on his way to vote at Roseneath. Mr. Arnold was riding in Mr. A. J. Campbell's car with Mr. Campbell driving. Dr. George H. Field was called to the car when they reached Roseneath.

Mr. Arnold was taken, without voting, to the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Blodgett, where he resides. The Blodgett farm is situated on Highway 45, two miles northeast of Roseneath.

Monday was also Mr. Arnold's birthday, being 88 that day, and he had looked forward to casting a vote for once on his birthday.

Robertson Takes Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Just as he did in the whole riding of Northumberland, Dr. Frederick G. Robertson, carried the village of Campbellford for the Progressive Conservatives.

Dr. Robertson totalled 817 votes in the four wards of the village. His Liberal opponent, Olley Taylor, won 789 votes and CCF candidate, Franklin R. Armstrong, trailed with 54 votes.

However in Seymour the general trend was reversed. Taylor led his rival by 100 votes, 665 to 565. Again Armstrong was a long way behind with 30.

Here is how the four wards of Campbellford voted.

	Ward 1	2	3	4
Armstrong ..	54	12	19	9
Robertson ..	817	223	178	226
Taylor	789	224	191	213

In Seymour township the vote went:

Armstrong	8	2	5	1
Robertson	32	79	70	60
Taylor	37	84	84	59

In the above table column 1, Meyersburg; 2, Menie; 3 Trent River; 4 Connelly's School.

Armstrong	5	2	4	3
Robertson	63	132	30	99
Taylor	113	115	65	107

In the above table column 1, Petherick's Corners; 2, West's School; 3, Stanwood; 4, English Line.

3 Former Members On Willingdon Team

TORONTO (CP)—Three of the four members of last year's Ontario Willingdon Cup golf team are on the foursome again this year, it was announced today. The Willingdon Cup matches will be played at Montreal Aug. 22.

The new member of the team is Jack Nash of London, Ont.

The other three—Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Nick Weslock of Windsor and Phil Farley of Toronto—were on the team last year.

Kesselring, who won the Ontario amateur title last week, will be captain.

Fire Destroys Barn Containing Livestock

BRANTFORD (CP)—Flames destroyed a barn containing livestock, hay, grain, straw and farm impiements near here Monday afternoon. Damage was estimated at more than $20,000.

The barn, owned by Clifford de Lottinville, caught fire while Mr. de Lottinville was threshing oats into the loft. Mrs. de Lottinville suffered first-degree burns to her arms and legs while attempting to rescue 12 hogs trapped by the flames.

Prime Minister Has Majority Of 20,000 Votes

QUEBEC (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent personally led the field as his Liberal party retained its Quebec stronghold in Monday's federal election.

The Liberals, while losing some ground to the Progressive Conservatives, won 66 of the provinces 75 seats. In the 1949 general election the Liberals won 68 of the then 73 seats.

The 71-year-old prime minister, fighting his second general election since he took over the leadership of the party in 1948, had a personal majority of about 20,000 in Quebec East. The seat, held by Mr. St. Laurent since he entered federal politics in 1941, once was represented by Sir Wilfred Laurier, Canada's only other French-speaking prime minister.

Carried back into office on the Liberal tide were Finance Minister Abbott and Defence Minister Claxton, targets of much of the Progressive Conservative criticism during the election campaign.

HEALTHY MAJORITIES

Veterans Minister Lapointe and Postmaster Cote were re-elected with healthy majorities.

Others returned included Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power, Canada's wartime air minister and dean of the House of Commons in years of service; Jean Francois Pouliot, colorful Liberal member for Temiscouata; Jean Lesage, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Abbott; Paul Emile Cote, parliamentary assistant to Labor Minister Gregg; Joseph Blanchette, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Claxton, and J. Leopold Langlois, parliamentary assistant to the postmaster general.

The Progressive Conservatives lost two of the three Quebec seats they held at dissolution, but they picked up three Liberal ridings.

Leon Balcer, national president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, was re-elected in Trois-Rivieres.

Two other Quebec Progressive Conservatives in the last Commons—Henri Courtemanche in Labelle and Paul Spence in Roberval—were defeated.

But Progressive Conservative candidates won from the Liberals in Dorchester, Quebec West and Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace.

POLL LARGER VOTE

The Progressive Conservatives polled a larger vote in Quebec than in 1949. On the basis of incomplete returns, the Progressive Conservatives polled 414,454 votes compared with 385,140 Quebec votes in 1949. The Liberals had 845,418 compared with 961,933 in the last election.

A total of 232 candidates were nominated in the province, but three later withdrew. The withdrawals brought the re-election of two Liberals by acclamation—Lionel Bertrand in Terrebonne and Joseph Fontaine in St. Hyacinthe-Bagot.

Two Independents, Raoul Poulin in Beauce and P. E. Gagnon in Chicoutimi, were re-elected. A third Independent—Fernand Girard—won Lapointe from the Liberals.

The CCF had 29 candidates in the running and the Communist Labor-Progressive 25. All lost their deposits.

Mrs. Therese Casgrain, CCF leader in Quebec, and Gui Caron, Quebec leader of the Labor-Progressive party, were among those defeated.

Coldwell Happy With Results

ROSETOWN, Sask. (CP)—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said Monday night after his election here:

"I am quite happy with the national results. They are very much as I anticipated, though I think the CCF earned better support in some parts of Canada. We look forward to the day when we shall receive the support we believe our record in the House of Commons has earned.

"Every good piece of legislation, whether in the realm of social security, orderly marketing of farm and other primary produce, or in improved labor laws, has been placed on the statute books because the CCF was in Parliament. I do not think this has been generally understood.

"I want to thank all who carried our banner and went down to defeat. The time will come when their efforts will be fully justified and completely successful. Time and world trends are on our side. . . .

"I am encouraged by the results today, and we shall fight on for the welfare of mankind."

Angry Mob Wrecks House

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said early today that an angry group of 100 men Monday night wrecked the home and campaign headquarters of Jean-Paul Boisjoly, defeated Progressive Conservative candidate in Montreal Ste. Marie.

The mob, said police, broke into the candidate's house and smashed furniture, ruined a refrigerator, ripped the telephone from the wall and smashed windows.

Two policemen in a radio car said they were unable to stop the men. By the time reinforcements arrived the men had moved to Mr. Boisjoly's campaign headquarters.

Police said every window in the headquarters was smashed. Chairs and tables were broken.

No arrests were made and there were no reports of injuries.

Norwood, Asphodel Give White Majority

NORWOOD (ENS). — The two Norwood polls and the two in Asphodel Township all gave majorities to George White, Progressive Conservative candidate for Hastings-Frontenac, in Monday's general election.

Mr. White's majority in the four subdivisions was 225.

The count was as follows:

Poll No.	Foster	White
Norwood—
25	85	159
26	76	174
Total	161	333
Asphodel—
24A	63	75
24B	40	81
Total	103	156
Grand total ...	264	489

Of 1,004 eligible to vote in the four polling subdivisions, 753, or 75 per cent, cast their ballots. There were 617 eligible voters in Norwood and 387 in Asphodel.

About 25 per cent of the possible votes were cast by noon, probably due to the slow drizzle of rain in the morning.

First person to vote in Norwood was George Henry Parker.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Janice Cubbedge, 17 - year - old "coma mother," was released Monday from the hospital where she had been semi - conscious for nearly eight months. She gave birth to a baby, Charles, 24 days ago. She was unconscious from a brain injury suffered in an automobile accident Jan. 27 until the instincts of motherhood aroused her when the baby was born.

Bancroft Gives White Majority Of 197

BANCROFT (ENS)—George S. White, Progressive Conservative candidate for Hastings-Frontenac, was given a majority of 197 votes over Liberal candidate Clute Foster at the four Bancroft polls in Monday's voting.

The final tabulation showed Mr. White had been given 401 votes and Mr. Foster 204.

Of the 835 eligible voters in Bancroft, 72½ percent cast their ballots.

Chrysler Lays Off 3,500 Employees

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., announced Monday that 3,500 employees will be laid off for an indefinite period because of a change in plant facilities.

"Engine and passenger car plants," the announcement said, "will commence to curtail operations commencing today."

"At that time, the corporation will begin to lay off men for an indefinite period while changes are made in plant facilities and product. A portion of the layoff period will be absorbed by the company's normal two - week vacation shutdown which commences Aug. 16."

Man 111 Weds

GRIMESLAND, N.C. (AP)—Alex Ogburn, a negro who lists his age as 111, and his bride of 22 are honeymooning at their farm home near here today. Ogburn and his bride, Clyda Mae Goddard, were married Saturday. His wife has two children by a previous marriage. Ogburn says the "white folks" credit him with 46 children.

CCF Scores Gains In West Raising Total To 23 Seats In House

WINNIPEG—(CP)—A resurgent CCF struck sharply in Western Canada in Monday's general election, raising its total of Commons representation to 21 in the area between the Lakehead and the coast. These, with two seats won in the East, brought Socialist strength in the 23rd Parliament to 23 from the 13 the party held at dissolution. Of Western Canada's 72 seats the Liberal government carried 27—16 down from the 43 it won in 1949 and 11 off the 38 held when the vote was called.

The Progressive Conservative total remained unchanged at nine, while Social Credit, driving to increase its influence on the strength of provincial power in Alberta and British Columbia, fell somewhat short of the spectacular. It raised its over-all total to 15, adding one to the 10 it held in Alberta, and winning four in B.C.

Saskatchewan, home province of party leader M. J. Coldwell, was the key in the Social drive. The CCF there raised its total from five to 11 seats. It held three seats in Manitoba and went up from three to seven in B.C. Only in Alberta, since 1935 a Social Credit stronghold, was it blanked.

13TH VICTORY

The dean of Saskatchewan politics, Agriculture Minister Gardiner won his 13th consecutive victory by defeating Percy Wright, CCF agricultural critic, in Melville.

The lone Progressive Conservative victor in Saskatchewan was J. G. Diefenbaker, who won Prince Albert.

One of the Liberals who went down in the CCF tide was Dr. E.A. McCusker, parliamentary assistant to Health Minister Martin.

Justice Minister Garson, re-elected in Marquette, led a contingent of eight Manitoba Liberals. The government yielded a seat apiece to the Progressive Conservative and the CCF enabling both opposition parties to break even despite losing one seat each through redistribution.

Social Credit leader Solon Low was re-elected in Peace River, Alta. Other prominent Social Crediters elected were Victor Quelch in Acadia, John Blackmore in Lethbridge, and Rev. E. G. Hansell in Macleod.

Mines Minister Prudham, Alberta's only representative in the federal cabinet, defeated four other candidates in Edmonton West.

GAIN 4 SEATS

In British Columbia, with representation increased from 18 to 22 by redistribution, the CCF gained four seats for a total of seven. Social Credit took four seats and the Liberals won eight, compared with a representation of nine at dissolution. Fisheries Minister Sinclair won Coast-Capilano and Associate Defence Minister Campney took Vancouver Centre.

Maj.-Gen. George Pearkes, VC, chief military critic for the Progressive Conservatives, won the new seat of Esquimalt-Saanich.

The veteran George Black, one-time speaker of the House, failed in a bid to return to Parliament in the Yukon, losing out to the sitting Liberal member, J. A. Simmons.

Career Woman Plans Trip to Europe

To Receive $4,384

A busy Toronto career woman, aged 30, is making plans now for a three month trip through Europe when she retires. She has started a systematic savings plan with a Confederation Life Policy.

For only $10 a month, this plan will guarantee her $4,384 at age 60! In addition, her policy contains Confederation's Disability Benefit. If she should become totally disabled through accident or illness before age 50, this special benefit guarantees to keep putting aside $10 a month for her as long as she is so disabled, until the guaranteed value is payable.

Are you in need of a systematic savings plan that will protect your future, come what may? Your Confederation man will be glad to explain complete details for you!

Mr. Fraser's Return

Gordon K. Fraser has been re-elected by the largest majority in his political career, slightly more than 3,000. It is a triumph for Mr. Fraser personally, proof of his wide popularity through the riding and of the fact that in it the Conservative Party is Mr. Fraser. It is he, surely, and not his party which has been victor. We congratulate Mr. Fraser as he enters upon his fourth consecutive term as Member of Parliament for Peterborough.

* * *

Peterborough is Conservative, it is also conservative, trusting to tried ways and stewardship, slow to reject the old for the new, cautious in friendship, thankful for zealous and kindly representation. Mr. Fraser has made Peterborough, city and county, his family, and his family has responded faithfully to his benign and fatherly candidature. The national Conservative Party has reason to be thankful for Mr. Fraser in these, its lean years.

* * *

Max J. Swanston's showing was good, but his well-known service to the city, his deep interests in county matters, and his familiarity with thousands of citizens were not enough to dislodge Mr. Fraser from his entrenched position. On Monday, Mr. Swanston was not riding the crest of Liberal popularity in Ontario of four years ago.

* * *

The C.C.F. candidate, Mr. Maurice Ketcheson, polled as many votes as might have been expected, considering the low estate of the C.C.F. in Canada as a whole and the lack of Peterborough interest in that party's philosophy. As in the Province generally, so in Peterborough, the C.C.F. vote was so light as to be insignificant.

* * *

We must remark two specific aspects of the Peterborough vote. Once again it has elected a member who will sit in Opposition benches, never as favourable a position as a Government bench. Secondly, the August vote did not, as was direly predicted, disfranchise our voters. In Peterborough seventy-five percent. of the enfranchised voters cast their ballots—more than the number who often bother to vote, and as good as the average; in fact, a creditable turnout.

* * *

The total Liberal victory was a surprise to critics of the Government. The solid triumph in Quebec was inevitable, considering the backgrounds and personalities of Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Drew, but the Liberal victory in Ontario and other provinces showed that the electorate was not willing to change pay-as-you-go prosperous direction for pies in the sky or even flying saucers of promised tax-reductions.

Trolley Fenders

Not so long ago, in 1894, Torontonians were worried about the danger to life and limb of the new means of public conveyance, the electric trolley car. The Toronto Empire, which disappeared into the Toronto Mail and Empire later, carried a long special article in its October 6th issue, 1894, calling attention to this feature in a front-page box:

"Of very general interest all over the country will be found the special article on the subject of the Trolley Fenders of Various Large Cities. It is illustrated, and will enable the reader to grasp in a moment the scope of efforts being made to prevent fatal accidents and injury to life in various cities where the trolley cars are in use."

The illustrations show the "Foster Fender" used in New York, the fender in use on Baltimore streets, the "Field Life Guard Fender" in Providence, R.I., and the "Toronto Idea, by Mr. Dubois." "Anyone looking at a trolley car as it speeds along the street can appreciate the luck of a mechanic whose device would remove from the track or lift up without injury from a reclining or prostrate position any person who might be unfortunate enough to get out of the way." If these days of international tensions and speed highways and accidents, the Toronto concern for cowcatchers on trolleys seems whimsical. Now the wire and iron fenders have disappeared from the Toronto trolleys, and in most cities, the trolley itself has disappeared.

But let it not be thought that Torontonians of that day had nothing greater to worry about than falling in front of a madly speeding trolley-car. The same issue of the Empire had "a thoughtful and interesting discussion on the subject of the Tramp Question", as the front-page box says. There was a news item about the emergency Cabinet meeting held in London "which plunged all Europe into a veritable war panic." There was a report of the annual convocation of University College and School of Practical Science, held for the first time in the Massey Music Hall. "The amplitude of the shouting space afforded by the immense auditorium of the hall failed to tire the voices of undergraduates."

In old copies of newspapers (usually to be found most readily in the backs of picture frames) the advertisements are often the most interesting items. The Empire carried a T. Eaton advertisement, nearly a column long, and printed in consecutive paragraphs: "You know what we were twenty years ago—one of half-a-hundred merchants, struggling to make headway against fearful odds. You recognized a change ten years later. We were then sending buyers to Europe . . ." In the classified advertisements appeared this:

200 ACRES LAND IN THE COUNTY of Simcoe; 70 acres cleared, balance bush; can exchange for four bicycles; must be first class; biggest snap ever offered. W. Parsons, 77 Victoria Street.

We wonder if Mr. Parsons succeeded in getting four good bicycles for his two hundred acres? We wonder, too, if the Peterborough advertiser, a good needlewoman, got a job:

AS NURSE OR COMPANION—SITUATION wanted: willing to be generally useful; good needle woman. Address Box 876, Peterboro'.

Four-Power Conference

The Russians have replied to the Western suggestion for a Four-Power Foreign Ministers' meeting. They have agreed. That sounds like very good news, but the terms under which they would accept the proposal are sufficient to remove any optimism, and enough, probably, to prevent its being held.

The Russian Foreign Minister will meet with those of Britain, France and the U.S.A. provided that the scope of the conference is widened to include Asian problems. Further, the Russians want broader issues dealt with first, the question of German unity and and future secondly. As originally devised, the discussion would have gone from smaller European problems, such as Austria, to the crucial problem, Germany. It was not to have included any reference to Asia and the China question at all.

A separate Asian meeting is scheduled for the autumn, anyway, following the Korean truce and its terms. Some Western authorities feel that the Russian note in reply to their suggestion of a Four-Power conference to discuss the Austrian and German questions (and generally the state of Europe) has shown that the Russians do not want a conference at all. If they did, why interject the Asia question (particularly the status of Red China), and why elevate the general situation in Europe above the more limited Germany question?

It is a difference in point of view. One regrets that the leadership of Churchill is not directly available, and that the hand of Mr. Dulles is so evident. The utterly rigid view of Mr. Dulles (and of the Eisenhower Administration) not to recognize Red China in any way, shape or form, is as much a block to settlement of world questions between East and West, as is the Russian view, as revealed in its Note. And the Russians know it.

Behind The Sheet

A king is but a man. An empire is just a lot of people. A symphony is a bunch of musical notes. And a vote is just a piece of paper on which you put X secretly, behind somebody's bed sheet brought from the spare bedroom to the front parlour. How humbling it is that the roll of campaign trains, the flight of swift aircraft winging political leaders from one end of the country to the other, the tons of leaflets, and newspaper reports, the great hours of oratory, the urgent pleas in vast amphitheatres, the momentous issues of a nation's life, the complex burden of a people's voice, the intricate machinery of the laws, the high workings of their parliament and the majestic fabric of history from Magna Charta to the U.N. charter, are all brought down to one man with a pencil bending over a neighbour's kitchen table to put an X on a piece of paper, his action encompassed by a bed sheet.

This is both the beginning and the end result of democracy, the first and the final stage. Its operation is as simple and lowly as the man in the front parlour shrouded by a bed-cover; as complex and mighty as the voice of the country in palaces of parliament and the halls of time. Great things from small grow, and the force is derived not from the pinnacle but from the sustaining base: the slip of paper, marked X in that improvised booth and put into a locked box, there to be counted, an equal among its peers.

All men are equal only in two acts of their existence: their vote and their death. Human dust and the ballot humble all men and elevate them equally. And sometimes the physical circumstances of casting the ballot are as solemn and unattractive and demeaning as sloughing off this mortal frame. The bed sheet hanging over the improvised booth is a symbolic pall of this relationship.

The Book Of Chung Kam

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN
(In Seoul)

THERE is a strange book in Korea, written four hundred years ago, whose contents are known to nine out of ten people. It makes no difference whether they can read. It is called the Book of Chung Kam. It contains a series of prophesies, and ordinary people in this sad peninsula believe that they exactly fit the present times.

* * *

WHEN I heard about this book and its importance I called upon one of Korea's great scholars. He is more than that; he is part of the country's history, because he drafted Korea's Declaration of Independence in 1919. His name is Choi Nam Sun.

* * *

CHOI NAM SUN was sitting on the polished wooden floor of an untidy room. The books were two deep against all the walls. He was dressed in a loose garment made of Korean linen which looked like a delicate sacking. He was a burly, dominating, ageless man, who compelled respect. His head was shaved and his eyes so narrow that it was hard to see how he could use them.

* * *

THERE WERE women in trailing skirts doing things in a cluttered courtyard, between pots of flowers and jars of water. There was a gentle middle-aged man sitting on a step in khaki shorts and a sun helmet made of herring-bone tweed. He never spoke while the scholar sat with his feet crossed and talked of the Book of Chung Kam with a civilised disbelief. These are the prophesies he mentioned.

* * *

THE FIRST was that if fighting started in Korea, all the territory above the Imjin River would be occupied twice by men of a northern race. The Imjin runs between the Chinese and United Nations forces. The land above it has been taken twice by the North Koreans and the Chinese in the course of this war.

* * *

THE SECOND prophesy was that in an area twenty-five miles round Seoul, no chickens and no dogs would be heard. The prophesy is vague. Some believe it means an atom bomb and some that it refers simply to the area round the present fighting—some twenty miles from Seoul — where no civilians and no farming is allowed. Safe refuge is promised on a small hill called Kae Ryon San which is several miles south of the city; some people have gone there already.

* * *

THE THIRD prophesy was that no matter how terrible were the sufferings of the country, there would be a new world waiting for Korea. A holy man, a "real man" would appear from the southern seas to save them. And in this the people find a reference to Mr. Truman (former President of the United States) who began the United Nations intervention in Korea.

* * *

THE YEARS in Korea are traditionally designated by a Korean zodiac, by a cycle of repeating symbols. The fourth prophesy of the book of Chung Kam says that during the year of the Dragon and the Snake (this year and last year) a great man will appear, and that during the years of the Horse and the Sheep (next year and the year after) Korea will be saved and the people made happy. So that many believe that a satisfactory settlement will be reached next year.

* * *

THE "great man" is described as a prodigious boy called "Chung." He has not appeared yet in the four-hundred years of the book's history. But the more ingenious commentators have identified this Korean Messiah. They have chosen President Eisenhower, because in Korean the first syllable of his name means "boy," and in the second syllable they profess — in Korean — to find a close resemblance to Chung.

The book was written, probably by a Bhuddist priest, before the 1592 Japanese invasion of Korea. This was one of the most savage and ruinous wars in history, and when the Japanese had been driven away, Korea withdrew like a monk from the world, forbade all foreigners, all new ideas; and the fame of the book began to grow.

The country was run by a rigid royal dictatorship and life was a hard and hopeless business for all but the court and the nobles. The book, as well as the detailed prophesies, promised a Utopia somewhere in the future and somewhere in the South. It said the government would be overthrown and a new southern government would be established which would open the Golden Age.

* * *

FOR ordinary, suffering people, it did something that the Holy Scriptures do, it promised that their pain was temporary. But the Koreans are not a God-centred people, and their heaven was promised on earth. The prophesies, like those of the mediaeval Jew, Nostradamus, are all in riddles and tend to fit situations after they have happened.

* * *

BUT if Choi Nam Sun did not believe the book, he accorded it a certain respect. Not because it was magical, but because it was an ancient expression of the perpetually disappointed hopes of a desperate and tragic people. During the long years of Japanese colonial rule, it became almost a holy book. Its chief message was that whatever happened, the Korean people would survive as a separate entity. And now they are clutching at the book of Chung Kam more desperately than ever.

Harvest Excursion

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

Along about this time of year in the early part of the century the railway companies had posters in public places and advertisements in newspapers announcing harvesters' excursions to western Canada. They told of the need for thousands of men to help harvest the prairie crops.

The first of these excursions was organized in 1896, and every year more and more men took advantage of this opportunity, until in 1925 the most unbelievable total of 45,400 harvesters made the trip.

In those days much of the harvesting was done by hand and horses supplied the power to operate the machinery. The advent of modern combines has done away with the necessity for this annual migration of harvesters. While the depression in the '30s and short crops played their part in damming the flow of harvesters, mechanization has been the chief factor.

An American Opinion:
POWERFUL BLOW TO THE BREADBASKET

Famous Fishermen

By PHILIP TOYNBEE

THERE are certain English "classics" which have imposed their reputation on high, low and middle-brows alike, and the mark of this particular category of books is that their authors are treated with familiarity and affection: "Bozzy," "Old Isaac," Sir Thomas Browne, Peacock, and if not Lawrence Sterne himself, at least "my Uncle Toby." I doubt whether these authors' works are quite so well-thumbed as the heartier critics would have us suppose, but many who have never read them would rise in anger if they were attacked. They are good and old and as English, it is said, as roast beef. They are national institutions.

This attitude does nearly all these writers a wild injustice. Peacock was a brilliant intellectual, a wit, a reactionary, an unashamed defender of privilege. Sterne was an experimental novelist of genius. Boswell was one of the first great writers who consciously exploited his own weaknesses, and Sir Thomas Browne was a subtle master of English prose at the height of its Golden Age. Thus described, none of them would sound quite so reassuring. As for Isaak Walton, his most famous book is, though this is often forgotten, a treatise on how to catch fresh-water fish. The usual view of "The Complete Angler" is that it is the work of a genial philosopher and that it has a universal appeal because of its author's amiable, moderate and kindly mentality. Such indeed was his mentality and there are many leisurely passages of his book which can be enjoyed by anyone with an ear for delicate English prose and with an affection for the English countryside.

"Look! Under that broad beech-tree I sat down when I was last this way a-fishing: and the birds in the adjoining grove seemed to have a friendly contention with an echo, whose dead voice seemed to live in a hollow tree near to the brow of that primrose-hill. There I sat viewing the silver streams glide silently towards their centre, the tempestuous sea; yet sometimes opposed by rugged roots and pebble-stones which broke their waves and turned them into foam; and sometimes I beguiled time by viewing the harmless lambs; some leaping securely in the cool shade, whilst other sported themselves in the cheerful sun; and saw other craving comfort from the swollen udders of their bleating dams." This is mild but skilful prose, the product of a beautifully observant eye.

Others may enjoy "The Complete Angler" for its multitude of literary and classical diversions. "And one of no less credit than Aristotle tells us of a merry river, the river Elusina . . ." and off we go!

BUT after all, the vast bulk of the book is taken up with minute explanations of angling methods and of culinary recommendations. How do the non-angling readers deal with all this? My keen suspicion is that they skip unashamedly, for it is absurd to suppose that a genial and cunning style is enough to make palatable a matter which is of no interest at all. Myself, I would not read a book about billiards even if it was written magnificently.

As for the anglers, of whom I am one, they will continue to read Isaak Walton, if only because their appetite for well-written books on the practise of angling is almost insatiable. There are all too few of them among the vast library of whimsical "Memoirs of the Riverside," "Chalk-stream Days," "Of Test and Thames." But it is inevitable that the anglers, of all people read Walton in a spirit of purely patronising delight. For just as a scientist would not read a seventeenth-century treatise on physics in order to instruct himself, so a modern angler will find Walton uninstructive, wrong and superstitious. Even in his own time he was antiquated both in his methods and in his theories, and Andrew Lang's 1906 introduction to the present edition inevitably dismisses "The Complete Angler" on any grounds of practical use or of genuine expertise.

The book remains pleasant and lazy reading, easy to skip, easy to put down. In its language and in its asides it gives a charming picture of that underbelly of seventeenth-century life which is so much neglected by the history books. Walton lived from the reign of Elizabeth I to that of Charles II — domestically the most savage and eventful ninety years of English history. His great work was published under the Commonwealth, and exactly three hundred years ago. It is reassuring to find no reference at all in it to these remarkable political events.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah . . .

And they shall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord. (Jer. 31: 31, 34.)

Letter To The Editor

COMMUNITY CENTRE PETITION

Sir: I am being asked by the citizens, what became of the petition of grievances addressed to his Honour Judge Kennedy, in respect to the proposed Peterborough Memorial Community Centre.

His Honour granted me an audience, in March, and I thought he was favourably impressed.

I learned with regret, when he wrote me in reply to my inquiry as to what action was being taken, that he had a conversation with his Worship, Mayor Waddell and they thought we should have patience.

Well, the citizens must have had patience as nine years is a long, long time since the money was collected.

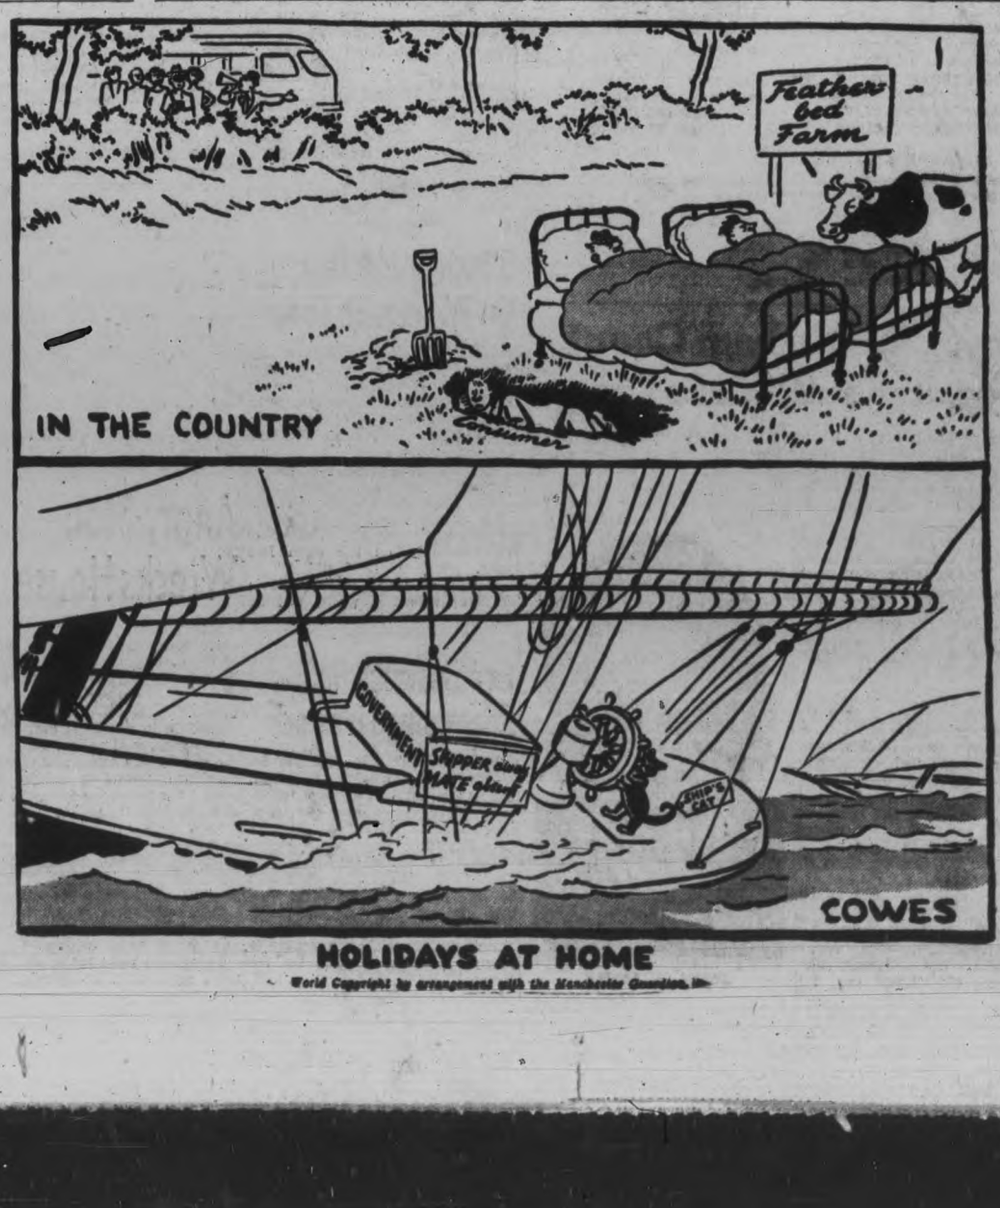
Section 2 of Bill 158 an act to amend The Charities Accounting Act reads as follows:

(2) The Charities Accounting Act is amended by adding thereto the following section:

6a—(1) Any person may complain as to the manner in which any person or organization has solicited or procured funds by way of contribution or gift from the public for any purpose, so as to the manner in which any such funds have been dealt with or disposed of.

(2) Every such complain shall be in writing and delivered by the complainant to any judge or district court.

(3) Wherever the judge is of opinion that the public interest can be served by an investigation of the matter complained of, he may make an order as the Public Trustee may deem proper in the circumstances.

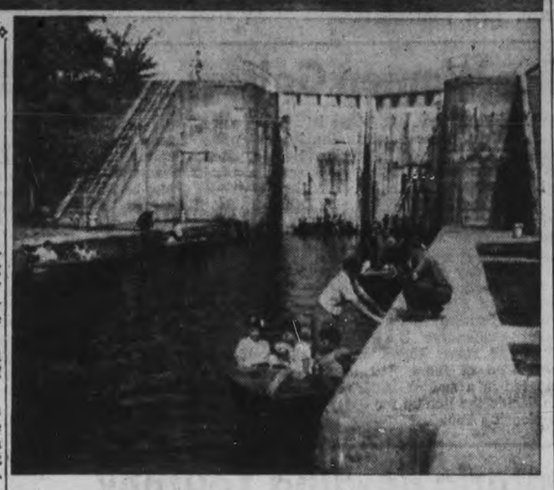


His Honour evidently thought the public interest could not be served by an investigation.

I have asked Mr. F. Oliver, M.P.P., Leader of the Opposition in the Provincial Legislature, to move or cause to be moved, an amendment, whereby a judge cannot sit in judgement on matters of this sort.

The remainder of the Bill merely explains only what transpires after the investigation is asked for and would not be of interest at this time.

Yours truly,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON.



(Ed. Note: This letter by the C.C.F. candidate was submitted to us prior to the election. We witheld its publication because we make it a rule not to publish electioneering correspondence. Mr. Ketcheson was attempting to make a campaign issue of a civic matter, the Memorial Centre.)

Study Fluorine's Effect On Cattle's Teeth

LONDON (Reuters) —The ministry of agriculture is conducting experiments to discover whether fluorine, a chemical said to preserve human teeth, causes the teeth of cattle to fall out.

The ministry will set up a special farm to investigate the effects of fluorine poisoning.

"It is generally accepted," a ministry spokesman said, "that the cattle's loss of teeth may be an effect of fluorine poisoning. But until experiments are much further advanced we can neither confirm nor deny it."

The experimental program arose from the fruitless efforts of an English farmer near Stoke-on-Trent, in the Midlands, to fatten his cattle. The harder he tried the thinner they got.

Research experts moved in and found that chemicals born in the smoke of nearby pottery furnaces and other industries settled on the grass and caused cattle poisoning.

Fluorine was found to be the main cause of emaciation. After three years of grazing on the polluted land the cattle lost their teeth.

Musk oxen many times have provided a vital source of food for Arctic explorers.

Campbellford Cubs Take Trip To Bradley Bay

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Nineteen Cubs of the First Campbellford Pack had an eventful day on Sunday when they went for a boat ride and camping trip to Bradley Bay.

Five boat loads of boys left the cenotaph in town at about ten o'clock Sunday morning. The boats were put through the locks of the Trent Canal south of the town all at once, and this in itself was an experience for the lads. Most of them, although they have lived in Campbellford all their lives, had never been through a lock in a boat before.

After a two-hour trip the boys arrived at Bradley Bay, where a hot dinner was waiting for them, prepared by Danny Frederick and Don Haney of Campbellford, who preceded the party by car.

The boys had finished dinner and were playing games when they were caught in a downpour of rain. They took shelter under a tarpaulin and later, in a hunting shack, they were able to build a fire and dry themselves out.

They returned home in two trucks loaned to them for the day by C. H. Davidson.

Those who loaned their boats for the day, and piloted them down the Trent for the boys were Cliff Gibson, Keith Bailey, Sid Hopping, Joseph Smith and Charles Root. Arnold McGinn, assistant cubmaster supervised the boys on the trip down the Trent.

Noisy Demonstrators Ask Release Of Former P.M.

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (Reuters) — Noisy demonstrators marched through the streets of Srinagar from dawn Monday demanding the release of Sheikh Abdullah, 48, arrested Sunday after his removal from office as prime minister.

Members of one procession, shouting slogans against the new government appointed Saturday, barricaded streets with wooden poles. They were cleared by police.

Store owners staged a partial strike against the arrest of the "Lion of Kashmir," dismissed after five years in power. Strike organizers toured the Kashmiri capital persuading tradesmen not to transact business.

But the authorities reported that the situation was under control and tension diminishing. The funerals of two Moslems and a Sikh killed when police fired on rioting crowds Sunday passed off peacefully.

UNDER ARREST

The former premier is held at Udhampur in Kashmir's Jammu province. He is under arrest at an ex-maharajah's guesthouse.

Bakshi Ghulam Mohammed, pro-Indian politician who succeeded the Sheikh after he was deposed by the Kashmiri head of state, Sadar-I-Rayasat Karan Singh, said Sunday night Abdullah had aimed at an independent Kashmir with the connivance of "foreign powers."

The United States ambassador to India, George Allen, issued a statement in New Delhi denying widespread rumors that Washington has interfered in Kashmir.

Kashmir is split roughly in halves by a ceasefire line on which India and Pakistani troops were halted by United Nations mediation in 1949. Both countries claim the state.

On the Pakistani side, the Azad (free) government rules while the remainder of the state, where the bulk of the population is concentrated, is administered by the Srinagar government.

Canada's Economists Watching U.S. Closely For Business Trends

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's economists are keeping a close watch on the United States to see which way the wind is blowing for Canadian business men and wage-earners.

Aware that what happens below the border almost always affects Canada, the economists are waiting to see how American industry reacts to the ending of the fighting in Korea, before making any hard-and-fast forecasts for the future.

But at least one of the country's top experts, Dr. Earl F. Beach, head of McGill University's economics department, believes Canada can be "reasonably optimistic" about the future.

"If the United States market holds up, we'll do all right," he said.

"Our big problem is that we have such close economic links with the U.S., that any major change in business conditions there will be felt in this country.

WILL MARKET STAND UP?

"The bulk of our exports go south to the U.S., and the question to which we all want the answer, is—will that market stand up well-enough to we can go on selling our good there?"

"I think it will."

Dr. Beach said that during the past few months there have been some signs of a possible weakening in the market for Canadian metals. "But," he added, "I don't think there is any danger of the U.S. economy softening very much, at least during the immediate future. The Americans don't seem to be planning any large-scale production cut-backs at present."

Dr. Beach stressed that the Canadian economy isn't what it was in the 30s. "Possibly at that time we were not quite as vulnerable to changes in the American economy as we are today," he said.

"But we were more vulnerable in other ways. When the bottom fell out of the wheat market during the late twenties, it hit us very badly. Today a big drop in wheat prices would be bad, particularly for the west, but not as bad for the country as a whole as it was then.

"We've branched out, and we've more irons in the fire today. Right now newsprint is a more important export than wheat, though, mind you, there are a great many more farmers than there are men employed in the pulp and paper industry.

"Basically the outlook for Canada is sound. We're getting bigger and stronger every day."

Say Communist Has Access To Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) said Monday new evidence before his investigations sub-committee indicates a member of the Communist party has access to secret data of the atomic energy commission and the central intelligence agency.

McCarthy made the statement to reporters after questioning four witnesses for two hours at a closed session. He declined to name the witnesses.

Senator Everett Dirsen (Rep. Ill.), the only other committee member to attend the session, said the sub-committee had struck "the beginning of a trail" which may lead to matters involving the security of the country.

Love Helps John Ericson To Get Needed Screen Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This story could be called "persistence pays" or, "love will find a way."

It concerns a handsome young lad named John Ericson. He was in love. He was also broke.

Three years ago, John was an actor with high hopes and low prospects.

Then he heard that Fred Zinneman was interviewing all comers for leading roles in "Teresa," a picture to be made in Italy. John tried out for the role and won it.

The picture made Pier Angeli a star, but it didn't do wonders for John. MGM was willing to sign him as well as Pier, but at uninflated prices. John held out for more money and was turned down.

NEW YORK ROLE

The film did bring him one piece of luck, the leading role in "Stalag 17" on the New York stage.

During the Chicago run of the show John fell in love with Milly Coury, a night club singer. They decided they wanted to get married. But first John would have to find some security. He got a release from the play and came to Hollywood.

The going was rough. John went jobless for 16 weeks.

"Finally I was down to my last $100," he related. "I had heard about a part at MGM in 'Rhapsody' which I thought I could do. But I couldn't even get the producer or director on the telephone. I decided to take a chance. I picked up the phone and called Dore Schary. I was put through to him and I asked if I could drop in to see him. He said to come on up."

"I worked for you in 'Teresa,'" the actor said.

"Sure, I remember," said the studio headman.

"There's a part in 'Rhapsody' I know I can do, but I can't get to see anybody about it."

"We'll fix that."

TESTS FOR ROLE

Two days later, he was testing for the role. Other bigwigs protested, but director Charles Vidor would test no one else. The actor got the role, co-starring with Elizabeth Taylor.

Sept. 12 Milly Coury, 23, will become the bride of John Ericson, 25.

Capsule Review: "From Here to Eternity" ranks with the 10 best dramatic films in the last decade. Skilfully acted, written and produced, it transforms a rambling, profane novel into a tremendously gripping movie. Montgomery Clift gives the thoughtful stubbornness that Prewitt requires. Burt Lancaster is both tough and tender as Warden. Frank Sinatra as Maggio is a revelation. Picture and players lead the Oscar race so far.

B.F. Goodrich
Tubeless Tire

Because IT HAS NO TUBE

It may save your life...

The B. F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tire gives you maximum protection against the hazard of blowouts and dangerous skids, that frequently result in serious injury, and even death.

It can save you trouble...

The B. F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tire seals punctures on running wheels . . . protects against the annoying trouble caused by flat tires.

It will save you money...

The B. F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tire provides greater safety than any tire and tube, yet it costs less than the conventional safety tire-tube combination.

Accidents like the one above can happen when blowouts occur—that's why you owe it to yourself to find out about the extra protection in B. F. Goodrich LIFE-SAVER Tubeless Tires. Most blowouts are caused when the inner tube explodes through weakened or broken cords. But, because it has no inner tube, a LIFE-SAVER Tire changes a sudden, dangerous blowout to a safe s-s-s-slowout—allowing you ample time to stop your car safely, with perfect control.

PUNCTURE PROTECTION
A gummy rubber compound under the tread immediately seals around puncturing objects, and permanently seals the hole when the object is removed. Inconvenience and delays are eliminated.

BLOWOUT PROTECTION
Instead of a tube, the LIFE-SAVER has a patented inner lining that's part of the tire. In event of damage there's no sudden blowout, only a small break in the liner, a s-s-s-slowout that lets you stop safely.

SKID PROTECTION
The LIFE-SAVER tread is cross-cut into thousands of tiny grip-blocks. At 30 miles per hour on wet roads, it stops you a car length quicker than regular tires . . . and gives you longer mileage too.

Your B.F. Goodrich dealer now has the

Petes Trounce Orillia Yorks In 19-3 Lacrosse Game To Open OLA Semi-Final Set

Turning in a top performance here last night before 2,600 lacross fans, the Peterborough Trailermen smeared Orillia Yorks by a 19-3 count to open their best-of-seven OLA senior "A" semi-finals. The second game is tomorrow in Orillia and the third one back here on Friday. The Yorks, at full strength, gave a disappointing showing for a playoff game and couldn't cope at any time with the methodical smart play of the champions. The Thorpe team led 4-1 in the first quarter, had a 3-0 scoring bulge next heat, and outscored Orillia 6-1 in the third and again 6-1 in the fourth. The Petes dressed but 13 men to Yorks' 15.

LEAD PETES' SCORERS—Nip O'Hearn, left, and Roger Smith led the lamp-lighters here last night as Petes trimmed Orillia 19-3 to open OLA senior semi-finals. O'Hearn was tops with six goals and he also helped on three more, while Smith smacked in four markers to help roll up the count.

A CLEAN TUSSLE

Play was generally clean, and not very exciting. A few mixups threatened at times, and Les Digby of Orillia and Nip O'Hearn had a brief tangle in the second quarter, Digby drawing a major for fighting and O'Hearn a minor penalty for retaliating. There were but two other minor penalties in the whole game, both going to the local club.

Petes passed smartly, took plenty of time getting in scoring position and shot with deadly effect, giving George Johnson little chance on most of their markers. They also outran Yorks and checked them closely, while Moon Wootton was almost unbeatable in their cage. One of the home goals were scored on Digby's penalty, and the winners got several on breakaways. They also had two markers called back on them for a whistle.

O'HEARN STARS

Nip O'Hearn turned in a brillaint effort on the attack with six sparkling goals and three assists for nine points to lead his side. Roger Smith clicked for four neat goals, two each going to Curly Mason, Don Ashbee, Rusty Slater and Ike Hildebrand. The latter helped on four more. Ross Powless got a goal and three assists in an effective chore. Jerry Fitzgerald and Harry Wipper aided on two each, and Mason and Thorpe earned an assist apiece.

None of the visiting players had too much on the ball over the route in this joust. Frank Facto, Stu Scott and George Masters were their lone scorers, while Ken Croft and big Merv McKenzie picked up an assist each. The teams:

Orillia: Goal, Johnson, defence, McPhail and McKenzie; centre, Digby; wings, Masters and Lee; alternates, Facto, Scott, Teatro, D'Amico, Croft, J. Kapasky, Webster, Chard and Jim McNulty.

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, Fitzgerald and O'Hearn; centre, Mason; wings, Slater and Powless; alternates, Smith, Thorpe, Ashbee, Vitarelli, Hildebrand, Wipper and Nickle.

Referees—P. Bain and L. Vipond.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

While senior lacroses steals the thunder in playoffs from the junior game, yet officials and players of the Peterborough Pats feel that their OLA junior "A" semi-final playoff series is just as important. It could lead eventually to the Minto Cup for the local team as Canadian champs. However, they've got to oust Long Branch first, ere meeting the Brampton-Oakville winner in provincial finals. Series opens here at 8.45 Wednesday (tomorrow) eve in Miller Bowl, first of a best-of-five set, returning to Long Branch Friday and back here again next Monday. The Pats have a practice at seven tonight to prepare for the big series ahead.

* * * * * *

OLA secretary Chuck Rowan has drafted out the "A" and "B" senior series schedule. Both semi-finals are best-of-seven affairs as will be the final sawoffs for OLA and Eastern Canada honors. The Petes' Trailermen and Orillia Yorks were drawn in the "A" set for finishing first and third in the schedule. St. Kitts and Fergus are in the "B" category for finishing second and fourth, their series being due to start tonight in the Garden City. Our home games with Yorks were listed as Aug. 10, 14, 19, 22 (if it goes the distance) and the tilts in Orillia on Aug. 12, 17, 21. Frays in St. Catharines are Aug. 11, 15, 19, 22 (of necessary) and at Fergus Aug. 13, 17, 21. Finals open by Aug. 26, if not sooner. Postponements must go the next night.

* * * * * *

Thistles Could Be Thorny

Jack Gatecliff writes in the St. Catharines' sheet: "Though A's have enjoyed considerable success against Fergus this season, Coach Doug Cove isn't in the least over-confident regarding the outcome of the semi-final round. 'Personally, I'd rather have met Hamilton,' he said, 'despite the fact that they beat us twice in the past three weeks. Man for man, Thistles boast an average of five years' more experience than our kids and in playoffs that advantage is important. Our plan is to run, run, run, and in a seven-games series we hope to tire some of the oldsters like Allum, Kazarian, Campbell and McWhirter. If we lose just one game in St. Catharines, we're going to have a rough time making finals'."

* * * * * *

And the St. Kitts' scribe adds this bit of wishful thinking: "Incidentally, Cove reported that, despite their victory over the shorthanded Atheltics in Peterborough last Thursday, Trailermen looked very tired. He doesn't go so far as to predict an Orillia victory over Petes in the other semi-finals, but feels certain that the Orillia club will give the Trailermen some real opposition." Of course they will, chum. Playoffs are for keeps and you can't sell any club short when the dough blows are on. Two of our pro puckists on the club, Ike Hildebrand and Don Ashbee, will be available till Eastern Canada playoffs are over. So will Jerry Fitzgerald, who will be teaching in Toronto this fall. All the others are okay.

* * * * * *

Petes Playing Up To Par

Well, Orillia may be tough yet, especially on their own floor, but they didn't show much here last eve. Trailermen trounced 'em badly before a hefty crowd, 19-3 being the final figures compiled. With a couple of local markers called back, too. Petes sure were clicking — couldn't do anything wrong. Yorks couldn't seem to do much that was right. It wasn't good playoff competition, but the fans were treated to a cool, smart, championship brand of the gutted-stick game by the Thorpe team. A clean tilt, not extra fast or exciting most of the way. But it's a win for the Petes to open the best-of-seven set and they'll be trying for two straight on the morrow up Orillia way.

* * * * * *

That genial Irisher, Nip O'Hearn, had himself a large time as he slapped in no less than six goals, and aided on three more. Others prominent on the score-sheet were Ike Hildebrand, Roger Smith, Ross Powless, Curly Mason, Don Ashbee, Russ Slater, Jerry Fitzgerald and Harry Wipper, all being in on two or more. That's spreading it around nicely and shows the combination dished up. Moon Wootton wasn't giving away anything in the home net, either. The six-man game will be used throughout the Eastern playoffs—and probably out west, also. All tilts must go to a decision. At no time last e'en was there any danger of an overtime tussle!

2 Tie Shoots To Be Shot Off At Rifle Meet

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP) — Two tie shoots are to be shot off today at the second day of the 85th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize meet on these ranges near Ottawa.

The ties resulted Monday in the match proper of the Tyro and the Sherwood matches and a downpour of rain that lasted all day caused postponement of the shoot-offs as well as two scheduled events—the Barlow and MacDougall matches.

The Barlow and MacDougall also are to be shot today in addition to the Bankers' and Connaught.

Eleven marksmen will go to the firing mound to decide the winner in the Tyro match and two others will square off to decide the winner in the Sherwood.

The 11 riflemen in the Tyro match posted perfect scores of 50 from 200 yards while the other two, Officer Cadet F. L. Warner of Lennoxville, Que., and S. Sgt. R. B. Ionson of Ancaster, Ont., tied with possible 35s in the Sherwood match from 300 yards.

In the other match shot opening day, a member of the Black Watch won the Borden match from 300 yards, posting a score of 49, one off the possible 50.

NINE BULLS-EYES

Sgt. J. J. Hardman of Montreal pumped nine bulls-eyes into the target before dropping to an inner four on his 10th shot. Two others tied for second place with 48 scores. They were Lieut. W. V. Hall of Camp Borden, Ont., and Maj. F. Batterskill of Wainwright, Alta.

Tied with possibles in the Tyro match were: Sgt. P. B. Cathline, Camp Borden, Supt. A. Parsons, Saskatoon, Cpl. M. F. Vogler, Fort Churchill, Man., Tpr. A. B. Grundy, Windsor, Ont., CSM D. D. Spencer, Toronto, Constable C. J. Young, Ottawa, Pte. G. Westling, Vancouver, Lieut. O. E. Andrew, Kirkland Lake, Ont., Cadet A. V. Robinson, Washago, Ont., Sgt. H. R. Fournier, Saskatoon, and Andrew C. Sharke, Hamilton.

There were 27 marksmen tied with scores of 49, one off the possible, and 41 tied with scores of 48.

Three marksmen tied with 34s in the Sherwood match. They were Donald E. Morris, Britannia Heights, Ont., RWMS R. J. Stapleford, Sussex, N.B., and Cpl. A. H. Blanchette, Calgary.

The Barlow and MacDougall matches were called off when it became impossible to see the targets because of the heavy rain.

Bill's And Foresters Take Civic Loop Tilts

Bill's Lunch trampled Post Office 23-7 as IOF edged Seabrooke's 2-1 last night before a good crowd in Civic Softball League fixtures at the Ashburnham Bowl. Games Wednesday are: Fairviews v. Police, and Bell v. Fairviews, one being a postponement. After that, the schedule will go as listed.

Sanderson was the winning hurler Monday for Bill's as they pounded out their one-sided victory. The nightcap was a thriller with Hall the winning slabsman over Conroy in a pitching duel which saw some fine fielding. However, two miscues at the last gave Foresters their win to put them in the lead by two games. They have 10 wins and one loss to date, while Seabrooke's and Bill's are tied in second place with eight victories and three reverses each.

Lionel Ross Captures Cobourg Pro Tourney

COBOURG (ENS)—Lionel Ross, pro at the Cobourg Golf Club, won the annual pro tournament at Cobourg Golf Club on Sunday.

Thirty-three pros from clubs at Toronto, Peterborough, Hamilton, Belleville, Cobourg, Oshawa and Brampton took part. It was the largest pro tourney here in many years.

Lionel Ross was two under par for the 18 holes and had five consecutive birdies, his score being 70. Bob Gray of Scarboro, Murray Tueker of Rosedale and Hugh Borthwick, unattached, were tied for second with 71. Tied for third with 72 were Al Balding of Oakdale and Lou Cumming of Toronto Golf Club.

In the amateur section, low gross was won by Bill McIvor with 73; Cliff Clarke was second with 74 and Dick Jeffrey was next with 75. Scores in the low net were Jack Heenan, 66; Berpy Harden, 70; Harry Deyman and Harvey Brent, 71; Bill Hill and Reg. Stuart, 72.

Kelley Chief Wins Third At Thorncliffe

TORONTO (CP) —Kelley Chief, an eight-year-old outsider owned by Frank Rolosn of Burgessville, Monday won the third race of the harness racing card at Thorncliffe Raceway and paid $35. The co-favorites, Nifty Patch, owned by Hugh McLean of Port Elgin, and Mr. Tripp, owned by W. L. Ireland of Smiths Falls, finished in a dead heat for second.

Pat Lesser Leading Women Golfers

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Thirty-two top woman golfers tee off today in the championship round of the Canadian ladies open golf championship, led by a bespectacled miss from Seattle.

Pat Lesser, the west coast American star, shot even par 77 on the tough Hunt Club course to lead the field in the qualifying round Monday. Canada's Marlene Stewart, winner of last week's Close tournament here and recent British champion, was tied with four Americans one stroke back of the leader.

The championship flight was limited to those with 88 or better in the qualifying round, and the rest of the field now will battle it out in various other flights. The tournament winds up Saturday when a 36-hole match-play duel will be staged for the title.

TOUGH CHALLENGE

The Hunt Club course was a tough challenge for the 130 entrants and for a long time the best score of the day was an 81 posted by the starting golfer, Gloria Armstrong of Alameda, Calif But as the afternoon wore on the stronger contenders began to emerge and seven ended up tied for 88. Two of these had to be eliminated in a sudden-death playoff to decide the line-up for today's championship round.

There were few upsets. Defending champion Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., and Grace Lenczyck, a two-time winner, were in the 78 group. Veteran Ada MacKenzie, who first won this event in 1919—before many of today's challengers were born—shot an 80 to wind well up among the qualifiers.

Pat Dravny, Grosse Isle, Mich., ladies champion for her state, came in with 81 in her first try at the open. Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, Ohio, was right behind the leaders with 79.

Mary Gay of Kitchener shot an 80 and Anne Sharp of Fonthill an 84.

Aussies Lead Lancashire Team

MANCHESTER, England (CP)—Australian cricketers Monday reached a commanding position against Lancashire after the second day's play in their three-day exhibition match.

Lancashire was forced to follow on 188 runs behind after replying with a 184 to the Australian total of 372. By close of play the county team had lost four second innings wickets for 167 runs and still required 21 runs to avoid an innings defeat.

Final scores of Monday's first class matches:

Australian Tourists 372, Lancashire 184 and 167 for four.

Surrey 299 and 44 for one, Middlesex 246.

Gloucestershire 385 for seven declared, Sussex 209 and 29 for one.

Essex 243, Somerset 186 and 130 for five.

Warwickshire 377 for five declared and 21 for one, Yorkshire 299.

Derbyshire 150 and 139, Northamptonshire 135 and 103 for four.

Leicestershire 298, Kent 144 and 205 for six.

Hampshire 308 for nine declared, Nottinghamshire 269.

Worcestershire 340, Glamorgan 488.

Will Pick Canadian Champion Bowlers

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian championship lawn bowling rink is to be chosen during the coming year.

W. D. O'Connor of Hamilton, president of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association of Ontario, announced this Monday night at the annual dinner held in conjunction with the provincial tournament.

"The winner of the forthcoming meet at Hamilton will play the Quebec provincial winner," he said. "The winner of that series will play the western champions at Winnipeg in 1954 to choose the rink to represent Canada at the British Empire Games at Vancouver. Sometime before that, the Canadian champion will be declared."

Win 2 Events Each In Track Meet

ORILLIA (CP) — Bob Steele of Toronto, Ken Newton of London and Don Wood of Hamilton won two events each in the senior section of the Ontario Athletic training camp track and field meet Sunday.

Steele won the 440-yard dash and the broad jump, Newton the high jump and javelin throw and Wood the 100- and 200-yard sprints.

Athletes from many parts of Ontario and from Vancouver and Charlottetown competed in senior and intermediate events.

Ontario Bowling Tourney Has Entry Of 80 Rinks

TORONTO (CP) — The 19th anual Ontario Bowling Association tournament started Monday with an entry of 80 rinks, comprised of 320 players.

Eleven trophies are to be awarded in three divisions in the six-day competition. On the first day play started for the Eaton Gold Trophy, highest award for the tournament's rink division.

Losers in the first draw moved into play for the Simpson Trophy, and defeated rinks there went into Pilot Trophy competition. From the Pilot Trophy players dropped into the next bracket, the Northern Electric Trophy.

Out-of-town Ontario rinks were from Hamilton with seven; Ottawa five; Kingston and Lindsay, two each; and Cornwall, Oshawa, Newmarket, Grimsby, Streetsville, London, Port Colborne, Windsor, Caledonia and Waterdown, one each.

NEW YORK (AP) — If Monto Irvin of New York Giants can maintain his National League batting supremacy he will become only the second right - handed swinger in more than a decade to win the league's batting championship.

Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson has been the only right hitter to capture the crown in the last 10 seasons. Robinson led the league in 1949 with .342.

Irvin, who is hitting .339, took over the top spot from St. Louis' Red Schoendienst, who fell to second with .333. The Giants' outfielder went 10-for-25 during the week and gained four points while Schoendienst lost eight points in going 6-for-27.

Carl Furillo of the Dodgers remains third with .329.

VERNON CLICKING

Mickey Vernon of Washington Senators is starting to pull away from the rest of the pack in the American League hitting race. The slender first baseman, in quest of his second batting crown, boosted his average six points to .331. He collected 11 hits in 26 at bats.

Cleveland's Al Rosen, fourth last week, moved into second with a .320 mark as George Kell of Boston Red Sox skidded to third .319. Rosen had 8-for-22 and has increased his average two points.

Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee Braves continues to top the National League home run derby with 36 and Brooklyn's Roy Campanella still is the runs - batted - in pace-setter with 104.

Gus Zernial of the A's hit four home runs during the week to displace Rosen as the American League leader in that department with 29. Rosen has the most RBI's, 92.

Pitching laurels in the National League go to Milwaukee's Lew Burdette with a 9-2, .818 won-lost percentage. Ed Lopat of the Yanks ranks as the American league pitching leader with an 11-2, .846 mark.

Stops the greatest cause of power loss...

It's the Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years!

TCP*, a Shell-discovered additive, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, increases power up to 15%, spark plug life up to 150%. Puts an end to spark-plug mis-firing due to combustion deposits.

If you have a new car, particularly one with a high-compression engine, Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of the spark plugs. Owners of older cars also benefit. Even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power by the use of Shell Premium with TCP. Shell Premium with TCP acts fast! You'll feel that increase in power by the time you've finished the second tankful.

Today Shell Premium with TCP is available in this area, but only from your Shell Dealer.

Milwaukee Clips St. Louis 8-2 To Whittle Lead

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Porterfield's "bed dream" team is growing. He's added another outfielder and may soon have a full line-up. Porterfield, a stylish Washington righthander who is specializing this season in pitching shutouts, has blanked the opposition eight times in 17 complete games. That's more than any other pitcher has accomplished in either circuit since Bob Lemon's 10 in 1948. He hurled No. 8 Monday night, a sparkling one-hitter against Boston Red Sox which he won 2-0.

In the only other action, Milwaukee Braves whittled half a game off Brooklyn Dodgers' National League lead by whipping St. Louis 8-2. The Dodgers still lead by 6½ games.

The lone Boston safety was a third-inning single by rightfielder Jim Piersall.

That blow put Piersall in Porterfield's "bad dream" line-up which also included shortstop Eddie Joost of Philadelphia and second-baseman Bobby Avila and leftfielder Dale Mitchell of Cleveland. These are the four men who have spoiled no-hitters for the shutout ace since he hit the majors in 1948.

RUINS HITLESS GAME

Mitchell ruined a hitless game during Porterfield's freshman year. Avila broke up one in 1951. Joost cracked the spell at Philadelphia exactly three months ago. Piersall's hit also put the blight on Porterfield's 29th birthday celebration.

The victory was the 14th of the year for Porterfield, more than he's ever won before in the big time. He's lost nine.

Two other pitchers with one-hitters to their credit this season—Warren Spahn and Harvey Haddix—were involved in the St. Louis Milwaukee contest. Spahn was in form but Haddix wasn't. He gave up 10 hits before bowing out in the fifth inning.

Milwaukee scored once in the first inning, then added five in the second on five hits and two costly errors. The Cards made three miscues in all and every one of them led directly to a run.

Springfield Cubs Blank Leafs In 5-0 Shutout

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Righthander Dave Hillman Monday night became the second hurler to pitch a no-hitter in the International Baseball League this season and the first to accomplish the feat in the history of Springfield Cubs.

Hillman's masterpiece, a no-hit, no-run performance which gave his tail-end club a 5-0 shutout victory over Toronto Maple Leafs, followed only by a few days the first no-hitter of the season.

Duke Markell tossed a no-hitter at Syracuse last Thursday, also against the Leafs, but his wildness and tardy fielding by his teammates spoiled his shutout bid. The Chiefs downed the Leafs 4-1 in the seven-inning game.

Ironically, it was the first win of the current campaign for Hillman, who allowed only two men to reach base. He had lost seven decisions.

TWO REACH BASE

Catcher Joe Rossi and big Ed Stevens were the only Toronto players to reach base. They drew successive walks in the second inning.

Hillman fanned six Leafs and himself clouted a single in the sixth that scored Walt Derucki, who previously doubled.

The Leafs won a game suspended since June 24 by an 8-5 count over Springfield. It had been halted after six innings with the score 8-3 in Toronto's favor.

Two doubleheaders were postponed Monday night. Rochester's trip to Ottawa was called off because of rain and Montreal Royals' hopes of moving back to first place in the league were shattered when wet grounds halted the bargain bill between them and Syracuse Chiefs.

In Buffalo, the Herd completed a suspended game with Baltimore, winning by the original score of 11-7 and defeated the Orioles 7-4 in a regulation contest to extend their loop lead to two games over the idle Royals.

Acting manager Frank Carswell of the Bisons hit a three-run homer, his 14th of the year, in the fifth inning to supply the big blow in the regulation game. Ken Johnson limited the Birds to seven scattered hits.

ELECTORS RETURN PRIME MINISTER AND HIS ENTIRE CABINET

Elected

RT. HON. LOUIS ST. LAURENT
Prime Minister and Liberal Leader

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister St. Laurent, 71, is an accomplished Quebec lawyer who stepped into the political arena at an age when most men are making plans for retirement. He entered federal politics at the age of 59.

He won a smashing victory at the polls in his first major election battle as prime minister and Liberal party leader in 1949. At that time he sought a personal mandate from the people of Canada as successor to the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

This time he is seeking a vote of confidence in his government's policies and administration.

SCHOLARLY FIGURE

This is the first time an August election date has been called since Confederation and Mr. St. Laurent, a serene, scholarly-appearing man, confesses he chose the date reluctantly.

He would rather have had a June election—but the Coronation intervened. The only alternative was a November election—a time of year which he said would be neither appealing to the campaigners nor the voters.

"I would rather be at my summer home at St. Patrick, Que., in July and August," he told a press conference recently, "but it cannot be helped."

Mr. St. Laurent's political career stemmed from a wartime call from Mr. King to give up a lucrative law practice and take the post made vacant by the death of Justice Minister Lapointe.

That was in 1941. It was to be a wartime job only, but Mr. St. Laurent remained on at the request of his leader, winning a strong following in the Commons. He was named external affairs minister in 1946.

KEEN DEBATER

His able performance in meetings abroad enhanced his reputation at home. His penetrating approach to crucial world issues and his keenness in parliamentary debate convinced Mr. King that here was an able successor.

Mr. St Laurent told a press conference in 1942 that he knew "nothing about politics." But he learned quickly. He frequently showed surprising fire and ability in clashes with George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, in the last Parliament.

At home he set his eye on developing the nationhood of the country and bringing the English and French - speaking elements closer together. Abroad he became one of the builders of the North Atlantic pact and one of its strongest supporters.

An accomplished bilingualist, Mr. St. Laurent is the son of a French-speaking Canadian father and an Irish-Canadian mother whose parents came from Galway, Ireland. From his childhood he spoke both languages.

Mr. St. Laurent was swept into power on the heels of a long tenure in power by the Liberal party, at a time when the threat of world communism was spilling over into Korean bloodshed. It was in power, too, when Canada's economy underwent spectacular expansion.

"The prospects of peace are brighter than they have been," he says. "Given an era of peace, my children and grandchildren should witness even more outstanding developments than I have seen."

Elected

HON. GEORGE A. DREW
Progressive Conservative Leader

Hon. George Drew, 59-year-old leader of the Progressive Conservatives, is heading the party for the second time in a federal election.

A former premier of Ontario, he was picked to lead the party at a national convention in Ottawa in October, 1948. Since then as leader of the official opposition in the Commons he has spearheaded a series of attacks on the Liberal government.

This spring he was appointed to the Privy Council—largely an honorary post—shortly before his departure for England as a member of the Canadian delegation to the Coronation.

Mr. Drew, a native of Guelph Ont., entered the Commons in a by-election in Ontario's Carleton constituency two months after he assumed party leadership. He retained the seat in the 1949 general election and is running in Carleton again this year.

PROVINCIAL LEADER

Political battles are not new to the one-time Toronto lawyer, who led the Progressive Conservatives in Ontario to victory in three provincial elections.

In the last Commons session he led a running attack against the Liberal government, charging it with waste and extravagance in the defence effort. At times Mr. Drew has also been at odds with leaders of his own party, as in 1936 when he split with the Ontario leaders under Hon. Earl Rowe over whether the CIO should be tolerated in the province. Mr. Rowe held that labor should be allowed the right to organize.

Mr. Drew took over the provincial Tory leadership in December, 1938, and entered the Ontario legislature in a by - election two months later. He was premier from 1943 to 1948, and although the government was returned in the 1943 election he suffered personal defeat in Toronto-High Park.

Later in the year he was elected national party leader on the first ballot at the Ottawa convention.

Mr. Drew and his wife, Fiorenza, whom he married in 1936, work as a political team and travel together on most campaign trips. They have one son and one daughter.

An overseas veteran of the First World War he has written three books on the conflict—"The Truth about the War," "Canada's Part in the Great War" and "Canada's Fighting Airmen." He served for a time as aide-de-camp to Governor-General Lord Bessborough.

In the early years of his political career he was alderman and mayor of Guelph between 1922 and 1925.

Elected

M. J. COLDWELL
CCF Leader

M. J. Coldwell, a former Regina school principal who played an important role in the rise of the CCF party from its roots in the West's farm and labor movements, is for the third time the party's national leader in a federal election.

The 64-year-old native of England has for more than a quarter-century combined his teaching skill and political convictions to tell Canadians what socialism has to offer.

Mr. Coldwell came to Canada at the age of 22 and taught in Alberta and Saskatchewan schools before he became a principal in Regina. It was there he turned to public life, and was city alderman for a working class district for nine years.

Setbacks marked his early attempts in the provincial and federal political fields. He was defeated as a Progressive candidate in the 1925 federal general election and met the same fate when he first ran as a CCF candidate in the 1934 Saskatchewan election.

In 1935, however he gained a seat in the Commons in the Saskatchewan riding of Rosetown-Biggar and held it in successive general elections in 1940, 1945 and 1949.

He became CCF House leader in 1940, succeeding J. S. Woodsworth, and became the party's national president two years later following Mr. Woodsworth's death.

SCHOLAR, STUDENT

An author, student of world affairs and educationist, Mr. Coldwell has become one of Ottawa's best-known political figures. He is an unobtrusive man of medium height, who wears glasses, and is one of the Commons' outstanding speakers

He is author of the book "Left Turn, Canada," and international affairs have a large place in his wide interests. He took part in the San Francisco conference where the United Nations was born, and is an honorary vice-president of the United Nations Society of Canada. He was a delegate to three Empire parliamentary conferences in London, England.

His home is in Ottawa, where his wife died June 26 after paralysis had confined her to a wheelchair for 21 years. Mrs. Coldwell, keen and alert despite her ailment, had been a familiar figure in her wheelchair on political platforms with her husband all across the country. His son served overseas with the RCAF and his daughter is a nurse.

Solon Low, 53-year-old leader of the Social Credit Association of Canada, turned to federal politics eight years ago after eight years as a member of the Alberta government. He entered the House of Commons in 1945 from Peace River constituency and was re-elected in the 1949 general election.

A native of Cardston, Alta., and former teacher, Mr. Low entered the Alberta legislature in the 1935 election that put into power the first Social Credit government in Canada. Two years later he entered Premier William Aberhart's cabinet as provincial treasurer and after that was minister of education and later minister without portfolio.

The 1944 national convention of the Social Credit Association elected him president and national leader at Toronto, and the next year he won a seat in the Commons. Conventions in 1946 and 1950 returned him as party leader.

ABLE SPEAKER

A clear and able speaker, Mr. Low led the 10-man Social Credit group in the last Parliament.

Of Scottish and English parentage—his father helped write the constitution of the state of Utah—Mr. Low is father of eight chil-

Rt. Hon. James G. Gardiner, 69-year-old farmer who has spent more than half a lietime in politics, left his post as premier of Saskatchewan to enter the federal cabinet in 1935 as agriculture minister at the call of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Mr. Gardiner got his first taste of politics when he entered the Saskatchewan Legislature in 1914. He served two terms as premier before moving up to the federal field. Two months after he entered Mr. King's cabinet, he won a by-election in Melville, Sask., and took his seat in the Commons.

Since then he has proved himself a tough opponent in House debates, and the top man among Western Canada Liberal members. He was a candidate for the Liberal party leadership in the 1948 convention that picked Louis St. Larent.

Born in Farquhar, Ont., he was educated in public schools of Ontario, Nebraska, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, winding up at Manitoba College in Winnipeg.

RT. HON. J. G. GARDINER

Twelve years after entering the Saskatchewan legislature, Jimmy Gardiner became Premier in 1926 and was re-elected in 1929, but resigned with his cabinet when his government was defeated two days after the 1929 session opened.

In the federal cabinet, he also held the portfolio of minister of national war services for a year in 1940-41. He was appointed to the Imperial Privy Council in 1947. Prime Minister St. Laurent, forming his new government in 1948, retained him as minister of agriculture.

Married, Mr. Gardiner has one son and two daughters. A second son was killed at Dieppe in 1942. He lives in Ottawa, but his home farm is at Lemberg, Sask.

Hon. Lester B. Pearson, a career diplomat for 20 years, jumped directly from the civil service into the cabinet with his appointment as external affairs minister in September, 1948.

A month later he entered the Commons in a by-election in Ontario's Algoma East constituency, and retained the seat in the 1949 general election.

An important figure on the international scene, the 56-year-old Mr. Pearson is president of the present general assembly of the United Nations and this spring might become UN secretary-general but for his rejection by the Soviet delegate.

The former history professor at the University of Toronto joined the external affairs department in 1928, and represented Canada at various international conferences between 1931 and 1948. He was called from his post as Canadian ambassador to the United States to become under-secretary of the external affairs department Sept. 17, 1946.

Born in Toronto the son of a minister, Mr. Pearson saw overseas service in the First World War, first as a private in a hospital unit in Greece and later as an army lieutenant. Before the war's end he transferred to the Royal Flying Corps as a flying officer.

A graduate of the University of Toronto and Oxford University, he has received honorary degrees from many Canadian and U.S. universities and one degree from Ceylon University.

Mr. Pearson was married in 1925 to the former Maryon Elspeth Moody of Winnipeg. They have two children.

RT. HON. C. D. HOWE
Minister of Trade and Commerce

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, a native of the United States who became a great figure in Canadian politics, is one of the veterans of the Liberal government of Ottawa. He has been in the cabinet since his first election to the House of Commons in 1935 as member for Port Arthur.

His portfolios have ranged from minister of railways and canals and minister of marine under Prime Minister Mackenzie King in 1935 to his late double job as minister of trade and commerce and of defence production.

Clarence Decatur Howe, born in Waltham, Mass., 67 years ago, came to Canada at the age of 22 as a young engineering graduate from Massachussetts Institute of Technology. For five years he taught engineering at Dalhousie University before becoming chief engineer for the board of grain commissioners from 1913-16. Then he formed his own engineering company at Port Arthur, and headed the firm until 1935.

When his first two departments were merged as the transport department, he continued as its minister. During the Second World War he held the key post of munitions and supply from April 9, 1940, to Oct. 13, 1944, when he became minister of reconstruction, with the job of supply added in January, 1946. At the start of 1948 he became trade and commerce minister and took on the defence production post April 1, 1951.

A member of the Imperial Privy Council, Mr. Howe has received honorary degrees from nine Canadian universities and colleges Married since 1916, he has two sons and one daughter.

HON. JAMES J. McCANN
National Revenue Minister

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hon. James J. McCann, 66, an active doctor and public health expert for more than 30 years, has held three federal cabinet posts in a political career that began at the age of 48.

First elected to the House of Commons in 1935 for Ontario's Renfrew South constituency, he entered the Mackenzie King government in 1945 as minister of war services. Four months later he took over his present portfolio—revenue minister-but held the war service post until the department was dissolved in 1947. He was also mines minister for one year in 1950.

A native of Perth, Ont., Mr. McCann was graduated in medicine from Queen's University and has been president of both the Ontario Health Officers Association and the Canadian Public Health Association. In 1911-12 he was a husky lineman with Hamilton Tigers football team and for more than 30 years after that was coroner and medical health officer at Renfrew, Ont.

His first active interest in politics came as campaign manager for the late Hon. T. A. Low, trade minister from 1921-25, but it was 10 years later before he contested, and won, his first election.

Elected

HON. MILTON F. GREGG
Labor Minister

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hon. Milton F. Gregg, 61, has held three portfolios in the federal cabinet in less than six years as a member of the Commons. He was first elected in a York-Sunbury by-election in New Brunswick Oct. 20, 1947.

An outstanding army officer in two world wars, Mr. Gregg became fisheries minister following his first election; changed to the veterans affairs portfolio in January, 1948, and moved to the labor ministry Aug. 8, 1950.

Mr. Gregg was once before in the Commons, though not as a member. The former teacher, who won the Victoria Cross in the First World War, became sergeant-at-arms of the Commons in 1934 and held the position until the outbreak of the Second World War in 1939.

After six years of army service he retired as a brigadier and became president of the University of New Brunswick. Prime Minister Mackenzie King called him from that post to the cabinet.

A native of Mountain Dale, N.B., he was educated in the province's public schools and normal school, and at Acadia and Dalhousie universities in Nova Scotia. He is married, has one daughter and makes his home at Fredericton.

SOME OF CANADA'S POLITICAL LEADERS RETURNED AT POLLS

Elected

RODNEY ADAMSON
PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rodney Adamson, 51, is a mining engineer whose Commons specialties are currency problems and matters dealing with Canada's gold mining industry.

Mr. Adamson, Progressive Conservative member of the last House for York West, has been in the Commons since 1940. He was once a secretary to the late Viscount Bennett, former prime minister.

A native of Toronto, Mr. Adamson served as a pilot in the Royal Flying Corps during the First World War. He went overseas as a captain with the Lorne Scots Regiment in the late war. He is married and has two sons.

He lived for some years in Germany and Austria and received part of his education at England's Cambridge University.

Elected

GEORGE C. NOWLAN
Progressive Conservative

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

George Clyde Nowlan, president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, represented the Nova Scotia constituency of Anapolis-Kings in the last Parliament.

Prominent in Canadian legal circles, Mr. Nowlan entered politics in the provincial field in 1925 when he was elected to the Nova Scotia Legislature. He was re-elected in 1928 but met defeat in the 1933 provincial election.

He first entered the Commons in a by-election in December, 1948. In the general election the next year he trailed the Liberal candidate, Alex Elderkin, by only four votes and the election was later declared void by the Nova Scotia Supreme Court. Mr. Nowlan was re-elected the next year at a by-election followed by two months his election as president of the Progressive Conservative Association.

Mr. Nowlan was born Aug. 14, 1898, at Havelock, N.S. A graduate of Acadia and Dalhousie Universities, he lectured in commercial law at Acadia and later became a member of its board of governors.

He was married in 1923, has four sons and one daughter and makes his home at Wolfville, N.S.

Elected

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power, 65, served 36 consecutive years as Liberal member for Quebec South to become the dean of the House of Commons. He won his first election in 1917 while serving as an army officer overseas and since [illegible] has been returned eight times.

HON. CHARLES GAVAN POWER
Former Cabinet Minister

He served nine years in the Mackenzie King government before resigning in 1944 following a disagreement with his leader over the wartime conscription issue. His first cabinet post was as minister of pensions and national health in 1935. Four years later he became postmaster general and when the department of national defence for air was formed in 1940 he was chosen to head it. From then until his cabinet resignation he was also associate minister of national defence.

In his last nine years as a private member, Mr. Power has spoken infrequently in the Commons. He has warm friends on both sides of the House, however, and in the last session some Progressive Conservative members proposed that an air ministry be formed again with Mr. Power in charge.

A native of Sillery, Que., he is a law graduate of Laval University and was twice wounded in the First World War. Married in 1912, Mr. Power has three children.

Elected

STANLEY KNOWLES
CCF Chief Whip

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A labor union member and clergyman, Stanley Knowles entered the Commons in a 1942 by-election to succeed the Late J. S. Woodsworth, founder of the CCF, in Winnipeg North Centre constituency.

The CCF's chief whip in the Commons since 1944, Mr. Knowles is a member of the International Typographical Union, Local 191, Winnipeg, and has been a United Church minister.

Born 45 years ago in Los Angeles of Canadian parents, he came to Canada at the age of 16 and has been active in party affairs since 1934 when he graduated as a bachelor of divinity at the University of Manitoba.

He was unsuccessful as a candidate in federal elections in 1935 and 1940 and in the 1941 Manitoba election before he entered the Commons. Strongly interested in international affairs, he was a member of Canada's delegation to the first session of the United Nations general assembly in 1936.

Mr. Knowles is married and has a son and daughter.

Elected

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hon. William Earl Rowe, 59, has been active in municipal, provincial and federal levels of government ever since he entered a township council in Ontario's Simcoe County in 1918.

In the years since, he went to the Ontario Legislature, then to the House of Commons where he became a federal cabinet minister, next to the post of Conservative leader in Ontario and finally back to the Commons.

HON. WILLIAM EARL ROWE
Former Cabinet Minister

A successful farmer, livestock breeder and business executive, Mr. Rowe is also one of Canada's best-known harness-racing drivers. A native of Hull, Iowa, he is married and has three children.

He was reeve of Gwillimbury township from 1919 to 1923 when he was elected to the Ontario Legislature. He resigned in 1925 to contest successfully a federal election in Dufferin-Simcoe riding—the seat he held in the last session of Parliament. He was returned in the 1926, 1930 and 1935 general elections, and shortly before the latter election was sworn into the R. B. Bennett cabinet as minister without portfolio.

The following year he was chosen Ontario Conservative leader, but suffered defeat in the 1937 Ontario election and returned to the Commons the same year in a by-election in Dufferin-Simcoe.

Elected

ANGUS MacINNIS
CCF

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Angus MacInnis, 68, running for the Commons in the new constituency of Vancouver-Kingsway, is a former street-car operator who has been in politics more than quarter century.

Deputy house leader of the CCF in the Commons and one of his party's chief labor experts, Mr. MacInnis still holds a card in the Vancouver Street Railwaymen's Union (AFL-TLC).

One of the original group that formed the CCF in 1932, he was a close associate of J. S. Woodsworth, the late party head, and is married to Mr. Woodsworth's daughter Grace.

Mr. MacInnis, a native of Glen William, P.E.I., has been a school trustee and alderman in Vancouver. He entered the Commons in 1930 and has been a member ever since.

For eight years, he was vice-chairman of the CCF's national council, and he also has served as a Canadian delegate to the International Labor Organization and as parliamentary adviser to Canada's United Nations delegation.

Mr. MacInnis sat in the Commons for Vancouver East for five terms.

Elected

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hon. Brooke Claxton moved into the federal cabinet in 1944 after 14 years as a law professor at McGill University.

He had been Commons member for the Montreal constituency of St. Lawrence-St. George for only four years before he was sworn in as health and welfare minister in Oct. 13, 1944. Two years later the man who won the Distinguished Conduct Medal as an artillery sergeant-major in the First World War was made minister of national defence.

Born in Montreal Aug. 23 1898, Mr. Claxton was educated at Lower Canada College and McGill University. His legal knowledge has been put to use by the government in a number of important jobs.

HON. BROOKE CLAXTON
National Defence Minister

He was co-author of a special study on the Canadian constitution for the Rowell-Sirois commission on Dominion-provincial relations, secretary of the constitutional committee at the 1941 Dominion-provincial conference, chief of Canada's delegation to the 1947 British Commonwealth conference and vice-chairman of Canada's delegation in the 1947-48 talks with Newfoundland preceding that province's addition to confederation.

Mr. Claxton was married in 1925 to Helen Galt Savage of Montreal and has two sons and a daughter.

Elected

HON. RALPH CAMPNEY
Solicitor-General

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hon. Ralph Campney, 59-year-old associate defence minister and solicitor-general, has been a member of the House of Commons for only four years but has been close to political activities since he began his career as a lawyer.

In 1924, the same year he was called to the Ontario bar, he became private secretary to the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King and from 1926-29 he held a similar position with the late Trade Minister James Malcolm.

Mr. Campney became a member of the British Columbia bar in 1929 but did not enter active politics until 1948 when he was defeated as a Commons candidate in the general election the next year he was elected in Vancouver Centre and became parliamentary assistant to Defence Minister Claxton in 1951 before taking over the solicitor general's portfolio last October.

During the last session of Parliament he became Canada's first peacetime associate defence minister.

A native of Picton, Ont., he served overseas in the First World War with the Medical Corps, the infantry and finally the Royal Flying Corps. He is a graduate of Queen's University and member of its board of trustees.

Mr. Campney was married in 1925 to Vera Farnsworth of Bellevilel, Ont., and has one son.

Defeated

ARTHUR BEAUCHESNE
Progressive Conservative

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Arthur Beauchesne, 77, Progressive Conservative candidate for the House of Commons in Ottawa East, is recognized as Canada's top authority on parliamentary procedure.

Though he has never been an elected member of the House, he spent 32 years as deputy clerk and then clerk of the Commons, and his writings on procedure are the standard rule-books for House operation.

He was clerk from 1925 until 1948, when he retired, and he spent much of his time in digging into parliamentary history and institutions and clarifying the rules of procedure in successive editions of books that came to be known simply as "Beauchesne."

First a newspaper man and then a lawyer, Dr. Beauchesne twice ran unsuccessfully for office before starting his long Commons career. In 1908, he tried for the Commons as a Conservative in Bonaventure, Que., his native county, and in 1913 he ran for the provincial legislature in the same riding.

Since his retirement, he has acted as adviser to the Quebec government in federal-provincial matters. He is married and has two married daughters.

Elected

ALFRED J. BROOKS
PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Alfred Johnson Brooks, 62, has been senior Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for New Brunswick and one of his party's chief spokesmen on matters relating to war veterans.

Mr. Brooks, a native of Gagetown, N.B., served overseas in the First World War as a major and in the late war as a colonel.

After the first war, he was an inspector of schools in New Brunswick and then became provincial organizer for the Conservative party in N.B. He sat in the New Brunswick legislature from 1925 to 1935 and was its deputy speaker for the last five of those years.

Elected to the Commons in 1935, he was re-elected three times. His constituency is Royal. He is married and has two sons.

Elected

DOUGLAS S. HARKNESS
PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Douglas Scott Harkness, 50, a lieutenant-colonel overseas in the Second World War, has been one of the Progressive Conservatives' chief military spokesmen in the Commons. He also specializes in western subjects such as oil and cattle.

A native of Toronto, Mr. Harkness is a former high school teacher who later engaged in farming and livestock ranching.

He served overseas from 1940 to 1945, in Italy, Sicily and Northwest Europe. A member of the Reserve Army and of the Alberta Military Institute, he is married and has one son.

He was first elected to the Commons for Calgary East in the general election of 1945.

Defeated

C. H. MILLARD
CCF

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Charles H. Millard, 56, one of Canada's most powerful labor leaders, is the CCF candidate for York West in the federal general election.

Mr. Millard is Canadian director of the 55,000-member United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), one of Canada's two largest unions. Earlier, he held the same job with the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO-CCL), which has roughly the same Canadian membership.

He also is a vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Labor and is regarded as a likely president of that body in the next few years.

Mr. Millard, born in St. Thomas, Ont., represented York West in the Ontario Legislature in 1943-45 and 1948-51. In 1921 he married Jessie Kerr of Galt, Ont., and they have five children.

In the First World War, he served four years in the Canadian Army.

A member of the United Church, he is active in religious work and occasionally takes the pulpit. He has served on the national executive of the board of evangelism and social service.

Elected

MRS. ELLEN L. FAIRCLOUGH
Progressive Conservative

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, 48-year-old Hamilton housewife and public accountant, was the only woman member of the last House of Commons.

Slim, fair-haired and active, she entered the Commons from Hamilton West in a by-election in May, 1950, following the death of the sitting member, Hon. Colin Gibson. In her first attempt as a Commons candidate in the 1949 general election, she was defeated by Mr. Gibson.

Mrs. Fairclough, labor spokesman in the Commons for the Progressive Conservative party, entered public life as a Hamilton alderman in 1946 and in 1950 was elected to the city's board of control.

A native of Hamilton, she is married to D. H. G. Fairclough and they have one son.

Defeated

ARZA CLAIR CASSELMAN
Progressive Conservative Whip

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A. C. Casselman, 62, whip of the Progressive Conservative party in the House of Commons since 1936, is one of the veteran members of the lower house.

He entered the Commons in 1921 from the former constituency of Grenville in eastern Ontario. He resigned the next year in favor of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, who had been defeated in his own Western Canada riding. But in 1925 Mr. Casselman was elected in the reorganized Grenville-Dundas constituency and won six successive general elections there.

He served overseas as a gunner in the First World War and is a law graduate at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. His first two wives died and in 1946 he was married a third time to Jean Rowe. He has two sons and one daughter and makes his home at Prescott, Ont.

Elected

LOUIS RENE BEAUDOIN
Deputy Speaker of the Commons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rene Beaudoin, 41, has been deputy speaker of the House of Commons since April 9, 1952.

A lawyer from Quebec province, he entered the Commons in the 1945 general election from the constituency of Vaudreuil - Soulanges and was re-elected in 1949.

Mr. Beaudoin has represented Canada at a number of conferences overseas, including meetings of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association in New Zealand, Australia and Ceylon, and was Canadian delegate to the 1947 United Nations general assembly. For three years between 1949 and 1951 he was also vice-president of the National Liberal Federation.

Born in Montreal, he was president of his graduating law class from the University of Montreal. He is married and makes his home at Hudson, Que.

Airport Building

CALGARY (CP)—A new administration building costing about $700,000 is expected to be built at Calgary airport next year with the city handling most of the financing. Plans will be submitted to the transport department in September.

Dr. Fred Robertson Increases Majority In Northumberland

COBOURG.—Dr. Fred Robertson of Cobourg was re-elected Liberal member for Northumberland County last night when he polled a total of 9,569 votes to 7,612 received by Olley Taylor of Cobourg, the Progressive Conservative candidate. Frank Armstrong, CCF candidate of Haldimand township, received 436 votes.

DR. FRED ROBERTSON

In the previous federal election Dr. Robertson defeated Major Earl Drope, Conservative, by a majority of 852 votes, as compared with his majority this time over the Conservative candidate of 1,947.

In Cobourg at this election Dr. Robertson's majority over the Conservative candidate was 943 and in the previous federal election his majority over the Conservative candidate was 752. Last night Dr. Robertson's election was conceded by 9.30 o'clock.

PC LEADER VOTES — Hon. George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, and Mrs. Drew cast their ballots an hour after voting started in Ottawa East constituency. The PC candidate in the riding was Dr. A. Beauchesne, former Commons clerk. Mr. Drew, a candidate in nearby Carleton riding, won in his own riding but lagged far behind across the nation.

George White Returned In Hastings-Frontenac

MADOC (By Staff Reporter). —From the drop of the starting flag until last reports had finally dribbled in, Hastings-Frontenac went Progressive - Conservative Monday; violently. With 124 out of 144 polls reporting, George White led his Liberal opponent by 3,200 votes. C. W. "Clute" Foster conceded the election at 10.30.

A drizzly day was probably responsible for the heavy vote in which approximately 75 per cent of those eligible turned out to the polls.

DEFINITE TREND

A definite trend indicating the return of Mr. White formed within the first few minutes after polls closed. His lead grew as results poured in and he was never headed.

This will be the fourth term for the winner whose victory came without surprise in most quarters. He served three times as the representative for Hastings-Peterborough, winning campaigns in 1940, 1945 and 1949.

Four offices in the village were the focal point of most of Monday night's activity. Both Liberal and Conservative headquarters were jammed with supporters and well-wishers while Gord Pigden's radio store and Jim Watson's North Hastings Review office acted as clearing houses for election news.

A public address system with microphones in the Review and the radio store, was operated by Pigden. Connected with radio networks, it kept voters congregated on street corners informed of latest results, both local and national.

As confidence grew in the Conservative quarters, hope dimmed for a Foster victory. Finally, at approximately 10.30 with the eventual winner leading by about 2,000 votes, Mr. Foster and Liberal campaign officials visited the PC rooms to congratulate the victorious candidate.

Both men had stuck to the telephones in their offices most of the night and tabulated their own returns.

Of special significance to Mr. White was his victory in the subdivision of Denbigh which, he said, "a Conservative has never won before." He tallied 145 votes to Mr. Foster's 140.

LARGEST MAJORITY

Addressing the street corner groups over the address system, he called it "a source of pride and satisfaction to have recorded the largest majority a candidate has ever received in the village of Madoc."

He said that during his years of office "I have always had the best interests of the people of my riding at heart, regardless of party, race or creed." He promised he would continue this as the representative for the newly-formed riding.

Mr. White concluded by thanking his constituents for trusting him with the authority of representing them; "I assure you it won't be abused."

In Mr. Foster's home poll of Moira where he was born, he lost 123 votes to 51. The defeated candidate told the street audience he appreciated the support he received and commented: "I have never enjoyed anything as much as this campaign."

The 124 polls out of 144 give White 10,009 over Foster, 6,871.

Suspect Changes Story Now Claims Murder In Guelph

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Milwaukee detective said Monday night that Gordon Emerson Weber, formerly of Kitchener, Ont., now claims he killed his father-in-law in Guelph, Ont., four years ago.

John Teevan came to Los Angeles to question Weber after he told local authorities that Rudolph Maier, 69, had died following an altercation in a Milwaukee railroad station. Sheriff's officers here said Weber told them he cremated the body in a dump at Hartland, Wis.

After talking with Weber earlier in the day, Teevan said he probably would request a psychiatric examination. With Weber's new story, the case may be out of the Wisconsin jurisdiction.

Teevan said he told Weber that the dump he mentioned had been searched and nothing resembling human remains had been found.

Then, Teevan said, the 40-year-old accountant changed his story and claimed Maier had been killed in a Guelph hotel following an argument.

After Maier's death, Weber continued, he purchased a trunk, put the body in it and drove to a golf course near Kitchener, where he burned the trunk and its contents and then buried the remains.

It was four years later, Weber said, when he returned to Canada, dug up the remains and took them to Wisconsin.

Teevan said no concrete evidence has been uncovered that Marie was slain. Weber's wife, Muriel, told sheriff's officers she believes he "made up" the story about her father's death.

John G. Barff

Requiem mass was celebrated Monday morning for John Gormley Barff, who died suddenly at his home in Montreal Thursday.

Dr. J. V. Masterson presided at the service in St. Mary's Church, Young's Point. Pallbearers were Alex Curran, Derry Pratt, Jack Quigley, Tom McKenna, Jack Young and William Mearns.

Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery. The Rev. C. J. Carroll presided at graveside services.

St. Laurent Prepares To Meet Members of New Cabinet

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent, fresh from a second victory as leader of his party in a general election, will meet his cabinet here Thursday.

All his cabinet colleagues who went through the campaign were elected, as well as their parliamentary assistants, with one exception.

The new Parliament itself will show little change so far as major figures are concerned. All party leaders were returned along with most of their chief lieutenants.

There is no interuption in government. The cabinet ministers do not have to be re-sworn. They simply carry on.

Only one job of cabinet building awaits the prime minister, apart from any changes he may choose to make.

There was one vacancy when the government went to the people. Hon. Alphonse Fournier, minister of public works, resigned his Hull seat to take an appointment to the Exchequer Court bench and his portfolio remained vacant.

MAY BE OTHER CHANGES

However, there may be other changes. Finance Minister Abbott has freely forecast that he would move to another portfolio after running the treasury since December, 1946.

It has been frequently forecast that Justice Minister Garson would trade portfolios with Mr. Abbott, a lawyer in private life.

Other changes may be in the offing, but they did not become apparent during the campaign.

There has been talk of Dr. J. J. McCann, 66, retiring from the revenue department for a place in the Senate, and if this happens it may require further shuffles.

For the first time since 1945 the government has a woman supporter elected to the House, Mrs. Ann Shipley of Timiskaming, long experienced in municipal politics.

It would not be surprising if, in the near future, she is placed in a cabinet position—to be the first Canadian woman cabinet member. She is almost certain to be made a parliamentary assistant if she falls short of a cabinet post.

Another certain new parliamentary assistant post is ready for W. G. (Gib) Weir, 57, Portage-Neepawa, Liberal whip in the House since 1945.

When he announced dissolution of Parliament and the election date in June, Mr. St. Laurent said he would offer Mr. Weir the post of parliamentary assistant to the prime minister, if the election went in favor of the Liberals. Mr. Weir would retain his job of party whip if he chose to.

NEED NEW SPEAKER

The government will have to nominate a new Speaker when Parliament meets and there seems little doubt it will go to the deputy speaker of the last Parliament, L. Rene Beaudoin, 41, re-elected in Vaudreuil-Soulanges.

Speaker of the last House, W. Ross Macdonald, Brantford, was appointed to the Senate before the election. The Speaker's job goes alternately to English and French-speaking members and now it is the turn of a French-speaking member.

There are 12 Senate vacancies remaining. At dissolution, when the prime minister appointed a number of senators, he said he was leaving these vacancies deliberately against the possibility that a new party would form the next government.

Because the Liberal party has been in office 18 years, the Senate is already heavily over-balanced with Liberal appointees—81 Liberals, eight Progressive Conservatives, and 12 vacancies.

This brings to the fore the possibility, often speculated upon, that the government will attempt to correct this unbalanced situation by appointing some prominent representatives of opposition parties.

Mr. St. Laurent is 71 years old and the oldest member of his government although he looks and seems much younger. Next to him are Agriculture Minister Gardiner, 69, and Trade Minister Howe, 67.

Average age of the executive members of the government is about 54.

There has been some talk of the prime minister resigning after this election, but his own reply to such rumors is that he expects to be around "quite awhile yet."

Monday night, in a victory speech, his newly-appointed secretary of state, J. W. Pickersgill, elected in Newfoundland's Bonavista-Twillingate riding, expressed confidence that Mr. St. Laurent has no intention of retiring.

Oriental Visitors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayors of 25 leading Japanese cities will spend a day in Vancouver in August as guests of the city. A series of luncheons, industrial and scenic tours are planned for the visitors who will come here following visits to San Francisco and Seattle.

SHORTCUT MEAL-MAKING

This is the era of shortcuts in the kitchen. We have so many helps towards quicker meal-making... frozen foods, ready mixes, ready-to-eat cereals, to mention a few. I'd like to add a few of my favorite suggestions. F'rinstance, my quick and easy Carnation Cheese Sauce. What makes this speedy sauce possible, is the fact that Carnation Evaporated Milk is twice as rich as ordinary milk. So you don't need flour and shortening . . . just cheese. And because Carnation is specially heat-refined for easier, better blending with other ingredients, you get the smoothest sauce ever . . . lightning quick.

CARNATION LIGHTNING-QUICK CHEESE SAUCE
(Makes about 2½ cups sauce)

1 large can Carnation Evaporated Milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup (4 ozs.) cubed process-type cheese

Combine Carnation and salt in saucepan. Heat until small bubbles appear (about 2 minutes). Add cheese; stir constantly over low heat about 1 minute, until cheese melts.

WITH ALL OUR TIME-SAVING TRICKS we still spend a lot of time in preparing food. So we certainly want our efforts to "pay off" to the fullest. And we can do this by using products like Carnation Evaporated Milk. Women who enjoy reputations as clever cooks, have discovered that Carnation is unequalled for cooking. These experts wouldn't dream of using bottled milk — or any other evaporated milk. Why should you use any less than the best? Get the most out of the time — little or great — that you spend in the kitchen. Use Carnation, the world's leading evaporated milk.

To prevent scorching your double boiler, place jar lid in water-filled lower section. Lid rattles when water is needed.

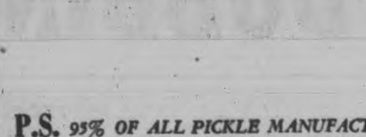
EVERYBODY USES CANNED SOUPS these days — well, practically everybody. I for one, think the canned soups are wonderful. And I have quite a lot of fun, combining two different kinds for new flavor effects . . . or adding a touch of curry or herbs. But one thing I always do. For the smoothest, richest flavored, creamiest tasting soup, I heat canned soups with an equal amount of undiluted Carnation. You won't believe how good and how nourishing soup can be, until you make it with undiluted Carnation.

CURRIED GREEN PEA SOUP
(Makes 3 or 4 servings)

1 can condensed green pea soup
Equal measure of undiluted Carnation Milk
Dash of curry powder



Heat soup with Carnation, stirring to blend. Add curry powder — serve with croûtons.

Shortest distance between a little meal-making effort and a big, wonderful effect — Carnation Evaporated Milk. Try Carnation undiluted in cream recipes, on cereals and fruits, in coffee — mix Carnation with an equal amount of water for whole milk purposes.

Millions of coffee lovers can't be wrong — and they prefer Carnation to cream in coffee. Undiluted Carnation is heavy enough to whip! So it's just right for coffee . . . gives richer, creamier color and more delicious flavor.

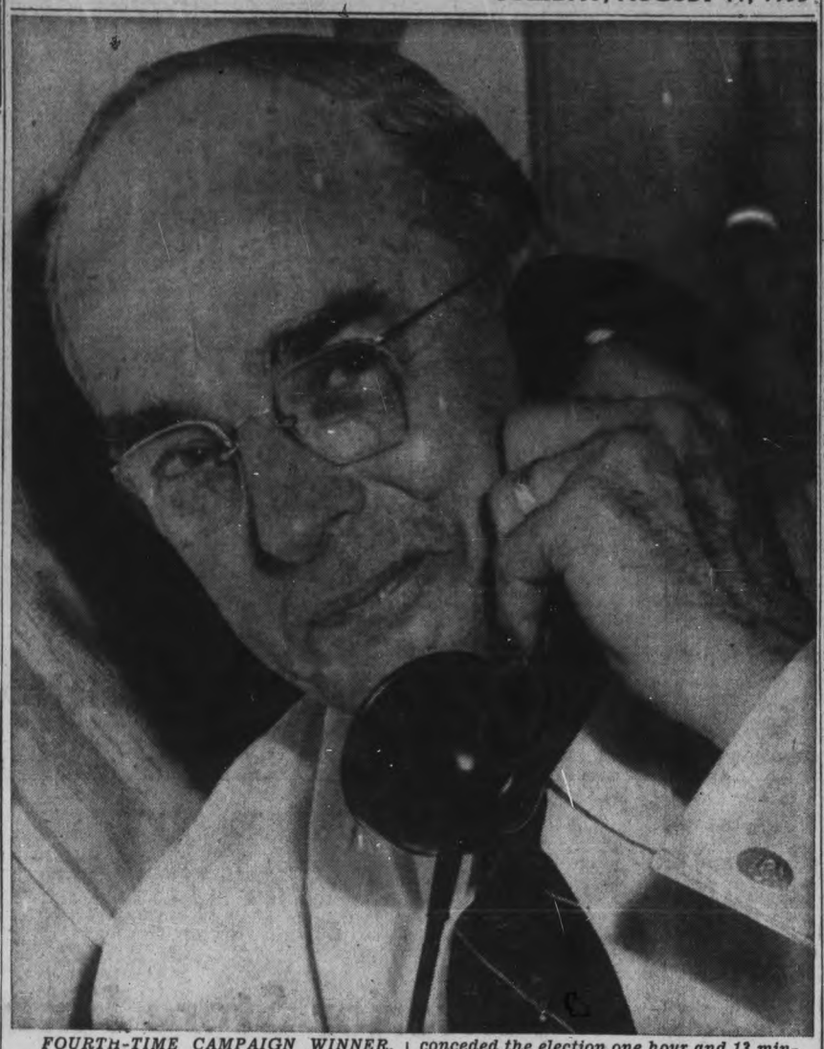
Besides Lt.-Commander Wilson, there's also Chief Officer Harry Lane and Petty Officer Donald Stewart conducting the navy tests from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. daily.

Firemen Save House, Garage Burned

BRIDGENORTH (ENS) — A two storey combination henhouse, garage and storage shed, owned by Kenneth Kyle who lives at the Ennismore crossroads, burned to the ground early Monday night. There has been no estimate of damage.

Arrival of the Bridgenorth Fire Department prevented the house, only 30 feet away, from going up in flames too. When the firemen turned the hose of their pumper truck on the south wall of the Kyle home a cloud of steam rose in the air—an indication of the intense heat to which it had been subjected.

The fire started in the downstairs part of the building that is used as a garage. During the summer months baled straw is stored in the garage and the car remains outside. A spark or flame is believed to have somehow started the straw burning.



By the time the volunteer fire brigade arrived from neighbouring Bridgenorth the roof had fallen in and the immediate area was being showered with sparks.

HEN SAVED

Twenty-five hens were saved but a quantity of baled straw, lumber, a stepladder and some tools were destroyed. The downstairs of the 24 foot by 30 foot wooden building was part garage and part hen house; the upstairs was for storage only.

Originally the building was a blacksmith shop. It wasn't insured.

The fire started sometime after 7 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Kyle had just returned from Toronto and were eating supper when the blaze was discovered. They said that there were no fires burning on their property at the time, and the stove wasn't lit.

FOURTH-TIME CAMPAIGN WINNER, Progressive-Conservative candidate Gordon K. Fraser, topped the Peterborough riding by slightly more than 3,000 votes over Liberal candidate Max J. Swanston. He was conceded the election one hour and 13 minutes after the polls closed. Mr. Fraser is shown receiving congratulations on his victory from Hamilton.

G. K. Fraser Gives Credit For Victory To Workers

By PHIL CALDER

When Liberal candidate Max Swanston phoned the Progressive Conservative committee room at 8:13 Monday night to congratulate his successful opponent, Gordon K. Fraser, the latter's thoughts turned almost immediately to those who had worked to win him his fourth general election campaign.

"Mr. Swanston has just called and congratulated me and I thanked Mr. Swanston very, very much for calling," Mr. Fraser told the 100-odd supporters and well-wishers gathered in his Hunter St. headquarters. "I said that he was a good sport.

"I'm not only pleased for myself but pleased for all those who worked for me," he continued, his face wreathed in a smile of victory.

"I do not consider this a personal victory but a victory for those people who helped in this election and everyone who voted for me. It was real co-operation on everyone's part."

Seated around Mr. Fraser when his strongest opponent conceded him victory were his wife, his campaign manager, Frank Foster, and the Hon. Harold Scott, MLA, who were assisting him as he tabulated results reported by party scrutineers throughout the riding.

ADDRESSED FOLLOWERS

At first the victorious candidate attemtped to continue his task of transferring the poll-by-poll reports on to a master sheet on the desk in front of him. But he was besieged by a crowd of well-wishers anxious to congratulate him and shake his hand.

Finally, Mr. Fraser shoved the figures across the desk to Mr. Foster and stood up to receive congratulations. At 9.00 p.m. he addressed the milling crowd in the committee room.

"I just want to thank everyone who helped me," he said. "I don't know what the national picture is yet. But it doesn't look as though we're going to have a majority. But you can rest assured that there will be a good strong opposition to retain democracy in this country.

"Our time has not come yet. But it is coming, just as sure as I'm standing here. You can rest assured when I go down to Ottawa I'll scrap and fight for you just as I have in the past."

As to his immediate plans, Mr. Fraser said only that he would like to take at least one day off this week.

"Tomorrow, my secretary and I have to work eight or 10 hours to look after non-political correspondence," he told The Examiner.

After the jubilant crowd had sung "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and given him three rousing cheers, Mr. Fraser said: "I'm awfully glad to hear the ladies join in that song, because I can assure you I could never have done my job if it were not for my good wife."

The winning candidate also had words of praise for the Young Progressive Conservative club and the staff of his committee room.

But when the 7.45 tabulation was announced, a cheer went up and the gathering began to applaud.

From then on there was obvious elation in Mr. Fraser's headquarters which had by this time begun to fill up.

When poll 80 in Lakefield reported a plurality of 118 for Mr. Fraser at 7.55, the loudest cheering of the entire night broke out, as it became certain that the results in the rural area were

Liberal Party Bewildered By Size Of Loss

By DAVE WHITE

Max Swanston, Liberal candidate making his first bid to represent Peterborough in the House of Commons, was defeated 13,062 to 10,053 by Gordon K. Fraser in Monday's federal election. The margin of defeat was 3,009 votes—a stunning blow to the candidate and his Liberal followers.

Though there was a slightly heavier vote Monday than in the federal election of June 27, 1949, Mr. Swanston polled 685 less votes than the previous Liberal candidate, A. V. (Dit) Clapper.

"What happened?" was the general reaction of Liberal party workers who seemed at a loss to account for the size of Mr. Fraser's plurality. After 8:30 p.m. they stood around in small groups—talking in low tones, analyzing trends, and generally conducting a post-mortem on the day's results.

The abrupt dashing of Liberal hopes seemed anticlimactic after the months of careful preparation by the party apparatus. At 7 p.m. the 125 polls in the riding closed and Mr. Swanston and his followers waited in their committee rooms, restrained but in high hopes. They felt that this time they had a good chance to end Mr. Fraser's 13-year reign.

ADVANCE POLL

At 7:05 p.m. the tenseness reached its peak when the telephone rang. It was the advance poll indicating that Maurice Ketcheson had received no votes, Mr. Fraser 14, and Mr. Swanston 13.

"Oh, too bad!" was the general chorus. But though there was mild disappointment that the first returns weren't auspicious the con-

"That's more like it. Come on Max."

It was the one occasion during the night when the Liberal supporters felt their spirits soar. There was sustained applause and cheering. That was the high point.

At 7:25 p.m. the phone rang again. It was Poll 56, 406 Mark St. and it gave Mr. Fraser 108 votes, Mr. Ketcheson 12 and Mr. Swanston 65.

A bad sign. True, last time Poll 56 gave 122 votes to the Tories and 82 to the Grits. But it was an Ashburnham poll, located at 406 Mark St.—and the Liberal candidate was born and raised in Ashburnham.

T. J. Carley, QC, president of the Peterborough Liberal Association, checked the figures with those of 1949 and shook his head. From then on it was nearly all bad news.

By now the returns had been piling up in the Examiner office with unexpected speed. G. Wilson Craw, managing editor, checked the returns over and phoned Canadian Press to announce that Mr.

Wheat Prices Follow Drop In West

Excellent Crop Puts Price On Record Skid

With Western wheat prices taking a record 9¾-cent dip Monday, local prices followed suit today with a three-cent drop from Monday's quotations.

The Quaker Oats Co. offered the following quotations here today on Ontario winter wheat: No. 1, $1.43; No. 2, $1.43; No. 3, $1.40.

This was the third drop in local prices since the season's opening quotations on July 22 of $1.50, $1.50 and $1.47. They dropped two cents a week later and two cents after another two days.

Reason for the decline in prices is said to be abundance of this year's crop, described as one of the finest in Ontario's history.

DOWN IN U.S.

Meanwhile, from Winnipeg, sharp declines in the price of Canadian wheat were reported following a drop on U.S. markets.

The price drop applied to Canadian wheat for sale both under the International Wheat Agreement and on the open world market.

The Canadian Wheat Board quoted IWA and domestic class two wheat at $1.94 a bushel for No. 1 Northern. Class two wheat is that sold outside the agreement.

This was 11 cents below the IWA ceiling and marked one of the biggest dips below the ceiling since the first international agreement was signed in March, 1949.

A heavy barrage of selling sent the price of wheat to new lows at Chicago, bringing the drop in Winnipeg.

AGREEMENT EXPIRED

Under the old international agreement, which expired July 31, the maximum price in terms of U.S. funds was $1.80 a bushel. Throughout most of the agreement the class two price was above that ceiling.

Under the new agreement, which came into effect August 1, the ceiling price is $2.05. Prices dropped slightly below that level Friday before the major plunge Monday.

Canadian Press Sets Record For Reporting

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Press set a record for speed in reporting the Dominion election results. The decision was flashed while ballots were stil being marked in three Western provinces, Yukon and Mackenzie River.

Re-election of the Liberal government was flashed over the news association's coast-to-coast wire network at 8:15 p. m EDT. Polls closed in Alberta and Saskatchewan at 9 p. m. EDT and in British Columbia an hour later.

Despite the fast progressive coverage of the near-record vote, returns were not published in newspapers or broadcast in any province before the close of that province's polls. This was in compliance with a 1938 Election Act amendment, following claims that speedy CP reporting of 1935 Dominion election returns in the East affected voting in the West.

AIDED BY PAPERS

The Canadian Press staff of 250 in 10 bureaux aeross Canada was aided by the staffs of the association's top daily newspapers which collected returns from their respective areas. Canadian Pacific and Canadian National telegraphs set up special teleprinter circuits paralleling CP's 13,000 miles of leased teleprinter wires.

Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer, assisted in the record-breaking performance by instructing his more than 100,000 election employees in 263 constituencies to give every possible assistance to the press.

The election service was made available for broadcasting to the Canadian Broadcasting Corpora-

What Election? Says Tourist

Candid remarks heard on the street about Monday's general election.

Peterborough restaurant owner: "It was quite a surprise to me and everyone that I have talked to that Gordon K. Fraser won with such a large majority and it was probably a surprise to the Conservatives as well".

Taxi driver: "I think it was a good idea to keep the present government in and I was a Conservative for a good number of year until this election".

New citizen—"Didn't vote, because I didn't know what it was all about".

Peterborough business-girl — "I can't make any comment on the election for I didn't have time to vote".

Barber—"From what I've heard in the past few weeks—although personal feelings did not enter—the result was obvious".

Businessman—"I forgot to wear my black tie—Why?—Max lost".

American tourist—"Election??? Didn't know there was one. Sure quiet about it anyway".

Voter Almost Made It

Water Off A Duck's Back

Sometimes you just can't win.

For weeks prior to Monday's voting, election officials and party workers stretched every effort to see that, if possible, everybody who was entitled to vote had his name on the voters' list and knew where he was supposed to vote.

From the time the polls opened Monday candidates' campaign headquarters were bustling with activity. The din of telephone bells filled the air, as people who wanted to be transported to the polls rang for free car rides.

When the polls closed at 7.00 p.m., workers at party headquarters paused for a short breather, a cup of coffee and a sandwich before the hectic task of compiling returns began a few minutes later.

That's when it happened.

A man walked into Gordon K. Fraser's committee room on Hunter St. and looked anxiously around.

"Can you tell me where I can find out where I was supposed to have voted?" he asked.

Sure enough, his name was on the voters' list.

Robert Saunders Inspects CGE Plant; Equal To Best In World

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Board of Hydro Electric Power Commissioners, went through the CGE plant today in a 45-minute tour inspecting HEPC equipment being built there for the giant Sir Adam Beck power generating station at Niagara Falls. "I'm not a technical man," said Mr. Saunders, "but I know that the standard of the CGE plant here in Peterborough is equal to the best. And I've seen plants in the United States and Europe, including England, Scotland, France and Germany.

"We're particularly pleased with the plant here because they are efficient and have always delivered to us on schedule."

Mr. Saunders made a rapid tour of inspection through the sections of the plant which are making the six generators and switchgear equipment. The total contract will come to $6,500,000.

At present four of the six units are under construction. The remaining six units for the Sir Adam Beck station are being manufactured by other Canadian firms.

$29 MILLIONS IN ORDERS

"With this contract included, it means that the CGE has received $29,000,000 in orders from the HEPC during the last six years," he said.

With his party from the HEPC he inspected the generators in various stages of construction. He began in the motor and generating department in the main assembly building, and as the overhead cranes continued operations he looked at the giant rotors and stators and other equipment.

The interior of the stator is as big as a motorcycle bowl in a midway sideshow. Ladders are necessary to climb in and out of it.

Top company executives accompanied the HEPC chairman on his tour and explained the technical problems involved and the stage of manufacture. Among CGE officials were H. M. Turner, president; C. A. Morrison, vice-president; A. M. Doyle, general manager, apparatus division; J. W. Milne, marketing manager; J. E. Girven, manufacturing manager; J. L. McKeever, engineering manager; and S. R. Adamson, acting manager of the Peterborough Works.

PRESENTED PAINTING

In the so-called "million dollar corner" of the main assembly building Mr. Saunders inspected some of the largest lathes and drills in Canada. Here, for a few minutes, the machines were shut down and workmen gathered around while Mr. Saunders made a brief speech and presented President H. M. Turner with a painting of the Chenaux power station on the Ottawa river.

The painting was by a Latvian immigrant, Otto Grebze, now an HEPC employee, and showed the CGE-installed generators in operation in the new Chenaux station. A painting of "beauty and efficiency together," was Mr. Saunders' comment.

Mr. Saunders recalled that the CGE plant had previously come through on schedule with generating units and helped the HEPC out of a power-shortage difficulty. He anticipated the first units to be installed at the Sir Adam Beck station would be in mid-September.

M. Ketcheson Blames Examiner For Defeat

By JACK FINN

Maurice Ketcheson says the Examiner was more than instrumental in his defeat, as CCF candidate for the Peterborough riding.

When asked for a statement, he would make none—nothing official that is, but unofficially he was "through with the Examiner—for good."

"Granted the paper, (Examiner) didn't tell people how to vote, but they might as well have . . . bunch of Capitalists."

Mr. Ketcheson was referring to an editorial which appeared in this paper stating that the real electoral battle in this riding would be between the Liberal and Conservative candidates. He said that the article built up the character of these two candidates—and insinuated a lack of the same in himself.

Mr. Ketcheson had a poor evening however and much of his peevishness could be credited to the scanty returns on his behalf. Things started off quite slowly for the CCF candidate and no acceleration occurred during the evening. The first report received at CCF committee rooms was a dull five vote for Ketcheson as compared with 93 for Fraser and 49 for Swanston. The last recorded report, at approximately 9:15 p.m., was 104 for Fraser, 95 for Swanston and 17 for Ketcheson.

It seems apparent from results of the election that the battle was between the Liberals and the Conservatives.

FEW BRIGHT SPOTS

There were few, if any, bright moments in the CCF committee rooms last night. Expected gains did not materialize and it was apparent from the beginning that the CCF was not in the running. However in the beginning Mr. Ketcheson was rather glib.

"One good point — we won't have such a hard time counting them (votes)—or remembering them," he said.

In fact up until the time he was asked for a press statement things were well under control. An occasional remark directed at "capitalistic waste," in regard to paper used for calculating and reporting results—and excessive political literature—seemed sufficient to appease Mr. Ketcheson's temper.

But when the request was issued for an official statement—the lid blew off—and the only excuse offered for the lop-sided loss was, "the dirty tactics of that concern across the street"—(Examiner).

However with a total number of votes registered at 1,770 for the CCF as compared with 13,062 for the Conservatives and 10,053 for the Liberals in the Peterborough riding—it is apparent that other factors enter in.

Jury Finds Death Was Suicide

Hanged Himself From Cell Bars With Blanket

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "death by his own hands" in the death of Elmer Tripp, 42, found hanging Friday morning from the bars in his cell at the police station.

The verdict included a recommendation that a time clock be installed to ensure regular inspection of cells at all times.

The recommendation was made presumably because evidence showed Tripp had been dead about four hours when his body was discovered. Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young who viewed the body an hour after it was found, said death had occurred five or six hours previously.

The five-man coroner's jury was out for almost an hour before returning its verdict.

MUST BE VISITED

Police Chief John Thompson said that police department rules stated that prisoners must be visited periodically. No evidence was given as to the time of the latest visit made to cells before Tripp was found hanging at 8:20 a.m. last Friday.

Constable Ray Caldwell told the jury he entered the male cell block about 8:20 a.m. and found a man hanging from the bars above the top of the cell door. Tripp was the only prisoner that night.

He got in touch with the desk sergeant, and with Chief Thompson and Constable Lou Rodreque went to the cell, where Constable Rodregue and Chief Thompson cut down the body.

Tripp's body was hanging from the bars by a knotted piece of blanket the dead man had torn into strips. Apparently he made two previous tries in which the blanket broke. The other knotted strip, showing evidence of being torn, dangled from the bars, said Sgt. William Aggas, the department's identification officer.

Dr. Young, the coroner, asked Sgt. Aggas whether he thought blankets were necessary for the cells in summer. The sergeant would not express an opinion.

Constable Dennis Smith, who with Constable James Armstrong picked up Tripp for being drunk the night before the suicide, said he found Tripp hiding in some bushes near a Simcoe St. home. He and Constable Armstrong brought Tripp to the station.

Members of the coroner's jury were: H. S. Routley, G. F. Covert, J. G. Harkness, Arthur Bacon and A. E. Rundle.

Six Horses Suffer From Sleeping Sickness

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba's first outbreak of sleeping sickness among horses since the end of the war has struck at least half a dozen animals at widely-separated points in the province.

A scarce serum for vaccination against the disease was flown to Winnipeg Monday from Indianapolis and will be used to vaccinate at least 200 horses in the Winnipeg area. Two or three cases have also been reported in the Swan river area.

None of the cases reported have resulted in deaths.

Among the horses affected in the Winnipeg area was a thoroughbred colt belonging to the R. J. Speers racing stable.

Veterinarians here said they do not consider the outbreak serious.

DAVIS CUP ACTION—Cuba's Reynaldo Carrido, 19, goes to the net to make a return from Henri Rochon, of Montreal, in Davis Cup singles play at Montreal's Mount Royal Tennis Club. The more experienced Rochon defeated the Cuban 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Ten Teachers Apply For Job

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Ten applications were received by the Lakefield district high school board for the position of teacher of French, which position has already been filled, but none were received for the position vacant on the Apsley staff. This information was given the board at the August meeting and Principal J. E. Stephens was asked to contact three of the applicants to ascertain if they would consider the Apsley appointment. Chairman E. P. N. Everett presided and two trustees were absent.

The chairman of the property committee was instructed to ask for tenders on laying foundation for the new agricultural building on the high school property. The work to be started immediately. The property committee was also authorized to order the material requested by D. Rintoul, for the science room. The same committee will also see that the windows are all glazed before September 1, 1953.

It was decided at the meeting that the auditorium of the high school would be used for educational purposes only.

Accounts totalling $198.44 were authorized for payment.

At a brief meeting of the Lakefield public school board, presided over by chairman Dr. R. H. Campbell, a discussion was held regarding the renovation program to be undertaken in the school.

Principal E. G. Sloan reported that pictures had been received and that furniture for the new classrooms had been ordered, but not yet received.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $181.70.

Fairview WA Meets New Minister

FAIRVIEW (ENS) — Fairview Womens Association held their August meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Bulmer with a good attendance.

The worship service was in charge of group 2 with leader Mrs. Bruce Heard in charge. Mrs. Everett Cockburn read the scripture and Mrs. Carmen Bell led in prayer. The new minister, the Rev. T. Fleetham, was welcomed by the president Mrs. Stanley Boyce, who conducted the business.

Mr. Fleetham voiced his appreciation and thanked the ladies for the fine work and effort put forth on the work done in the parsonage.

The WA will be responsible for the service at church Sunday, August 30, when Mrs. A. L. Shorten of St. James Church, Peterborough will be the guest speaker.

Services are suspended at Fairview for Aug. 15 and 22 while Mr. Fleetham is on vacation.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Bell and will be the annual grandmother's meeting.

Fake Polio Serum Said Being Peddled

WINNIPEG (CP) — Health officials warned the public Monday to beware of any unauthorized person peddling the polio serum gamma globulin in vials bearing the official government "Connaught Laboratories" label.

They said unconfirmed reports indicated "someone, not a doctor," has taken advantage of anxiety over the polio epidemic to peddle at $10 a cubic centimetre, what doctors suspect may be adulterated serum of a fluid resembling gamma globulin, possibly water.

NOT LIKE PRISON CAMP—Good food, music sweet and low and a healthy appetite is the good fortune of this group of repatriated prisoners of war who were among the first to be released by the Communists during "Operation Big Switch." The men are at present recovering from their ordeal at the processing centre at Inchon, Korea, where they will shortly board a transport for their long-awaited journey home.

Ten Thousand Square Feet Of Modern Store Opened By Allan B. Collis

Ten thousand square feet of the most modern selling space in Peterborough will open Thursday on George Street with the opening of Allan B. Collis's clothing department store.

Said to be the finest store of its kind between Montreal and Toronto, its design is completely modern, from the all-glass front to the comfortably carpeted women's wear section at the rear of the store.

All fittings are in oak, either blond or toast, and huge linoleum tiles of marbled light brown separated by buff-colored strips an inch wide cover most of the floor.

Wall colors — in flat paint,— vary from one section to another, yet blend warmly with each other. Ceilings are a light yellow, with some sections finished in acoustic tile. Ceiling lights, for the most part, are fluorescent, and their light is diffused by grids about three feet square.

SPOT LIGHTS

Spot lighting is used to achieve dramatic lighting effects in several places in the store, as well as in the display windows.

The left side of the street floor is devoted to men's clothing and shoes in a section where more subdued colors and lighting are used. A fine grade of haberdashery will be available in this section, ranging from shoes throughout the complete line of men's clothing needs.

The women's section of the street floor, on the right, will carry costume jewellery, lingerie, corsetry, hosiery and handbags. The rear of this section, where wall-to-wall carpeting is used, will be the centre for sportswear, furs, dresses, evening and wedding gowns.

A complete line of men's and women's luggage will be available in a section of the first floor.

SECOND FLOOR

Stairs at the right hand side, halfway down the north wall, lead to the second floor. The stairway, with a balustrade of wood and embossed glass, takes customers to six other sections of the store.

Here, decorated in bright colors and well lighted, are the children's wear and layette departments, the collegiate shop, the general offices and credit office, nursery furniture department, and the tailor shop.

The collegiate shop, which will carry fashionable clothing and accessories for 'teen-age girls, is the counterpart of the first floor's youth centre, where young men of collegiate age will be outfitted.

From the huge neon sign that flashes "Collis" to the passerby and potential customer to the smallest electrical fittings and hardware in the store, Allan B. Collis's new junior department store will be the most modern of its kind for the thousands of shoppers in the county and surrounding buying district.

Condemns Litterbugs

VANCOUVER (CP)—Don't be a "litterbug," appeals the British Columbia Automobile Association. "A litterbug," says Association president Harry Duker, "is one who leaves a trail of paper, boxes and bits of food along the highway."

Production Drop

REGINA (CP)—E. J. Marsball, provincial forestry director, reported Saskatchewan timber production for the 12 months ended March 31 was valued at $8,785,600, or eight per cent below the previous year. Total production was down 15 per cent.

24 Fliers Safe After Parachuting

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—All 24 men aboard a U. S. Air Force Flying Boxcar were safe today after parachuting from the big transport plane over the Libyan desert late Saturday.

U. S. Air Force European headquarters said Monday the men, none of whom were seriously injured, were taken by helicopter and ground rescue teams to a U. S. Air Force hospital at Wheelus Field, about 60 miles from where the plane plummeted to the ground.

The aircraft was on a flight from Udine, Italy, to Wheelus Field when it apparently missed its destination and developed trouble. The six crew members and 18 passengers were forced to parachute to the desert.

The air force at first received reports the plane had fallen into the sea, but later said turtles and orange crates floating on the surface had apparently deceived searchers.

Bonner-Lauchlan

At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, on Saturday, the Rev. C. G. Boyd performed the marriage of Jeanie McConnachie, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William B. Lauchlan, to Robert Amos Bonner, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bonner of Millbrook.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Lauchlan, the bride was in a pink Chantilly lace gown and jacket with matching headdress and she carried a bouquet of dusted 'mums centred by an orchid.

The church was decorated with gladioli and music was played by organist Mr. Christopher Gledhill. Mr. Garnet Dainard, brother-in-law of the groom, ushered. The bride and groom were unattended.

A reception was held at the Empress Hotel. The bride's cousin, Mrs. Laurence Finnie, received, dressed in beige mesh and wearing a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother was in navy sheer and she wore pink roses and white 'mums at her shoulder.

Following a short wedding trip the bride and groom will live at 218 Prince Street.

Cauley-Doyle

The marriage took place in St. Francis Xavier Church, Brockville, of Catherine Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. Doyle, of Brockville, and the late John Hackett Doyle, to Mr. John Stuart Cauley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cauley, of Peterborough. The Rev. W. A. Dwyer officiated.

Mr. James P. Doyle, of Prescott, gave his niece in marriage. She wore a gown of nylon tulle with pleated bodice sprinkled with seed pearls and sequins, the flowing skirt ending in a chapel train. Her coronet was trimmed with seed pearls and opalescent sequins, and she carried gardenias, white gladioli and stephanotis.

Mrs. Peter Mudry, of Pointe Claire, Que., was matron of honor,

SVELTE—That's the only word for this design. The neckline is shaped by fine dressmaker touches so that it can be worn either buttoned up, or filled in with a scarf and open to the waist.

wearing a gown of sun dust tulle with a headdress of yellow daisies and mauve and purple baby asters, and carrying a matching bouquet. Mr. Alan A. Cauley, of Montreal, was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Robert A. Servos, Toronto; Mr. Peter Mudry, Pointe Claire, and Mr. Robert Cauley, Montreal.

The reception was held at the Manitonna Hotel. After a wedding trip to Cape Cod, the couple will live in Toronto.

60 Descendants Attend Reunion

The summer home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wallace on Mirror Lake, Emily township was once again an ideal setting for the annual picnic of the relatives and friends of the Young family. The first of the Young family in Canada was the late Thomas Young, who landed in this country with his wife, the former Elizabeth Edmison, and five children on June 2, 1832.

About 60 members of the family were present. Gifts were given the oldest member present, Mr. James Young, of Smith, and to the youngst one, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Bell, of South Monaghan.

Mr. Dawson Paul acted as chairman and conducted a short business period after dinner. Minutes of the 1952 reunion were read by Mrs. J. E. Robinson. A candy scramble and races for the children as well as a contest for the older ones were conducted by Mr. and Mrs. D. Paul.

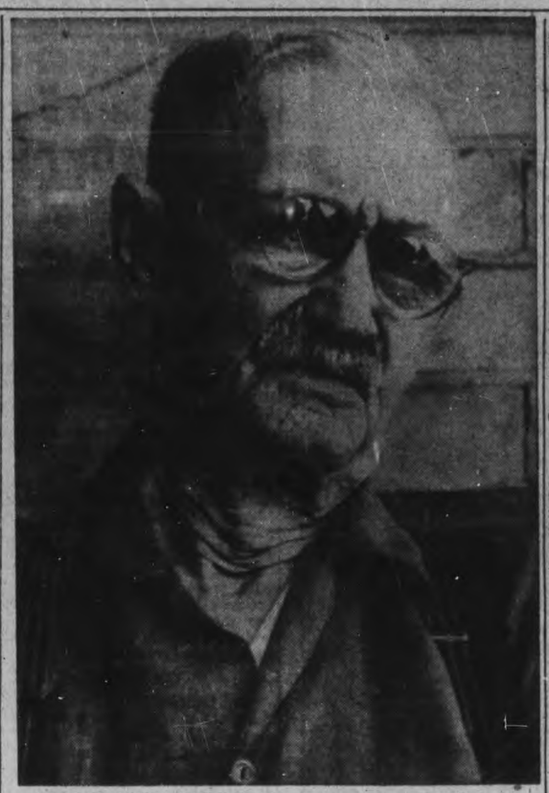
Officers chosen for 1954 were Mr. Dawson Paul, president, and Miss Ethel Young, secretary-treasurer. Next year's gathering will be held at Mirror Lake at the same time.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Northey, Janet and Jimmie; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Darling, Susan and Randy; Mrs. Roy Robinson and Laurel Robinson; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Young; Ev Robinson; Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Christopher and Jack; Isabel Scott; Mr. and Mrs. Rick Robinson, Ann and Kathryn; Mr. and Mrs. Red Paul and family; Mabel Paul, Gilmour Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Max Archer; Harry Young, Ethel Young; Mr. and Mrs. James Young; Mr. and Mrs. Streeter; Mrs. Chester; Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Westlake, Rodger and Nancy; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Westlake, John and Tom; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Bell and Marie; Louise and Nita Harrison.

Leahy-Walsh

Guests from the Yukon territory, Peterborough, Douro, Tweed, Belleville, Kingston, Toronto and Rochester were at the wedding in Church of St. Charles Borromeo, Read, of Theresa Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Walsh of Read, to Dr. Philip John Leahy of Teaswater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Leahy, of Douro.

The Rev. Bernard J. Walsh, brother of the bride, performed the marriage and nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Leo Leahy, brother of the groom.



Dresden rose lace over bridal satin fashioned the bride's strapless, floor-length gown which was worn with a mandarin type lace jacket. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a matching lace cap encircled with lilies of the valley and she carried a shower bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Theresa O'Reilley of Wolfe Island as maid of honor, her cousin Miss Joan Walsh and Miss Patricia McCarthy, both of Toronto, as bridesmaids, and her niece Colleen Walsh as flower girl.

The attendants' strapless ballerina gowns were of cornflower blue taffeta with overskirts of white nylon tulle and they wore white lace jackets caught at the waist with blue taffeta cumberbunds. Each carried a fan-shaped bouquet in varied tones of pink roses, edged with blue cornflowers and their headdresses were matching flower bandeaux. The flower girl was in blue bubble nylon over taffeta with bonnet trimmed with pink rosebuds which matched her nosegay.

Mr. Frank Leahy of Douro was groomsman for his brother and ushers were Dennis Walsh, brother of the bride, and Dr. Norman Clark of Toronto.

The wedding reception was held at Tobe's County Gardens and afterward the couple left on a wedding trip to Quebec and points in U.S.

ON HIS 85TH BIRTHDAY, Frank Sutton, of Toronto, native of Cavan, visiting his son, Bob Sutton, missed voting for the first time in 64 years, except for his years spent in Buffalo. Modern living is little improved over the old days when houses were built to last and costs were not so high. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Few Advances In 85 Years Says Native Son Of Cavan

'Dane' Swain was one of the original 'Cavan Blazers' and like the most of them he liked his wee drink of good whiskey. Gradually however 'Dane's' eye-sight began to suffer and finally he consulted a doctor only to learn the inevitable—"quit drinking or else".

For two weeks 'Dane' played the role of a Tea-tottler —and then one day he was seen to enter the local inn.

"What'll it be, 'Dane', asked the barman.

"A good glass o'whiskey," was the reply.

And just before he tipped the amber fluid to his lips, he was heard to say in a deep and sincere voice—"Farewell eyesight".

But according to Mr. Frank Sutton, who celebrated his 85th birthday on Monday, "that wasn't the end of old 'Dane'."

BORN IN CAVAN

Mr. Sutton was born in Cavan in 1868. "I was born in the old log homestead that my father, and his father before that lived in. My ancestors came from the county Cavan, Ireland and when they built that house—they built something. It's still standing—and if no one tears it down —it'll be there for another hundred years."

At present Mr. Sutton lives with his daughter in Toronto and was visiting his son Bob when his birthday occurred. His biggest regret was that he was unable to vote in Monday's election.

"I had a good mind to phone up Louis St. Laurent and ask him for transportation to Toronto. It's the first time in 64 years that I haven't had a vote."

PICKS BEST MAN

When asked if he were a confirmed Liberal, he replied, " . . . no, I think I've voted for everybody at one time or another—but in my mind it was always for the best man."

Throughout his life he was always a good scrapper—"never could chew the rag". If he won the decision or lost, didn't matter too much "Life's too short to hold any grudges", is his philosophy.

Mr. Sutton was a teamster most of his life—" a good judge of whiskey and horse-flesh". When he was 24 he moved to Buffalo where he remained for 12 years. During this time he worked for a nursery and helped landscape the park for the World's Fair at which President McKinley was assasinated.

After his stay in the States he moved to Toronto and remained there ever since. He still thinks that farming is the best life and wishes he hadn't spent his whole life in the city.

"For all their modern equipment, I don't think that farming efficiency has increased much since my day. It may have taken a little longer then, but it didn't cost as much either."

Mr. Suton doesn't see where there has been too much gain in many things. He remembers when he could purchase a side of beef for $3. and a day's wages seldom exceeded a dollar. "When you compare those rates with those of the present day—what do you see?"

Havelock Couple Honored On Golden Wedding

HAVELOCK (ENS). — Fifty years married, Mr. and Mrs. James Diaper celebrated the golden anniversary of their marriage Saturday, when a reception was held in the afternoon and evening in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nobes, Sr.

Large bouquets of gladioli, 'mums and roses formed a beautiful setting for the event. The guests were received by Mrs. Nobes and her mother, Mrs. Prentice. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. H. Hoard and Miss June Post. Pouring tea were Mrs. William Harris, district deputy [illegible] Rebekah lodge, Mrs. L. Hornsby, Mrs. C. Toms, Mrs. G. Emery, Mrs. Rae Williams. A large three-tiered wedding cake centred the prettily arranged tea table.

Mr. and Mrs. Diaper received many messages of congratulations. Among the many gifts they received were two tri-light floor lamps, one from Mr. and Mrs. J. Chotton and the other from the Ladies' Auxiliary to Branch 389 Havelock-Belmont Legion; a gift of money presented by Mrs. H. Hoard on behalf of Lady McGill LOBA, No. 471; a gold satin cushion from Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Curtis; a gold jug from Mrs. Cecil Parrington of Peterborough; a three-piece china tea service from Mr. and Mrs. G. Hubbell; a chrome and cystal jam dish from Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Judd; a cup and saucer from Mr. and Mrs. James Wilde, and an electric tea kettle from the neighbors.

A large bouquet of roses and gladioli was cabled from Mr. and Mrs. J. Veal, who live in Sholing, England, the home town of the guests of honor, who are cousins of Mr. Diaper. A gift of flowers was also received from Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Davis of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Diaper were married in St. Mary's Church, Sholing, England, on Aug. 8, 1903, with the vicar, the Rev. Francis Davidson officiating. Mrs. Diaper was formerly Ethel Williams. The event was a double ceremony as Mrs. Diaper's sister, Sarah Louise Williams, was united in marriage to Arthuh Charles Sansome. Mr. Diaper came to Canada in 1912 and took a job in the CPR shops as wiper in August of that year. He was joined by Mrs. Diaper in August, 1914. Mr. Diaper is a veteran of the First World War, going overseas with the 93rd battalion, later transferring to the 21st battalion. He was badly gassed in active service. After he returned to Canada he re-entered the service of the CPR as a locomotive fireman. He was superannuated in February, 1943. He is a great hockey fan and in his younger [illegible] played hockey team here for five years in the 20s. He served as truant officer for six years. Mrs. Diaper is active in the work of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the local Canadian Legion, the Lady McGill LOBA, and the Dorcas Rebekah Lodge.

Those from out of town who attended the celebration were Mrs. T. Page, Mrs. E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hewton, Mrs. Mary Trennum, Mrs. Jane Vilneff, Miss Ruby Johnson of Peterborough; Mrs. Charles Taylor of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. G. Bales of Smith Falls.

Marsden Family Holds Reunion

ROSENEATH —(ENS) —The eighteenth annual reunion of the Marsden families was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Chief Norman and Mrs. Marsden, Alderville. Approximately one hundred Marsdens and their descendants were present from Miami, Toronto, Oshawa, Lakefield, Peterborouhg, Coldsprings, Cobourg and Alderville.

The officers in charge of this reunion were: president, Robert Marsden; vice-president, Moses Mardsen; secretary, John D. Loukes; treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Crowe.

Mr. Moses Marsden, Lakefield, was chairman. Chief Norman Marsden welcomed the guests.

Mr. Arthur Smith, Toronto, was master of ceremonies for the program.

Sunday School Picnic At Cobourg

COLDSPRINGS (ENS). — St. Paul's United Church Sunday school picnicked on Saturday at Victoria Park, Cobourg. The weather was ideal and at noon 100 sat down to [illegible]den tables.

Following [illegible] few races were run, conducted by Mrs. Ross Timlin and Paul McIntosh, with results as follows:

5 years and under—Faye Aldeson. Boys 6 to 8 years—Ross Bull. Girls 6 to 8—Linda Turk. Boys 8 to 10—Garth Gordon.

During the remainder of the afternoon the children enjoyed wading in Lake Ontario.

Tinder-Shewfelt

The wedding was solemnized in Fairview United Church, by the Rev. T. Fleetham, assisted by the Rev. E. C. Wolfraim of Lakefield, of Lenora Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shewfelt of Lakefield Highway, to George Tinder, son of Mrs. W. Tinder and the late Mr. Tinder of Guelph.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of white nylon over taffeta, with a braided tiara in her hair, white accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Her attendant, Mrs. Netta Parish of Lindsay, wore flowered nylon, white hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink marguerites.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Harold Lewis of Fairview.

The groom was attended by Mr. Nelson Hepburn of Guelph. Mr. Orville Shewfelt, brother of the bride, was usher.

Later a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Tinder will live in Guelph.

Roseneath News

Mrs. J. W. Pacey has returned home after convalescing for the past two months at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pacey, Cobourg.

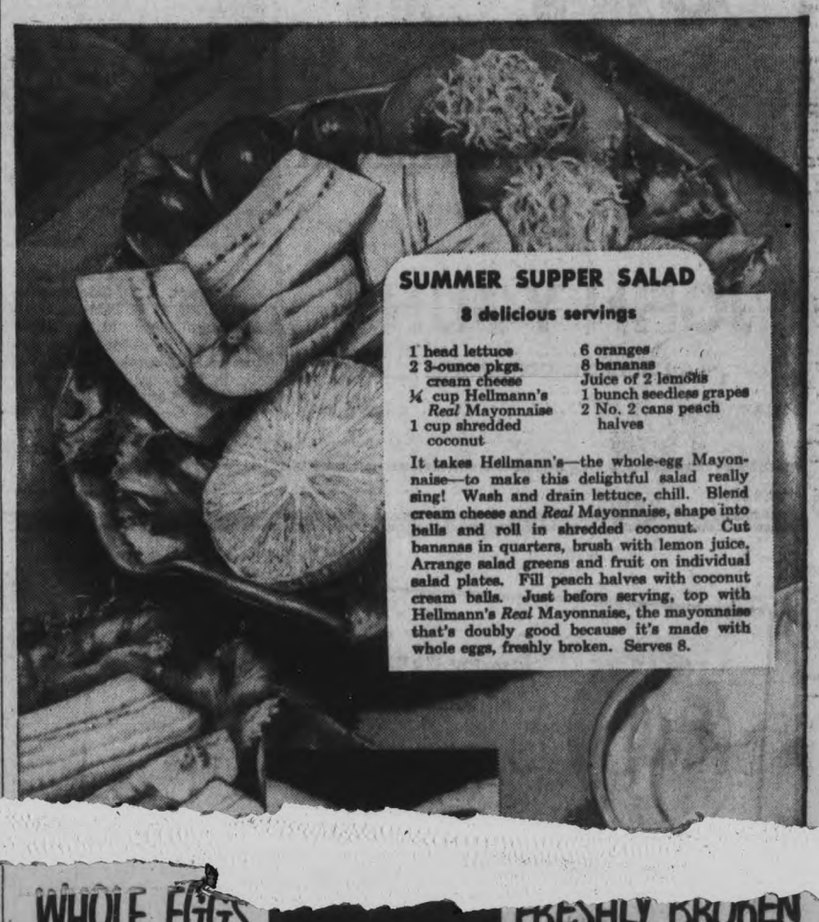
Hostess Groups Planning Social Events For ACWW

Despite a crowded daily agenda planned for delegates and observers attending the seventh Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World at the Royal York, from August 12-23, several social events have been planned by the hostess groups, the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and Quebec's Les Cercles de Fermieres. Assisting will be the federal and Ontario governments, the University of Toronto, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, and Toronto business firms and stores.



Wednesday evening, Aug. 12, an opening "get-together party" will be held in the hotel ballroom, and Thursday afternoon the president, Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Ackworth, Iowa, will entertain at the executive committee at tea. That evening, the Province of Ontario will be hosts at dinner in the banquet hall when Premier Frost will welcome the delegates.

Formal opening ceremonies will be held Friday afternoon in Convocation Hall at the University of Toronto, followed by tea in the Hart House quadrangle. On Sunday, Aug. 16, an international service will be held in the Memorial Hall at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and the Ontario [illegible]partment of agriculture will later entertain at luncheon in the dining hall. Returning to Toronto, the buses carrying the delegates will stop at Stoney Creek, so the visitors may see where the first Women's Institute in the world was formed. Tea will be served by Institute members of the parent branch.

On Tuesday, Aug. 18, the Ontario Hydro will be hosts for a trip to Niagara Falls, lucheon and a tour of Hydro projects and Niagara Parks. Women's Institutes of Welland County will unite to provide a picnic supper and the visitors will see the illumination of the Falls before returning to Toronto.

A luncheon will be held at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club on Toronto Island on Thursday, Aug. 20. "Canada Day," Friday, Aug. 21, will see 7,500 members coming from all over Ontario, 100 from Manitoba, nearly 200 from Quebec and several hundred from the U.S. to spend the day with their overseas guests. Highlight will be the pageant, "Dominion of Destiny" in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Saturday evening, Aug. 22, a closing banquet will be held in the Royal York banquet hall, before delegates scatter on Sunday for the many post-conference tours which have been arranged for them by their hostesses.

SUMMER SUPPER SALAD

8 delicious servings

1 head lettuce
2 3-ounce pkgs. cream cheese
¼ cup Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise
1 cup shredded coconut
6 oranges
8 bananas
Juice of 2 lemons
1 bunch seedless grapes
2 No. 2 cans peach halves

It takes Hellmann's—the whole-egg Mayonnaise—to make this delightful salad really sing! Wash and drain lettuce, chill. Blend cream cheese and Real Mayonnaise, shape into balls and roll in shredded coconut. Cut bananas in quarters, brush with lemon juice. Arrange salad greens and fruit on individual salad plates. Fill peach halves with coconut cream balls. Just before serving, top with Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise, the mayonnaise that's doubly good because it's made with whole eggs, freshly broken. Serves 8.

DOROTHY DIX:

Girl Ponders Return To Boy Despite Mother's Warnings

DEAR MISS DIX: For three years, ever since I was 14 and the boy 16, I have been going with Terry off and on. Now he has again drifted away from me, telling me he likes another girl. After every other break, we've gone back together again. In between I have had other dates, but they just don't interest me too much. My problem is: should I go back to Terry when, and if, he wants to go with me again? My mother says I've lost all pride, but I do care for him.

B. B. M.

KEEP YOUR PRIDE

ANSWER: The right sort of pride, the kind that goes hand-in-hand with self-respect, is a precious possession, not to be relinquished lightly. Terry obviously has concluded that you lack it entirely. He can beckon you to come, or cast you aside, and you will comply humbly. Apparently, he has found no other girl quite so amenable, or else he wouldn't be constantly coming back to you. The possibility that he might care for you sincerely isn't worth considering. His treatment belies any idea of tenderness or affection. Perhaps he isn't mature enough to be capable of deep emotion. This might develop in time, if you're prepared to sit out a long waiting game. I doubt very much, however, if he will ever regard you other than as a girl handy to have around in case of emergency. Finally, face the fact squarely that, if he does come back, and even if he ultimately marries you, the pattern almost certainly will never change. He's a conceited, selfish boy, and probably never will be the kind, considerate person you want. Do try to interest yourself in other dates and activities.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My parents have just bought a beautiful new car. When my brother asks my father if he can use it, Dad always tells him to ask Mom. She says no, because she's afraid of accidents. Then all three get into an argument, and my brother says it's Mom's fault that he can't use the car, which hurts her. Who is right?

JEANIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Both your parents are very much at fault, but apparently their system of ducking issues is nothing new. The question of when and how your brother gets the car should have been settled among them when the car was acquired. Disunity between parents can be most damaging to a child's faith, as is clearly evidenced by your own attitude towards your family. Your father is most at fault, because permission is asked of him, and he should make the decision instead of passing the buck to your mother.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 14 years old, and five feet, ten inches tall. I am very good as sports, largely because of my height, but am not popular with the other kids at school. I think they're jealous of me.

MARTHA A.

ANSWER: And I think you're ridiculous. Perhaps the fault is that while you're good at sports, you're not a good sport. There's a big difference, you know. If you have a pleasant disposition, are friendly and co-operative, you should have no trouble in being popular.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm very much in love with a movie star, and know it isn't just a crush. I even called him up (from Boston to California) and he was very sweet to me on the phone. He promised to come to our house if he ever came to Boston. Do you think I'm silly?

N. P.

ANSWER: Since daydreaming is an integral part of adolescence, your feeling for your movie star is just a step in growing up. Lots of these emotions seem silly to oldsters who just haven't time to look back to their own teens and realize that they did some pretty silly things, too. You'll recover, and be none the worse for the experience.

VOTING AT ROSENEATH — Alnwick township's oldest residents and longest married couple, Mr. and Mrs. John Duff cast their votes at the polls at Roseneath on Monday afternoon. They were brought to the polling sub-division by Mr. James Thompson, Reeve of Alnwick township, a neighbor of the Duffs. Mr. and Mrs. Duff are ninety-three and eighty-eight years of age and marked their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary last November. Despite advanced years, they walked into the township hall to vote without the aid of canes or assisted by anyone. For some years Mr. Duff has carried off the prize at Roseneath Fair for the oldest man on the grounds.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Honor U.S. Visitor

COLDSPRINGS (ENS).—In the Coldsprings hall on Saturday evening a social evening was enjoyed, and Mrs. H. K. Olsen of Bemidji, Minnesota, was guest of honor. It was her 83rd birthday. Mrs. Olsen and her daughter, Miss Carrie Armstrong are visiting relatives here for a few days. Her nephews, Leslie and Newton McIntosh, also celebrated their birthdays which are in the month of August.

Eight tables of euchre were played, and high prizes were won by Mrs. Ken Grieve, and Ivan McIntosh.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Tomatoes Are Stars Of August Show

Perfectly content to eat a tomato from my left hand while my right is ready with the salt shaker I don't need any recipes for tomatoes. But believe it or not I know a boy—I know him pretty well too, for he is a buddy of Pete's—who does not like tomatoes. They are such wonders of celestial art that I find it hard to believe anyone does not like them.

Do you love tomato sandwiches?—made from a rare loaf of white bread—with one side spread with mayonnaise, the other with soft butter, then ¼-inch thick slice of peeled tomato liberally sprinkled with salt, lightly with pepper, and covered with one thin lettuce leaf. I tell my kids if I'm ever sick and need an appetite tempter to bring me back to life, to give me a tomato sandwich made just like that.

The chef in a hotel in Edmonton serves a summer salad special and in the centre of a dinner-size plate a stuffed tomato glows. Here's how he prepares it:

LOU'S STUFFED TOMATOES
(For A Salad Plate)

There quantities are sufficient for four large ripe tomatoes.

One-half pound fresh cottage cheese, 2 tablespoons genuine mayonnaise, ½ cup finely chopped inner celery, 1 teaspoon finely chopped chives, 12 shredded blanched almonds, salt, 1 sliced stuffed olive for garnish. Mix all ingredients but the olives, adding salt to taste. Scoop out centres from four peeled large ripe tomatoes, leaving a ½-inch thick wall. Sprinkle inside with salt and invert to drain. (Use the scooped out part for soup or stew.) Fill tomatoes with the cottage cheese filling and top each with slice of stuffed olive. Wipe off any filling that overflows on sides of tomato to make it neat.

Lou places these in centre of dinner plate. Around each tomato he puts 3 small cupped lettuce leaves. In each one of these he put a filling— maybe a small pile of cooked very small sliced carrots, a pile of new cooked cold peas, and a mound of potato salad. Mayonnaise could be served in tiny paper cups or, as in Lou's dining-room, in individual silver mayonnaise boats.

Even the male diners like it and there are plenty of them in this hotel, but you will notice some of them order a shrimp cocktail ahead of the salad plate. Good idea too.

Speaking of shrimp cocktail makes me think of a fish cocktail sauce served in Biloxi, Mississippi. It is made from a famous brand of chili sauce that you all know because of its lovely bright red color. To this is added ¼ cup bottled horseradish, ½ teaspoon Tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon lemon juice—those amounts will flavor up 1 cup of the chili sauce. That's all there is to it. This is good on shrimp, lobster, or mixed seafood cocktails.

My next little offering calls for one dozen eggs, but even though they are around 80 cents per dozen, since this serves 8 people it makes an economical luncheon or supper dish.

DEVILLED EGG SALAD IN TOMATO CUPS

Eight medium tomatoes, 12 hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons minced onion or chives, 2½ tablespoons French dressing, 2 teaspoons salt, one-third to ½ cup lemon juice, 4 teaspoons prepared mustard, ½ cup genuine mayonnaise, dash of cayenne, about 1 head lettuce. Wash and remove stem end of tomatoes. Then cut each tomato into fourths without cutting all the way through. Press back these "petals" and sprinkle inside with salt, cayenne and some of the French Dressing. Chill. Meanwhile chop the shelled, hard cooked eggs and add the remaining ingredients. Mix well and heap some of this mixture in the centre of the tomatoes which have been arranged on individual beds of lettuce.

Oldest Resident Of Village 93

MARMORA (ENS)—Mrs. John Lough, who lives with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Moffatt, quietly celebrated her 93rd birthday on Sunday.

She is the last of her generation of the pioneer family of Bailey and is the oldest resident to be residing in the village at this time.

She regretted her inability, through illness, to cast her usual vote on Monday.

Indoctrination Of PoWs Worries Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reports from Freedom Village that some freed U.S. prisoners of war may be coming back home as indoctrinated Communists furrowed some official brows in Washington today.

However, those chiefly concerned with internal security appeared to be taking a "wait-and-see" attitude.

Senior officials in the justice department said they have had no direct official report on any American-turned-Red on the repatriation list. But they added that press reports of such cases are being followed closely.

"It is difficult to say at this point what the situation might be," one such source said. "If any evidence of treason, such as acts of atrocity against other Americans, should turn up, we would certainly look at it very carefully.

UNDER SEVERE STRAIN

"On the other hand, we should all recognize that men long confined, especially under conditions such as those in Korea, are frequently under severe emotional strain at release. It will take time to get a clear picture."

An Army spokesman said there was no intention to conduct anything like a witch hunt among released American prisoners because some men have said others swallowed the Communist line.

The spokesman said Army intelligence officers will interview all the exchanged captives as a matter of course, but without any attempt to segregate those who appear to have accepted the heavy doses of Red propaganda.

As to the possibility that some of them may have agreed to serve as Communist agents, a spokesman said the Army would take no action before settling all doubt on that score.

One freed American told a story at Freedom Village Monday of a group of 30 repatriates from a prisoner camp on the Yalu river who intended to preach communism in the United States.

PoW Saw Reds Bayonet Men

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—An American said after release from the Communists today that he saw "with my own eyes" Red soldiers bayonet stragglers in a column of captives marching north.

Pte. Richard W. Gollewski, 20, was captured Feb. 13, 1951, while with the 2nd division.

Gollewski was marched to the camp with a group of 500 men. Only 259 arrived.

"On the march up," he said, "they bayonetted a lot. I saw that with my own eyes. A guy would fall out and a guard would drop back and you'd hear the guy scream.

A couple of times I was at the end of the column and I saw it myself."

Allow Reporters To See Soldier

IN KOREA (CP)—Canadian brigade headquarters announced tonight that Gnr. Orval J. Jenkins of Toronto and Hamilton, will be available to correspondents for an interview Thursday.

Gnr. Jenkins, a member of the 2nd field regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, was released by the Communists Sunday after almost two years in a Red prison camp.

The soldier is leaving Seoul Friday and is due in Vancouver at 12:45 a. m. PDT Sunday.

going to maintain the trend in the city.

Now the crowd began to press in on Mr. Fraser to congratulate him. There were more cheers as his majority continued to mount.

The excitement lasted for about half an hour as the rate at which returns were brought in slowed down to a trickle. People sat about, quietly discussing the victory. Someone got up and invited the workers over to the Canadian Legion Hall for coffee and sandwiches.

There was an audible gasp of surprise from the crowd when the returns from Ennismore showed that Mr. Swanston had obtained a plurality of 63 votes in Poll 70 and Mr. Fraser had an edge of only seven votes over his Liberal opponent in Poll 71. But the Hon. [illegible] was quick to point out that the winning candidate left his headquarters to go to the lacrosse game.

From then on, the crowd dwindled rapidly, with only a handful of scrutineers driving in from rural polls. Shortly afterwards the few remaining followed the rest to the Legion Hall and by 9.50 the committee room was shrouded in darkness.

Thief Has Money

CHICAGO (AP) — Police seized Walter Therian, 66, yesterday for investigation of a theft of $3.69 worth of meat from a super-market. A routine search disclosed he was carrying $8,807 in cash, most of it in a wad of $100 bills taped to one of his legs. In addition, he had a bank book showing $5,000 deposits.

SHOULDER ARMS — Rocky Marciano is not shifting the volley ball through his legs to a receiver or getting set to hit the heavy bag. The ball passes through Marciano's legs, around one and then the other. This keeps the shoulder, back and arm muscles moving simultaneously. The Brockton Block Buster bends under and around the bag practising how to avoid punches and limbering the muscles of his shoulders and back, strengthening his legs and making the upper part of his body more mobile. No punching is involved. The heavyweight champion is in early training at Grossinger's, N.Y., for defence of the title against Roland La Starza at Polo Grounds, September 24.

600 Athletes To Compete 1954 Commonwealth Games

By DON MATHESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A year from now general manager Blair Clerk hopes to spend seven days "walking around with my hands in my pockets" as the 1954 British Empire and Commonwealth games unfold here.

During those seven days from July 30 to Aug. 7, up to 600 athletes from 20 countries will compete in 91 individual events at 10 different sites.

50,000 VISITORS

An estimated 50,000 extra visitors will jam the city to watch sporting competition between turbaned Sikhs from Pakistan; dark-skinned athletes from the Gold Coast and Nigeria; others from their counterparts from Wales, Australia and New Zealand and Northern Ireland, Hong Kong, England, Scotland, South Africa, Southern and Northern Rhodesia and Canada. Those are the entries so far. There may be more.

With each athletic team will come officials, coaches and managers, reporters and globe-trotting sports fans.

By the time they arrive, about $2,300,000 will have been spent—$1,900,000 in new construction—to prepare for visitors from many parts of the globe.

Will Vancouver be ready?

Clerk's hands-in-pockets comment indicates that the answer is a resounding "yes."

Another indication is the comment made by the honorary secretary of the Games Federation, Kenneth Duncan of London, England, while here recently on a survey trip.

"GOLD-PLATED STANDARD"

"Progress is splendid, plans are very well advanced. . . but our only fear is that Vancouver will set a standard—everything gold-plated—so that the 1954 games will never be matched in later years."

Clerk scoffs at the "gold-plate" tag, but says that "if I can't keep my hands in my pockets, I want the details so complete that I can keep one tucked away and shake hands with the other."

Comparison of the games' progress here and the 1950 games in Auckland, N.Z., is a hard parallel. Auckland had a stadium and other sites which have to be built here.

But while Auckland's organization committee came into existence Dec. 6, 1948, 13 months before the games, the 1954 committee was in existence early in 1952, at least 30 months in advance.

Again, the first official acceptance of an invitation to participate was received in New Zealand a year before, in January, 1949. Now, a year away, Vancouver has 14.

The general manager was appointed Feb. 7, 1949 in Auckland. Clerk has been on the job since April 9 this year.

By cold statistics, Vancouver is "home free." By obvious indications of hustle and bustle in the red, white and blue headquarters building here, there's no question that the city will be ready.

4 CCF Veterans, One Liberal Return Again To Commons

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Five former members of the Commons will be back in their seats when Parliament convenes this fall. Eleven others made unsuccessful tries.

Four CCF veterans and one Liberal bounced back from previous defeats Monday. Gordon T. Purdy won his old seat of Colchester-Hants to give the Liberals a perfect record in comeback attempts.

Mr. Purdy, who held the seat for two terms before being ousted by Progressive Conservative F. T. Stanfield in 1945, failed to regain it from Mr. Stanfield in 1949 but made it Monday, defeating Fred M. Blois, nominated by the PCs when Mr. Stanfield announced his retirement.

DEFEATED IN 1949 SWEEP

The four successful CCFers all were victims of the Liberals' Prairie sweep of 1949. A. M. Nicholson turned the tables on G. M. Ferrie, who defeated him in the Saskatchewan riding of Mackenzie in the last election. G. H. Castleden regained his old seat of Yorkton and Fred Zaplitny was returned in Dauphin, Man., where the sitting members retired.

E. G. McCullough, who lost Assiniboia to the Liberals in 1949, [illegible] Saskatchewan in 1949 and lost by 500 votes Monday.

The others who failed in comeback attempts were C. E. Stephenson, PC, in Durham; Garfield Case, PC, Grey North; William Irvine, CCF, Cariboo; Harry Archibald, CCF, Skeena; Rod Young, former CCF member for Vancouver Centre in Vancouver South, and Anthony Hlynka, Social Credit, in Vegreville.

Lose Deposits Of $80,000

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Dominion government will collect probably more than $80,000 in deposits lost by candidates in Monday's election.

Compilations by The Canadian Press showed that probably 401 candidates in the field of 897 will lose the $200 deposits each was required to post when nominated. At least four others who withdrew from the contest after nomination day may also lose their deposits.

This compares with the all-time high of $92,400 in the 1945 election when 462 contestants in the record field of 952 forfeited their deposits [illegible] lost their deposit

Heaviest losses appeared in Quebec, with a possible 115, and Ontario, with a possible 111.

All 100 Communist Labor-Progressive candidates lost their deposits. CCF losers numbered 122 and Progressive Conservative 100.

France Has Acceded To Cambodia Demands

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) France has bowed to the Indo-Chinese kingdom of Cambodia and agreed to give her immediate control of her own army, police, and judicial system, Cambodian Premier Pen Nouth said today.

Pen Nouth indicated the French proposals were acceptable to the kingdom, whose king recently fled to Thailand to dramatize his little country's desire for freedom.

David Trotter

David Trotter, 726 Elcome Cresc., who died Thursday was buried Monday in Little Lake cemetery following a funeral service conducted by Mr. Samuel Taylor of McDonnel St., Gospel Hall, at the Kaye funeral home.

Pallbearers were E. Curtis, E. Simmons, V. Harrington, J. Masters, G. Hamilton, C. Carveth.

Overseas Vote Counted Soon

LONDON (CP)—With the case of the missing mailbag still unsolved, Canadian election officials in London said today counting of overseas votes probably will be completed by noon Wednesday.

"We're halfway through Ontario now," a spokesman said shortly after noon today. Results will be sent to Ottawa and announced there. The overseas votes come from Canadian service men and women stationed in Britain, France, Holland and Germany.

The affair of the missing mailbag involves a consignment of votes from France, which did not reach London by today's 10 a. m. deadline for counting. Non-appearance of the mailbag is blamed on the postal strike in France.

"The missing votes will definitely not be counted now," a spokesman said. "Our instructions are rigid on that point."

The RCAF meanwhile announced in Metz, France that 77 per cent of its personnel had voted.

Liberal Party

Fraser was the winner. This at 7:55 p.m.—only 55 minutes after the polls closed.

Word was sent to the Liberal headquarters asking if Mr. Swanston was prepared to concede the election. Though badly shaken the Liberals were not yet prepared to concede defeat and they hoped that somehow the trend would be reversed.

But the miracle didn't happen and at 8:13 p.m. Mr. Swanston picked up the phone, dialed the PC headquarters, and congratulated Mr. Fraser on his victory.

"You can't always knock a home run," said ex-baseball player Swanston to his followers. He was right. And that sure was the old ball game.

The next thing that most of the 40 or so followers knew was the announcement over the radio that the Peterborough riding was the first to be conceded to the PCs in Ontario. From then on it was one post-mortem after another. Occasionally a party worker would walk in and chalk up the results from another poll; but nearly everybody had lost interest.

From time to time active party workers—many of them scrutineers from polls where the tallying was finished—would troop into the committee room, take a look at the ring of glum faces inside, and then join one of the groups earnestly discussing "what happened". Some helped themselves to the supply of soft drinks; others just smoked quietly and listened, puffing blue cigarette smoke into a room with an already sufficiently blue atmosphere.

TOOK 23 POLLS

Mr. Swanston took only 23 polls in Peterborough Riding. Seventeen of them were in the [illegible] other [illegible]

The Liberal candidate said he thought that the promise of PC Leader George Drew to raise the level of income tax exemptions struck home to the Peterborough electorate. That, he felt, was a main cause of his defeat.

(Mr. Drew had promise, if elected, to raise the income tax exemption for single men to $1,500 and for married men to $3,000).

An unexpected feature was the swing of a portion of the 1949 CCF vote to the PCs, he said.

Here is his statement after conceding the election:

"Apparently the income tax question played an important part in the Peterborough election, though it was considered of little importance nationally. There appeared to be a shift of CCF support to Mr. Fraser which would bear this out.

"I am pleased that the results nationally indicate that the Liberal government will be returned. I regret that Peterborough will again be in opposition. However I accept the vote and congratulate my opponent, Mr. Fraser.

"I wish to thank everyone, especially the ladies, and the electors who helped me and voted for me. I assure them I will continue to use my best endeavors for the welfare of Peterborough city and county."

"YOU MAY HAVE YOUR OLD ENGAGEMENT RING back again if you say Pretty Please with sugar on it," says his old flame Bessie Logan to Father Day. In the Summer Theatre production of "Life With Mother" Margaret Braidwood plays Bessie and David Powell is Father Day. Mother Day (Barbara Cummings) stands between Father and his past and gets her way—the ring. —Examiner Staff Photo

'Life With Mother' Offers Happy Entertainment At Summer Theatre

The eighties—that halcyon era before Oscar flaunted a lily in his buttonhole and Rudyard twanged his banjo—what a host of happy nostalgic memories that age evokes! The North American male in particular gazes back wistfully to the time when Father reigned supreme—or at least was allowed to think that he did. In "Life With Mother", Father Day had all the appearance of being an autocrat, though Mother somehow or other managed to get her own way in the end.

In this bland and harmless comedy nothing much happens. No social evils are exposed. There are no serious conflicts of personality or principle. There is a good deal of good-natured humour and an absence of corrosive sarcasm. Even Father, who might appear on the surface to be an ogre, has a heart of gold.

We note these facts without necessarily falling into the error of criticizing a play for not being what it was not intended to be; for it is obvious that the authors, Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, intended this piece to be light and pleasant entertainment, no more and no less: and assuming that the playgoer is contented with such fare it is to be judged accordingly.

On the whole they have succeeded in conjuring up good wholesome entertainment that does not place too great a strain on the grey matter. I would, however, advise those who prefer more solid diet to stay away were it not for one or two excellent performances which will doubtless gain in authority during the course of the week.

FATHER BEST

Chief honors must go to David Powell for his portrayal of the Heavy Father. His voice (now happily returned) and his stage presence undoubtedly helped the illusion. His wife, Vinnie (Mother), was played by Barbara Cummings. Miss Cummings has charm and grace, but she looked altogether too youthful to have been married 22 years and to be the mother of four strapping youths. This is a pity, for it undermined the validity of what might have been a fine performance.

Margaret Braidwood added to her laurels as the irrespressible Bessie Logan, Father's old flame. This was a rich and exuberant performance that bore the stamp of authenticity. Harry Geldard and Sylvia Cherney as the country cousins on their honeymoon added to the general hilarity. Mr. Geldard can be relied upon to excel in character acting, while our local talent was ably represented by Mrs. Cherney —her vocal inflexions were good, but her facial expressions did not reveal enough of what is supposed to be going on inside.

Of the four sons the most convincing performance was undoubtedly that of young Jamie Cunningham. He had the advantage over the others of actually being somewhere near his real age. In addition to this he has a real talent for acting. Douglas Henderson, Ronald Bailey and Robert Barclay tackled their parts in a workmanlike manner but were unable entirely to overcome the handicap of their riper years.

Charlotte Schrager as Hazel comported herself with ease and experience—perhaps a shade too much of these qualities to suggest that demure young Miss. Shirley Silver was adequate in the minor part of Mrs. Willoughby.

GOOD SUPPORT

The backstairs department was well represented, special praise going to Peter McCombe as the witless and slightly bibulous coachman Michael. This was a delightfully etched performance of a minor role.

The set accomplished the main purpose of suggesting the period, though one might have expected rather more bric-a-brac and other symbols of opulence in the living-room of the Day family. The lady's costumes were magnificent and quite put into the shade the somewhat makeshift nature of the attire of the male members of the cast.

This highlight of this evening of good clean fun was undoubtedly the financial squabble which took place simultaneously with a recital of one of Mr. Browning's more edifying poems. This was acted with great verve and spirit and brought the house down.

BARI, Italy (AP)—Fifteen persons were injured—two critically—Monday night in an explosion of fireworks intended for use in a religious celebration. Roman candles—touched off by accident—sprayed fiery pellets into a crowd gathered for the traditional festival of martyrs.

Federal Election Highlights Across Country

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

SUDBURY (CP)—Leo Gauthier, Liberal candidate in Nickel Belt riding, with his election Monday night set a record believed unique in Canada politics. This is his third consecutive election—in three different ridings. He was elected first in Nipissing riding. When it was split he ran and won in Sdbury riding. Another split, forming Sudbury and Nickel Belt ridings, saw him run in Nickel Belt and again win.

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Rev. Dan McIvor, the 80-year-old minister who moved into federal politics in 1935, was re-elected in Fort William riding in the general election. The Irish-born Liberal, father of six, beat a Progressive Conservative, a CCFer and a Labor-Progressive by a good margin.

TORONTO (CP) — A man who left an indelible mark in Canadian sports records was returned to the political skirmishes of the country's federal government.

He is 41-year-old Lionel Conacher Canada's greatest all-round athlete who was re-elected as a Liberal in Toronto Trinity in the general election. Conacher has held the seat since the 1949 election and beat three other men. They were Tim Buck, leader of the Labor-Progressive party, S. W. Frolick, Progressive Conservative, and Herman Voaden, CCF.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Canada's oldest voter cast his federal election ballot Monday at the home for the aged and infirm here. Thomas Sugg, who will be 108 Saturday, paused long enough to say he is in excellent health and looking forward to his birthday celebration.

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Adams was determined to cast her vote in the federal election. But Aug. 10 meant just a little more than election day for Mrs. Adams—it was her birthday. To be exact, she was 102 Monday.

Mrs. Adams was born in England in 1851, is still able to get around and has the use of all her faculties.

MONTREAL (CP)—Special "flying polls" visited hospitals to allow bed-ridden patients to vote. Returning officers assigned to this duty said the vote had been heavy. Only two patients had refused to mark their ballots.

HALIFAX (CP)—Two newspaper people were elected and three defeated in voting in the Atlantic provinces. Neil A. (Tiny) Matheson, news editor of the Charlottetown Patriot, won as a Liberal in Queens, while J. G. Boucher of the Edmundston (N.B.) L'Madawaska won for the same party in Restigouche-Madawaska.

The losing members of the fourth estate were Edmund Morris of the Dartmouth (N.S.) Patriot, running as a Progressive Conservative in Halifax; Hugh Tait of the Woodstock (N.B.) Sentinel Press, running as a Liberal in Victoria-Carleton, and Mrs. Grace Sparkes, women's editor of the St. John's Daily News, running in Burin-Burgeo.

LANARK (CP) — Mrs. Jennie Majaury, 102-year-old resident of Flower Station, 15 miles west of here, motored from her farm home to the No. 3 Darling township school to cast her vote in Lanark riding. She said she was in good health and clearly saw the name of her candidate on the ballot.

TORONTO (CP)—Voters in St. Paul's riding voted in what was probably the country's only open-air polling station. The checking of voters was done on an open verandah with the front half of the house serving as a polling booth. The verandah was pressed into service when no other accommodation for the poll could be found, officials said.

PAPINEAUVILLE, Que. (CP)—Henri Courtemanche, defeated Progressive Conservative candidate in Labelle, said he will seek a judicial recount. The 31-year-old lawyer, member for Labelle in the previous House, trailed Dr. Gustave Roy, Liberal, by 800 votes. The count was still incomplete Monday night.

SMITHS FALLS (CP) Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Pritchard went out to vote and returned to find their brick bungalow in flames. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

MONTREAL (CP) — Inspector Rene Poirier, veteran Montreal police officer who has handled six elections, said only 13 persons were arrested during the voting hours. Eight were arrested on charges of impersonation and five for stealing a ballot box. All were released after the polls closed.

REGINA (CP)—Two newspaper men seeking election to Parliament in Saskatchewan constituencies both went down to defeat. They were J. E. Pascoe, one-time managing editor of the former Regina Daily Star, in Moose Jaw-Lake Centre, and Pat O'Dwyer, former agriculture editor of the Winnipeg Free Press Prairie Farmer, in Yorkton.

DIDN'T SPIT, SAYS TIGHE

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Tighe, suspended manager of the International League's Buffalo Bisons, underwent a lie detector test Monday in an effort to refute a charge that he spat in the face of umpire Max Felerski.

The police department's lie detector expert, patrolman Romain A. Gunther, said Tighe "answered all the questions truthfully."

International league president Frank J. Shaughnessy suspended Tighe indefinitely Sunday, and promised an immediate investigation into the rhubarb. The results of the test were being forwarded to league headquarters in Montreal.

Tighe asked for the test to "clear my reputation of an attempt to smear it."

Three Bison players — Frank Carswell, Jack Wallaesa and Johnny Maldovan—also took the test on behalf of their manager.

The Bison manager denied that he threatened to spit into Felerski's face, and also denied that he did so.

The argument between Tighe and Felerski began when Carswell's line drive hit the top of the left-field screen Saturday night, and the umpire ruled it a two-base hit. The ball dropped out of sight and could not be found.

FLYERS KEEP HANNIGAN

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League have decided to take permanent possession of Ray Hannigan, the fast right-winger who sent the Flyers on to the league championship last season.

Coach Bud Polle announced Monday that goalie Bill Brennan has been traded for Hannigan to Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League.

Hannigan was on loan to Edmonton when he fired the tying goal in the final game of the WHL semi-final with Calgary last season and then scored the winner in overtime.

BREAKS SIX-MILE MARK

LONDON (AP)—Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's triple gold medal winner in the Olympics, bettered the listed world record for the six-mile run, the Bucharest radio reported Monday. Competing at the fourth World Youth and Students Festival in Bucharest, Zatopek was clocked in 28 minutes, 30.2 seconds for the six miles while on his way to 10,000 metres (340 metres more than six miles).

Britain's Gordon Pirie, however, ran six miles in 28:18.4 July 10. The accepted world record for the distance is the 28:30.8 set by Finland's Viljo Heino in 1949.

BARRIE STARS GO PRO

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League Monday night announced signing of three of Canada's outstanding amateurs — Don McKenney, Doug Mohns and Allan (Skip) Teal. The three youngsters, who probably will be assigned to Boston's Hershey farm team in the American Hockey League, were the sparkplugs of the Memorial Cup-winning Barrie Flyers last season.

Teal, 20, and McKenney, 19, are centres. Mohns is a 19-year-old left wing.

Further Changes Predicted In Russ Economic Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Premier Georgi Malenkov's announcement of sharp revisions in Soviet economic policies indicates his government will undergo further changes soon in preparation for a two-fold job: To strengthen the home front and to use economic power as a potent weapon on the international scene.

The open blandishments to the capitalists of Italy and France and other non-Communist nations of the East and West seem part of a long-range program to isolate the United States from actual and potential allies by means of an economic offensive.

On the home front, the premier makes it clear there are urgent problems that must be solved. Among them is the acute shortage of housing. Malenkov said Saturday in his speech to the Supreme Soviet: "Although before the war and especially in the post-war years, large housing projects were carried out, housing needs are far from being satisfied and the acute shortages are felt everywhere. . . ."

There is also a shortage of vegetables and potatoes for both the consumer market and the needs of industry. Malenkov stressed this once again. The shortage is not only reflected in the needs of the city consumer markets, but in the field of animal fodder, which in turn has a significant effect on livestock.

A third problem is the resistance of peasants to total collectivization. There is a sharp reversal of Stalin's policies implicit in Malenkov's attack upon this problem. It will probably be a temporary retreat. The indication is some private operations will be permitted the farmer with regard to his auxiliary farmstead which is not part of the collective farm, but in the long run, the Communist party is ordered to carry out the directive eliminating such vestiges of capitalism and "private property psychology."

Lastly there is a need for more and better quality consumer goods, not only to satisfy public demand but to ward off a threat of inflation born by shortages. There will be more reorganization steps in the field of light industry, particularly with regard to its planning phases. The Malenkov government wants the problem licked without sacrificing the emphasis on heavy industry which builds military and economic might on the international scene.

TLC To Demand Change In Election Regulations

OTTAWA (CP) — The 550,000-member Trades and Labor Congress decided Monday to demand a change in federal election regulations to prevent the possibility of future disfranchisement because of conflict between convention and election dates.

The unanimous decision to seek a change came at the end of a busy day at the TLC's week-long annual convention plunged into work on the 184 resolutions drafted for consideration by various labor unions across the country.

Some of the 650 delegates expressed bitterness at the loss of their vote. James Webb of Hamilton, of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, said the government was "penalizing" the convention delegates.

Advance polls had been set up but the delegates were not considered eligible for these polls unless they were bona fide travelling men.

The delegates tackled 33 resolutions Monday, adopting most of them. Prominent among these was a resolution, carried unanimously, under which the TLC agreed to seek a guaranteed annual wage, so that workers might gain a greater share of the country's wealth.

The TLC also agreed to seek a boost in the ceiling of government annuities to $2,400 a year from $1,200. The resolution, sponsored by the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council, said government plans for boosts have been "sidetracked by the constant propaganda and lobby of insurance companies with the hope of killing the proposed amendments and getting the government to increase its rates."

Adopted also were a number of resolutions dealing with increased social benefits, including a bid by the Quebec Labor Federation for higher family allowance payments to match the rise in living costs.

RCAF Jet Crashes Into 2 Houses, 9 People Killed

VILLE JACQUES CARTIER, Que. (CP)—Nine persons died late Tuesday when an RCAF twin jet CF-100 fighter crashed and set fire to two small frame houses in this community across the St. Lawrence river from Montreal. Five children, two adults and two RCAF personnel were killed. The jet, out of control, cut through power and cable wires. There was an explosion and the buildings burst into flames. The occupants were trapped. The dead:

Mrs. Marcel Bourassa, 30; her two children, Michel, 6, and Ginette, 2; her mother, Mrs. Emilien Fournier, 57; Pierre Lavoie, 5; his four-year-old sister, Colette, and two-month-old brother, Normand, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Lavoie;

FO. Alan David Wright, 28, native of West Kirby, Cheshire, England, whose present hometown was listed as Calgary; FO. Allan Miles, 23, radio observer, of Bonavista, Nfld.

Mrs. Bourassa and her two children were killed only a short time after they entered the Fournier home to visit Mrs. Bourassa's mother.

BOARD OF INVESTIGATION

The RCAF has set up a board of investigation to inquire into the cause of the crash of the CF-100, an all-weather fighter Canada has been developing for several years.

The plane was reported to have brought down power lines before slamming into the houses, but eyewitnesses said it was in trouble before it struck the lines.

More than 100 RCAF police, a number of them armed, were pressed into duty to assist local police in holding back a crowd of 5,000 persons that quickly gathered.

So great was the press that RCAF police fired a number of blanks into the air to hold back the crowd.

Ville Jacques Cartier police, who said they acted on RCAF orders, seized several newspaper photographers' cameras and took at least one man into custody for a short time.

Commenting on the situation, Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James, air officer commanding, air defence command, said in a statement:

"It is of particular importance in determining the true causes of an aircraft accident and devising means to prevent a recurrence, that wreckage or other evidence at the scene is not disturbed. . . .

HAD CROWD TROUBLE

"Reports which have reached me indicate that spectators, including many children and numbering several thousand, interfered with the firefighters . . . Some spectators even attempted to remove parts of the aircraft which was strewn about. . . .

"As a result, unusual measures had to be taken. After repeated warnings in both French and English, water was sprinkled on the crowd and a few blank rounds were fired vertically upward. It is reported that this had the desired effect of re-establishing order."

The accident occurred four miles from the St. Hubert base of the plane, on a routine flight all the time. On the outskirts of Ville

Photographer Held 2 Hours On RCAF Orders

MONTREAL (CP)—Gordon Pritchard, Montreal Gazette photographer, was arrested on RCAF orders and held for two hours Tuesday night after he had taken pictures at the scene where a jet plane had crashed into two frame houses, killing nine persons. Four cameras were temporarily seized from other newspaper photographers.

In an interview, Pritchard said he was first told by an RCAF officer that no pictures could be taken of the burning plane.

"I turned my back on the plane wreckage and began shooting pictures of the burning homes, when an air force sergeant ordered me to hand over the camera and my film," said Pritchard.

GUN STUCK IN BACK

He said he reminded the sergeant that "we're not on federal property—how can you stop me from taking pictures?"

At this point, said Pritchard, an RCAF guard stuck the muzzle of a rifle in his back and the sergeant ordered:

"If this man runs or tries to get away, shoot him."

A short time later, police of Ville Jacques Cartier, scene of the crash, arrived and again ordered Pritchard to give up his camera and film.

"If you take the camera, you take me," Pritchard replied.

He was taken to the Ville Jcques Cartier police station and held for two hours.

His camera and ffim were returned intact.

CHASED 100 YARDS

Mac Juster, photographer for the Montreal Star, said he was chased more than 100 yards by "at least 10" policemen, RCAF guards and civilians who attempted to seize his camera.

Juster said that after some argument an air force officer agreed that RCAF purposes would be served by confiscating the negatives. They did this, he said, after searching him for more film.

Juster said the guards did not know that the film they seized was unused. During the chase he had slipped his exposed negatives to his young brother who managed to evade the pursuers.

Photographer Bob James of the Montreal Herald, who carried both a press and movie camera, had the latter taken away and the film removed from the former.

Fear Quake Death Toll To Be 400

Tremors Continuing On Greek Islands As Assistance Rushed

ATHENS — (AP) — Strong earthquakes continued to shake Greece's Ionian Sea islands for the fourth successive day and the toll of casuati eandsl shrdlunuauanaoo ualties and damage mounted steadily.

Official reports Tuesday night placed the quake toll then at 150 dead but survivors predicted it would top 400.

As the Greek government rushed aid, U. S. Air Force units across the Mediterranean in Tripoli readied helicopters to drop food and medical supplies on isolated villages in the stricken islands.

Welfare Minister Constantine Adamopoulos, touring the stricken areas off the west central Greek coast, advised the government he had found "unprecedented tragedy and damage."

LAG BEHIND

The official count of dead and injured lagged far behind unofficial tallies. Many victims were still buried under masses of rubble.

Greek army engineers were rushed to the ravaged island of Kefallinia to help in the rescue work. The landing ship Alfeios reached the island, one of the hardest hit, with medical personnel and emergency supplies.

Word of the continuing tremors came from the captain of the Greek navy ship Lymnos, at Argostoli, chief port of Kefallinia. He radioed that his vessel was being rocked incessantly by underwater upheavals.

The commander reported that Argostoli, once a British naval base, was destroyed.

The Greek coastal steamer Karaiskakis arrived today at Piraeus, port city serving Athens on the mainland, with 500 survivors from Kefallinia and Ithaca.

Many women and children were in the crowd of refugees—some women carrying babies in their arms while older children toted the few possessions they had managed to salvage from the rubble of their destroyed homes.

Most of those who arrived had relatives here who will care for them.

Story Different In Red Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—The first Soviet newspapers arriving here with accounts of Premier Georgi Malenkov's hydrogen bomb speech do not tell the Soviet people that the USSR either has the big bomb or has mastered its production. He simply hinted broadly that this was so.

No such statement appeared in the version broadcast by Moscow radio, nor does any such statement appear in the Russian language text as printed by the newspaper Trud, first of the Soviet papers to reach here.

8 Store Fronts Ripped Out As 2 Cars Crash

TORONTO (CP)—Eight store fronts were ripped out today when a stolen car and a police cruiser crashed and careened over the sidewalk after a bullet-punctuated five-mile chase through city streets. A Tillsonburg man was killed and two detectives and another man seriously injured in the crash which left the autos twisted heaps of metal. Police estimate 50 shots were exchanged in the wild chase out Bloor street which at times reached 90 miles an hour in pre-dawn darkness.

The detectives in the police cruiser emptied their guns at the speeding auto. Occupants of the car returned the fire with rifles and revolvers.

Dead is William Atkinson of Tillsonburg. Captured by officers as they fled from the crash scene on the city's western outskirts were Donald Wolf and Allan Pidgeon, also of Tillsonburg.

Wolf and Pidgeon were later charged with attempted murder.

DROPPED FROM CAR

Police said Atkinson dropped from the stolen car after police sideswiped it in an attempt to force it to stop. They said the man died of a broken back.

In hospital in only fair condition today as a result of the crash were occupants of the police cruiser, Toronto detectives John Follis and Ross Fordham. Fordham suffered brain injuries and a paralyzed left side, and Follis a broken back and internal injuries.

Pidgeon was captured near the crash scene and taken to hospital with undetermined injuries. Wolf was also captured nearby. Police said the two will face a number of charges, including five of breaking into jewelry stores and sporting goods shops between here and Tillsonburg where the car was reported stolen.

FIND DOZEN GUNS

About a dozen rifles, shotguns and revolvers with boxes of ammunition were found in the car, police said. These they said had been stolen from a gunshop in Tillsonburg. Officers said they believed the men had been planning to hold up a bank.

Police said none of the shots fired in the wild hase along Bloor street from mid-city to the outskirts hit anyone in either the cruiser or stolen car.

Both autos were smashed into heaps of twisted metal. They careened over a sidewalk, tearing out eight store fronts before coming to rest.

Officers called on the speeding cruiser's radio quickly converged on the scene to make the arrests.

Police said the stolen car was first spotted in East Toronto some eight miles from the crash scene about 3:30 a. m., but that it eluded patrol cars. Then it was spotted about a half-hour later near midtown Toronto and the chase which ended in death for one of the fugitives began.

Parts Of Plane Fall Around Worker At House

MONTREAL (CP)—Parts of the CF-100 jet which crashed in Ville Jacques Cartier late Tuesday fell about Roger Boissonneault and he "could hear an airman groaning inside the plane."

Nine lives were lost when the jet crashed and set two houses afire. Boissonneault, 22-year-old construction worker, was working between the two houses.

"I was just pounding a nail on foundation forms when I saw the plane whizzing toward the Fournier house less than 50 feet away," he said. "I just stared in horror when it clipped a pole and then tore into one of the houses.

"The dashboard and parts of the cockpit fell only a few feet from me. One of the airmen was groaning inside the wreckage. I could see only an arm. Just then the Lavoie house burst into flames.

DRIVEN BACK BY HEAT

"I ran toward the houses. I could hear people screaming. But the heat drove me away."

Boissonneault, who suffered shock and was treated at hospital, said that when the plane crashed the left wing caromed off and gasoline tanks exploded.

The house of Ernest Cyr, which he built himself only two months ago for his wife and eight children, was missed by the diving plane by only 50 feet.

Cyr was sitting on the steps of his house; his wife and youngsters were inside.

"Suddenly I heard the whining sound of a low-flying jet," he said. "I couldn't see the plane, but the noise came closer and closer."

Cyr ran inside his house and yelled to his wife and children to get out in the open. At that moment the plane crashed.

In another dwelling, Roger St. Pierre's wife called to him that "something is going to fall on the house."

Seven Strikers Arrested In Police Clash

KITCHENER (CP)—Seven men are in custody here in connection with a disturbance outside the Cope Transport Limited, a firm not involved in the current truck drivers strike.

Six of the seven striking truck drivers were arrested Tuesday night. A seventh, George Schmit, was taken into custody in a courtroom corridor today.

Hearing of the cases has been set for Aug. 19. Crown attorney Daufman said in court today that there would be at least two charges against the six arrested Tuesday night including obstruction and possible assault and besetting charges.

IDENTIFY MEN

The men taken into custody Tuesday night were identified as Stewart Carter, Reid Charles Crawford, Laverne Ellis, Robert Hope, all of Kitchener, and Leo Furlong of Waterloo.

Police chief John Patrick was reported knocked down as police and strikers scuffled. He was taken to hospital.

About 50 strikers took up position outside the Cope firm and stood around until the first truck of a seven-vehicle convoy moved out.

FIGHTING BEGINS

Then fighting started. Men clambered onto the trucks, kicked in the windshields and tried to keep the trucks from moving. Police and strikers fought with bare fists.

Some women shouted "scab" at the non-striking drivers as the convoy finally started to roll.

Police escorted the trucks through the city and provincial police escorted it on towards Hamilton, its destination.

HAVE QUIET NIGHT

[illegible] striking truck drivers spent a quiet night.

Extra police were posted at city entrances after strikers said late Tuesday they would stop all non-union trucks from passing through the city, but police said no skirmishes developed in this area.

Douro Lad Beats Off Wolf With Light Stick, Attacked Near Dad's Farm

Wandering through summer fields in search of his father's cattle seems like a pleasant and natural chore for any nine-year-old country boy—but things turned out differently for Joseph Buckley. He spent the most frightening and exciting hour of his life Tuesday afternoon on his father's Douro township farm. His mother had asked him to bring the cattle in from the back woods (about a mile from home), and Joe was strutting along, stick in hand, playing the imaginary games that only boys can. He followed a path through a small swale and up the hill toward his destination. At the crest of the hill he stopped.

"It was the meanest looking animal I've ever seen," declared Joe.

"If it wasn't a wolf it was the closest thing to it, bigger than a police dog and gray-brown in color, and it was coming straight at me.

"I didn't have time to be scared," said Joe, "I was too busy using my stick trying to beat him off."

BEAST CIRCLES BOY

The animal kept circling the boy in an attempt to get at his bare ankles, but Joe managed to turn just as fast, always using the stick as a whip. For 15 minutes at least this procedure continued with the boy turning and swinging and the animal searching for a place to sink his fangs.

By this time both were dizzy and the animal backed off to regain its breath and change tactics. It began a darting in and out manoeuvre which was more difficult to counter, but somehow Joe managed.

"By this time I could hardly see what I was doing—but I just kept beating with that stick [illegible] that the wolf [illegible] he was weak[illegible]

Friends Welcome PM On Return

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent returned to Ottawa today for a 36-hour spell of office and cabinet activity before starting a three-week holiday at his home in St. Patrick, Que.

A group of friends and supporters, including nearly half his cabinet colleagues welcomed the prime minister at the station and congratulated him on his victory

Mr. St. Laurent said he would dispose of some pressing correspondence, meet his cabinet colleagues in session Thursday morning, and leave in the afternoon for his summer home down the St. Lawrence river at St. Patrick, where he will have his long-delayed vacation.

The 71-year-old Liberal leader seemed vigorous and unwearied by the intensive campaign which carried him more than 20,000 miles in the last two months.

Calm, tanned and smiling, the prime minister admitted to newspapermen that he was still "a novice" at politics. Mr. St. Laurent made this reply when he was asked if he would lead the Liberal party in another election.

Mr. St. Laurent said nothing definite has been decided about a fall session of Parliament, but that a [illegible] House

Expect Parliament To Meet Regularly Now In Autumn

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prime Minister St. Laurent, solidly dug in for another electoral term, is getting right back to government business.

With a hefty Commons majority behind him from Monday's general election, the prime minister meets his cabinet Thursday to clean up work spilled over from eight days of campaigning and perhaps to sketch legislative plans for the next parliamentary session.

Opening of the new Parliament's 1954 session this fall is likely. Liberal quarters have indicated this will be the rule from now on, enabling legislators to get a head start on the year's business, including an early introduction of the budget. It will also allow them to get home before the onset of Ottawa's hot weather season.

A cabinet shuffle is in prospect. It is expected that at least one of the 171 Liberals in the new Commons will be promoted to the cabinet where a vacancy exists in public works. The probability is that filling the vacancy will mean changes in other portfolios.

WANTS LIGHTER JOB

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott long has indicated that he is ready to slow down in a lighter job. There has been speculation that he will swap posts with Justice Minister Garson, former premier and provincial treasurer of Manitoba.

A dozen Senate vacancies remain to be filled. There are also major appointments pending, such as that of a St. Lawrence seaway authority to handle the federal government's share in the building of the seaway, which may involve spending $300,000,000.

Although the Liberal representation in the Commons was cut somewhat in Monday's voting, the government has an easy working majority.

Ceylon Cabinet Orders State Of Emergency

COLOMBO (AP)—Ceylon's cabinet declared a state of emergency today as a Communist-called strike marked by outbreaks of violence spread across the island.

The demonstrators are protesting a recent three-fold increase in the price of rice following withdrawal of a government subsidy. The strike has crippled transport throughout the country.

The declaration of a state of emergency is aimed at checking a wave of strike-connected terrorist attacks that threaten to paralyze the economic life of Ceylon.

Terrorists have blown up a section of the coastal rail line at Hikkaduwa, 60 miles from Colombo. At other points, trees have been thrown across roads and rail lines.

The strike has left most towns in South Ceylon without newspapers.

30-Foot Fish Seen Off N.S.

HALIFAX (CP) — Fishermen at nearby West Dover have been chased from their fishing grounds by a fish described as 30 feet long with a yellow head and grey body.

None of the boats were hit Monday by the plunging sea monster, second to appear in Nova Scotia waters this summer. A huge man-eating shark rammed a boat off Forchu last month, drowning a fisherman.

West Dover fishermen went to their fishing grounds off Halifax today armed with rifles.

Strange fish have also been reported by Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island fishermen.

Fisheries officials say tropical fish may be coming north because the Atlantic is becoming warmer.

rails Off Steamship Found 7 Hours Later

RAMSAGATE, England (AP)—Ernest Mullins, 60-year-old company director, fell off the British steamship Amsterdam 30 miles out in the North Sea Tuesday.

He was found, still floating, seven hours later by the French trawler La Nievre, which brought him to this port.

Mullins, who is six feet tall and weighs 225 pounds, told doctors at a hospital:

"I was leaning over the stern looking at the wake of the ship. I got dizzy and the next thing I knew I was swimming."

The doctors said Mullins was suffering from severe exhaustion but should recover.

New Food Punishment

Communists Brain Washing East Germans

BERLIN (AP)—Communist police today were reported "brain washing" East Germans who return from West Berlin with U. S. food parcels.

The new tactics were disclosed by Germans who showed up at the food centres to pick up the coveted packages.

A metal worker from Furstenwalde said:

"They are not forcibly taking the packages away any more. Now they take a person caught with a package into an interrogation room. They talk and talk for hours and hours and do it in relays. They say we are hurting the unemployed of West Berlin by taking the American food handouts and also that we are damaging the honor of East germany.

"The people get so weary of the thing after awhile that they voluntarily give up their packages, anything to get out of there and go back home. That way the police can always brag that the people gave up the packages willingly."

GENERAL ORDER

The man said he had heard the same story from so many persons that it is probably a general order applying to all the principal outlying points where travelling East Zoners can be caught by the police patrols.

Other East Germans reported that the ban on travel tickets to Berlin is as strict as ever but that travel from the surrounding area by intercity elevated train still is controlled only loosely.

As a result, the flow to the food centres appeared this morning to be as steady as Tuesday's when 80,000 packages were distributed.

At Potsdam and Furstenwalde, terminal points for the city's elevated, travellers were spot-checked and those who could not show they were residents of the particular area were denied tickets to central Berlin.

MORE SEARCHING

Additional searching of the trains themselves was introduced. Two women employees of the Soviet zone railway system came to a food station and picked up packages, explaining that they knew how the searching was done so well that they could elude detection.

The West Berlin centres expect the total outlay of packages to exceed 2,250,000 by Saturday when the campaign ends, temporarily. It will be resumed with new staff and new centres Aug. 27.

Tourists Flee As Chaos Grips France

PARIS (AP)—New strikes were called today in the clothing and metal working industries and government offices of France. The country already is tied in knots by walkouts in travel and communications enterprises.

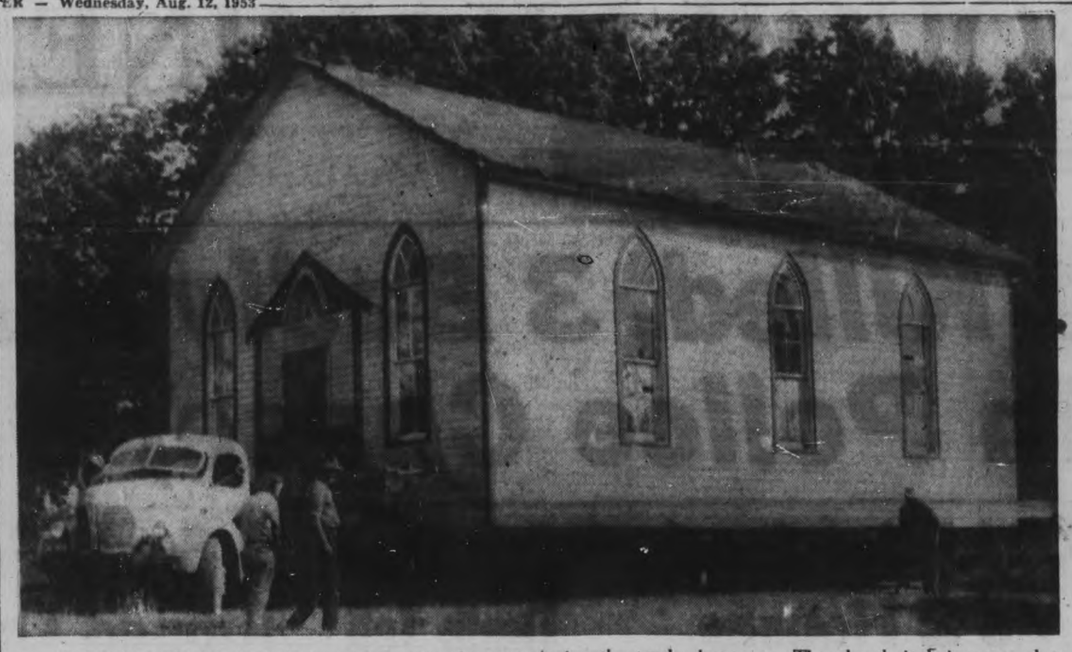
Three million workers, irked at the government's plans to balance its budget by trimming payrolls and upping the retirement age for civil servants, may be off the job Thursday. Some 1,000,000 are striking today.

But Premier Joseph Laniel showed no signs of abandoning his economy guns.

48-HOUR STRIKE

The Socialist Union issued the call for a 48-hour strike in government offices. The clerks walked out last week for 24 hours. The Communist-led General Confederation of labor probably will follow suit.

Stoppages for Thursday in the metal working and clothing industries also were called. These walkouts would affect automobile plants.



Railroads, mines, public utilities, government services, posts, telephone and telegraphs were all paralyzed or hit hard.

The Socialist Force Ouvrier called on 850,000 white collar workers — doctors, dentists, lawyers and office employees — to join the strikers for 24 hours Thursday.

Paris subways and buses halted late Tuesday night for 24 hours.

TOURISTS FLEE

Disgusted tourists fled the strike-bound country. With trains and buses halted, every outgoing plane was jammed. Shipping lines scurried for special buses to take their passengers to channel ports, and to collect arrivals.

Lower Price Trend In Market Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Prices pursued a lower trend in more active afternoon stock market trading today.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals featured gains in Brilund, Harricana and Callinan. Graham Bousquet, Gunnar, Chimo and Anacon showed losses ranging to 10 cents.

In industrials, papers, refining oils and utilities dipped as Bell New, Trans-Mountain and International Utilities lost. In Steels Page-Hersey, and Dominion were up. Banks also firmed.

Golds were down, led by Bralorne, Giant Yellowknife and Hollonger. La Luz and Campbel Red Lake were up.

Western oils lost, including Canada Oil Lands, Gridoil. Peruvian and Anglo-Canadian.

In base metals, Hudson Bay, Falconbridge and International Nickel weakened fractionally.

S. Korean PoWs Living Skeletons

PANMUNJOM (AP)—One hundred hale and happy Americans streamed through the Bamboo Curtain at Panmunjom today to start the second dramatic week of Korean war prisoner exchange.

But their South Korean comrades again came home in wretched condition. Pitiful living skeletons were passed tenderly from Communist ambulances to litters carried by Allied soldiers.

Four hundred in all got their freedom during the day. There were 100 Americans, 25 Britons, 25 Turks and 250 South Koreans.

The Communists promised to hand over 75 Americans, 75 Britons and 250 South Koreans, all able bodies, at Thursday's swap, the ninth since the exchange started.

The total will boost the number of Americans liberated to 823 of 3,313 the Reds said they held.

Gives Up Efforts To Form Government

ROME (AP) — Attilio Piccioni said today that he has abandoned his efforts to form a middle-of-the road government and end the Italian government crisis.

The 61-year-old Christian Democrat's statement came as a complete shock to Italian political circles. He had been expected to name his cabinet today.

Instead Piccioni, the party's deputy leader, told reporters:

"I had thought, following the latest consultations, that it would be truly possible to create an active and profitable collaboration (among centre parties).

"I was forced to realize with sadness the impossibility, insofar as my leadership is concerned, of positively concluding this task. As a consequence, I have asked the president of the republic to accept my renunciation of the task of forming a government."

Australians Critcize Queen's Train Car

SYDNEY (Reuters)—A transport department official here, seeking to counter public criticism of the 53-year-old railroad car in which the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will tour Australia, said the car will provide the ultimate in comfort.

Despite its age, he said, it is "smooth running, well-equipped and will give the queen every privacy."

Critics have called it "anachronistic."

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Westerly winds, circulating around a disturbance centred over the Hudson Bay, are sweeping somewhat cooler air across the Great Lakes region. The leading edge of the cool air has moved across Lake Superior and into northwestern Ontario. Farther south the cooler air is moving across Lake Michigan toward southwestern Ontario. Occasional rain spread across Northern Ontario ahead of this cool air during the night, and this belt of rain and scattered showers will move eastward across the northeastern half of the province tonight.

A few showers are expected to occur in southwestern Ontario in the night but skies will clear again on Thursday morning and pleasant, sunny weather will prevail once more.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Thursday:

Haliburton, eastern Lake Ontario: Sunny today, clouding over late this evening; a few showers late tonight and Thursday morning; clearing by noon Thursday, a little cooler Thursday. Winds light. Low tonight and high Thursday at Killaloe 55 and 75, Trenton 60 and 75. Summary for Thursday: Clearing.

Fear Quake

Prime Minister Alexander Papagos promised all possible government aid would be sped to the homeless survivors of the tragedy.

Kefallinia and its neighboring islands off the west-central Greek coast have been rocked by a wave of recurring quakes since Monday. The fourth tremor in three days shook the area Tuesday night

WHOLE TOWNS DESTROYED

Scattered and fragmentary reports told of whole towns being destroyed, of survivors living in the open and short of food.

The governor's office of Kefallinia appealed for helicopters to fly doctors, nurses and medical supplies to the stricken islands. It described the situation as "hopeless."

Reports said fears of new quakes kept unhurt inhabitants from searching the wreckage of their towns and villages for dead and injured.

The quakes knocked out most communications with the islands, but witnesses reaching the mainland said the town of Samis, on Kefallinia, had been completely wiped out. Samis was an important centre in ancient Greek days

BOULDERS CRUSH BUILDINGS

The witnesses told of house-sized boulders crushing buildings in the town of 15,000 as though they had been matchboxes and described pathetic scenes of parents searching in the rubble for missing children.

The survivors of Samis, they said, have fled the town and are living without shelter in the open country.

All buildings in the port of Ithaca, on nearby Ithaca Island, were reported destroyed. The island was the legendary home of the Homeric Greek hero, Ulysses. The port has a population of 8,400.

The main port of the island of Zakinthas, a town of 11,315 persons, was reported 75 per cent destroyed. First scanty accounts said, however, that only five persons were killed and 35 injured in the town because the inhabitants had warning and fled to the country.

Fears were expressed for the fate of other communities in the back country of the rocky island. Many of these have no quick means of communications with the outside under normal conditions. There has been no news from them since early Tuesday.

A later message to the government said electricity and water have been cut off completely on the three islands.

King Paul and Queen Frederika, holidaying at their summer residence on the island of Petalaois, planned to return to Athens as soon as possible. Heavy seas delayed their immediate departure.

Record Number Of New Homes

OTTAWA (CP)—Record numbers of new dwellings were started and completed in Canada duirng the first six months of 1953, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The bureau also forecast that the upswing in new residential construction would continue during the second half of the year.

Half-year starts soared to 46,746 from 35,291 in the first six months of last year, a gain of 33 per cent. Completions rose to 39,491, a jump of 39 per cent as compared with 28,340 last year.

The number of new homes under construction at the end of June was up by 4,176 units compared with the previous peak of 58,615 units on the same date in 1951.

In Ontario starts in the half-year rose to 17,985, an increase of 5,712 over the same period a year ago. Completions jumped to 15,192, a gain of 3,504.

ORDERS INVESTIGATION

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Vice Marshal A. L. James, air officer commanding air defence command, has ordered a full investigation into "all circumstances" of the CF-100 crash which took nine lives at St. Hubert, Que., Tuesday.

An RCAF spokesman said this study will include a close investigation of reports that a Montreal Gazette photographer was arrested on RCAF orders and held for two hours, and that four cameras were temporarily seized from other newspaper photographers.

Air force headquarters said there will be no comment on these reports pending completion of the investigation.

Study Changing Truck Traffic

Complaints of Charlotte St. residents about noise created by trucks late at night will be investigated by the special traffic committee of city council.

The matter was brought to the council's attention Tuesday night by Ald. P. J. Anglesey who asked if it wasn't time to make a study of redirecting truck traffic.

He said he had received complaints particularly about the additional noise of trucks stopping and backfiring because of the traffic light at Reid St.

In regard to redirecting truck traffic, Ald. H. T. Rehill said that an attempt had been made to have trucks use Lansdowne St. only to arouse complaints from residents there.

He suggested leaving a number of traffic lights on caution signals late at night when traffic is not heavy.

Canadian PoW Heads For Home

By BILL BOSS

SEOUL, Korea (CP)—Corporal James Pelletier of Chatham, Ont., Canadian prisoner of war returned by the Communists Aug. 5, today boarded a United States Air Force Globemaster for Tokyo and then Canada.

The quiet-spoken veteran of the 3rd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, was captured in a battle last May 2. He was accompanied to Tokyo today by Cpl. Bev Lefevre, a buddy from his cab-driving days in Chatham.

Lefevre was assigned by brigade headquarters along with Lieut Des Goodwin of Toronto to escort his friend to the Japanese capital.

It will be the first visit to Tokyo for both Pelletier and Lefevre

Pelletier is scheduled to leave Thursday morning by Canadian Pacific Air Lines for Vancouver, where he is due at 12:45 a. m. PDT (3:45 a. m. EDT) Friday.

Canada Holds 10-Point Lead

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (CP)—Canada today has an impressive 10-point lead over the United States in the international Tumlaren Yacht Association championship because of fine showings Tuesday by three Toronto entrants.

In a five-mile morning run in light wind, Laurie Muir took first spot, with Al Rae second and Ken Purchase third. In the afternoon event of 7½ miles Rae and Purchase again finished second and third.

Cafe Man Traps Would-Be Thieves

LINDSAY (ENS)—Three Toronto youths were remanded one week in police court here today when they appeared on charges of breaking, entering and theft following their capture Tuesday night by the owner of a highway restaurant in Rosedale and Lindsay town police.

According to OPP Constable John Williams of Fenelon Falls, two of the youths, Kenneth Walmsley, 19, and Gordon Smith, 16, were arrested after police received a call from Hugo Beall, owner of Club Balsam in Rosedale.

Beall told police he heard the boys break into the building and had investigated. He closed the window through which they had entered, trapping them in the building and had his wife call Constable Williams.

The call was also answered by Constables Plumptree and Mountsteven of Lindsay OPP. The two youths were arrested at the restaurant and almost $300 in cash from the till was found on their persons.

Later this morning the third of the trio, John Smith, 18, brother of the younger boy, was arrested in Lindsay by Constable Percy Mark of the town police. All three are now lodged in the county jail.

It was here that Joe began to realize what was happening and "I really got scared." He watched the animal for a few minutes until it finally got up and headed for the woods.

In the meantime Joe's mother, Mrs. W. J. Buckley, had begun to worry about her son's long absence. She went out into the yard to be greeted by her boy—tear-streaked but unharmed.

The father visited the spot where the battle reportedly took place and said that the ground was 'chewed up' for an area of more than 10 feet in every direction. Further evidence was the teeth marks on the stick.

$1,000 REWARD

There has never been a satisfactory report of a wolf attacking a human being, in fact James W. Curran, published of the Sault Ste. Marie Star, has offered $1,000 reward to anyone who can verify such a statement.

Often wild dogs, many partially wolf, have been mistaken for wolves and are usually more ferocious. Mr. Buckley says that a number of farm dogs have been slain by unidentified animals.

Whether it was a wolf or a wild dog doesn't interest Joey Buckley too much, it was a terrifying ordeal and one he won't soon forget.

Lindsay Man Jailed 21 Days For Vagrancy

LINDSAY (ENS) — Elmer Brooks of Lindsay was sentenced to 21 days in jail when he appeared before Magistrate E. A. Gee on a charge of vagrancy this morning.

According to police Brooks was arrested by Constable Percy Mark a week ago when he was found going through parked cars on Kent St. Brooks told the court the cars belonged to friends of his but pleaded guilty to the vagrancy charge. Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, QC, after reading Brooks' record, recommended he be placed in custody for observation.

Worker Injures Back In Fall At Quaker

A four-foot fall from a loading platform at Quaker Oats today at noon sent John Broester, of 286 Sherbrooke Place to hospital, with an injured back.

Mr. Broester was unloading a freight car of grain when he fell. He was treated by the plant nurse, Miss Alma Dobbin, before being taken to hospital for observation.

PLAN AUTOPSY

Chief coroner Dr. Smirle Lawson said an autopsy would be performed today to determine cause of Atkinson's death.

Inspector John Nimmo said Atkinson, 20, and Wolfe, 19, were absent without leave from the army. Wolfe is reported to have told police he moved to Tillsonburg from Winnipeg a few months ago. He said he did not meet either of the other two men until two weeks ago.

Police said they had information that an east end bank was to be robbed today and said it was a possibility that the trio was on their way to the bank when police picked up their trail.

Late Tuesday the new model car—now demolished—went on the police wanted list. It had been reported stolen in Tillsonburg.

Shortly before 4 a. m. constable Ken Pegler saw the car pass him in the city's east end. ... alled the cruiser ... fast," he said.

The car was noticed again at the centre of the city. Det. Tom McLeod, driving with one hand while talking into the police radio directing other cars to the scene, had to duck when a shot was fired at him.

The chase extended across the city to Jane street—the western terminus of the Bloor street car line—when police closed in and tried to force the Tillsonburg car to the side of the road.

Lucy' A Mystery As Youth Gets Probation

David Brockwell, Peterborough, was given a six-month suspended sentence in magistrate's court today when found guilty on a charge of causing disturbance. He was ordered, in addition, to pay $6 court costs.

Brockwell was one of four youths charged on the count. Magistrate R. B. Baxter dismissed charges against Peter Roy, 18, of Lansdowne St.; Richard Herbison, 18, of 107 McDonnell, and Robert Pogue, 18, of 1019 Brewer.

Frank Lundy, another Brewer St. resident, lodged a complaint against the boys July 26. He charged the Pogue house radio was "going full blast" at midnight and he was later awakened by screaming and shouting.

He testified seeing four boys running around the Pogue house and seeing them throw stones at his home. Two jumped into a car, drove off in an erratic manner, came back and shouted at the Lundy residence: "Come on out, Lucy; come on out for a ride!"

Lundy swore he had never heard of Lucy.

Police arrived while the car was absent but it returned when they were questioning Pogue. Lundy said the police chased it away.

Melville Akers, another nearby resident, also complained of the noise, screaming, swearing and the sound of stones bouncing off a building.

PC's Bert Howden and Pat Gillis substantiated what had already been said about their actions, Constable Howden testifying there were two in the car, while PC Gillis "couldn't say."

Peter Roy denied any knowledge of the matter; he left Pogue's house at 12:15 and didn't return that night at all. Herbison claimed Brockwell had thrown the stones; Brockwell had done the shouting and Brockwell was alone in the car.

Pogue said Brockwell had been in a "joyous" mood and had been the only one involved in the shouting and driving.

Brockwell, last witness, admitted shouting and consuming one pint of beer.

One of the terms of Brockwell's suspended sentence was that he keep away from the other three youths for six months. Magistrate Baxter concluded by saying he was "young and foolish."

But the court never did find out who Lucy was.

Before you buy any car today do as more and more* Canadians are doing

Look for the Vital value

*Today, automobile buyers and the industry itself clearly agree on V-8 Power as the Great Canadian Standard of Value—this year and for the years ahead.

Look at the buying trend: In 1953, Ford of Canada cars have captured a 20.8% larger share of total Canadian new car sales than last year. Of the three leading Canadian manufacturers' ONLY Ford of Canada has registered a gain in public acceptance of its products in 1953 to date* as compared to 1952.

Look at the trend in modern design: More and more car makers, too, are swinging to V-8 Engines. Today, all but one of the leading fine cars built in North America offer V-8 Power. But ONLY Ford of Canada gives Canadians this vital, modern value in every car it builds.

You look for the hallmark when you buy sterling. Look under the hood when you buy a car today! Invest in a Ford of Canada V-8, and you get the best for your money today. Look ahead, and you'll realize you will be money ahead with a V-8 tomorrow.

*Based on latest available official new car registration figures.

WHAT AN INDEPENDENT AUTHORITY SAYS ABOUT THE FUTURE OF THE V-8 : : :

"Rise of the V-8 in popularity has been consistent . . . As an engineering concept the V-8 is ageless, and far superior to present day competitive power plants . . . V-8 consciousness seems to be a motivating influence in both car and truck purchasing. Smooth engine performance may be another deciding factor . . . other V-8 attributes of compactness, economy, ruggedness and rigidity. In any event, once the V-8 trend gains momentum it'll take more than an In-Line Six to maneuver out of its path."

The Only National Party

Whether it is good for the country or not, or good for the democratic process, Canada is a one-party nation. For nearly twenty years no other political party but the Liberal has been able to make the shadow of a claim to being a national party. The vast liberal majority Monday confirms the Liberals in this role, a position to which the electors even in Provincially Conservative Ontario have given their approval.

* * *

The Social Credit party utterly failed in its bid for national status; it is only a funny splinter party which ventured out of the West and went back to it in a hurry. Even the West has repudiated the Social Credit Federal pretensions, except in its home base of Alberta. B.C. has a Social Credit government, but B.C. elected only four S.C. members to Ottawa, compared with seven CCF, three Conservatives and eight Liberals. The CCF was able to secure only two seats east of Manitoba, one in Ontario and one in Nova Scotia. Thus it is far from being nationally representative. The Conservatives secured a spattering of seats across the country—but only eighteen all told outside of Ontario. Even in Ontario the Conservatives mustered nineteen fewer than the Liberals. Can the Conservatives call themselves, therefore, a national party? Their record at the polls says no. One reason that the Liberals are in power in Ottawa again is that there is no alternative, if Canada is to have stable government. Even if the Liberal majority had been cut in shreds, no one party could have governed without an uneasy coalition with another splinter group inimicable to it.

* * *

It has been said that the Liberals are in power because they control Quebec, and that therefore Quebec is the dominating province in Federal politics and affairs. This statement needs examination in the light of the results of Monday's election, and even more, of the 1949 elections. The fact is that if all the seats in Quebec were divided equally between the Conservatives and Liberals, so that each had half, the Liberal Government of Mr. St. Laurent would still be in power, would still have not only a majority over the Conservatives, but also an absolute majority over all other parties combined. If the Liberals had secured only half the 75 Quebec seats, instead of the 66 they won, the votes in the rest of the country would have put the Liberals back into power with more than half the 265 seats in the Commons.

* * *

As Canada's only national party the Liberals have a grave responsibility for all Canada and all Canadians, to administer wisely and without extravagance. They have been returned to powerful power, theirs to wield. This is their confirmation as a national party; it is not confirmation of all their past acts and errors. The Conservative charges of poor administration in the army were well-founded. So were their charges of waste and extravagance. So were the accusations of arrogance in Liberal administration. Further, the Conservative challenge that taxes could be reduced through savings and meticulous budgeting have won attention all through Canada. Canadians are not resigned to high taxes. The Government is responsible to the electors to ensure that taxes and spending will be reduced when and as soon as possible. (Let it hear the man on George Street who said yesterday morning, disconsolately, 'Now I suppose, we'll never get our taxes cut, and maybe they'll put them up again'. Such men voted for Liberal candidates because there was no alternative national party able to form a government. They did not vote for the mistakes the Liberals have made.)

* * *

Finally, the national party must not assume that because it is national it is Parliament. Parliament is supreme and must remain supreme. The party and its members are answerable to Parliament. Mr. Speaker and not Mr. St. Laurent or Mr. Howe is the constituted speaker for Canada.

* * *

The election was, of course, a personal tribute to a great Canadian, the Prime Minister. It is remarkable how sensitive the Canadian people are to leadership which incorporates and represents the best of Canadian quality and characteristics.

Second Thoughts On The Peterborough Election

Mr. G. K. Fraser was re-elected as Peterborough member because he has cultivated his constituents carefully, and served them assiduously and cordially for fourteen years. In view, however, of the strength of the Federal Liberal vote in Ontario generally, this does not seem enough to explain why Mr. Fraser won by his largest majority, and against a candidate who was the strongest, best-known and ablest as a public servant whom the Liberals have put against Mr. Fraser in his four Federal elections.

Undoubtedly some of the national Conservative planks were sound footing for the Conservative candidate. We think that herein lies part of the explanation. Mr. Fraser appealed to Peterborough voters on the basis of less taxes and more money for your pocket. In an industrial city like this the number of new adult voters is likely to be larger than in some other constituencies. These new voters may have known little personally about Mr. Fraser or Mr. Swanston. They may have cared little for national policies, for many are not mature enough to put national interests above personal. A direct appeal to their pockets—to young adults buying a new car, earning their first sizable paycheques, or expecting to get married—such an appeal has force.

Mr. Fraser promised that if elected, and if his party were put in office, their take-home pay would be bigger because their income tax would be reduced. The young adults may not have stopped to examine the possibilities or inquire how the tax could be cut, or how much their pay envelopes might benefit. They just knew that Mr. Fraser had promised more. There were probably three or four thousand new adult voters in this constituency. Mr. Fraser's majority rose from 243 to 3,009.

Candidates should not forget that, at each election, there are several thousand new young voters who have their own special interests, and that only a few of them may be interested in broad political questions or even in local politics. In 1949 in this riding, Mr. Dit Clapper, a noted sportsman but a newcomer to public life, was Liberal candidate. He reduced Mr. Fraser's majority to 243. New adults of that election certainly admired Mr. Clapper's record as a star hockey player. This time, in 1953, the new adult voters, perhaps paying income tax for the first time, heard Mr. Fraser's promise that they would have more take-home pay, through lower taxes. Their vote is enough to create, in this riding, a difference of 3,000 in a party's poll.

Peterborough Reports Its Results

Peterborough was the first Ontario riding to report its final results. The Examiner, which set up its own runner and reporting system at various points, with the co-operation of the Returning Officer, was able, fifty-five minutes after the polls closed, to wire the Canadian Press in Toronto that Mr. Fraser had been re-elected. Twenty minutes later the election was formally conceded by the defeated Liberal candidate.

This rapid tabulation and return of results was not due entirely to the fact that from the beginning of the count Mr. Fraser was obviously in the lead. His lead was not as heavy as to justify a report of victory from the count of a few polls, as in Mr. St. Laurent's riding, where his election was conceded when only one-twentieth of the polls had been heard from. The quick Peterborough returns were made possible because the Deputy Returning Officers and Poll Clerks at the individual polls were quick. They knew their job and did it with expedition. Even in a remote poll like that in Galway-Cavendish at the northern extremity of the county, the Examiner had the poll tally, by telephone, by 8:20. Never in the history of this riding have the returns been so prompt, and the results known so soon after the last ballot was cast.

Mr. St. Laurent's Opposition

Mr. St. Laurent sought re-election in the riding of Quebec East, where, in 1949, he won his seat with the largest majority accorded any candidate in Canada—a majority of 17,956. This time some persons decided to cut him down. All told he had four opponents, and so Quebec East electors had to choose between Gerard Fortin, Labour-Progressive (i.e. Communist); Raymond Maher, Conservative; Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Liberal; Louis Seigneur, Independent; and a Pat Walsh who ran as an "Anti-Communist". Well, all four were cut down, and lost their deposits. It was one of the largest opposition ballot slates in the country, and one of the most absurd.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Towels, we are instructed by a public health authority, should be exclusively personal, used by one person only. Applies to the sponge, too, we presume, thrown in Monday night by defeated candidates.

The shy child is usually one who needs to have a better opinon of himself, we read. Then comes the brat, with too good an opinion of himself.

The Berlin Food War

By RICHARD LOWENTHALL

THE DISTRIBUTION of food to hungry East Zone inhabitants in West Berlin has now become the chief preoccupation of the rulers of Eastern Germany. The police are mobilised to stop it. The Socialist Unity (Communist) Party is mobilised to terrorise returning people into giving up their food parcels. Propaganda against the food distribution takes the main part of space in the newspapers. Desperate appeals to the people to avoid the "trap" which would turn them into "Western agents," issued by the central committee of the Socialist Unity Party and broadcast at half-hourly intervals, alternate with administration chicanery like the topping of railway tickets to the Berlin area, with attempted intimidation and with efforts to disturb the distribution by groups of Communists masquerading as hungry West Berlin unemployed.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS EASY to understand the exasperation of the Communist leaders. After the confusion that followed the rising of June 17 they have now made up their minds that the shaky position of their regime must be consolidated at all costs. These are Moscow's orders; the Kremlin clearly dislikes the prospect of negotiating in Germany in an atmosphere in which their East German satellite is quite obviously untenable. Popular confidence is to be regained through economic decisions where possible; subsissiveness is to be restored through measures of repression where necessary. Yet instead of achieving this, the mass pilgrimage of the hungry from all over the zone to West Berlin has become yet another unmistakeable demonstration of distrust and defiance of the regime: 1,300,000 parcels have been collected in West Berlin so far, 900,000 of them for people from the East Zone proper as distinct from East Berlin.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME of the reports of new demonstrations, strike threats and clashes with the police in the East Zone have been exaggerated. There have been outbreaks of spontaneous fury at railway stations, but no major strike action has been confirmed so far: events like June 17 are not repeated within six weeks against a fore-warned regime. What is happening is not, so far as one can see, the beginning of another drama on a similar scale; it merely shows the complete failure of the regime to regain its hold over the people. But that in itself demonstrated once more in the eyes of the world, is extremely important — and there is now every prospect that it will continue for weeks and weeks.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE WEST, there is now a tendency to discuss the whole event primarily as an extremely successful act of American political warfare. Some commentators in the United States complain that the American role in this food relief action has not been sufficiently advertised on the spot, while others underline the risks and warn against "exploiting human misery for political propaganda.'" It is, therefore, worth recording that the whole action did not originate with President Eisenhower's food offer but that American supplies are now pouring into an action which was planned before it and sprang from independent German initiative.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE STORY begins in the spring of this year when the West Berlin and West German experts became seriously worried about the constant deterioration of the food situation in the Eastern zone. In April, the Bonn Bundestag, on the suggestion of its Committee for all-German Affairs called the Federal Government to seek ways and means for aiding the East German population with food supplies. When nothing happened, Mayor Ernst Reuter of West Berlin asked the Government to contribute a monthly sum of five million Deutschmarks (£425,000) so that West Berlin could give regular food parcels at least to the East Berliners. The rising of June 17 intervened before the Federal Government replied; then it made a counter-suggestion — it would give no money but the food itself — to be taken out of the Government's food reserves stocked in Berlin. But any releases from these stocks, held against the contingency of another blockade and sufficient to feed two million West Berliners for six months, required the permission of the Allied High Commissioners. Among these there was considerable hesitation for fear of complications, and it took the united urging of Mayor Reuter and Chancellor Adenauer to overcome it.

✧ ✧ ✧

THAT is the point where President Eisenhower's offer comes into the story. After its rejection by the Russians, the President decided—apparently against the advice of officials on the spot—to send the food to Western Germany, in the hope that churches and charitable organizations would get it across. The churches, worried about the propagandist implications and anxious for their legal welfare work in Eastern Germany, declined, but the food was at any rate to be put at the Federal Government's disposal. Only when the distribution from local stocks had started and turned out to attract far greater crowds than expected did the Government decide to use the American food to refill the Berlin reserves and keep the action going.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE BERLIN food action in its actual form was thus not planned by the U.S. Government; it was not planned in that manner and on that scale by anybody. A German and an American project, separate in origin, were fused into one great action by an unexpected third factor — the tremendous response from the East German people. Every time that these people have been given a chance of coming into contact with the West, not only for material aid, but for any sort of meeting, their response has been overwhelming — and it has been the same again. And though the hundreds of thousands who have come from all over the zone and are coming, are truly hungry, there is in their coming, despite all counter-propaganda, a conscious political demonstration as well: going for food to the West has become a symbol of belonging together with the West.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THAT SENSE, the Berlin food action is indeed an act of political warfare but at the same time an act of humanitarian aid. But those who object to that should reflect that none of the eighteen million inhabitants of Eastern Germany can be effectively helped in the long run unless diplomacy finds a way to persuade the Russians to abandon their German satellite regime — and that no persuasion is likely to succeed unless the Russians learn by experience that the position of that regime is untenable beyond repair.

What Other Papers Say

(Editorial Opinions On The Election Results)

Winnipeg Free Press (Ind.-Lib.)

THE re-election of the Liberal party with almost as many members as in the last parliament and the crushing defeat of the Conservative party demonstrates that the people not only understand and appreciate the good government this country has had in the past four years but are not to be misled by wild, irresponsible and contradictory promises . . . The extent of the Liberal victory is the more remarkable because the government, despite its excellent record, was vulnerable on minor matters, chiefly waste and extravagance. This weakness, of course, was offset by Conservative promises to increase expenditures by more than $1,000,000,000. In the face of such profligacy, who would regard the Conservatives as fit guardians of the treasury? . . . The first public reaction, undoubtedly, will be one of satisfaction that the country has been assured of stable government and a continuation of the sound general policies of the past four years.

✧ ✧ ✧

Halifax Chronicle Herald (Ind.)

IT is often roundly asserted that a large and commanding majority is not good for any and may even be detrimental to the cause of truly responsible government. While the extremity of this dictum may leave it open to considerable doubt, there is certainly this truth in it, that a strong and alive opposition with its worrying tactics is the basis of sound democratic administration.

✧ ✧ ✧

Ottawa Citizen (Ind.-Lib.)

THERE is a danger in recurrent landslides. The House of Commons is left with a small and frequently ineffective opposition, and the dominant party has little to keep it in check but its own sense of responsibility. In such a case, criticism from within its own ranks . . . may help in some measure to compensate for the lack of a numerically strong opposition. It is in the public interest that this should be so.

✧ ✧ ✧

Montreal Gazette (Ind.-Cons.)

ABOVE all else, of course, the Liberal party has had the immense advantage of having Mr. St. Laurent as its leader. The evident wish of the late W. L. Mackenzie King that Mr. St. Laurent should inherit his political mantle was the last of his masterly adjustments.

So sweeping a victory as Mr. St. Larent has gained brings with it exceptional obligations. The comparative weakness of the power of the opposition in Parliament makes all the heavier the personal responsibility of the prime minister for careful and restrained administration.

Such charges as those of disregard for Parliament and of extravagance in spending have rested upon clear evidence. But there is good cause for confidence that the very definiteness of the public support that Mr. St. Laurent has received will be regarded as imposing a special obligation for discipline in discharging the nation's business.

✧ ✧ ✧

Regina Leader-Post (Ind. Lib.)

THE re-election of the St. Laurent government . . . assures the nation a strong administration and a truly national one during the ensuing parliamentary term . . . The verdict . . . was a sweeping endorsement . . . of the policies of a succession of Liberal governments which have contributed in no small degree to the economic stability and prosperity which Canada has been enjoying.

✧ ✧ ✧

Charlottetown Guardian (Ind. Cons.)

WHILE the voting may be interpreted as a mark of confidence in the way in which the St. Laurent government conducted the nation's business it does not necessarily mean that the majority of the people were completely satisfied with its record. In a large degree it may mean only that it was preferable to any likely alternative.

✧ ✧ ✧

Moncton Times (Ind.)

THE electors have revealed that they give solid thought to the real problems confronting them, the kind of government they consider best for their country in the years immediately ahead, and registered their verdict at the polls in terms significantly clear and unchallengeable.

✧ ✧ ✧

London (Ont.) Free Press (Ind.)

IT is a bitter blow to Hon. George Drew, who fought a valiant and clean campaign, and to his devoted followers. They will be consoled by the fact that Mr. Drew himself and most of his lieutenants survived the battle and will be on hand to fight another day.

For Rt. Hon Louis St. Laurent it will be something in the nature of a personal triumph. Once again his platform presence has shown his magic touch. And his political strategy of standing on his record and avoiding any promises which might be embarrassing later has been vindicated.

✧ ✧ ✧

Ottawa Journal (Ind. Con.)

NOT many . . . expected the overthrow of the government. But many, we think, must be shocked by the overwhelming character of the government's victory . . . the answer, partly, is in the undeniable personal prestige of the prime minister . . . The Conservative party . . . must purge itself of its habit, so destructive of unity and morale, of forever crowning and crucifying its kings . . . Mr. Drew's leadership, able and devoted, has not commanded full allegiance but instead has been hampered by open and overt acts of rebellion."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I create the fruit of the lips; Peace, peace to him that is far off, and to him that is near, saith the Lord; and I will heal him. (Isa. 57: 19.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And the Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord.

As for me, this is my covenant with them, saith the Lord; My spirit that is upon thee, and my words which I have put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seed, nor out of the mouth of thy seed's seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth and for ever. (Isa. 59: 20, 21.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. For, behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people: but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seen upon thee. And the Gentiles shall come to thy light, and kings to the brightness of thy rising. (Isa. 60: 1-3.)

There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe. He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.

That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world . . .

And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth . . . For the law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ. (John 1: 6-9, 14, 17.)

Growth Of Population

(Montreal Star)

Some 20 years ago, a group of Canadian economists worked out a study of population trends which suggested this country was not likely to have a population greater than 20 millions. Events have completely upset these calculations. Our population now stands at more than 14½ millions, and the new generation of calculators is suggesting a population of 25 million by 1980.

The principal cause of the change, according to the monthly letter of the Bank of Nova Scotia is the persistence of high birth rates which developed just after the war. The rate runs currently at an increase of 19 per cent. This is far below the 1901-11 rate when mass immigration brought the rate up to 34 per cent, but it is far above the 1931-41 rate of increase which was only 11 per cent. The present figure is not far off the rate which ruled from 1911 to 1931, the latter date marking the beginning of the effects of the great depression.

High employment, high marriage rates, high birth rates have marched hand in hand now for 12 years. In addition there has been since the end of the war a marked upturn in immigration, not, to be sure on the scale of the century's beginning, though it has accounted for substantial increases. Moreover, under existing conditions our flow of people into Canada has not been matched, as has sometimes been the case, by an equivalent outflow to the United States. The outflow is indeed less proportionately than it has been for almost 50 years.

The present high rate of population growth is, however, dependent upon the maintenance of prosperity.

SHOW-OFF

The small daughter of a televisionless household regarded the arrival of a new piano with little enthusiasm.

"Can't we put something on the roof to show we've got it?" she asked her mother.

Ross Powless Leads Petes In OLA Scoring With A Total Of 105 Points

Big Ross Powless, starry Indian forward for the Peterborough Trailermen, led his squad in scoring points during the regular schedule this season. He banged in 47 goals and aided on 58 more for a grand total of 105 points in 27 league games for almost four points a game. The team played 29 games, another one being defaulted to them at season's end by Hamilton. Playoff figures don't count in the season's scoring list.

LED THE PETES—Ross Powless was high scorer for the Petes' Trailermen this season in scheduled play with a fine total of 105 points in 27 OLA senior games. He amassed 47 goals and 58 assists to finish in front of his mates in the lamp-lighting department.

Powless has twice in the past two years won a Tom Longboat Medal as the outstanding Indian athlete in the province. Hailing from the Brantford district, he has been a big help on the attack and defensively to the Thorpe team this season as he has in two previous campaigns, twice helping the club capture the

RUSTY SECOND

Russ Slater came on strong in the last half of the 1953 campaign to finish second to Ross in scoring with 92 points, taking part in all 29 games of the schedule. He led the club in goals scored with 63, his 29 assists swelling his points' total. Powless and Jerry Fitzgerald were tied for most assists, with 58 each.

Third high was Ike Hildebrand with 90 points, made up of 53 goals and 37 assists in 24 games. He had led the club the first half of the season. Leading the defencemen was Jerry Fitzgerald with 79 points, two less than forward Curly Mason. Well up in assists was Nip O'Hearn, another defenceman, with 45 in his total of 68 points. Following are the figures:

St. Catharines Whips Fergus

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics took a one-game lead in the OLA senior semi-finals here Tuesday night, defeating Fergus Thistles 12-6.

Fergus led 2-1 in the first quarter and 4-1 early in the second, but St. Catharines came back with five straight goals to hold a 6-4 margin at half-time. In each of the last two quarters Athletics outscored Fergus 3-1.

Ted Howe led St Catharines with three goals. Al Frick, Jim McMann and Derry Davies scored two each.

For Fergus, John Campbell counted two goals and Bob Dobbie, Gay Hill, Don Gear and Don Black had one each.

Scots Edge UE By 2 To 1 In Soccer Fray

The local Scots created a soccer surprise in a league match last night when they defeated the UE 2-1 before a good attendance with an old referee, Asa Downer, officiating. Jimmy Gilchrist, Scots, and B. Holroyd, UE made their appearance in the line-up after being incapacitated through injury. Best for the losers were Croll, Allan and Holt; for the winners, Burnett, Jimmy Gilchrist and Daly.

Right from the kick-off, Scots penetrated UE area to harass the defence, with Croll intercepting to nullify their objective. Jim Gilchrist blocked a UE attack to send Caldwell, left winger, on his own, who bewildered the UE full backs when he rapped home a long drive, in the first five minutes. Thereafter, UE gained the equalizer when Croll converted from the spot with a hard drive. UE carried out a series of combination plays that had the Scots in a quandry. In fact, Hoyle, being unfortunate in his first-time shots. Play ran from end with neither team penetrating the alert half back lines, functioning to perfection. Four minutes before the interval, UE goalie, Titshall, retired after he was injured in a goal scrimmage when Ballantyne made a direct drive on goal. Halftime—one goal apiece.

GAIN THE WIN

On resuming, a new UE goalie was prominent between the uprights. Eventually the UE halfback line dominated the play thereby giving their attack ample time to shoot for a goal that failed to materialize. The Gilchrist-Caldwell, left-wing, of the winners, stimulated a terrific drive to success as they hovered around their opponents' citadel. Croll and Allan, full backs, intercepted, blocking and punting to hold the attacking Scots outside scoring range. With five minutes to go, Croll and Hoyle exchanged positions, from full back to centre-forward, with the former endeavoring to enact his previous success as a pivot but Don Downer and Burnett, full backs, nullified his dangerous attacks amidst keen combinations. Scots rallied to confine the losers to their own territory to gain a successful corner kick by Caldwell who placed the ball in below the cross bar where Boyd headed with precision to give the Scots a well-earned victory over the Eastern League leaders 2-1.

UE: R. Titshall, goal; E. Hillier and W. Allan, full backs; G. Davies, R. Croll and H. Steel, half backs; J. Kynston, T. Byron, B. Hoyle, R. Strong, J. Holt, forwards; subs, B. Holroyd and M. Woodcock.

Scots: T. Hammill, goal; D. Downer and M. Rice, full backs; John Gilchrist, A. Burnett and J. Peters, half backs; A. Ballantyne, A. Boyd, T. Daly, J. Gilchrist, J. Caldwell, forwards.

Referee—Asa Downer.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Tonight it will be mixed doubles drawn from the board at 7:30 o'clock.

Again on this half-holiday the club will be represented in tournaments at Whitby, Cobourg and Cannington.

At Cobourg on Saturday in the men's open trebles, F. Martin, J. Martin and J. Bruce come in second for three wins.

Two weeks from today we hold the annual mixed doubles tournament for the Black Memorial Trophy. And so popular has this tournament become that the entry list is away over-subscribed; in fact for some time past the list has been closed. This is one of the outstanding events of its kind in the province.

Following is the latest part of the PMLA schedule: Bantam playoffs Thursday night in sudden-death semi-finals: No. 2 team vs. No. 1 at 6:30, and No. 4 vs. No. 3 at 7:30, finals next week.

All midgets are to be on hand at 6:30 p.m. tonight, the team being picked for an exhibition game with Orillia in Orillia on Aug. 13, players leaving the Bowl at 5:30 on this trip.

Juvenile team is to be at the Bowl at 5:30 p.m. Thursday for the game in Toronto with Parkdale Lions.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Five harness horse race meets are planned for here the next five Saturday afternoons, running from Aug. 15 through till Sept. 12. Ten heats daily, put on by the Peterborough Turf Club, with $1,200 up for prizes. Post time 2.30, with wagering permitted at the Morrow Park track. With the closing of Thorncliffe Raceway, a lot of first-rate trotters and pacers will be available, many of them coming here for these weekend meets in the late summer. There are some good local and district harness horses, too, which will be entered. Plenty of followers of the races hereabouts.

Howie Dalton was endeavoring to have the first game of the OBA junior "A" jaunt playdowns staged here this Saturday in Riverside, and we may know the results ere column's end. In any case, Belleville and the local Liflocs are slated to open the best-of-five baseball playdowns this weekend, second tilt going next Wednesday. Red Doran looks after the Quinte crew. Winner of this series probably goes against Toronto next. Meantime Howie will have all the Liflocs out for a drill at 6.30 this eve in the park by the river, weather being okay. This good junior club played all season in the intermediate Lakeshore League and should be in fine form by now.

Lou's Pack Set To Go

After a stiff workout last e'en, Lou Vitarelli has his Peterborough Pats primed for the opening of OLA junior "A" group semi-finals. They tackle Long Branch at 8:45 tonight in Miller Bowl, going back there Friday and returning here for a Monday melee. The series is best-of-five, winner taking on the survivor of the set between Brampton and Oakville. Several of the Pats filled in recently in the local senior lineup and showed fans the class of lacrosse they play in junior "A" ranks. As they battle hard toward a crack Minto Cup, and Canadian honors, they deserve plenty of fan support at home jousts.

* * * * * *

Senior Petes' Trailermen are off tonight for Orillia and another crack at the Yorks in the best-of-seven OLA semi-finals. St. Kitts and Fergus are tangling in the other series. Fresh from their 19-3 triumph here Monday o'er the men of McPhail, Bob Thorpe's crew aren't unduly worried, though they know the Yorkers are much tougher on their own bouncy floor. Third tilt is back here on Friday night, and the fourth in Orillia next Monday. Chuck Rowan hopes to have the finals commence by Aug. 26, if not sooner, as it'll be a seven-game scramble, too, and the ultimate winner flies west from Malton on Sept. 12. That's just a month away.

For The Figure Filberts

As shown elsewhere tonight, Ross Powless took scoring honors for the Trailermen in the regular schedule. The big, hustling Chief counted 105 points in 27 games of the 29 the team played. Scored 47 goals and aided on 58 more to compile his grand total. The good-natured Indian is popular with his teammates and highly respected by rival players. Rusty Slater is right up there in second place with 92 points, Ike Hildebrand has 90, Curly Mason 81 and Jerry Fitzgerald is next with 79, a nifty mark for a defenceman. Most goals were sniped by Slater, as Powless and Fitz tied as high men in assists. Nip O'Hearn was second high in assists. An excellent showing by most of the champs.

Seabrooke's took a strangle-hold on the men's City Softball League semi-final series before a goodly gallery at the Bowl last p.m. They took UEW twice by 6-2 and 11-3 counts to lead the best-of-seven by 3-0. Next game is at seven tomorrow night and another right after that if UE wins. But if Seabrooke's win, they'll have this series, and the nightcap then would be between the two loop finalists, TPT Petes and the Seabrooke squad. Lefty Doris was the winning pitcher in the opener Tuesday as errors hurt Howie Dalton's effort. Jim Driscoll won the second scrap over Jack Crowley on hefty hitting by the East City crew. Red Sullivan hit his fifth playoff homer and 18th of the season, and Thompson also clouted one for the circuit.

Jockey Strike Now Delayed

FORT ERIE (CP)—A threatened strike by jockeys here has been postponed pending a meeting Thursday of the jockeys and their advisers and members of the Ontario racing commission.

The jockeys will explain their grievances, centring round the $50 fine imposed on apprentice jockey George Duprey for what the commission termed "causing interference" with the favorite, Jay H. The riders claim that Teddy Brook, ridden by Jose Vina, was responsible for the trouble.

The jockeys will also ask for a reduction in fines of $100 and $50, which they call excessive. They say that in the last 31 days, there have been 21 fines and suspensions, totalling some $575.

W. E. MacDonald, acting for the jockeys, and Douglas Fisher, general manager of the Jockeys Benefit Association of Canada, said the strike was set for today, but the riders agreed to delay action until after Thursday's meeting.

USE SIX-MAN RULES

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Dr. Frank Kenney, vice-president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, announced Monday night the Mann Cup playoffs for the Canadian senior championship will be played under six-man rules. The British Columbia Inter-City Lacrosse League pioneered the six-man game and the Ontario association switched to six-man play part way through this season. The Mann Cup series will be played here this year.

Port Hope Soccer eleven will play Peterborough Merchants tonight (Wednesday) in a district league game in King Edward park. Kick-off at 6:30 promptly. Referee, Ernie Cotton. Jimmy Gilchrist, of Scots, who broke his arm five weeks ago, returned to the lineup in last night's game, also B. Holroyd, UE, who was out of the game, after eight weeks, with an accidental ankle injury, played at outside left against the Scots. Stan Wilks, Merchants, was an interested guest last night. The local commission suspended Jock Murray, UE, for two games for his infringement of the code when ordered off.

Visiting Rinks Score Most Of Victories

TORONTO (CP) — Out-of-town rinks Tuesday scored most of the victories in the second day of the 19th annual provincial lawn bowling tournament.

Only two Toronto rinks advanced to the semi-finals. The final matches for the four trophies—Eaton Gold Cup, Pilot Insurance, Robert Simpson and the Northern Electric—are to be played today. One semi-final match for the Northern Electric Trophy is to be played in the morning.

In the Eaton Trophy quarter-final, J. Knowles of Niagara Falls, N.Y., defeated H. E. MacLean of Ottawa 21-7 while F. F. Cochrane of Oshawa bowled 15 to the 13 score of A. Sage of West Toronto.

In the Simpson play, Kingston and Toronto Balmy Beach enter the semi-finals.

Rinks from Detroit and Quincy, Mass., play to decide the Pilot Trophy winner and Toronto Lansdowne competes with the victor of a quarter-final match not yet played for the Northern Electric trophy.

Ionson Captures Sherwood Match

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP) — R. B. Ionson, 43, of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, today won the shootoff to win the Sherwood match at the 85th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize shoot.

S.-Sgt. Ionson, who has been shooting at these ranges near Ottawa for about 26 years, scored a 23 of a possible 25 in the regulation five-round shoot-off to beat out officer cadet E. L. Warner of Lennoxville, Que., who posted a score of 22.

The two tied Monday for first place with a possible 35 from 300 yards, while a heavy rain fell.

Countess Vivian Sets Two World's Records

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—Countess Vivian, a black filly owned by Christy S. Hayes of Columbus, Ohio, boosted her Little Brown Jug stock at Good Time track Tuesday by setting two world's pacing records for three-year-olds as she copped the $8,429 Ohio Breeders Filly Stake.

Clocked in 2:00 3-5 in the first heat, Countess Vivian, reined by Del Miller, beat out Security Hanover in the second brush with a 2:00 1-5 mark.

The 2:00 1-5 second bettered the former standard of 2:00 2-5 set by Tassel Hanover, while the times for both heats bettered the double heat mark of 4:01 4-5 established in 1950 by Quila Hanover.

Seabrooke's Capture Two To Lead UEW By 3-0 In Men's Softball Series

Seabroke Motors' vaunted playoff power manifested itself anew in men's senior softball semi-finals at the East City Bowl Tuesday night, as Bill Sullivan's fiery band took two games over Tom Walton's sturdy UEW men to rack up a 3-0 edge in their best-of-seven series. The first game ended 6-2, with Lefty Doris the victor over Howie Dalton; then the East City dynamiters smote the apple for a 13-3 margin in the afterpiece, with Jim Driscoll the winner over speedy Jack Crowley.

The largest crowd of the season witnessed the twin-bill; and a capacity crowd may be on hand Thursday when the series will continue to a possible finish. In the event Seabrooke's win the opener, they will meet TP Transports in the second game to open the finals; but should UE emerge victorious in the first contest, the finals, in any case, would not commence until later.

(Lefty) Jack Doris displayed his better playoff form to subdue U.E. bats in the curtain raiser, as he scattered seven hits, fanned two and walked a pair. Dalton, on the other hand, twirled well enough to win any average game, allowing one less bingle than his adversary and walking a single hitter. Four errors afield hurt his cause, particularly in the first and sixth, though the Sullivan band smote the melon hard enough and took advantage of all inning lapses; while the Union crew seemed below par with the hickory, when hits meant runs.

The teams battled fairly evenly until the sixth with Seabrooke's holding a 2-1 edge; then the bats of Neil Thompson, Skeeter O'Heron, Speed Currie, Red Sullivan and Bobby Wyatt, aided by one bobble netted four runs, to virtually stitch up the ball game. Sullivan and Wyatt smacked home two runs apiece in the scrappy contest; while Jack White drove in one and Dalton stole in the sixth for UE's pair. Fielding honors were shared by J O'Heron, Thompson, Wyatt and Bill Wood.

The nightcap saw Jim Driscoll's midget frame work valiantly to hold the Walton men to seven safeties again, as he coasted along to a convincing win over Crowley, who hurled well till the unlucky sixth.

BIG HOMER

With the score tied at 4-4, Thompson greeted Jack with a mighty homer into right field; then O'Heron bunted safely; Currie skied to Heffernan who fielded it with class in this game—but Sullivan walked. Next, Wyatt rapped through short to score Skeeter; Scriver doubled sharply to centre to score Sullivan and Wyatt, and later came in on an error himself, to put the game on ice with Driscoll working with the precision of a surgeon and the heart of an Arabian steed . . . That was it.

Seabrooke's tallied two more in the seventh to swell their final total on a walk, two outs and an error; but U.E. finished an important offensive night with four goose eggs.

Red Sullivan belted his fifth homer of the series and 18th of the season with O'Heron aboard in the first frame; the latter had two for five, one a triple; Heffernan two for four, one a three-bagger; and Woods and White hit doubles. Bernie Robson hit two for four as did Wyatt and Scriver. Jaquith hit three for five to complete the honor role. Fielding honors went to Heffernan, Donoghue and Currie; but every man fielded well, on the whole, this game.

Yanks Bow To Nats In 2-1 Loss; Chicago Wins 6-2

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

The first division teams in both major leagues could look at the calendar today and tell themselves "we can still do it." That's because on Aug. 12 two years ago, New York Giants were 13 games behind Brooklyn, yet they caught the Dodgers on the final day of the season and went on to win a playoff for the National League pennant. The teams in second, third and fourth place in both leagues go into today's contests less than 13 games out of the lead. In the National, Brooklyn is 7½ in front of Milwaukee Braves with Philadelphia Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals tied for third, 11½ games back. In the American, New York Yanks lead Chicago White Sox by six games with third-place Cleveland 11 behind and fourth-place Boston 12½.

The size of the leads changed in both leagues Tuesday night. The Yankees lost a full game as they bowed to Washington Senators 2-1 and Chicago defeated Cleveland Indians 6-2. The situation was reversed in the national where Brooklyn whipped New York 4-0 and St. Louis edged Milwaukee 4-3.

WIN TWIN BILL

Boston Red Sox won twice at Philadelphia, whipping the Athletics 7-6 and 7-5. Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns split a pair. The Browns took the first 5-2, the Tigers the second 9-3.

Chicago Cubs edged Cincinnati Redlegs 1-0. Philadelphia Phillies defeated Pittsburgh 3-0, but lost 7-4 in a game that was finally finished after being left hanging since July 5 by the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew law. The Pirates had them ahead 7-0 when time was called after 6 1-3 innings.

The Brooklyn victory was a great personal satisfaction for right-hander Carl Erskine. The Dodger ace gave up just two hits--both singles by Hank Thompson—as he beat the Giants at the Polo Grounds where he had failed five times in a row. Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges homered.

Back-to-back doubles by Solly Hemus and Red Schoendienst in the ninth gave the Cardinals their victory over Milwaukee.

SAVE TRIUMPH

Fine clutch pitching by Walt Masterson saved Washington's triumph over the Yankees. After holding New York hitless through 5 1-3 innings Masterson yielded a run in the seventh on a walk and a triple by Irv Noren. Washington has won six of its last seven games.

Billy Pierce, who pitched a three-hit shutout for Chicago against New York Sunday, came to the rescue in relief at Cleveland. With the bases loaded and none out in the ninth Pierce came in to retire the next three men. Minnie Minoso sparked a five-run Chicago uprising in the seventh with a three-run homer.

Boston's Mel Parnell became the first American League pitcher to win 16 games this season as he took the first game of the Red Sox twin bill at Philadelphia, but he needed help from three relief men in the ninth inning. In the second game Ellis Kinder preserved Skinny Brown's 11th victory.

READS ELECTION RESULTS—Hon. George Drew, 59-year-old national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, reads the result of the federal election as it flashes on a teletype printer in his Ottawa campaign headquarters. With him is his wife, Mrs. Drew. Early returns indicated a sweeping victory for the Liberal party and at 9.30 p.m. EDT., Mr. Drew conceded the loss of the election.

SET ELECTION RECORD—The Canadian Press set a record for speed in reporting the Dominion election results. Re-election of the Liberal government was flashed over the news association's coast-to-coast wire network at 8.15 p.m. EDT. A key group of the CP staff of 250 in 10 bureaux across Canada, huddle in the Toronto headquarters. Veteran reporter John LeBlanc (left), who wrote the main general story, consults with his checker, Harry Kingdon (seated). Charles Bruce, (second from right), general superintendent of CP, supervised and edited the election story. Running copy on the returns was written by Jim Bastable (right).

PEI Potato Growers Keeping Fingers Crossed About Crop

By GERRY MARTIN

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Potato growers of Prince Edward Island, looking forward to a bumper crop this season, are keeping their fingers crossed.

The weather the last few months has been exceptionally good for growing and with the harvest little more than a month away present signs point to the largest crop on the island in some years.

Farmers have 28,346 acres of seed potatoes planted. This is reported 5,200 acres more than last year.

The island growers have been sending seed potatoes to the southern United States and South America and already the Argentine government has shown an interest in buying seed spuds this year.

For the farmers, the next two weeks will tell the tale. The blight season is here and every precaution is being taken to prevent his fungus-type killer from causing destruction.

HELPS FARMERS

The science service laboratory, operated by the Dominion government at Charlottetown, assists farmers in their war against the disease. Officials said the only sure way to kill the blight is to spray crops twice weekly.

The blight attacks vines, killing them, and when rain falls it seeps down into the plant roots, stunting growth or decaying the potato.

It has been several years since the blight has caused ruinous damage to island crops.

As for marketing, islanders are looking to boats, even more than in past years, as a means of beating the high cost involved in shipping.

Already vessels are planning trips from Prince Edward Island ports to central Canadian markets by way of the St. Lawrence river.

Potatoes are the big cash crop on this island. A good growing year would see the farmers take in $12,000,000 to $14,000,000.

Sanitary Hearing Ordered For Weber

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A sanity hearing was ordered Tuesday night for Gordon Emerson Weber, 40, whose stories of cremating the body of his father-in-law have puzzled officers here, in Canada and in Wisconsin.

The hearing is set for the psychopathic court Monday.

Capt. Floyd Rosenberg of the sheriff's detectives filed the petition for a mental hearing after police at Kitchener and Guelph, Ont., expressed doubt regarding Weber's latest story that he killed his father-in-law, Rudolph Maier, 69, in a hotel at Guelph four years ago.

Weber, who was born in Kitchener, said he burned the body on a Kitchener golf course.

CHANGES STORY

Previously Weber told officers his father-in-law died after an altercation in a Milwaukee railroad station in 1949, and that he burned the body in a public dump near Hartland, Wis.

A Milwaukee detective questioned him Monday and said Weber moved the locale of his father-in-law's death to Canada. Police in Guelph and Kitchener were unable to confirm the story.

Weber's wife Muriel has told officers she believes her husband made up the story of her father's death. No concrete evidence has been found that he was killed, but members of the family told officers he hasn't been seen since leaving on a trip with Weber four years ago.

Doherty Opens New Market On Reid Street

Bill Doherty, owner of Doherty's Meat Market will officially open his new ultra-modern food market Thursday, at Parkhill and Reid St.

Before coming to Peterborough six years ago and opening his own store, Mr. Doherty was employed for 18 years with a chain store meat department in Toronto, Montreal and Kingston.

On coming to Peterborough in 1947 he first opened a meat store and later expanded it into a complete food market.

The front of the new store is done in green terazza and green vitrolite, with angle windows to give it a modern appearance. The walls are painted yellow, with a celetex ceiling in green and ivory shades.

The shelves and island displays are done in chartreuse, with fluorescent lighting.

The meat counter is at the rear with a self-serve frozen food counter beside it. There is parking space beside the store for 12 cars and there will be free delivery anywhere in the city.

Struck By Plane Wing

SHILO, Man. (CP)—An army officer, injured Monday when struck by the wing tip of a low-flying aircraft, was removed to Winnipeg Hospital Tuesday night where his condition was described as good. Col. A. J. Bailey, 39, of Duncan, B.C., commandant of the Royal Canadian School of Artillery at Shilo, was seated in a jeep watching simulated strafing operations when an Auster aircraft used by the school for spotting purposes swept in low. Wing tip struck him.

VERTICAL RAILROAD—They haven't started running trains up and down the Eiffel Tower, appearances to the contrary. The fast passenger train streaking down the impossible-looking grade is a British express crossing London's mighty Forth Bridge, as seen from an unusual angle. The House of Commons is at present discussing the possibility of adding a toll-road deck to the structure, which now carries only railroad traffic.

Exciting Things Happen In Canada, Composer Says

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP)—A successful musical composer who returned to Canada on a sudden inspiration says "it's in Canada that the exciting things are happening."

The composer is Louis Applebaum of Toronto, who wrote the music for the two plays of the Shakesperian Festival here. He has done the musical score for about 150 documentary films.

He started composing music at 16, and won a couple of prizes from the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada.

Applebaum then studied in New York with Roy Harris and Bernard Wagenaar and became interested in music for films.

The tall young musician with the black curly hair came back to Canada and in 1944 became musical director of the national film board.

HOLLYWOOD EXPERIENCE

At this time one of his scores was screened in Hollywood for a documentary on the Royal Canadian Navy He was then invited to Hollywood in connection with a documentary on the Swedish Navy starring Greta Garbo. While there Applebaum composed the music for "Tomorrow the World" starring Frederic March, and "The Story of G. I. Joe" based on the life of Ernie Pyle. The latter film was nominated for an academy award in music.

In 1947 he returned to New York to do research on synthetic music and sound.

"Then one day," he recalls, "it took me an hour and a half to cross from Fifth to Sixth avenue, so I decided to come back home to Canada, where the exciting things happen now—like this festival."

Another "exciting thing" Louis Applebaum likes to talk about is "the composertron" on which, he says, "the national film board has scooped the rest of the world."

PRODUCES ANY SOUND

This device will produce electronically any conceivable sound from the crowing of a rooster to the music of a symphony orchestra.

In between conducting the orchestras at the Shakespeare Festival Theatre and arranging and managing an afternoon concert series, Applebaum is wondering when he'll have time to compose the ballet he has promised for September, or the television scores which come due soon.

Auto Driver Of The Future Need Never Look At Road

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP)—The happy auto driver of the future may be able to relax and enjoy the scenery without even glancing at the road.

The backseat driver, and jokes about same, may become as obsolete as the dinosaur.

You may be able to zoom along a superhighway on a foggy day watching a television show and with nothing to worry about but the cool drink in your hand.

You'd have no worries about staying on the road, passing other cars, or smash-ups with other carefree drivers.

All of this may become reality through the magic of electronics.

A model five-foot car electronically equipped now is being put through its automatic driving paces by Dr. V. K. Zworykin, television and electronic scientist of the Radio Corporation of America.

Zworykin and his assistants at RCA's David Sarnoff research centre in Princeton, N. J., have a laboratory car which can:

1. Steer itself along a prescribed route.
2. Stop itself when it approaches a metal obstacle.
3. Turn out of its own lane to pass a slower car.

WORKING OUT SYSTEM

working out a system which could

In miniature, the scientists are be applied to superhighways of the future so that passenger cars could operate the same way.

The system calls for a two-lane highway with an electric cable buried in the concrete in the middle of each lane. Each cable would set up a magnetic field of a certain frequency.

The cars of the future could be equipped with two coils, one on each side, to pick up the electrical waves from the cables.

If the coil on one side gets more of the signal than the coil on the other, electronic equipment controlling the steering gear would bring the car back on course.

For passing other cars, the two parallel road cables would be connected at frequent intervals with diagonal wires.

The presence of a stalled car or a slowly moving car ahead of yours would be signalled by a "radio tail" sending up warning signals.

When your car picks up the warning, it is shunted over one of the diagonals to the passing lane.

PINT-SIZE POOL PICKETS—Neighborhood children in Detroit, Mich., want to wade in the Water Works Park pool and start picketing to dramatize their desires. The park was closed for "security reasons" after the Korean war started. Now that the war has ended, a city official has promised to take the matter up with city council.

Springville News

The Rev. Frank Whiteley, of Picton, guest minister at Springville-Fairmount union services during August, conducted the service at Fairmount church on Sunday and will continue his series of sermons on "The Limitations of a Christian" at Springville church next Sunday at 11:15 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wood and Royden, of Newmarket, were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Seymour and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Duncan Seymour, of Cobourg.

MATERIAL WITNESS—Wilbert Coffin, 37-year-old Gaspe prospector, has been detained as a material witness in the case of three Pennsylvania hunters, slain in the Gaspe bush about June 10. This photo by the Toronto Telegram shows Coffin, as important witness at the coroner's inquest, in his prospecting clothes in Gaspe.

Get Agreement In Plant Strike

TORONTO (CP) — Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer, Tuesday night announced that agreement has been reached on all matters at issue in the strike of 750 workers at the North American Cyanamid Company plant in Niagara Falls, Ont.

The workers, members of the United Electrical Workers (Ind.), struck July 27 to enforce demands for union security.

Labor Minister Daley and Mr. Fine met Tuesday with company and union officials and worked out the settlement. Details of the agreement, not disclosed, will be submitted to a union meeting tonight for ratification.

The union security issue was the last point on which union and company reached agreement.

The company said earlier it had agreed to all other recommendations of a conciliation board, including the granting of a wage increase of four cents an hour. The basic hourly wage before the strike was $1.45.

Difficulties resulting in the strike arose over negotiations for a first contract with the union, which was certified as bargaining agent at Cyanamid last January.

Communists Back Nehru Kashmir Policy

By RAWLE KNOX

NEW DELHI—(OFNS)—The central committee of the Communist Party of India meeting in Delhi last week, supported with minor reservations, Mr. Nehru's Kashmir policy of that state's limited accession to India.

The resolution recorded with horror that "imperialist agents and landlord reactionaries have been dangling the idea of so-called independence as a means to solve the acute economic hardships of the Kashmiri people, with the alluring promise of United tSates and United Nations aid."

The Commuuists sent a three-man mission of investigation to Kashmir in June and the party is known to have assured Mr. Nehru than on Kashmir he had its support.

Until eighteen months ago the C.P.I., which has always had considerable influence with one section of Sheikh Abdullas's National Conference Party in Kashmir, urged maximum independence for Kashmir with an obvious eye on its powerful Communist neighbours. But early in 1952 the Communist Party was so convinced that Kashmir would go to Pakistan in the event of a plebiscite that it virtually gave up work in the valley. It must be assumed, since pro-Pakistani elements in Srinagar (capital of Kashmir) have certainly grown no weaker in the past year and a half, that the C.P.I. has changed its policy owing to the almost total collapse of the Communist Party in Pakistan; and has decded that to retain any influence in Kashmir it must support accession to India.

The Communist Party in Pakiston has hardly raised a murmur since the failure of the Rawalpindi plot—an allegedly Communist-inspired attempt at a military coup d'etat—early in 1951. It has been noted before in Asia that where the wishes of two national Communist parties may conflict, the stronger is given charge, and the present declaration of Kashmir policy is apparently another example. Since the C.P.I. gained the respectability of Parliamentary representation after last year's general elections, its organisational strength has grown, despite some weakness in leadership. A central committee report last week estimated the party membership at 50,000 with the greatest strength in Andhra, the Telegu-speaking area of South India in Madras State.

Among the first tasks of the fourth session of the present Indian parliament, which opened this week, will be the discussion of a bill to create a new Andhra State which the central government has promised to have inaugurated by Otc. 1 this year.

Though the alliance between Congress and the Socialists will at first keep the Communists out of power in the new Andhra Assembly, the latter consider the creation of the state is the fulfilment of one of the main demands of their policy—the division of India into linguistic areas. They continue to urge that the three Telegu-speaking districts of Hyderabad State (in which it will be recalled, Communist guerillas created a "Little Malaya" from 1947 until they down-

BACK IN FRIENDLY HANDS—Pfc. Frederick Brazee (left) of Waterbury, Conn., former prisoner of the Communists, chats with a friend, Pfc. Richard Haskell of Pepperel, Mass., (not a returnee) and Red Cross girl Rita Battle of Oakland, Md., in a UN camp at Inchon, Korea. Brazee will soon be shipped home. He was among first Americans released in prisoner exchange at Panmunjom.

British Visit Impresses Publisher

LONDON (CP) — Lt.-Col. Oscar Gilbert, prominent Quebec City newspaper publisher, Tuesday pronounced himself "tremendously impressed" with what he has seen on his first visit to Britain.

"I am very much impressed with the situation here and the reception I got from the British business man," said the president of the newspapers Le Soleil and l'Evenement-Journal.

His visit to Britain is to promote business relations.

ed arms to begin their successful election campaign) should be part of the new Andhra. Much more will be heard of this demand in December when the Communist Party will hold its general congress in Hyderabad.

PICK PICKERSGILL—State Secretary J. W. Pickersgill, whose entry into the cabinet before the federal election was a campaign issue, was elected to represent the Newfoundland riding of Bonavista-Twillingate by a substantial majority. He is congratulated in Ottawa by his wife beneath a chart showing returns from Newfoundland on election night.

Allan B. Collis Spent Most Of Life In Business

Owner and manager of Peterborough's newest junior department store is Allan B. Collis, a native of Toronto who has spent much of his life in the clothing business.

While he was still young, Mr. Collis moved with his parents from Toronto to Oshawa, where he received his education. After high school, he went into business with his father and brothers, who operated a department store in Oshawa.

About 10 years ago, he came to Peterborough and opened a ladies' and children's wear shop on the site of the old Abramson's Ladies' Wear store. Until his new store was completed, he stayed in that original location.

EXPANDED

Starting with one floor for women's and children's wear, he opened the second floor of his store two years after coming here, and devoted that section to children's clothing.

Married, with two sons and a daughter ranging from four to 12, he is a director of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the Kiwanis Club and of B'nai B'rith. In sports, he is fond of curling and lawn bowling, and is a member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

When business lets him, he spends his summer spare time at his cottage on Long Point, Chemong Lake, where he enj fishing and boating. His wif member of Hadassah and the Kiwani-Queens, is also active in the business.

Airport To Vanish

TORONTO (CP)—Barker Field, one of Canada's oldest civil airports, will close Dec. 1. The land it occupies in the northwest suburb of Toronto has been sold for a housing development for about $500,000. The field, established in 1925, was named after Lt.-Col. W. G. Barker, a Canadian flying ace of the First World War.

Fire Sweeps Warehouse

HAMILTON (CP) — A fireman was overcome and thousands of dollars damage was caused when fire swept through the fifth floor of the Canadian Cotton Company warehouse here Tuesday night. The fireman was revived with a resuscitator. The blaze broke out among the bales of cotton and firefighters were hampered by dense smoke.

Constitutional Crisis Lingers On

By HUGH LATIMER

CAPE TOWN (OPNS)—South Africa's constitutional crisis is now two years old and may last another two years. This is the conclusion parliamentarians draw from four weeks' abortive negotiations between the government and the United Party opposition.

One of the conditions on which Cape Province entered the Union of South Africa in 1910 was the inclusion in the South Africa Act of a section which provides that a two-thirds majority is required at a joint sitting of both houses of parliament for any act which diminishes voters' rights. In 1951 Doctor Malan's government passed by a simple majority a Separate Representation of Voters' Act to take colored voters off the common roll in Cape Province, as African voters had previously been taken off in 1936. The colored voters' representation was to be fixed at four members of parliament (white) for all time.

The supreme court, however, declared Malan's Act to be unconstitutional; the English-speaking minority of the white population woke into political activity for the first time; ex-servicemen formed the Torch Commando to protect the constitution; and in 1952 the Natal branch of the Commando insisted upon Natal's moral right to secede from the union if undertakings made at the time of union were not respected. The general agitation encouraged Africans and Indians to fight for their rights too, and the passive resistance movement achieved eight thousand five hundred volunteers and an unprecedented degree of white support.

At the general election in April, however, the big Afrikaner section of the white population proved quite unsympathetic to all this agitation and returned Dr. Malan with an increased majority. He has now introduced a South African Act Amendment Bill, which not only revalidates the separate representation of voters act, but also repeals the section of the South Africa act, so that any constitutional change may in future be made by a simple majority.

This time the bill has been introduced constitutionally in joint sitting. To pass it, the government needs fifteen M.Ps or Senators from the opposition to cross the floor and vote with them at the Third Reading. Could they achieve this? Until this week it seemed almost certain that they could. Many United Party M.Ps, especially from Transvaal, have no sympathy with the colored voter of the Cape. Previously they objected only to the unconstitutional procedure of 1951. Some go all the way with the government, some want to raise the income qualification for franchise, some, especially from the Cape, stand for no change. The Party attitude, represented by its leader, J. G. N. Strauss, is that any compromise must be reached with the party leadership or not at all. The United party, explained its Transvaal spokesman, Bailey Bekker, will not cooperate to repeal the section of the act, but it is prepared to talk on separate representation. It is true that they are pledged to "consult" the coloureds, but they know well that sufficient coloured leaders can be found to support separate representation.

EXAMINE QUESTION

The United party suggested a select committee to examine the question. This was turned down. Arthur Barlow, M.P., acting independently, proposed that Malan and Strauss should get together over coffee and cakes at Groote Schuur, the prime minister's residence. Dr. Malan remained impassive; then, over the weekend, Barlow himself visited Groote Schuur and was followed by two other M.Ps. Mr. Pocock and Mr. Waring. These two went with Strauss's knowledge, though not necessarily with his approval.

A buzzz of expectancy followed the announcement on the Monday that the joint sitting was adjourned for a month. But after eight days, things are back where they were; on Tuesday letters between Strauss and Malan were published; it seems that Pocock believed Malan was willing for each party to nominate representatives for talks, whereas Malan had agreed only to free discussion between individuals of either party. Waring, who is Barlow's son-in-law, commented petulantly that any businessman would know better than to let in lawyers too early in the negotiations.

The Nationalists blame Strauss, who is a barrister? They identify him against all previous tradition with his own left-wing. This moment of crisis is a personal test for the little Afrikaner. Can he hold together the party bequeathed him by General Smuts? It is his left-wing that is threatened now by the newly-formed Federal and Liberal parties—so that Strauss must do nothing outrageously illiberal for a while. But there are also difficulties on Malan's side. There is the personal antipathy which good Nationalists have for "renegade" Afrikaners. Also, it is believed in parliamentary circles that the Prime Minister did originally agree to informal inter-party talks, but was overruled by his own extremists—if one can call by that name those who form the majority in Parliament. They prefer to think that the United Party will break up of its own accord.

NO COMMON PRINCIPLE

It almost certainly would break up, if it existed in a vacuum, it totally lacks a common principle. But the cracks made by the last election are being once more cemented by the uncompromising attitude and clumsy methods of the Nationalists. They have offered the right-wing of the Opposition nothing—no face-saving device, no hope of compromise, nothing which could compensate Waring and others for the almost certain loss of their seats.

It is not for lack of will power that the United Party right-wing is still protecting the Coloured voter, but simply for lack of opportunity to betray him. And of course any dubious procedure which the Government may later take in default of a two-thirds majority, such as packing the Courts or the Senate, would once more consolidate anti-Nationalist opinion behind Mr. Strauss.

Britain Aids Burma With Oil Industry

HYDERABAD, India (Reuters)—Britain has agreed to help Burma rehabilitate her war-ravaged oil and mining industries in a new agreement between the two governments, it was disclosed here Tuesday.

Most of Burma's oil wells and mines were either plundered by the Japanese or destroyed before the enemy got to them during the Second World War.

Free Nations Must Aid Labor

NEW YORK—(AP)—CIO president W. P. Reuther said Tuesday that if free nations are to meet the threat of Communism, they must do everything possible to strengthen the free labor movement of the world.

"The recent uprising in Germany indicates that the workers are the very core of the struggle against Communistic tyranny, the same as free labor was the core of the struggle against Fascism," Reuther said.

Reuther, accompanied by his wife and daughter, returned on the liner America after six weeks in Europe, during which he attended the third world congress of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions in Stockholm.

Scottish Industrialists Will Visit Canada

LONDON—A trio of top-level Scottish industrialists leave for Canada on August 25 to undertake a coast-to-coast study of business opportunities with particular reference to engineering possibilities in the west. They are: Sir Alexander McColl, member of the London committee of the Scottish Council for Development and Industry and and engineer as well as industrialist; Henry Gardner of Kilmarnock, also an engineer; and J. Gibson Kerr of Edinburgh. In Montreal, the group will be joined by a prominent U.S. industrialist, R. B. McColl, who is a member of the New York committee of the Scottish Council.

On September 1 the mission sets out on an intensive 4-weeks tour taking in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Banff and Vancouver. The three men will report on demand in the west for manufactured and other products which could be supplied from Scotland either directly or by the establishment of branch plants by Scottish firms. Says Sir Alexander McColl: "We must do our utmost to ensure that Canadians in the west are made fully aware of the capacity of Scottish industry. We have no desire to disturb the Canadian economy by price cutting and shipping goods already made in Canada."

SINGING IN THE RAIN — A downpour couldn't dampen the enthusiasm of Liberal supporters who waited outside a Quebec City hotel for Prime Minister St. Laurent following the fifth straight victory of the Liberal party in a general federal election. A supporter rushes up to shake hands with Prime Minister St. Laurent when the premier went out to meet his followers.

Labor Rebellion In France May Upset Indo-China Policy

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel's proposed economy decrees have precipitated a labor rebellion so strong that it could shake French policy from Indo-China to Germany.

Many foreign observers already are fearful that the strikes, so far peacefully directed against possible cuts in pensions and government payrolls, could develop into violence.

That might produce a swing from the rightist governments of the last two years to a left-of-centre coalition. And that could mean junking of a lot of foreign policies, including the European Army plan for rearming Germany and fighting endlessly for victory in Indo-China.

Numbers of foreign officials are critical of the manner in which the new government started to shave expenses. The economy cuts were aimed first at rail, postal and civil service workers without any obvious blows at the big industrial powers which long have enjoyed what most Frenchmen think is an unfair tax advantage.

NOT MADE PUBLIC

Later revisions may hit the rich with more taxes, but no such decrees have yet been made public.

Unlike most French strikes of recent years, this wave did not start with the Communists. It sprang from the lower level of government workers who fear that their pensions will be cut or their very jobs imperiled by the economies. Even the leaders of their Socialist-controlled Force Ouvrier (FO) and of the Socialist party were taken by surprise.

The Communist-controlled Confederation Generale du Travail jumped happily into the movement. For three years they have been trying without success to get just such a consolidation behind a strike move.

Now the strike is aimed not just at the economy decrees but at the government itself.

Laniel and his cabinet clearly hope to wait out the current strike, to see if it won't wear out under the double influence of the summer vacation sun and perhaps some softening of the decrees themselves.

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES

But one important foreign observer said he felt the situation likely would get worse before it got better.

If Parliament turned on Laniel and voted his cabinet out, there is a widespread belief that the next government would be decidedly farther to the left and committed to cutting France's military costs by negotiating an end to the war in Indo-China.

So many Socialists are opposed to the rearming of Germany at this time that a leftist government might also sack the European Army plan.

Switchboard Romance

CALGARY (CP) — Telephone girls in Calgary receive so many marriage proposals that romance on the switchboard poses a labor problem. Officials of Alberta Government Telephones say the company loses two or three girls every day either to marriage or to other jobs.

Ogopogo Battle Ends Quietly

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — The "battle of Ogopogo" ended Tuesday with a damp "phut" instead of a loud boom.

Harmonious relations between this Okanagan valley city and neighboring Vernon are being hastily restored.

The breach developed last week when a Vernon group, led by radio-station manager A. G. Seabrook, said they had taken steps to copyright the name of "Ogopogo," famed monster of the Lake Okanagan deeps.

Mr. Seabrook said Kelowna, which has used Ogopogo in promotion of its annual regatta, would not be able to use the name in the future without his permission.

But the commissioner of patents in Ottawa, J. W. T. Mitchell, says that Mr. Seabrook's copyright only pertains to "literary and artistic work."

Thus the general term Ogopogo cannot be registered.

$9,500,000 Orders Placed By CNR

MONTREAL (CP) — Orders amounting to more than $9,500,000 for 50 diesel-electric road switching locomotives and five air dump cars have been placed by Canadian National Railways, it was announced Tuesday.

The engine orders are for 18, 1,600-horsepower diesel road switchers to be built by the Montreal Locomotive Works, Montreal; 24 1,500-horsepower units from General Motors Diesel, Ltd., London; and eight 1,200-horsepower units from Canadian Locomotive Co., Kingston.

Coroner Decides Death Natural One

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Coroner Dr. C. V. Mills said Tuesday night Herbert Pollock, 51, of Chatham, who was found dead in the doorway of a building early Tuesday, died of natural causes.

Earlier Dr. Mills said he found no outward signs of violence on the body. A post-mortem examination showed Pollock died of coronary thrombosis.

It was believed Pollock had been visiting friends in one of the second-floor apartments and suffered the attack while leaving the building.

Hees Seeks Recipe For Cooking Shirt

TORONTO (CP)—How do you cook a shirt?

George Hees, member of Parliament for Toronto Broadview, is looking for a recipe.

The re-elected Hees made a public statement before the election that if Elizabeth Janzen, Progressive Conservative candidate for Waterloo North, wasn't re-elected he'd eat his shirt in Kitchener's civic square.

Miss Janzen lost to Liberal Norman Schneider, who demanded the shirt be eaten.

"I'll be glad to eat one," said Mr. Hees Tuesday, "if I like the recipe."

Robber Wounds Woman In Dress Shop

HAMILTON (CP)—A woman who surprised a robber in a dress shop here was shot and wounded early today.

A man jumped from behind a counter when he heard Mrs. Wanda Czerenkewiez, manager of the dress shop, approaching. He fired once and fled through the front door. A couple above the shop heard the shot and screams for help and found the woman crawling upstairs.

She was taken to hospital while police launched a search for the gunman.

New Motor Torpedo Boat Will Exceed 50 M.P.H.

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A squat, sawed-off little plug-ugly of a boat spearheads Britain's bid to remain one of the world's great sea powers.

This is the Bold Pioneer, a motor torpedo boat which the Royal Navy proudly hails as probably the fastest fighting ship afloat. Her peak speed is a secret, but the admiralty acknowledges she has already exceeded 40 knots—more than 50 miles an hour.

Bold Pioneer is powered by Diesel engines with a gas-turbine "boost." With disarming candor, uncharacteristic of the silent service, the navy adds that this type of boosted power is to the ordinary steam engine as steam was to sail in Victoria's day.

MAKES STEAM OBSOLETE

"The gas turbine is used as an auxiliary power unit in combination with diesel engines," an admiralty spokesman explained. "This principle is the death knell, with certain reservations, of steam used on its own. In the next 10 years ships which are not boosted by gas turbines will become obsolescent."

The spokesman added that Britain believes she has a four- to five-year lead on other countries in application of the turbine-boost principle to fighting ships.

The Bold Pioneer, first of the gas turbine-propelled ships in commission, recently completed trials in the English Channel, to the complete satisfaction of even the most cynical old salt. Her engineering officer said she was as easy to start as an automobile.

The 122-foot craft, with a take-off noise which has been likened to a seagoing Comet, is equipped with two 4.5-inch guns, giving it a punch possessed by few other small craft. She tears past other ships of the same size as though they were standing still, and is easy to manoeuvre.

STRATEGIC USES

With a 25-foot beam, a seven-foot draught and displacement of 130 tons, Bold Pioneer would prove especially useful in maintaining command of narrow seas, such as ring Britain's coast. She isn't much to look at—her cut-off stern gives her an unfinished look—but naval officers will tell you there's nothing to touch her anywhere. Because of the gas turbines, she has less heavy equipment than most ships.

"The ship is rather more beamy than usual," says her commanding officer, Lt.-Cmdr. Chris Preston. "That means she turns more easily, and the diesel engines, which we use mostly for manoeuvring, do give her a very good push."

Bold Pioneer has a sister ship, Bold Pathfinder, which is also afloat. Another which will employ gas turbines as auxiliary power is the Grey Goose, a wartime gunboat.

285 MILES LONG

The mainland of Scotland is 285 miles long but varies in width between 50 and 160 miles.

FAST SHIP—The Royal Navy has a new class of motor torpedo boats using gas turbines as auxiliary power units. Pictured here, at nearly full speed, is the Bold Pathfinder, one of the new class which mounts 4.5-inch guns, heavy armament for such small vessels. A sister-ship, Bold Pioneer, is said to have exceeded 40 knots, or more than 50 miles an hour, and the Royal Navy claims it is probably the fastest warcraft afloat.

Allow Farmers To Sell Hogs

STRATFORD (CP) — Farmers will be able to buy and sell hogs in community sales barns in Stratford, Mitchell and Listowel this week for the first time since May 15.

Dr. G. P. McKenzie of Stratford, health of animals branch veterinarian for the federal department of agriculture, said Tuesday he has carried out inspections of sales barns in three Perth county centres and found them free of traces of hof cholera which brought about their closing three months ago.

Dr. McKenzie acted on instructions from Ottawa, received last week, in which he was authorized to lift quarantine on hog sales at community barns if premises were found clean. However, quarantine imposed in May on farms at which pigs were found diseased, still remains in effect.

Former Quebec MLA

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. J. F. A. Gatien, former Union Nationale member of the Quebec legislature for Montreal Maisonneuve, died in hospital Tuesday. Public curator for the province and vice-president of the Quebec College of Physicians he was a holder of several Papal decorations.

Two Boys Kept In Cage At Zoo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two young boys, 10 and 12, were put behind bars at the Buffalo zoo Tuesday and given an object lesson in kindness to animals.

The boys peered out of a monkey cage while a sign hung on the bars proclaimed: "We were throwing stones at the penguins—great fun? Won't you join us?"

Zoo curator Joseph A. Abgott said an attendant caught the youngsters hurling stones at the antarctic birds.

The boys were kept in the monkey cage until police arrived and gave them a lecture on zoo courtesy.

Mission Worker Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Mabel E. Lindsay, 73, of Toronto, a prominent worker in the home missions of the United Church of Canada, died Monday while visiting friends near Beaverton.

Born at Bath, Ont., Mrs. Lindsay was graduated from Queen's University and was appointed boys' matron at the Battleford school home in Saskatchewan in 1922.

From 1937 to 1938 she worked at the Indian residential school, Norway House, in northern Manitoba. She retired in 1948 to live in Toronto. She is the widow of the Rev. M. A. Lindsay of Kirkfield, Ont.

Entombed 6½ Days

TOKYO (Reuters)—A Japanese workman was dug out of a railroad tunnel cave-in Tuesday, alive after being entombed 6½ days. Tons of falling rock cut off Takeshi Oda, 38, and another man digging in the tunnel last Tuesday in Mie prefecture, western Japan. The other buried man has not been found.

Sinclair Denies Reports Of New Post

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisheries Minister Sinclair, re-elected in Monday's federal election, has denied reports that he may be in line for the finance portfolio in the Dominion cabinet.

"I don't give a damn who the next minister of finance is, but it won't be me," said Mr. Sinclair, assistant to Finance Minister Abbott before taking over the fisheries portfolio.

Liberal speakers during the campaign had said he was being considered for the post.

Liberal Candidate Will Ask Recount

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—William Mott, defeated Liberal candidate in New Westminster riding in Monday's federal election, will ask for a recount. The seat was won by George Hahn, Social Credit, by 138 votes.

"My campaign committee feels there is no question about the need for a recount," said Mr. Mott Tuesday. "Final checking may alter things."

Labor Meeting Deals With Moral Re-armament

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A prolonged and heated controversy over Moral Re-Armament raged on the Trades and Labor Congress convention floor Tuesday as Frank Hall, powerful railway union official, demanded an explanation of executive criticism of the international movement.

The criticism, commending the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions for warning free unions to "spurn" any connection with MRA, was contained in an editorial in the July issue of the TLC Journal, the labor body's official magazine. MRA is a movement which aims at promoting moral strength through prayer.

William Jenoves of Toronto, a TLC vice-president and in charge of convention proceedings at the time the MRA storm developed, said the editorial policy was the responsibility of Percy Bengough, TLC president.

Several convention delegates supported the criticism. They asked where the MRA movement, founded by Frank Buchman, got its funds and described it as an organization "sticking its nose" in labor-management negotiations.

Mr. Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks and chairman of the negotiating committee for 17 non-operating railway employees, said he was helped by an MRA adherent during the 1951 railway strike.

PRAYER ANSWERED

When things were toughest during the strike, one friend offered whisky and the MRA acquaintance suggested prayer. Mr. Hall didn't drink the whisky, buf he prayed and he observed that the employees "didn't come out so badly" in the strike.

A national labor education campaign, which may help bring Canada's two major labor bodies closer together, was enthusiastically endorsed by the delegates.

They adopted a suggestion by the committee on officers' reports of a study of the possibility of appointing a full-time TLC education director and of setting up an educational department to expand the work of TLC schools across the country.

A TLC weekend school operated recently at Halifax while another, sponsored both by the TLC and the Canadian Congress of Labor, Canada's other major labor body, operated at London, Ont.

Malan Says UN Threatens British Commonwealth

CAPETOWN, South Africa (Reuters)—Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan said Tuesday night the United Nations is the principal danger to the continued existence of the British Commonwealth.

He said the world organization has become a "horse sale" where one member was bidding against the other.

Speaking in a parliamentary debate on foreign policy, Malan said the UN was undermining the Commonwealth's foundations by interfering in the internal affairs of member states. He urged all Commonwealth members to stand together and drive the UN back within the borders of its own charter.

TOO MUCH INTERFERENCE

The prime minister said the UN's commission on South Africa's racial policy, now sitting in Geneva was committing unwarranted interference in South Africa's domestic affairs and would not be recognized in any manner by his government.

Malan flayed India, a fellow Commonwealth member, for making accusations against South Africa's race policy at the UN. He said India represented a danger to Africa and all powers which have an interest in Africa because, he said, she was trying to unload her surplus population on the African continent.

Long Trek

WINDHOEK, South Africa (CP) More than 700 people will start from here on a 300-mile automobile journey across the forbidding Kaokveld of South West Africa to the border of Portuguese West Africa. The occasion is the silver jubilee of the Angola trek to Swartbooisdrift.

Britain's Regents Produced Bloodshed, Bitter Struggles

LONDON (Reuters) — England has seen a number of regents since the Norman conquest in 1066, many of them powerful, over-ambitious men.

Their control of the throne because of the Sovereign's youth or insanity often produced bloodshed and a bitter struggle for power among rival dynasties.

A few regents, most of them in the early days, honestly upheld the Crown as "protectors of the realm."

Interest in England's good and bad regents has been revived since the government's announcement that the 1937 Regency Act will be amended later this year. The change would make the Duke of Edinburgh regent if, for any reason, Queen Elizabeth II could not perform the Sovereign's functions.

England's first regents, known as "justicians", were comparatively good rulers who wielded considerable power. William the Conqueror introduced the system as a convenience so that he could spend part of each year in his beloved Normandy.

During his absence, Odo of Bayeux established a high reputation for handling of the throne.

The Norman king's son, William II who succeeded his father in 1087, adopted a similar system. Regent Ranulf Flambard held supreme powers when the king was abroad and maintained complete control of judicial and financial matters when the Monarch was at home.

But trouble flared up in the kingdom about 100 years later when Richard I, known as the lionhearted, went off to fight in the Crusades. He left the government in the control of two men, the Bishop of Durham for north England and the Earl of Essex for the South.

Richard asked his chancellor William de Longchamps to supervise the arrangement. Longchamps promptly installed himself as supreme ruler of both church and state. His reign was so unpopular that Richard's jealous brother John, who signed the Magna Carta in 1215, had no trouble in starting a rebellion and seizing the throne.

Henry VI, grandson of the hero of Agincourt, caused two regencies, first because he inherited the throne as an infant in 1422, and second because of his temporary imbecility 30 years later.

During the first of these regencies, his uncle John, Duke of Bedford, ruled England and the freshly-conquered duchy of Normandy.

When Henry lost his mind, the Duke of York became regent and was prevented from realizing his own ambition to become king only by his death in battle in 1460.

Bearded Henry VIII's sickly son Edward VI inherited the throne in 1547 at the age of 10 to set off a stormy period in the Royal succession. He was the son of Jane Seymour, third of Henry's six wives.

The Duke of Somerset, Jane Seymour's brother, failed as regent to prevent a rebellion. He was ousted in 1522 and beheaded by the Duke of Northumberland who nurtured a pet scheme for his son's advancement.

Northumberland's son wed Lady Jane Grey, Edward's cousin, to whom the sickly monarch left his crown upon his death at 16.

But the rightful heiress to the crown was Mary, daughter of Henry VIII and Catherine of Aragon, an ardent Roman Catholic. She soon deposed Lady Jane, executed her and began her ruthless persecution of Protestants which earned her the name Bloody Mary.

George III, who suffered in late life from insanity, made his frivolous son regent in 1811.

The son, who ascended the throne as George IV upon his father's death in 1820 is chiefly remembered for the fantastic and extravagant pavilion he built at Brighton and for his many mistresses and cronies.

Queen Victoria named her husband, Prince Consort Albert, regent for fear she would die before her son Edward VII came of age.

GO TO CAMP

A bus load of crippled children from Oshawa and Bowmanville stopped in Peterborough today to pick up Murray Hargreaves of RR 5, Peterborough, before they went on to Camp Merrywood on Lake Rideau for crippled children. The camp is run by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Rotary clubs in this district are sending the children. They will be at camp for three weeks.

DUMP BURNS

Firemen used two garden hoses already connected up to put out a fire at noon today at the old city dump on Rogers St., near Hazlitt St. There was no damage.

Two-Hour Meters Coming Soon, Mayor Predicts

Peterborough may get some parking meters with a two-hour limit in place of the present one-hour limit before long.

The prediction was made by Mayor Hugh Waddell Tuesday night when city council approved an extensive list of proposed changes in parking bylaws involving dozens of city streets.

His worship suggested that the installation of two-hour parking meters would be proposed by the special traffic committee which recommended the changes in the parking bylaws.

"Is this for revenue or what?" asked Ald. N. G. Graham when he saw the list of new parking meters proposed by the committee. "It's becoming a hard job to park and merchants are feeling the effects of it."

"It's to prevent all-day parking and to keep traffic moving," the mayor explained.

"It's about the most effective method cities have found for doing that," Ald. T. D. Miller elaborated.

UNDER DISCUSSION

Two sidelights on the parking problem were pointed out by city clerk E. A. Outram, who said that the whole question of a definition of the term parking was under discussion by authorities.

He explained the present definition of the term allows up to five minutes for loading or unloading passengers while trucks could take as long as they wanted for loading or unloading.

Another problem was the definition of double parking. At present the term meant parking away from the curb and preventing access to another vehicle.

Following are the recommended parking bylaw amendments approved by council:

No parking on the north side of Parkhill Rd. between Dennistoun Ave. and ater St.

On hour parking only at all times on the north side of Hunter St. between Bethune and Stewart Sts.

One hour parking at all times on the east side of Braund Place.

One hour parking at all times on the west side of Lafayette Ave.

One hour parking only at all times on the west side of Stewart St. between Wolfe and Townsend Sts.

NEW METERS

As a result of a survey by the police department, it was recommended that parking meters be installed, as soon as possible, on the following streets:

Hunter St., both sides, from Water St. to Sheridan St.; Queen St., both sides, from Hunter St. to Simcoe St.; Water St., west side, from Brock St. to Murray St.; King St., both sides, from the creek to Aylmer St.; Brock St., north side, from George St. to 325 feet west of the west limits of Chambers St.; Simcoe St., both sides from Water St. to Queen St.

Parking to be restricted to one hour only at all times on the following streets: George St., both sides, from Murray St. to McDonnel St.; Murray St., south side, between George and Water Sts., no parking on north side.

In order to speed up the movements of traffic, particularly in the dowtown area, by keeping corners clear of cars at the curb, the following amendment was approved, providing for "no standing" areas:

CHANGE BYLAW

When properly worded signs have been erected or displayed, no vehicle shall be permitted to stand:

1. Within 50 feet of the corner of any street intersection, except where otherwise provided by this bylaw.
2. Within any place on the street designated by traffic signs as a bus or coach stop.
3. On any street designated as a "Through Highway", within 80 feet of intersecting streets.
4. On any street intersecting a "Through Highway", within 50 feet of the "Through Highway", except where provided under Sec. 12, Subsection 5 of bylaw 4844.
5. Within 80 feet of any street intersection where there are signal lights.
6. On the north side of Simcoe Street between George and Water Streets.
7. Subsection (1) shall not apply to buses operated under city franchise."

JUST LISTEN, BARBARA — Lots of chrome, a spotlight, speedometer, mileage meter, back and front colored lights and many other gadgets are available for bicycles. But Ralph McCannan, 10, of 1304 Clonsilla Ave., wasn't satisfied with those, he invented a radio for his two-wheeler. With an old 10-foot aerial and a small beginners' crystal set, young Ralph is probably the only boy in Peterborough with a radio on his bike. Barbara Broadhurst (above) presses the earphones to her head to hear dance music while Ralph waits.

—(Examiner Staff Photo)

White Has Lead Of 3,337 Votes

With 139 of the 144 polls reported in the riding of Hastings-Frontenac, George White, Progressive Conservative, today had a lead of 3,337 votes over C. W. Foster, Liberal. The five polls still missing are in the northern part of the riding and it will possibly be another day before the ballot boxes are brought out. The vote as tabulated is Foster 7,560, White 10,897.

Lad's Bike Radio One Gadget Cycle Manufacturers Missed

Music for one, that's what Ralph McCannan, 1304 Clonsilla Aye., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken McCannan has. It's not in his bedroom, in a car but on his two-wheel bicycle, no less. Bicycle manufacturers, like the automobile companies, have hardly missed a thing on modern bikes. They have oodles of chrome, big lights front and back, small colored lights, mileage meter, speedometer, and other accessories.

But they failed to come up with a bicycle with a built-in radio. Young Ralph has done just that.

The 10-year-old son of the city electric appliance salesman, is a "natural" for radio and television. He's been fooling around with electric wires, light bulbs and radios for the past five years.

In fact young Ralph when he was younger, about five, "used to play with plugs,—make light bulbs go." He then switched to tearing small mantle radios apart and then playing with the condensers.

With his mind using all spare moments on his radio hobby, Ralph quickly switched to making his first crystal radio.

FOUND OUT HIMSELF

"Daddy didn't tell me anything," said Ralph. "He lets me find out for myself."

Last week Ralph worked out another crystal set while playing with friend, John Menzies. John suggested the radio and "so I made it". The radio saw plenty of action at Ralph's and John's. It even made a trip to Guelph last week.

Early this week it blossomed from a small bedroom radio to a bicycle radio.

Rummaging around his dad's store, young Ralph came up with an old aerial and "dad said I could have it." That started the bicycle radio off.

Ralph rigged the 10-foot aerial to the back axle, fixing the top of the aerial like a wire basket. He then ran wires from the aerial to the crystal and coil in a box on the handle bars, then attached the earphones and ground wires.

EXPLAINS SET

Ralph explained that the "sound hits the aerial, goes down through it, along the wires to the "tube" (the crystal and coil) to the earphones and then to the ground.

Many people will recall straining to hear their first radio programs on crystal sets. But Ralph's set works very well. There's no concentration required to hear the programs; they come over the set clearly.

During the day Ralph can pick up Peterborough's CHEX, later in the evening can hear stronger Toronto stations such as CBL and CKEY.

But Ralph isn't satisfied with that reception. He's going to add a condenser which will allow him to get various stations at any time.

Exhibition To Be 5-Day Show September 15-19

This year's Peterborough Exhibition will be a five-day event, running from September 15-19.

At a board meeting Tuesday night the annual question of straw and hay distribution was settled. This year tenders are to be sent out and the one selected will administer feed and bedding to all the livestock departments, including the race-horse barn, at a set price. Previous to this motion the race-horse barn had been provided free of charge.

Motor City Shows have been contacted for the midway entertainment this year, and two members of Exhibition Board have been commissioned to check the show and determine its size. Additional concessions and rides may be acquired in Detroit if necessary.

A motion was passed that half the prize money be paid to livestock winners during the week of the fair, the remainder being paid at a later date.

The Peterborough Orfuns Football Club was given permission to use the grounds and dressing rooms, except for the period a week before and during the Exhibition. Also the installation of a temporary telephone for the use of the club (especially the doctors affiliated) was permitted, providing the telephone is in the club's name and is removed after the season. All bills for installation and maintenance will be paid by the football club.

Acting president for the evening was John Kitney. Secretary was Mrs. J. Tully.

Police Warn Merchants Against Cheque Artist

City police today warned merchants in Peterborough city and county of a bad cheque artist who has already passed about 15 rubber cheques on service stations and grocery stores.

The man usually makes out cheques payable to Fred Parker and signs the names of well-known businessmen. Amounts vary from $31 to $36.

Driver of a 1934 Plymouth, licence number 410J2, he is accompanied by his wife and three children, the oldest two and a half years old.

He's 30 to 35 years of age, has brown hair, a light complexion and stands five feet, six inches tall.

The man is also wanted in Brantford and Hamilton for similar offences.

His specialty is small businesses. Grocery stores and service stations should be especially on the lookout for him, police say.

Home From Korea

STIRLING (ENS) — After 13 months with the Canadian forces in Korea, Lieut. Kenneth Black arrived home on Monday, and is spending his leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Black.

He made the journey from Japan to Malton airport by air.

Committee To Study Bylaw To Combat Smoke Nuisance

Action, in the form of a bylaw, to combat the city's smoke nuisance is to be studied by city council's legal and reception committee.

The decision was made at Tuesday night's council meeting, in spite of a note of caution from Ald. Syd. Black, chairman of the committee, that some buildings, which he said he would not specify, are "pretty bad" in regard to emission of excessive smoke.

"The industries concerned would just say: "Why don't you clean up your own nuisance first?" Ald. Black warned.

In spite of this, Ald. Black voted with the rest of the council in their decision to have his committee undertake the study.

Three other approaches to the problem were suggested.

Ald. P. J. Anglesey suggested a meeting between council and representatives of the railways. Ald. H. T. Rehill proposed sending a letter to all industries asking them to co-operate in keeping the smoke nuisance down. Ald. A. B. Burrows thought there should be a meeting of heads of industries and residents involved to discuss a solution.

The problem was given a dramatic touch by a private citizen, E. E. Pilon, of 15 Wallace St., who appeared before council, representing Burnham Point residents, with a petition containing 150 names.

Mr. Pilon showed council two pieces of curtain, one from his back door and the other from an upstairs window. He claimed they had been hung for a week and were "absolutely filthy black."

Ald. Anglesey said Burnham Point residents were not alone in their affliction.

"I have had several calls, and no doubt other council members have, about the matter, particularly as regards the railways," he said.

"We've written twice to the railways and nothing has come of it. I suggest someone from the railways come to Peterborough and sit down with the mayor and council to discuss the matter."

Ald. Rehill said "while the railways may be the chief offenders, they're not the only ones" and suggested sending a letter to local industries asking them to co-operate in keeping the nuisance down.

"I think that's a good idea," Ald. Anglesey said. "But a couple of years ago we sent out a letter suggesting we might prepare a smoke bylaw. I think we should go ahead with the bylaw instead of kicking it around."

Name Sorrie New Chief, Leonard Quits

Rehill Makes Clear Illness Caused Chief's Resignation

City Council on Tuesday night appointed Capt. William D. Sorrie, 42, as the new chief of the Peterborough Fire Department. He succeeds Chief Ralph Leonard, 46, who has held that post since the beginning of the year but resigned because of bad health.

The surprise decision to accept Chief Leonard's resignation and at the same time appoint Capt. Sorrie as head of the 50-man fire department was made at a regular session of council.

Alderman Harold Rehill, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, told council that Chief Leonard's doctor had advised him to resign because of a nervous condition. And the chief had taken his doctor's advice.

"I can definitely assure you that it wasn't because of any disagreement with city officials," Alderman Rehill told the Examiner today. As chairman of the committee that made both recommendations he wanted it made clear that Chief Leonard's resignation wasn't a cover-up for something else, as retirements "because of ill health often prove to be.

"He was popular with the men on the fire department but he couldn't continue because of a nervous condition," said Alderman Rehill.

This was confirmed by Alderman Norman Graham.

"A SICK MAN"

"Chief Leonard is a sick man," said Alderman Graham. "He got along well with members of council and he was a very competent man. We're sorry to lose him but we feel we've got another good chief in Bill Sorrie."

The fire, water and light committee agreed on their recommendations last Thursday night but it was up to the whole council to accept the resignation and make the appointment.

Two other members of the Peterborough Fire Department were considered for the position. They were Captain Albert Mason and Captain George Gimblett Jr. Along with Capt. Sorrie they had applied for the position last year when applications were called for after the retirement of Chief George Smith.

"We advertised before," Alderman Rehill said, "and we didn't think it was necessary this time. Chief Leonard was the only 'outsider' who was qualified when the applications were considered last year; so the choice rested among the local men."

15-YEAR VETERAN

Chief Sorrie, a veteran of 15 years in the Peterborough department, began his official duties at 8 a.m. today but Chief Leonard will stay on in an advisory capacity for a month. Chief Leonard said today that he doesn't expect to go back to firefighting; he has had a private business offer but his immediate plans are obscure.

Chief Sorrie was born in Carfin, Lanarkshire, Scotland, 42 years ago. He was educated in Scotland and came to Canada in 1927, first working in Toronto with the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission. For a number of years he worked as an edger apd logger in the sawmill business near Coe Hill.

In 1936 he came to Peterborough and was employed with the J. J. Turner Co. and the Peterborough Utilities Commission. He joined the Peterborough Fire Department in April, 1938, when there

Steam Turbines Save Blackouts, HEPC Head Says

A reduction of the flow of water in the Ottawa River, because of lack of rainfall, last week caused a drop of 21,000,000 kilowatt hours in hydro plants along the river, Robert H. Saunders, chairman of Ontario's Hydro Electric Power Commission, said Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Saunders was addressing a group of Canadian General Electric Co. executives, headed by President H. M. Turner, at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

In 1948 a drop of only 8,000,000 kilowatt hours had caused the HEPC to impose the "power blackouts" in Ontario. But this unpopular measure was avoided this time because of the reserve electrical power generated by the two steam generator plants —one at Toronto and the other at Windsor.

"We were able to carry this load for two simple reasons," said Mr. Saunders. "We had the steam plants at Toronto and Windsor. And from these two plants 34,000,000 kilowatt hours were generated last week by steam power.

"With the power from them we were able to take care of the loss of power and also take care of the six per cent increase in demand over last year."

The Hydro Chairman was in Peterborough to inspect HEPC equipment—part of a $6,700,000 contract awarded CGE—for the manufacture of generators and switching equipment for the Sir Adam Beck power generating station at Niagara Falls.

He said that this contract — part of $29,211,000 spent on CGE electrical equipment here in Peterborough during the last six years —permitted the HEPC to feel they had "contributed something to the industrial development of Peterborough and a higher standard of living for the residents".

In the first six months of this year the HEPC had again spent $77,500 on equipment in the Peterborough area, he said.

HEPC officials thought they wouldn't have to use the two steam generating plants, said Mr. Saunders, but there has been a freak lack of rainfall in the Ottawa River basin causing a reduction in the volume of water flowing through the generating stations.

Last week there was a drop of 21,000,000 kilowatt hours. Or — as Mr. Saunders described it — 10 times as much as Peterborough consumes in a week. The two steam generating plants, often criticized by people, were pressed into service.

Prospects for this fall aren't too bright, either.

"Unless there is heavy rain in the Quebec-Ottawa watershed and in the Northen Ontario-Ottawa watershed then we'll certainly need steampower this fall," said Mr. Saunders.

The steam plant in Toronto can produce 536,000 h.p. and the one in Windsor 354,000 h.p.

When completed the Sir Adam Beck hydro power station will generate 2,300,000 h.p.

The speech was recorded and broadcast by CHEX.

Always Comes Back

A regular habitue of magistrate's court, Arthur King, 50, requested a week's adjournment today on a vagrancy charge, claiming he wanted "time." "If you want time I'll give it to you," Magistrate R. B. Baxter commented. Acting Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry favored the adjournment. "He always comes back." "I know; I see him often enough," the magistrate joked, forcing even the accused to smile. King got the adjournment.

City To Probe Lake Pollution

The board of works is going to take up the matter of the alleged pollution of Little Lake.

Council referred the question to the board Tuesday night when Clifford Storey, of 5 Burnham Court, appeared before council to ask them to take action in overcoming the condition.

Mr. Storey charged Canada Packers with responsibility for a "considerable part" of the condition.

"I think you're all aware of that," he said.

He stated that he and others had seen a pipe from the Canada Packers plant extending into Little Lake. The pipe was used to carry away waste products from the plant, he said.

"Isn't it possible for them to have a pipeline into the city sewage system instead of into Little Lake?" he asked.

Mayor Hugh Waddell told Mr. Storey the matter was under consideration.

Board Buys Site For School In City's Northwest Corner

The Board of Education on Tuesday night agreed to buy 4½ acres of land from Mariano Facendi of North Monaghan township so they will have the grounds for a future school in the northwest corner of the city.

This plot of land adjoins the northwest corner of the subdivision being planned on the old Hugh Stewart farm. It was necessary for the Board to go outside the subdivision to buy the land because no provision had been made for school ground space in the subdivision plans.

The Board took an option on the Facendi property, approximately 4½ acres, and Tuesday night they decided to buy it at $1,200 an acre. They had previously investigated another possible site—the adjoining property owned by G. H. Roper—but it was too expensive and was less suitable.

SERVE UP TO 300

When the subdivision and the surrounding area is built up and settled a school accommodating as many as 300 pupils will be required, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, estimated.

"The school will be attended by 275 to 300 school children ultimately," said Mr. Wightman. "That will be sometime in the future but we can't leave it until then."

"I think it's a good buy," said G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the accommodation committee.

Board officials estimate that the present cost of building an eight-room school to accommodate the children would be $160,000. It will probably be a senior school.

Call Tenders For Fill On Causeway

Expect Cost of Job Near $100,000; Need 80,000 Tons

Tenders for the dumping of rock fill as the first step in constructing the causeway and high level bridge at Gannon's Narrows are being called for by the roads committee of the Peterborough County Council.

County Engineer Jack Kean has estimated that 80,000 tons of rock fill will be needed to lay a foundation across the 1,300 foot narrows between the Harvey shore and the overhead bridge abutments, 250 feet from the Ennismore shore.

Unofficialy the cost of fill is expected to be about $100,000.

The roads committee held a special meeting Tuesday night after word had been received from the Department of Public Works in Ottawa that as far as they were concerned the county could go ahead with construction. The Governor-General-In-Council has not yet sanctioned it but this is expected to be little more than a formality.

250 FEET FILLED

Advertisements for tenders on the rock-fill job will begin Friday. And the closing date for tenders is August 27.

There is already a 250-foot projection of fill jutting out from the Harvey shore. This will be built up to six feet above the water level and the fill will be continued on for nearly 1,300 feet—until it slopes up to 25 feet above the water line—where it will meet the overhead bridge.

Total cost of the causeway and overhead bridge is estimated at $206,000. The Federal Department of Transport have contributed $99,000 for the bridge, and the remaining cost is borne 80 per cent by the Ontario Department of Highways and 20 per cent by Peterborough County and Harvey township.

Kick Fatal To Horse

STIRLING—(ENS)— A horse belonging to Thomas Clements had to be shot last week as a result of having been kicked by another horse.

Mr. Clements had loaned his horse to his brother-in-law. When the two horses were led to water the accident occurred.

Central African Federation Plan Meets With Opposition

By HUMPHREY ELLISON

SALISBURY, South Rhodesia (Reuters) — Africans of Southern Rhodesia, North Rhodesia and Nyasaland have begun a campaign designed to prevent the realization of the proposed Central African Federation.

The campaign has resolved into three distinct parts, attempted mass resistance, non-co-operation by a group of African leaders and appeals to the United Nations at the behest of Rev. Michael Scott.

The first part of the campaign found the African rank and file in Northern Rhodesia apathetic when they were called upon in April to strike as a protest.

An official statement on the strike said that out of the 7,000 African civil servants employed in the territory, only 106 stayed away from work.

In Nyasaland, government officials said that Africans in one centre had been urged by the Nyasaland African supreme council not to attend official ceremonies marking the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth and as a result far fewer Africans showed up for Coronation Day functions than were expected.

Government officials in Northern Rhodesia said that similar action by native leaders there had kept many Africans away from the celebrations.

The Southern Rhodesia All-African convention, a widely representative African body, has urged that no African in Southern Rhodesia should stand for election to the federal parliament. The convention will not recognize any African who does stand for election.

In Nyasaland a similar step is proposed. The protectorate's African supreme council has declared that bodies in the protectorate, on which African representatives sit, such as the Nyasaland legislative council and the African tobacco board, should be boycotted.

However, some African leaders in Southern Rhodesia might ignore the all-African convention and run for election to the federal parliament as Independents, or as members of recognized European political bodies.

The success or failure of selective non co-operation will be governed by this split in African opinion, by the influence wielded by African leaders bent on hampering the new federation and those who are willing to co-operate with Europeans in making federation a success.

Appeals to the International court and the United Nations have turned the spotlight on Southwest Africa for several years and against the background of the "apartheid" (racial segregation) policy in South Africa they have achieved something of what Mr. Scott set out to achieve.

But the essence of the new federation is that its racial policy will be one of partnership. The African people are not, some believe, united and determined in their opposition to federation though there is an influential body of African leaders opposed to the plan.

Population More In Churchill During Summer

By BERNICE MacIVER
Canadian Press Corresondent

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Summer rides into this northern seaport with the season's first ocean-going vessel.

From the first arrival in mid-July until the final departure sometime in October, Churchill hustles to make the most of its brief respite from the icy chains of the northern winter.

Churchill is on the west shore of Hudson Bay, more than 600 miles north of Winnipeg. The Hudson Bay Route Association, long-time tub-thumper for the little port, claims it can become a major world grain-shipping centre.

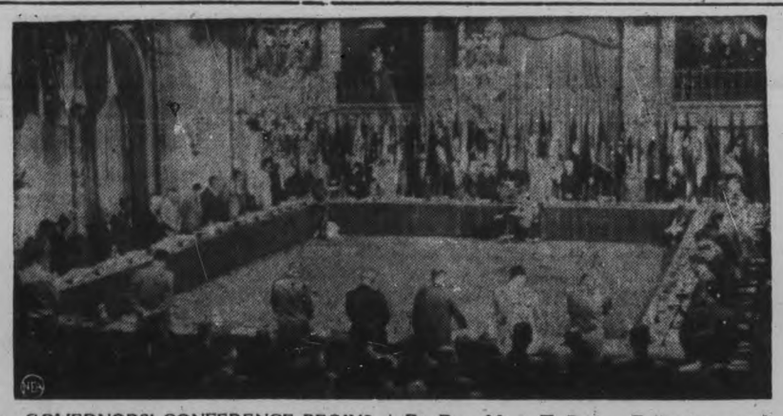
Their argument is supported by a steadily-rising figure for bushels-per-season shipped through here. In 1950, the harbor handled just over 6,000,000 bushels. The figure increased by 1,000,000 bushels in 1951, and another 1,000,000 in 1952.

COLORFUL HISTORY

The port was named for the first Duke of Marlborough, one of Sir Winston Churchill's distinguished ancestors.

Legend gives a fast-talking Indian squaw some of the credit for establishing the settlement. An early party of white men trying to make friendly contact with trading Indians was confronted by a warlike Cree who threatened to end the expedition in short order.

The Whites found an Indian slavewoman, a Chipewyan who was captive of the Crees.



According to the legend, the slave interpreted for the whites and talked so fast and with such conviction that the Crees abandoned their scalp-lifting plans.

Churchill is a favorite centre for scientific investigation, and survey parties from both the Canadian and United States governments often come close to outnumbering the 830 regular residents. Among other projects, cosmic ray studies have been carried out and this summer a party from the U.S. wildlife service is busy banding geese, while another group studies the tundra.

Civilization is steadily creeping northward. For the federal election this year the voters' list increased by 60 per cent over the 1949 list.

NEW VOICE—Theodore C. Streibert, former New York radio executive, is President Eisenhower's choice to head the U.S. overseas information program.

GOVERNORS' CONFERENCE BEGINS—The Forty-Fifth Annual Governors' Conference gets under way in Seattle, Wash., with an invocation delivered by Seattle's Rt. Rev. Msgr. T. Ryan. Following a welcome by Washington's Gov. Arthur B. Langlie, the conference heard an address by South Carolina's Gov. James Byrnes.

Disease, Insects Greatest Timber Enemies

TORONTO (CP)—Disease and insects destroy twice as much merchantable timber in Ontario as forest fires.

Fires destroy seven per cent; disease and insects 14 per cent. Loss attributed to white pine blister rust for instance is about $16,000,000 or three times the amount of loss by decay.

To combat the loss by insect and disease a federal-provincial forest pathology laboratory is being opened at Maple, about 20 miles north of Toronto. The Ontario government has built and will maintain the building, worth about $300,000, while the federal government will staff the laboratory.

Dr. L. T. White, head of the laboratory, has made studies of the relationship between growth and decay in white pine, one of Ontario's most important woods. His studies fi xthe optimum age at which the trees should be cut at between 170 and 180 years The trees after that age rot faster than they grow merchantable wood. At 170 years they have a stump diameter of 24 inches or more, if they haven't been affected by the 13 varieties of fungi that may attack them.

DWINDLING PINE

The work of a forest pathologist is apt to be frustrating. The only practicable and economical treatments he can prescribe are variations of forest management and silviculture applied to large forest tracts by small labor forces.

In Ontario the importance of combating the white pine blister rust is that there is only enough white pine left for another 18 to 20 years at the present rate of consumption.

White pine blister rust isn't a native tree disease. It is a European scourge which reached the United States from Germany in 1909 in a shipment of nursery stock. It hit Vancouver Island in 1912 through a shipment from France.

Imported tree diseases may become epidemic with disastrous results. Native fungi do not create forest epidemics unless conditions have been radically altered by man.

The only control measure found so far for white pine blister rust is eradication of the alternative hosts, the ribes, or currant bushes such as gooseberries and red currants, from the forests. Close culture of white pine, sufficient to shade out currant bushes, seems the most likely solution of the problem.

Four teachers will be required to handle the school re-opening this autumn.

Immigrants are entering through the port in larger numbers this year and an immigration officer is stationed here for the shipping season. Prospectors are active in the area to the north.

The late spring delayed the nesting and hatching of birds but geese were nesting before the snow was off the ground. Swans, which nest farther north, were delayed in their migration by the late season and until July 1 were resting by the thousand on the Churchill river.

Chinese Girl Takes Course In University, In Hospital

LEEDS, England (CP) — Loud applause greeted Miss Wai Har Lau, 25-year-old Leeds University student from Singapore, when she received her bachelor of arts honors degree from the hands of the Princess Royal, who is chancellor of the University.

Princess Mary, the Countess of Harewood, leaned forward to whisper congratulations as she shook the hand of the crippled student. The girl had spent nearly three years in two Leeds hospitals, encased in plaster. All during her illness she continued her studies.

Because she could not sit up to write, she passed her preliminary examinations by dictating her answers to tutors at her bedside. Fellow-students had visited the hospitals to read their notes to her. But later on, she was well enough to return to the university to take her final examination.

A happy re-union followed the degree-awarding ceremony at town hall, when Miss Wai Har Lau was congratulated by other members of her family—21-year-old Miss Wai Chen Lau from King's College, Newcastle; Miss Wai Song Lau, a music student in Manchester, and Yu Dong Lau, 18-year-old student in Leeds Technical College.

Miss Wai Har Lau will return to Singapore as a teacher, but first will spend a year in London. She said "I owe my life and everything that has happened to me to the people of Leeds who have done so much for me."

RED TANK STANDS GUARD—Protest strikes are blazing anew in East Germany as Communist troops and police hold off the hungry workers at gunpoint from the free food being distributed in West Berlin. Tanks placed at strategic positions are typical of the weapons of terror being brought into play by the Reds. This giant is on guard against open rebellion in the market square in Leipzig, where hundreds of workers were forced to give up free food packages obtained at relief centres in West Berlin.

Child Towed, Across Canada, In Trailer Behind Bicycle

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Towing a child in a trailer behind a two-seater bicycle may not be the usual way to raise a boy, but it can be plenty of fun for both baby and parents.

That's what Mr. and Mrs. George Whitford, formerly of Yorkshire, England, have been doing on their trip to British Columbia. They left Quebec May 12 and have averaged about 40 miles a day.

Back of the knapsack-loaded tandem rides their son, Jimmie, his tiny blond head bobbing around to see his new country.

VANCOUVER OR BUST

With a slogan of "Quebec to Vancouver or bust," the Whitfords have been pedalling along toward the coast. They will double back to the Okanagan Valley and stay for a while with an uncle of Mrs. Whitford who owns a fruit farm.

But they haven't made up their minds where they will settle.

"We have never had a house to live in," Mrs. Whitford says. "So when we find a spot we like and can build a house—there is where we will settle down."

The Whitfords lived three of their married years in a converted bus in England. They decided to head for Canada, after weeks spent studying geography books, maps and financial aspects.

They like to camp out along the highway but each night they tried it there was rain. Once near Portage La Prairie when their camp was flooded out by rain, a road gang let them use a trailer to sleep in.

Mrs. Whitford says the way Jimmie has taken to the trip has been a relief. He's always the first one up in the morning and impatient to get in his trailer and start another day on the road.

Wooden "cigar-store Indians" in the United States have dwindled to about 3,000 from 100,000 in 1900.

People Move To Make Room For Cows

By FRED CHEVAL

USUMBURA, Ruanda - Urundi (AP)—This is a land ruled by cows — long-horned, red - brown cows.

But actually, the lives of 4,000,000 backward, underfed natives are ruled by cows.

These strange despots, who live even when humans starve, are part of a strange land, the overcrowded kingdoms of Ruanda and Urundi, in central Africa.

Cows are even more important here than gold or dollars to Western economies. They are the natives' symbol of wealth and the basis for a mediaeval-like social structure.

Where there is overcrowding, the people move to make room for the cows, not vice versa. Where there is famine, the cows eat first.

But no one would think of killing a cow to eat. Natives would rather starve than slaughter one. In fact, they did just that, as recently as the famine of 1944.

The problem is one of the biggest facing Belgian administrators as they seek to civilize the area, halt erosion and increase the land's food productivity.

Not only social rank but even time is measured here by the cow: By the hour the cattle leave the stockade, by the hour they drink in the river, by the hour they are milked, and so on.

Until recently, it was also the custom that a man had to die when a new king ascended to the throne. He was brought to the bank of a pond. There he was laid out, to be trampled to death by a herd of cattle which for four days had been denied water and had been fed huge quantities of salt.

Presiding over the natives, most of whom wear a sort of grey blanket and live in straw mud huts, are two giants clad in European clothes. The kings live in handsome brick villas and drive the latest and flashiest cars. They are the European-trained, hand-picked Mwami Charles Mutara Ludahigwa and Mwami Mwambutsa, kings, respectively, of Ruanda and Urundi.

AIRLIFT FOR MIDGET SUBS—This is an artist's conception of how the U.S. Navy's new, deadly weapon, a four-man midget submarine, can be carried by a helicopter from the deck of an aircraft carrier to enemy waters. Vice-Adm. Charles A. Lockwood states that the tiny subs "may revolutionize naval strategy and tactics as we practice them today." The sub will weigh 25 tons and will measure 40 feet from stem to stern. Each undersea craft will be manned by four frogmen and the principal armament will be mines—some of them atomic. These time-fused mines will be attached to the hulls of enemy vessels by the frogmen.

General De Gaule Busy Writing His Memoirs

By HAROLD KING

PARIS (Reuters) — Every Wednesday a tall, military figure steps from a small car and enters offices in the rue Solferino Gen. Charles de Gaulle has come to town to keep his finger on the pulse of French politics.

De Gaulle, 62, stepped out of the political arena this spring when he severed the official connection between his movement and members of the Chamber of Deputies elcted as his supporters. But he still wields a potent influence.

The wartime resistance leader keeps a Wednesday - to - Friday schedule in Paris, spending the rest of the time in seclusion in his modest home at the village of Colombey les Deux Eglises, a three-hour drive from here.

Mme. de Gaulle always accompanies the general to Paris. They stay at a small hotel near the Arc de Triomphe. Each Friday they return to the village by car, with de Gaulle sitting silently beside his chauffeur and his wife in the back seat.

Almost the only time the village sees de Gaulle is Sunday, when he attends mass. Madame is seen regularly as she goes about her shopping.

A 10-acre park surrounds the house which they bought many years ago for an ailing daughter, Anne, now dead.

De Gaulle passes the time reading, walking in the park and fitfully writing his memoirs. They are unlikely to be published before his death. Intimates say he has been severely critical of some of his contemporaries.

A Silly Business

Crossing Channel In Water The Hard Way

LONDON (Reuters) — A London columnist expresses bewilderment over why people every year try to cross the English channel the hard way—in the water.

"Cassandra," who writes a daily barbed piece for the mass-circulation Daily Mirror, flays the "silly season" parade of "mermaids" and "stoopid mermen" who try to swim the choppy, tide-ripped 21-mile stretch between England and France.

The adult human being can cross the English channel for about $5 by boat in about 90 minutes and be warm, dry and eat, drink and be merry to boot, he says.

"Yet every year more and more people choose to cross this turbulent cold stretch of water by putting their thick, medium-thick and thin white bodies into the salt sea and then splashing their arms and legs about until they reach the other side."

Cassandra says "if the watery madness has seized you," it will cost you something in the neighborhood of £300 ($840)—what with trainers, boats, insurance and "monster bloody steaks."

"On your arrival at the other side (if at all), you will have the cold comfort of knowing that nearly 80 people have done this ludicrous stunt before you.

"You will get a few cheers. Somebody is sure to shake your hand.

"You may get your picture in the paper—and nobody will remember your name a fortnight hence."

Bluenose Honored

LUNENBURG, N. S. (CP) — Latest tribute to the Bluenose, famed fishing schooner, came from Josiah Wedgwood and Sons of England, who are featuring the vessel among historic ships on sets of dishes. One of the first sets was presented here to Capt. Angus Walters, former skipper of the Bluenose which was wrecked in the West Indies.

LIKE MERCURY IN SUMMER—U.S. FARES KEEP GOING UP — Newsmap shows another aspect of the high cost of living: the increasing cost of public transportation across the nation. Most systems find they are unable to make a profit with present fares even though most have doubled since the end of World War II. Many have been forced to increase prices in the face of considerable protest from the riding public.

Games Officials Iron Out Many Details

By DON MATHESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Once a week, usually on a Wednesday, 20 to 30 of the "top brass" of the 1954 British Empire and Commonwealth Games meet for luncheon and business.

After an hour for lunch, it's an hour for business, conducted in the board-room of a downtown club.

General chairman Stanley V. Smith, a banking executive, is chairman. Included are members of the nine-man executive committee, and chairmen of the sports committee, legal committee, publicity and promotion, facilities, finance and organizational committees.

But the luncheon meeting is only an actual clearing house for final details, for approval of financial expediture and a decision-ground for policy matters.

MANY AT WORK

Considering each person present a sub-chairman, they represent today, down to the committee level, about 400 committee members. This total does not take into account sub-committees nor the organization of hundreds that will grow into the four-figure bracket as the games approach, who will take care of actual physical details of, say, selling tickets or raising and lowering flags.

At the meeting, chairman Smith asks for reports from committee heads. Facilities chairman Col. W. G. Swam will report, for example, that drains are being laid at the stadium site and work is satisfactory. A nod of assent, a voice vote of approval, and on to publicity. A match company is putting out special games match folders. Good idea. Approved

SPEND HOURS INVESTIGATING

A rowing site, long hanging fire, is turned down in a policy decision because necessary improvements, and the money for them, are not available. Facilities group goes ahead to investigate other sites.

Further expenditure for the cycling track, deemed necessary after discussion, is approved.

The meeting adjourns. But behind the surface details, dozens of committee members have spent many hours investigating, discussing, checking, approaching and deciding the myriad of problems approved so quickly.

As general manager Blair Clerk says "An amazing amount of work has been done by these committees and the executive committee in the two years it was organized before I arrived on the scene."

As he puts it: "I was hired to do a job, to help put any of the tremendous amounts of ready 'bricks' that might be loose into place."

He says the recent visit here of K. S. Duncan of London, honorary secretary of the Games Federation, was "one great break, one advantage we've had over every other games."

"He came here just when everything was beginning to jell. And there's no telling how many thousands of dollars he saved by preventing the necessity of perhaps backtracking somewhere later on."

MYRIAD DETAILS

Because of the complexity and interlocking detail of staging an athletic carnival such as the games which will bring 600 athletes from many parts of the globe here for a week of sports, details are easily overlooked. Judging, timing of events, the staging of an opening ceremony, protocol, any of thousands of problems could develop snags.

Other games in the past nave been forced to throw out months of planning at the last minute for hurried revisions.

But, says Clerk, "Vancouver was lucky."

Outdoor Gambling 'Casinos' Cause Police Much Trouble

LONDON (Reuters) —Thousands of youths in large towns throughout Britain frequent illegal outdoor gambling "casinos."

These "schools" of card players meet in the seclusion of dark archways under the network of railway lines outside large towns. They are the gambling breeding grounds which cause police the most trouble.

To these dimly-lit, hard-to-get-to archways every evening, youths take a pack of cards and dice. There are no red carpets and no plush chairs in these primitive casinos, just a newspaper held by a brick at each corner.

In Bristol there was a "school" which operated almost openly every Sunday under the name of the Greenfield Mission with a paid lookout to watch for the police.

The stakes were small, a few pennies to one shilling.

The Greenfield Mission lookout system failed one Sunday and the "casino" was closed. But hundreds more like it are still operating.

Other illicit gaming operations take place in private houses, mostly among friends or vouched-for guests. There, the stakes are bigger, the risk of detection less. Occasionally, a dissatisfied guest tells the police and the owner of the house is fined.

Britain's most numerous legal gamblers, about 16,000,000, are those who take part in the football pools in which they try to forecast the soccer results.

Mrs. Vanderbilt Asks For Public Relief

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., trying to obtain some money from her wealthy globe-trotting husband applied Monday for public relief.

The blonde 33-year-old beauty insisted she was destitute except for two pawn tickets on jewelry and a mink coat, and had no place for her or her 11-year-old daughter to lay their heads.

Welfare authorities told her to sell the tickets and come back when she is as broke as the other people in line.

Vanderbilt got a Reno divorce from Patricia, his fifth wife last June, but Mrs. Vanderbilt's lawyer maintained it was nothing but a "mailorder" divorce which New York does not recognize.

NEW SENATOR?—Mrs. Lillian Crompton Tobey, 63, widow of the late Sen. Charles Tobey, is a possible choice to succeed the 73-year-old senator from New Hampshire. Senator Tobey had asked that Mrs. Tobey benamed to fill his seat.

Jay-Walkers Challenge Heavy Traffic

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's jay-walkers who at present have complete freedom to step out unchallenged amid heavy traffic, may be forced by law to obey safety rules on the roads.

Transport Minister Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons he is considering this "revolutionary" change in a bid to stamp out the mounting slaughter on the road.

The government also proposes new rules for cyclists and motor-cyclists and more spending to iron out accident black-spots, he announced.

"Even the most crusty pedestrian has got to recognize the fact that the road age has come to stay," Lennox-Boyd told the House. "Fifty thousand accidents a year are due to pedestrians."

Early last year the government completed the installation of black-and-white striped "zebra" crossings along the highways of Britain. Traffic has to halt to allow pedestrians to use these crossings.

But already the novelty is wearing off in some places and jay walking continues, Lennox - Boyd said.

Jay-walkers in Britain can cross against traffic lights or a policeman's signal without breaking the law, though they are normally obeyed for the pedestrian's self-preservation.

The minister estimated road accidents cost Britain £150,000,000 ($420,000,000) a year. In the first six months of this year road accidents totalled 103,000, including 2,274 killed, an increase of 8,000 over the corresponding period last year.

The gave main causes of accidents as pedestrians stepping into the stream of traffic on the road without proper care; careless crossing at road junctions; drivers turning to the right—Britain drives on the left side of the road—heedlessly; and careless overtaking.

Speed is not the cause of accidents, he said, because 80 per cent of them occur in towns where the 30-miles-an-hour limit is enforced.

FOR MERCY MISSIONS—Many search and mercy missions in the Maritime provinces have been completed by this RCAF helicopter in which Flight Cadet Judy Dow, of Montreal, is seated. Flying Officer Harold M. Hinton, of Kitchener, a helicopter pilot in 103 Rescue Unit based at RCAF Station Greenwood, N.S., is shown describing the controls to F/C Dow on her visit to the unit. Judy is on summer training and employed as adjutant at the RCAF's 2 (Maritime) Operational Training Unit, also based at Greenwood. She is one of the first 50 women flight cadets appointed by the Air Force in the University Reserve Training Plan and in the fall she will return to McGill University where she is studying for her Bachelor of Arts degree.

Order Debentures For School Addition

MILLBROOK— (ENS)—Cavan council has instructed the clerk to have A. R. Willmott, QC, of Cobourg, prepare a bylaw for issuing debentures to build an addition to Brealy's school in the North Monaghan township school area.

A small part of Cavan township is in the Brealy's school area.

Total amount of the debentures is to be $28,000.

Council also authorized the clerk to make application for road subsidies to date.

Accounts totalling $9,478.46 were authorized to be paid, including $8,889.48 for road's pay roll and vouchers.

It was decided that a road through Wilbur Wood's farm should be kept open when the snow plow was working the Zion line, to provide a route west of Millbrook for the High School bus.

Mining Slump

CALGARY (CP)—The unemployment insurance commission office here reported a slump in coal-mining has driven many younger miners away from the Crow's Nest Pass, Alberta's biggest producing area. Reports in late July said miners were working only about three days a week.

$500,000 Raised To Elect President

HAVANA (AP) — Some $500,000 raised to elect a president isn't of much use when a dictator seizes the government and calls off the election.

That's how Senora Martha Fernandez Miranda de Batista got into the charity business.

Gen. Fulgencio Batista took over as Cuba's head man in March, 1952. A few days later, newspapers reported that a delegation of contractors had delivered $500,000 to the presidential palace. They said the money had been collected as a "good will contribution" in the election once set for June, 1952.

No election. So would the president's wife like to use it for charity? She would.

Today even those who criticize the dictator regime of her husband are profuse in praise of her. She is the administration's No. 1 good will ambassador. Batista is rarely seen in public, apparently as a protection against an assassination attempt.

ALL CONTRIBUTE

But she goes everywhere.

The first lady's expenditures already have gone far beyond the original $500,000. Government officials, business houses and wealthy and poor Cubans all contribute. So far as is known, no government pressure is put on anybody.

Mrs. Batista's organization looks after the needy. Sometimes her gifts are steel braces for a child crippled by infantile paralysis; other times the transportation expenses to bring an ill youngster to a hospital in Havana from some remote village.

Wherever disaster strikes, she is one of the first on the job. She sees hundreds of needy Cubans at the presidential palace, or on trips into the country. Her aid is quick and, direct.

41 DIED IN WEEK

Recently she sped into Santiago, one of Cuba's important provincial cities and centre this week of an unsuccessful revolt. In one month, 41 children died there of stomach ailments which health authorities said were caused by drinking water from the antiquated municipal system.

She travelled on a special train, which halted at dozens of towns along the 600-mile route because crowds were at the stations demanding to see "la primera dama de la republica."

She has no funds to rebuild water systems, but in Santiago she visited every room and every ward in two hospitals, checked to make sure that patients were getting the proper medicines and care.

Underworld Has Never Been So Well Organized

London's Bobbies Given Rough Time Fighting Ruthlessly Efficient Gangs

LONDON (Reuters) — Club-wielding thugs, ruthlessly efficient gangs and the spread of vice are giving Britain's overworked police a rough time in the nation's biggest crime wave.

Mounting crimes of violence are challenging the whole organization behind the force, one of the few in the world to allow its policemen to go unarmed.

The inspectors of constabulary in a report say there were a record 504,506 crimes in 1951. The latest figures, for the first nine months of 1952, showed little improvement.

Police believe young, ruthless criminals, organized by the master minds of the underworld, are behind the robbery, hijacking and violence. Many are too young to have police records, which makes them hard to catch.

WELL ORGANIZED

The underworld has never been better organized. There are widespread rumors that "old lags" who dare not risk more convictions are running secret schools for would-be criminals and taking a big share of the dividends of their teaching.

Every type of crime is on the increase. There were 5,523 cases of criminal and malicious wounding in 1951, compared with 4,193 in 1948. Rape and offences against women soared from 6,795 incidents in 1948 to 9,014 three years later.

Almost every week there are cases of old ladies being clubbed on their doorstep. Several judges, headed by lord chief justice Goddard, want the government to consider removing a ban on flogging to smash crimes of violence.

MOST POPULAR CRIME

Housebreaking is still one of the most popular branches of crime. One gang, known as the "ladder gang" because it always enters lonely mansions by means of ladders, got away with $420,000 in a year.

Another unexpected gang took a mail truck in a London street and escaped with about $700,000.

Vice, too, is spreading. In the borough of Westminster, every third or fourth house in the precinct of Soho harbors prostitutes, according to Dr. Joan Carritt, a Westminster councillor.

Fashionable Mayfair, London's Park Lane district, "is incredibly sordid," says Rev. Howard Marshall, a local priest who is campaigning to stamp out vice.

LINED WITH STREETWALKERS

Lower Bond street—"The most expensive mile in the world"—after dusk is lined at 10-yard intervals by streetwalkers. "In 16 years abroad in the Far and Middle East, I never saw anything so shameless, blatant and sordid," says the priest.

Most police stations are under strength, even though wages and conditions have rapidly improved and there is a constant recruitment campaign. London alone is nearly 4,000 men short.

No one has been able to pin down with any certainty the exact causes of the increase. Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, home secretary, blames the wave of broken and unsatisfactory homes, lack of parental control, the glorification of violence and the decline of religious influence.

Britain's A-Bomb Site Situated In Australian Desert

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Deep in the vast Australian desert an A-bomb site is being prepared for Britain's forthcoming test of her latest atomic weapons.

Members of a specially-picked work force have been working under pressure for more than six months to prepare the area. Security is so strict that even the men's own relations do not know they are there.

To narrow the security risk and minimize supply problems, every man chosen for the operation had to be expert at two or more jobs. This meant double work for every man. For a time they worked 70 hours a week, 10 hours a day.

10,000-MILE AREA

The exact location of the area cannot be divulged, except to say that it is somewhere in the 10,000-square-mile prohibited area which includes the long range weapons establishment at Woomera.

The long range weapons establishment on the Gibber Plains, 120 miles northwest of Port Augusta, has been the staging base for the supplies and equipment that have been pouring into the desert.

The new forward base is far beyond Woomera, across trackless semi-desert. The terrain varies from flat plains, covered with grey saltbush, blue bush and spinifex, and scarred by claypans like the surface of a dead planet, to rolling sand dunes and drifts.

Every vehicle or convoy setting out from Woomera is equipped like an expedition with water, stores, gasoline and camping facilities to cover twice the time estimated for the trip.

WATCH FROM SKIES

Reconnaissance aircraft are kept in readiness for vehicles that might fail to report at a radio-equipped check point on the way. Bogging in the deep sand-drifts is the main hazard.

About 80 per cent of the supplies and equipment, however, are going in by air. A six-day week airlift is operated by the RAAF and RAF. Up to six heavily laden planes a day from Woomera land on an improvised airstrip.

Early this year the convoys rolled across the desert carrying the advance party. Living in a tented camp alongside the airstrip the party worked under primitive conditions, enduring the hardships of water shortage, eternal red dust and temperatures which ranged from 112 degrees during the day down to freezing point at night.

A mixed force of about 150 RAAF airfield construction personnel army men and a few civilian specialists joined the advance party.

MOVED OVERLAND

Bulldozers and other earth moving plant come overland from Woomera, part of the way on low loaders and the rest on their own tracks.

A group of Nissen huts has sprung up to serve as mess huts, recreation huts, offices and workshops. Gravelled roads bisect the settlement. Motor roads head towards the target area, carrying traffic at 50 miles an hour. Rows of tents provide sleeping quarters.

Now the camp is lit by electricity provided by a generating plant. Water is strictly rationed. It is pumped from bores. It is so brackish that a distilling plant had to be installed to provide drinking water.

The seven-day week has recently been shortened to 6½ days, with Sunday afternoons off. Average weight of members of the force has increased by seven pounds. A beer ration of one bottle to a man per week has been provided and films are now shown twice a week. Wild dog trapping is one of the few forms of recreation.

Crop Control In 1954 In United States To Make Idle 25 Million Acres

By OVID MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration must come up soon with an answer to this question: What should farmers do with upwards of 25,000,000 acres that may be made idle in the United States next year under rigid crop controls?

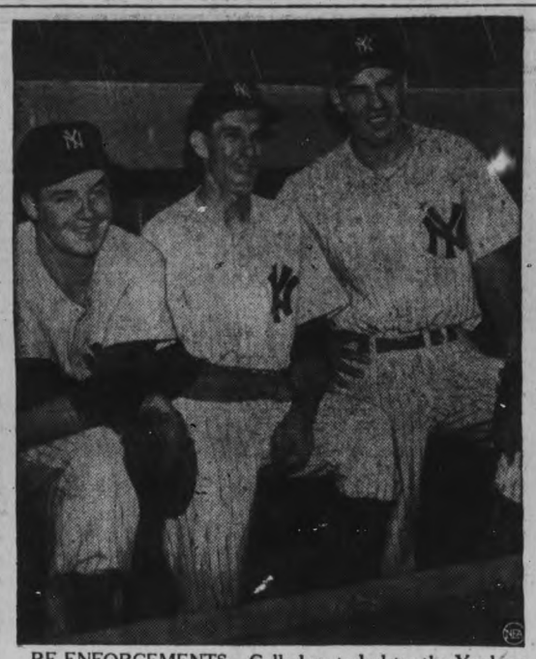
Those acres would take a big slice out of farm income that has dropped sharply.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson has already invoked marketing quotas on wheat under a program calling for a 15,000,000-acre reduction in plantings for the 1954 crop. A major portion of the wheat will be seeded during the coming fall. Hence, the question of what to grow on land taken out of wheat is pressing.

With surpluses plaguing cotton as well, similar controls may have to be applied to the fibre crop. A prospective bumper corn crop signals possible controls to reduce corn plantings.

The U.S. government is without power to impose similar controls on such crops as soybeans, flaxseed, oats, barley, potatoes and dry beans. But supplies of some of these crops are moving into a surplus class that may lead Benson to appeal for voluntary reductions in plantings next year.

Benson has said the present system of rigid high farm price supports tends to encourage continued large production of crops and to discourage shifts in production to scarcer products.



Benson thinks price supports should be allowed to go down when surpluses pile up, on the theory that lower prices would discourage heavy production.

As long as the present 90 per cent parity supports are required by law for major products, Benson will be unable to use supports as a mechanism to alter crop production patterns. Parity is a price designed to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they pay

He does, however, have machinery in the form of acreage and marketing controls to force reductions in plantings of such crops as wheat, corn, cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco when supplies become excessive.

But there is little possibility at the present time of shifting from surplus crops to shortage crops, because there are few if any farm shortages.

This problem of what to do with extra acres is likely to be a short-term one. Economists say that the rapidly-growing population in a few years will put agriculture under pressure to produce more.

Aquarium Visitors Given Shock

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—People peering at the spiny-headed gurnards in the local aquarium recoiled Monday when a smal blonde head appeared among the fish.

The head was soon joined by a fearsome object with blue and red polka dots on it. Both rose to the top of the tank and left through a skylight.

The blonde head turned out to be that of Norma Felsing, 11, who had incautiously ventured on to the glass skylight and fallen through.

The object in the blue and red polka dots was her rescuer, Ronald Townsend. He was working as a clown in a nearby Punch and Judy show.

Agencies Fight Constantly To Curb Korean Epidemics

By JOHN RICKARD

SEOUL (Reuters) — Since 1950 United Nations agencies have been fighting a constant battle behind the frontlines to prevent epidemics breaking out among Korea's millions of refugees.

The wide shortage of doctors at the front, a sudden influx of refugees, and lack of medical supplies created conditions favorable for the spread of epidemics during the early days of the war.

Approximately 2,200 Korean doctors served with frontline troops during the war, another 1,800 are in government service, medical schools and teaching centres. Less than 1,000 remain in private practice, and the majority of these are concentrated in or around large cities.

There are also 7,000 to 8,000 herbalists who do a thriving business in pickled snakes and other "medicines."

MIDWIVES COMMON

Obstetric care is provided by midwives as most Korean babies are delivered at home. Some are delivered at missionary hospitals and a few in the limited number of obstetrics wards maintained by Korean hospitals.

There is one dispensary for every 40,000 Koreans.

Among the many difficulties facing the Korean ministry of health is a scarcity of hospital facilities. Buildings and economic aid are required as well as an almost complete revision of existing hospital and medical practices, according to United Nations medical teams.

GATHER AT HOSPITALS

UN relief and aid teams working in Korea have found that the introduction of modern medicine into a country as steeped in the traditios of its forefathers as Korea has presented many problems.

It is not unusual to find an entire family, from a month-old baby to the white-haired grandfather, congregated at the hospital bedside, particularly at mealtimes.

Despite difficulties, UN medical officers say widespread epidemics now are almost impossible in South Korea as a result of the work that United Nations and South Korean medical teams have done during the last three years.

The Korean ministry of health's anti-tuberculosis program for 1953 calls for 2,000,000 tuberculin tests, and 1,000,000 inoculations of Korean children.

United Nations officers say the medical phase, the most important aspect of Korea's public health program, can never be a complete success until sanitation standards are raised.

The over-all program includes chlorination of water, building new public wells, laying sewage pipes and spraying insecticide.

SUPPLY OF SPECTACLES

Britain's national health service supplied 3,352,287 pairs of spectacles last year.

The only known species of freshwater sharks are found in Lake Nicaragua, in Central America.

Records In Cairn Recall Feats Of Explorer

WASHINGTON—Still legible records and a piece of an American flag cached by Robert H. Peary nearly 50 year ago have been recovered by Canadian scientists from a pile of stones atop an 1,800-foot peak overlooking the bleak shore of Ellesmere Island at Cape Columbia.

As is customary in the Arctic, copies of the original documents were made and placed in the cairn.

Northernmost land in North America, the Cape was Peary's jumping-off place for his dash of discovery to the North Pole in 1909. Three years before, the famed American explorer had visited Cape Columbia and had built the cairn on the peak, the first of two in the vicinity.

Peary left approximately a dozen cairns across the Northland from the northeast coast of Greenland to western Grant Land and Axel Heiberg Island. Most of them have been visited by later Arctic explorers.

Just a year ago, a United States Air Force party found the most famous of all the Peary cairns, the second one on Cape Columbia. It was built near the beach by members of Peary's party after their leader had returned from the Pole. Apparently the records it once contained had disintegrated.

Peary's 23-year career in the Arctic might be said to have started in 1885 with a visit to a Washington bookshop. There the 29-year-old Navy civil engineer read a paper on the Greenland ice cap.

A year later he was to penetrate farther inland on that frozen mass than anyone had ventured before. In 1892 and again in 1895, Peary sledged 1,200 grueling miles across Greenland and back, gaining the experience that later helped carry him to the very top of the world.

PROVED GREENLAND AN ISLAND

On his four-year expedition of 1898-1902, he made four attempts to reach the Pole. Frostbitten feet, disintegrating ice and waist-deep snow defeated him. He reached the northernmost point attained to that date in the western Hemisphere however. He discovered Cape Morris K. Jesup, most northerly land in the world, and proved Greenland to be an island.

In 1906, cutting his margin of safety as fine as her could, Peary reached a new "farthest north," 87 degrees 06 minutes, but was forced back by cracking ice and exhaustion 174 nautical miles short of his goal. Undaunted by this bitter disappointment, he explored unmapped coasts of western Grant Land.

In 1909 he succeeded in crossing the 413 nautical miles of ice-covered sea from Ellesmere to the Pole. Advance and supporting parties aided him until he was 133 miles from the goal, when he went on to victory accompanied by four Eskimos and his Arctic assistant of long standing, Matthew Henson. The date of his triumph was April 6.

Cost Of Living Up In Seven Cities

OTTAWA (CP)—The cost of living in seven of the nine regional cities crept up during June, the bureau of statistics reported today. Indexes for St. John's, Nfld., and Halifax remained unchanged.

The bureau said this general increase was due largely to seasonal increases in the prices of eggs and fresh vegetables.

Increases in prices of such other foods items as bacon, lard, lamb, flour and oranges contributed to gains in food indexes in all nine cities.

The cost of living indexes on July 2 with June 1 levels in brackets: Montreal 192.2 (190.1); Toronto 183.3 (182.2).

Widmark Wants To Leave Film Studios

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At a time when most actors are fighting to get into studios, Richard Widmark is anxious to get out.

The actor admits that he is going against the trend. But he says he can afford to.

"I don't own a Cadillac," remarked Widmark in his dressing room on the "Hell and High Water" set. "I drive a '51 Oldsmobile that I bought used. I also live very sensibly. So I can afford to take chances on my career while some actors who live higher can't."

His contract with 20th Century-Fox is up next May. After "seven long years," he is not anxious to sign again. But it's not for the usual complaint—not liking the pictures he has been assigned.

"Some have been good, some not so good; I guess the average has been okay," he explained, "but I just don't want to be tied down any longer. There are too many exciting things going on outside. Not television; I'm not interested in that. But I do want to combine some stage work with pictures."

GOT 10 MORE YEARS

"I'm 37 now, and I figure I've got 10 more years as an actor before I fold up and they carry me away. I want to make the most of those years."

Widmark admitted that he was a little tired of hustling through service pictures. "It all started with 'Halls of Montezuma,'" he said. "That was a success, so they started doing others."

Since then, he has been everything from a frogman to an infantry sergeant. He didn't mind too much at first, because he had the choice of fighting the war or playing a killer. At present he's a discharged lieutenant - commander in "Hell and High Water," which concerns a group of civilians who visit the Russian atom plants in a submarine.

HE'S DISCHARGED

"At least I'm discharged," he said.

Hollywood has never been able to figure Widmark. Despite his dynamic film portrayals, he's a quiet, soft-spoken and modest fellow. Although he recently hired his first press agent (a sure sign he is going to freelance soon), he has never appeared to care much about publicity. He is friendly with the press corps, but seldom productive for copy.

100,000th Auto

MELBOURNE (CP)—The 100,000th model of the Holden, first automobile to be manufactured wholly in Australia has rolled off the company's 50-acre plant here. Daily output now is 175 vehicles and will reach 20 late this year when a $25,000,000 expansion project is complete.

TWO OFFICERS of RCAF Station St. Johns, Que., are seen training for station ground defence. Observing the Bren gun and its line of fire are F.-Lt. J. A. Richardson, of Edmnoton, and F.-Lt. Geoffrey W. Cridland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cridland, 457 Gordon Ave. On the staff of No. 1 Personnel Selection Unit at St. Johns, he is a pilot by trade, having been a trainee in the first post-war flight cadet pilots' course at Station Centralia.

Oil And Gas Competition Shakes Coal Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—A crisis is building up in the United States coal fields today even while the huge bituminous coal industry is on the doorstep of a glowing future.

The collapse of war - swollen markets, increased mechanization of mines and competition with oil and gas have shaken an industry sprawled across 31 states with its hearts in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky. But one segment has been hit hardest.

The immediate crisis is developing among the high-cost producers and the smaller independents who sell on the open market. They are being squeezed in the fight for markets which have shrunk to a little more than 400,000,000 tons compared to the record 1947 production of 630,600,000 tons.

For the first time in history, king coal has been deposed as the major source of energy for the United States. Oil has moved into the lead. Last year, according to U.S. Bureau of mines statistics, coal supplied 34 per cent of energy needs (once it supplied 85 per cent) while petroleum supplied 39.4 per cent, natural gas 22.5 per cent and water power 4.1 per cent.

Already thousands of miners are jobless or working only two or three days a week. Some coal regions have reached or are approaching a depression state.

There is bitter and increased grumbling from hard-hit producers that John L. Lewis is "pricing coal out of the market" by his successful demands for higher wages and benefits for United 'mine Workers members.

Mine union chiefs deny the troubles can be traced to wage increases. They insist coal companies individually will live or die on their own ability to increase efficiency and thus lower production costs.

Some union leaders say the steady trend toward mechanization will force out the high-cost and inefficient producers. They say frankly they would prefer a smaller industry with high wage standards to a big industry with low pay.

Against this picture of immediate hardship, there is the contrast of a bright future seen by coal's own economists.

These forecasts are based on the expectation that U. S. population will climb from today's 154,000,000 to 190,000,000 by 1975—and that industrial production will double by 1975 to meet the demands of this population.

Much of coal's future is expected to lie in supplying fuel to fire the steel plants and electric utility steam plants. It is estimated steel production will rise from 105,000,000 ingot tons produced in 1951 to 150,000,000 tons in 1975.

Gas and liquid fuel can be made from coal. The processes are not yet economically competitive. However, coal men have estimated that 120,000,000 tons may one day be used in a synthetic liquid fuels industry.

Disease Kills 6 Horses

WINNIPEG (CP)—An outbreak of sleeping sickness among Manitoba horses appeared to be spreading Tuesday as 12 new cases were reported, six of them resulting in deaths. The latest and most severe outbreak was reported from the Portage La Prairie area where six of 10 cases have resulted in deaths.

1st Polio Case Improving

COBOURG (ENS)—Mrs. Jack Newton, Cobourg's only reported paralytic polio case of the year, is making good progress at the isolation hospital in Toronto and will be able to return home in a week or two.

She was taken to Toronto on Saturday where her case was diagnosed as polio. There is slight paralysis in one leg.

Seven new cases of communicable disease were recorded by the counties health unit for the week ending August 8.

In addition to the one case of paralytic polio these include three of infectious jaundice, one case of German measles and two cases of red measles.

ROMEO AND JULIET

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Romeo Morin, Montreal railway worker, arrived here to complete his record of having bicycled in every province of Canada. He has made two coast-to-coast tours in North America and one in Europe on his bicycle, which he calls "Juliet."

Believes Rich Forests To Cover James Bay Muskeg

ST. JOVITE, Que. (CP)—A leading U.S. scientist believes the day will come when the muskeg barrens around James Bay will be covered with rich forests.

Dr. John E. Potzger, forest scientist from Butler University in Indianapolis, said in an interview here the forest will spring up as soil conditions in the area improve.

Dr. Potzger spoke on his return from a survey of the James Bay area. The survey was part of a study he has undertaken with other scientists to determine the age of forests in some areas and the possibilities of forestry growth in others.

He said there now is a scattering of trees in the James Bay region. He expects them to spread into forests of spruce, fir, tamarack and jackpine.

"They will be able to come in bulk only after enough soil has been made by the decay of the pioneer trees," he said. "Everything else is suitable. The new soil itself has a sound foundation to work on, for the region is overlaid with 10 feet of peat, which is rich organic material."

Dr. Potzger said the area around James Bay is "astonishingly young." Other scientists have estimated there were glaciers in northern Labrador as recently as 2,000 years ago. Dr. Potzger is inclined to agree that perhaps the same figure might be found to apply to the James Bay region.

His survey completed the largest study ever made in Canada on forestry growth. His studies have covered points from the United States border to 70 miles north of James Bay, and from Gaspe to southern Ontario.

The study gives a picture of forest growth back to the great ice age, and has practical application in climatology and long-term forestry science.

Dr. Potzger came to Canada at the invitation of the Quebec government's service of biogeography. Albert Courtemanche, director of the service and of the Mont Tremblant biological station where Dr. Potzger is doing his laboratory work, was leader of the James Bay trip.

FORESTRY EXPERT — Dr. John E. Potzger, forest scientist from Butler University in Indianapolis, examines a specimen of peat from the treeless James Bay muskeg region. Dr. Potzger, brought to Quebec by the provincial government, believes the peat covering may one day foster great forests in the northland barrens.

City Turns Down Petition On Paving Job

A petition from residents of Hopkins Ave., between Monaghan Rd. and Gordon Ave., opposing proposed asphalt paving and curbing of their section of the street, was turned down by city council Tuesday night.

The petition was supported by Mayor Hugh Waddell, Ald. T. D. Miller, Ald. John Dewart when the paving bylaw came up for second reading in committee of the whole council.

They maintained their support in spite of City Clerk E. A. Outram's advice that the petition had been made too late and should have been made to the Ontario Municipal Board in any case.

Mr. Outram pointed out that the paving bylaw had been advertised July 14 and 21. It required that objections be made to the municipal board within 21 days but the petition had not been received until last Monday.

OPPOSED TO INCREASE

The petition claimed that the majority of the houses on the section of street referred to fronted on other streets and the petitioners were opposed to paying the increased taxes involved.

Mr. Outram pointed out that the cost of paving per foot of frontage was 50 cents, without curbs, and 65 cents with curbs. Where the lots do not front on the street the cost is half that.

Speaking against Ald. Miller's motion to strike the section of street concerned from the paving bylaw, Ald Syd Black said the people making the suggestion had not sufficient knowledge of how much the job would cost them.

"I've had several calls from people asking to have the street improved," he said. "First they want it and then they don't. Some of those people signed the petition without knowing what it's about."

"I objected to this work being done at the time but I think they've had plenty of time to object," Ald. N. G. Graham said.

MANY ON HOLIDAYS

"The reason for the delay was that many of them were on holidays and there was difficulty getting in touch with them," Ald. Miller said. "I don't know what percentage of them signed the petition but I don't see how we could force it on them if they have 90 per cent."

The city clerk said in view of the fact the petition was made after the deadline, he had not checked the percentage of names. Ordinarily, if there were sufficient names, the municipal board would hold a hearing in Peterborough.

"I would like to support Ald. Miller's motion," said Ald. Dewart. "A lot of people didn't see the advertisement."

"If we're going to get anything done towards permanent roads in the city we can't hold up construction," Ald. J. P. Anglesey contended.

"If we're going to be pestered every year with complaints and have to go up and put the dust down with calcium chloride and fill the potholes, it's going to make it more expensive when we do pave it," said Ald. Black.

"It's quite possible the thing can be done next year without opposition," suggested Ald. Miller. "I think it should be laid over rather than try to choke it down their throats."

Mrs. Annie Bartlett

MARMORA (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Annie Bartlett was held on Tuesday afternoon, leaving the Wells funeral home for service at St. Andrew's United Church, where the pastor, the Rev. K. J. Crawford, BA, BD, officiated.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Marmora branch 237, Canadian Legion, of which she was a member, attended in a body.

Burial took place in Marmora Protestant cemetery. Last rites of the auxiliary were carried out under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Jennie Wellman.

Pall-bearers were six nephews, Gordon, John, Albert, George, Fred and Douglas Vilneff.

3 Boys Die In Mine

CENTERVILLE, Ia. (AP) — Three teen-age boys who left home, their parents said, to explore a cave, were found dead in a coal mine which had been closed down for the summer. Sheriff A. G Morlan said the boys apparently were victims of "black damp," a deadly gas which sometimes accumulates in mines.

Attlee Tours Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (Reuters) — British Labor leader Clement Attlee, touring Yugoslavia as guest of Marshal Tito, visited the palace of the Roman emperor Diocletian at Split.

Cause Death Of Clerk Said To Be Suicide

ESPANOLA, Ont. —(CP) —Police said Tuesday they believe J. Masson, 45, of Espanola, earlier reported a murder victim, may have taken his own life.

The body of the liquor store clerk was found Saturday under a log boom in the Spanish river near this centre 40 miles west of Sudbury. A .22-calibre bullet hole was in the head and .22 bullets in the man's pockets.

Coroner Dr. H. C. Nash labelled Masson's death suicide. Police said they will use magnets to drag the river bottom for the weapon.

Espanola is 40 miles southwest of Sudbury.

U.S. Newspapers Laud Liberals

NEW YORK (CP)—It was no surprise that the Liberal party won Canada's general election Monday, the Times says today.

"Certainly, Americans have no cause whatever for complaint or disappointment. The Liberals won fair and squarely. They have the kind of government most Canadians want. It has shown itself to be a good and prudent government in domestic affairs and a staunch ally on the international scene."

The Herald Tribune welcome the election outcome "as an opportunity to congratulate a durable government."

"The best wishes of all Americans will surely be with the Canadian government as it continues on its lengthy career."

The Daily News also complimented Canadians on re-electing the Liberal government, whose policies "have fostered an era of solid and abounding prosperity. . . ."

Robert B. Nelson

Funeral services for the late Robert (Bert) Bruce Nelson took place Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the home. Mr. Nelson was in his 72nd year and died after a lengthy illness.

He had been a director of the Hamilton township Mutual Fire Insurance Co. for 17 years and the honorary pallbearers were composed of members of that company.

Honorary pallbearers: W. A. Hoskin, C. V. Goodfellow, P. R. Darling, M. J. Greer, E. H. Martin, E. Sherwin, W. Davey, D. J. Campbell and N. Usher.

Active pallbearers were: Andrew Runciman, Owen Clarke, Owen Finlay, Gordon McCubbin, W. Grant Allen and Arthur Wartman.

Flower-bearers: Clifford Finlay, Everette Grills, William Shaw, Joseph Greenly, Robert Bateson, R. G. Petty, Cecil Grills, W. C. Baker, John Caplaw, Charles West and Charles Poole.

The Rev. T. E. Kennedy of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church officiated in the absence of the Rev. A. L. Cisco of St. Paul's United Church.

Burial was in Warkworth Cemetery.

Red Refusal To Return PoWs 'Truce Violation'

By JOHN A. SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States officials seem to feel a Communist refusal to return war prisoners convicted of "crimes" would violate the Korean truce agreement as well as the Geneva Convention.

State Secretary Dulles has demanded prompt repatriation of every United Nations prisoner held by the Reds—hale, ailing or jailed after Communist trials.

Otherwise, he said, the United Nations will reciprocate in kind.

Dulles' statement, upon returning this week from his trip to Korea, followed in the wake of reports that the Communists intend to keep prisoners they convicted until the imposed prison terms are completed.

Dulles ordered his legal aides to study the international aspect of the issue—which could snarl the Korean truce—in search of legal ammunition to reinforce his stand.

WEIGH AGREEMENT

Informants said the legal experts carefully weighed the Korean truce agreement and the Geneva Convention, which lays down international rules for handling of war prisoners. They said it was tentatively decided that both documents would be violated if the Reds held onto the prisoners convicted of crimes.

These informants conceded that, in looking over the Geneva war prisoner provisions, they found the Communists could legally insist upon completion of sentences meted UN prisoners while under captivity.

But, they said, in such cases the country holding the prisoners must notify their government and identify them.

The Communists have made no move to inform the UN command of any such detention plan and, accordingly, could be charged with violating the Geneva pact.

Overriding the Geneva Convention, however, is the detailed truce agreement signed with the UN by both the North Korean and Communist Chinese representatives.

This agreement makes no mention of the right to hold prisoners convicted of crime. It specifies that all prisoners are to be freed.

With this legal opinion backing him up, Dulles is expected to pursue American demands for the return of all prisoners.

May Get Appointment

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore News-Post says former president Harry S. Truman "is being considered for appointment" as the president of the University of Maryland. The paper says Judge William P. Cole Jr., chairman of the university board which would make the appointment, "indicated" Truman may have been recommended by a member of the board.

Celebrates Birthday

MORGANTOWN, W Va. (AP)—Darkness was falling when Dr. R. C. Spangler completed his 69 holes of golf to celebrate his 69th birthday. Spangler began the practice of playing a hole of golf for each year of his age on his birthday two years ago. He hopes to keep it up until he is 72.

Sought By Police, Nabbed At Meet

Interest in a water-ski meet led to the arrest Sunday of a suspected phony cheque passer. Luis Henry Mikels, 21, has been sought by city police for some time, and in the west is wanted for desertion from the army and by the RCMP for car theft.

The car he was driving when arrested is one that was stolen in Saskatchewan. At present it rests in the city police garage.

Mikels is charged with passing two fraudulent $10 cheques to city service station operators. He will answer the charges Monday in magistrate's court.

City police, who received confirmation from the west today of the fact that the car was stolen, knew the license number of the auto, and were waiting for it to appear in the city.

Constables J. P. Gillis and Sherman Keliele made the arrest.

Newton Armstrong

BETHANY (ENS) — Funeral services for Newton Armstrong, 65, of RR 2, Pontypool, were held from the McArthur funeral home in Lindsay on Monday, with burial in the family plot at Fallis cemetery, Manvers township, where the service was in charge of the Rev. J. McComb, minister of the Presbyterian Church at Janetville.

Mr. Armstrong, well-known farmer in Manvers, died suddenly on Thursday evening as the result of a motor accident on Highway 7 near Raeboro.

He is survived by three sons, Garnett, Everett and Richard and one brother, William, all of Manvers. His wife, the former Ethel McMaster, predeceased him in 1929.

Pallbearers were Delbert McMaster and Harold McMaster, of Buffalo, N.Y., Alex McMaster, Alfred Johnston, Earl Fallis and Earl Argue, all of Bethany.

Won't Service Planes

LONDON (Reuters)—Instrument workers at London airport have decided not to service two civil planes of the Philippine Airlines which arrive here weekly. Their action follows Britain's abrogation of her air treaty with the Philippines. Britain complained the Philippines would not give the British Overseas Airways Corporation full traffic rights at Manila for its London-Tokyo Comet jetliner service.

CHILD'S FALL FATAL

TORONTO (CP)—A fall from a second-storey window to a stone patio Tuesday fatally injured Julie Ruth Stewart, 4½. An emergency operation for a skull fracture was performed in a vain attempt to save her life.

Chiefs Humble Montreal 4-1 Behind Hartley

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

No-hitters are becoming almost a time a dozen in the International aseball League.

Righthander Art Hartley of Syraise Chiefs Tuesday night tossed e third no-hit game of the sea-n, defeating Montreal Royals 4-1 the abbreviated opener of a twin ill. Montreal came back to take e second contest 5-2.

Hartley's no-hitter came less aan a week after the first of the urrent campaign and was the sec-nd in as many nights.

In addition, Hartley's perfor-nance was Syracuse's second no-it, one-run game of the season. uke Markell hurled an identical ame last Thursday against Tor-nto.

BLANKS TORONTO

Monday night, Dave Hillman lanked Toronto for Springfield ver nine innings, with a no-hit, o-run masterpiece.

Hartley's good fortune, which oosted his won-lost record to 10-9, ok place at Syracuse, where ocky Nelson's two-run homer roke a 2-2 tie in the fourth to ive Montreal the victory in the ftermath.

Montreal's first-game run came fter Sandy Amoros walked and ocky Nelson lined out. Tim hompson grounded to Hector Rodiguez, who threw wildly. Amoros mped home.

The league-leading Bisons split doubleheader at Buffalo with altimore Orioles. The Herd took e opener 2-1 as veteran Earl arrist limited the Orioles to two nfield hits for his fifth victory. he Orioles blanked the Bisons -0 in the second game, which saw oe Lonnett's three-run homer proide enough runs for Bob Greenood as he scattered eight hits.

Rochester Red Wings fell twice Ottawa Athletics at the Canadian apital. The A's took both ends of double bill, 6-3 and 5-3.

Toronto Maple Leafs and Springeld Cubs split at Springfield, the ubs winning the opener 6-5 and he Leafs the nightcap 6-1. The eafs tallied four runs in the first nning of the opener but the Cubs ame back with three runs in the ourth and three in the sixth. Jim ost held Springfield to five hits the nightcap.

Marlene Breezes Through Match Test

LONDON (CP)—Most of the big name players survived the opening round of match play in the Canadian ladies' open golf championship here Tuesday as the title flight was cut to 16 players. Canada's top hope, 19-year-old Marlene Stewart from Fonthill, breezed through her first match play test when she downed young June Baker from Winnipeg, 7 and 5.

Marlene was three under par when she finished her match on the 13th hole. Shooting at her top form, she showed great improvement on the early holes over her qualifying round of 78—one over for the tough London Hunt Club layout.

Defending champion Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., had plenty of trouble before she polished off Rae Milligan of Jasper, Alta. The young Canuck was one up at the sixth but faded as the U.S. golfer gradually found her game and won 2 and 1.

OTHER INVADERS

Eight Americans and eight Canadians entered the third day of championship play today. Besides the defending champion, the other invaders are Pat Lesser, Seattle; Pat O'Sullivan, Orange, Conn.; Barbara Romack, Sacramento, Calif.; Mary Riley, Bloomington, Ill., Polly Martin, St. Clairsville, O.; Pat Devaney, Grosse Isle, Mich.; and Grace Lenczyk, Newington, Conn.

The Canadian survivors besides Marlene were veteran Ada Mackenzie, Toronto; Shirley Woodley, Toronto; Babs Davies, Vancouver; Mrs. Helen Cleat, Vancouver; Anne Sharpe, Fonthill, Mrs. J. H. McCarter, Toronto, and Mrs. W. S. Edey, Winnipeg.

Only upset in the opening day of match play was the defeat of Mary Gay of Kitchener by Mrs. Cleat of Vancouver. The Kitchener girl, runner-up to Miss Anderson last year, bowed out, 3 and 2.

TOUGH FOR PLAYERS

The automatic draw, in force in ladies' golf, made it tough for some of the better players. Marlene Stewart meets hard-hitting Pat O'Sullivan today. Pat had an 82 in the qualifying round but Tuesday she defeated Virginia Dennehy of Lake Forest, Ill., 6 and 4. Another tough battle brings together Marlene's clubmate from Fonthill, Anne Sharpe, and Mrs. Anderson.

Grace Lenczyk, twice champion, started at the fifth hole to hit her stride and won seven straight holes from Marlene Wach of Winnipeg to win the match on the 11th, 8 and 7. It was the hottest streak in the tournament so far and made Grace one of the favorites to take it all.

BENTLEYS TO RANGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers Tuesday acquired the Bentley brothers—Doug and Max—two of the biggest names in hockey and announced Frank Boucher will coach the team next season.

Boucher, who coached the Rangers from 1941 to 1948 and has been manager of the organization since 1946, succeeds Bill Cook. Cook, who with brother Bun and Boucher, formed the greatest line in Ranger history, will be retained in some capacity.

Max, younger of the Bentley brothers, was purchased from Toronto for an undisclosed sum. The 34-year-old centre, a veteran of 11 seasons in the National Hockey League, was sidelined by injuries during most of last season after scoring nine goals in his first 11 games.

He led the league in scoring in 1945-46 and 1946-47. His 231-goal record is surpassed only by Montreal's Maurice Richard among active players.

Doug, 37, was induced to leave his job as player-coach of the Saskatoon club in the Western League to rejoin his brother. The famous pair teamed up to star for six years with Chicago Black Hawks.

If Doug's work is satisfactory, he will be signed as a player and assistant coach to Boucher. A big league star at forward for 12 years, Doug accumulated 531 points third highest in the history of the league.

"We are very unhappy at the way things have been going the past few seasons," club president John Reed Kilpatrick told a press conference. "We are doing everything in our power to strengthen the team for 1953-54.

"We have purchased goalie John Bower and defenceman Bob Chrystal from Cleveland of the American Hockey League. They were rated the best at their position in the minor leagues."

✦ ✦ ✦

STAMPS BUY 5 PLAYERS

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders of the Western Hockey League announced Tuesday outright purchase of five players from the Chicago Black Hawk organization. Defenceman Max Quackenbush and forwards Steve Witiuk, Pat Lundy and Steve Black all were with Stampeders last season. Bill Brennan, goaltender who played with Seattle Bombers last season, is the fifth.

✦ ✦ ✦

ROYALS WESTERN CHAMPS

WINNIPEG (CP) — New Westminster Royals Tuesday won the Western Canada senior soccer championship and a berth in the Dominion final, outclassing Winnipeg Scottish 5-1 in the third game of a best-of-three series. The first two games were tied 1-1 and 0-0.

✦ ✦ ✦

TIE "AWAY" WIN MARK

LONDON (Reuters)—Third Lanark's 10-0 away victory over Alloa Athletic in the Scottish Soccer League division 'B' last Saturday equalled the record for an away win in this league. Alloa were also the victims on the other occasion. Dundee beat them 10-0 on their own ground in March, 1947.

Bastien Named Hornet Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League Tuesday named Aldege (Baz) Bastien their 1953-54 coach.

He succeeds King Clancy, recently elevated to the coaching post of the Hornets' parent club, Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

A native of Timmins, Ont., Bastien came to Pittsburgh via the Toronto team in the fall of 1945 as goalminder. In 1947, 1948 and 1949, he won the Nap Holmes trophy as top goalie of the AHL.

In practice for the 1949-50 season, Bastien was struck in the right eye by a flying puck. Blindness in the eye ended his career as an active performer. Since 1950, he has been the Hornets' business manager.

PITTSBURGH COACH — Baz Bastien of Timmins, Ont., business manager of the Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League, has been named coach of the team, succeeding King Clancy. Clancy has been promoted to coach the Toronto Maple Leafs, National Hockey League sponsor of the Hornets. Bastien, who was goalie for the Hornets before an injury forced him out of the game in 1949, was born Aug. 29, 1920.

Aussies Win By 7 Wickets

MANCHESTER, England (Reuters) — The Australian touring cricket team defeated Lancashire by seven wickets here Tuesday. Set to get 105 runs in 2½ hours, the Australians scored 106 for three with 65 minutes to spare.

Buffalo Manager Cleared Of Charge

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Tighe, manager of Buffalo Bisons, was reinstated Tuesday and cleared of a charge he spat at an umpire.

The club announced receipt of a wire from president Frank Shaughnessy of the International League. Tighe was fined $100 for swearing at an umpire.

Tighe got into a rhubarb with umpire Max Felerski Saturday night.

Felerski said Tighe spat in his face.

"So help me, I never spat," Tighe declared. "I wouldn't do that to a dog."

Two Marksmen Score Tie In Rifle Shooting Match

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—Two marksmen go to the firing mound today to break a tie in the Connaught match at the third day of the 85th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize shoot.

The marksmen—Cqms. J. A. Draper of South Porcupine, Ont., and Sqdn. Ldr. Dave Reynolds of Ottawa—tied Tuesday in the match proper with perfect 100s from the 300- and 500-yard ranges.

The tie was scheduled for Tuesday night, but had to be postponed because Cqms. Draper had left the ranges before the time was announced for the shoot-off.

Three matches will be fired on these ranges near Ottawa, including the City of Ottawa match from 200 and 900 yards, the Queen's Gold Medal match and the Inter-Service Cadet match.

Cqms. Draper and Sqdn. Ldr. Reynolds fired 20 consecutive bullseyes to score their possibles in the Connaught match.

Eight others finished with 99s: Sgt. W. A. Cousins, Penticton, B.C., Sgt. J. M. MacNeil, Vancouver; Cpl. B. E. Flumerfelt, Ottawa; Sgt. R. D. Cathline, Camp Borden, Ont. Csm. Norman Hamilton; Sgt. F. H. Wallace, Toronto; Capt. J. E. Samson, Edmonton, and Sgt. F. Jermey, Montreal.

The Connaught match counts in the aggregate standing. Top aggregate standings during the week-long meet are added to scores posted in the final stage of the Governor - General's match and from this comes Canada's 1954 Bisley team.

In the other aggregate match fired Tuesday, Cqms. W. L. Wilkinson of the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, won the Bankers match from 300 and 600 yards.

He tied with Cadet Laurie Fairfield, Winnipeg; J. J. Cramer, North Vancouver, and Maj. A. P. Williams, Ottawa, posting 98 scores of a possible 100, but was awarded first place for the better placings on the target.

A four-man team from army headquarters' western command at Edmonton captured the Barlow team match—the final event shot Tuesday. The team compiled a combined score of 191 of a possible 200 from the 600 yard range to beat out an army team from Prince Edward Island and the Governor-General's Foot Guards of Ottawa, tied for second place with scores of 187.

Members of the winning team were Maj. D. George, Capt. J. F. Samson, Capt. E. Auty, and Lieut. A. L. G. Clements.

Have Bad Spill At Thorncliffe

TORONTO (CP)—The worst spill of the year produced the first "betting called off" race of the Thorncliffe Raceway's 34-day season Tuesday.

Only three horses in the seven-horse field finished the seventh race and one of these, High Todd, owned by Jack Woods of Midhurst, did so with a badly bent sulky wheel far behind the other pair. Purses were paid to the three finishers.

High Todd caused the four-horse spill. High Todd broke a hopple and pulled up in a "break." Allan Tait, driving Sandy Grattan S., was the most seriously hurt of four drivers thrown. Tait was taken to hospital for examination of what appeared to be a broken knee cap.

The winning horse, Grattanna Blue, was a 25 to 1 shot. Second place Ulawin was 10 to 1.

20,000 See Hambletonian

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP)—Some 20,000 racing folk gathered at this cradle of light harness horse racing today to watch 23 three-year-old trotters match strides in the $117,117 Hambletonian Stakes

Little did William Rysdisk realize a century ago, when he was racing Hambletonian 10th around these parts, that one day distant descendants of his great trotter would be battling for so lucrative a purse.

Today's purse is the richest in the more than 100-year history of the sport and the field is the largest for the Hambletonian since it was first raced in 1926. The previous largest was 21 in 1951, when Mainliner won.

Fair weather and a fast track were in prospect

First of the mile heats is scheduled for 3 p. m. EDT with other miles at one hour intervals until one horse has won two heats. It has taken three heats on nine occasions to determine the winner and four heats were required twice.

Newport Star, winner of his last three starts for Octave Blake's Newport Stock Farm of South Plainfield, N. J., has emerged from the large field as the probable 8 to 5 choice. He'll be driven by 22-year-old Del Cameron.

TOP AUTO RACER DIES

MANTUA, Italy (AP)—Tazio Nuvolari, 61, one-time auto racing champion, died Tuesday of a heart ailment. In a racing career that stretched from 1920 into the late 1940s, Nuvolari won 72 big events. In 1936 he went to the United States and won the Vanderbilt Cup.

Foreign Non-Members At ACWW To Study Means

Among the many delegates attending sessions of the seventh Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World, Aug. 12-23 at the Royal York, Toronto, there will be a special group of observers from non-member countries, sent by the Ford Foundation and the Technical Assistance branch of United Nations. Discussions of ways and means of raising living standards for rural women the world over will bulk large on the agenda, and it is felt that such knowledge, carried back to such non-member countries as Egypt, Japan and Lebanon by their observers, may result in the formation of organizations like Canada's Women's Institues, affiliated with the A.C.W.W. The government of Japan is sending two observers from the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry, Miss Kiyoko Niimn and Mis Yoshie Omura, and a Toronto Japanese, now married to a Canadian, will interpret for them during the business sessions.

Two countries which already have member associations but which would otherwise be unable to send delegates will be represented through the action of the Ford Foundation, administered by the Institute of International Education. Under this project, two of Pakistan's outstanding women leaders and two special observers from India will attend. Outstanding among Pakistan's delegates will be Begum Ikramullah, wife of the Pakistan high comissioner in Ottawa, and a member of the All Pakistan Women's Association. Direct from Pakistan will come Begum Mian Amin-ud-in, wife of the governor of the Punjab, and Begum Hussain Malik, daughter of Pakistan's governor-general and secretary to the All Pakistan Women's Association.

Since the nature of the country makes it impossible to send true farm wives from Pakistan, women have been selected who, becauset of their past activities for women and their national prestige, can bring back the necessary inspiration and enthusiasm to spark existing women's associations to a vigorous program.

India will be represented by Dr. Krishnabai Nimbkar and Mrs. Kameswaramma Kuupuswamy, while Egypt is sending Mrs. Matilda Greiss, a Cairo home economist and outstanding social worker, financed by the Ford Foundation. Three other outstanding Egyptian women already in the U.S., including the wife of the ambassador in Washington, are also expected to attend.

From Lebanon will come Mrs. Loreen Shoucair Rihani and Mrs. Adelaide R. Richani. Through the Institute of International Relations, it has been arranged that the observers will be escorted and assisted by Miss Lonnie Landrum, a former Home Demonstration member in South Carolina. This is one of the affiliated A.C.W.W. groups in the U:S.

Several of the special observers plan to continue their travels in Canada and the U.S. after the Conference, studying the projects of the A.C.W.W. affiliated bodies in action, and gathering vital information for their homelands.

Hair Stylist Has Guiding Hand In New Millinery

PARIS—The shape of things to come is guided to a certain extent by the rulings of the hair stylist At the two seasons of the year when new styles are really born there is considerable time devoted to joint consultations between hairdressers and milliners. As a result, this coming Autumn offers certain definite rules as far as hair is concerned.

First and all-important point is that hair should be swept well back off the brow. You see it in the latest Antoine hair styles and any ornament in the way of curls, or trimming, is drawn to the back of the crown, often down onto the nape of the neck.

There is a tendency also to veil the ears rather more than has been permissible up to date. Antoine does not pay much attention to this trend but it is favored by Pierre Jacy and by many leading milliners, whose new Autumn hats are planned to narrow the sides of the head and to show a muss of curls at the nape of the neck.

"Meat" Of Orange Has Many Health Benefits

Scientists now point up the many health benefits, in addition to vitamin C, which are found in the "meat" of the whole orange. These include the protopectins, which aid in digestion; inositol, which protects the liver from fatty deposits; bioflavonoids which strengthen the tiny blood vessels of the body, and pro-vitamin A which is important for normal vision and healthy skin.

When you eat the whole orange you get that good fresh flavor, plus all these extra health values. One of the most atractive ways to serve the whole orange is in a mouth-watering mold that glistens.

MOLDED COLESLAW

2 packages lemon gelatin
4 cups hot water
2 cups orange chunks
1½ cups shredded cabbage
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper.
2 orange cartwheel slices.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Chill, stirring occasionally, until the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Add orange chunks, cabbage, celery and green pepper. Pour into 9" x 5" loaf pan. Gently push orange slices into place on side of loaf—three on each side. Save remaining orange slices to garnish top. Chill. Unmould, top with orange slices, serve with lemon mayonnaise. Serves 6.

Guthrie-Hartnett

The wedding of Cecile Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartnett of Peterborough, to Raymond Cecil Guthrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Guthrie of Buckhorn, was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral on Saturday morning. The Rev. Raymond Garvey officiated, and said the nuptial mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in ankle-length, ivory brocaded taffeta with matching headdress and shoulder veil and she carried a cascade of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Brock McNamara and Miss Mary Allen a cousin, who were dressed alike in ankle-length iridescent blue taffeta with white accessories. They wore corsages of red roses and carried white prayer books with a tiny nosegay of red roses.

The groom's attendants were Bernard Pluard, an uncle of the groom and Brock McNamara, and the ushers were Ralph Hartnett and John Guthrie, brothers of the bride and groom. Murray and Paul Byrne, cousins of the bride, served the mass.

Music for the wedding was by Mrs. R. C. Aman, and Miss Olive Chretien sang "Ave Maria" at the offertory, "Panis Angelicus" at the communion time, and during the signing of the register, "On This Day O Beautiful Mother".

The reception was held at the home of the bride, where guests were received by the bride's mother, wearing a beige gown and hat and white accessories, with a red corsage. She was assisted by the mother of the groom who was wearing an orchid nylon gown, with black hat, white accessories and a yellow corsage.

When leaving for a short honeymoon in Northern Ontario and Quebec, the bride was wearing a pale blue linen dress and white hat and shoes. On their return they will make their home in Brooklin, Ont.

Tasty Main Dishes For Late Summer

During these late summer days you'l be looking for recipes such as these.

CAESAR SALAD

2 cloves garlic, cut
¼ cup olive oil or salad oil
6 cups crisp salad greens
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
1 egg
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup Corn Soya (corn soya shreds)

Put garlic in oil and allow to stand about 2 hours. Remove garlic. Combine salad greens, cheese, seasonings, Worcestershire sauce and 3 tablespoons of oil. Break egg into greens; pour lemon juice on egg. Toss well. Add corn soya which has been mixed with remaining oil. Toss again slightly Serve at once.

Yield: 8 servings.

SEA GARDEN SALAD

1 pound fillet of halibut or other white fish
½ teaspoon pure monosodium glutamate
2 packages lime-flavored gelatin
3 cups hot water
1 cup pineapple juice
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 cup diced capned pineapple
½ cup seedless white grapes
1 cup diced melon.

"Poach" fish in water to cover to which monosodium glutamate has been added, about 10 minutes or until done. Drain; cool; break into small chunks. Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add pineapple juice and lime juice. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in fruits and fish. Turn into lightly oiled mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens, Serve with mayonnaise.

Mr. & Mrs. D. Carr On Honeymoon Trip Abroad

On Thursday, August 6th, Miss Norah Jamieson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Jamieson of Almonte, became the bride of Mr. Donald F. Carr of Peterborough, son of Mrs. Carr and the late Mr. Edward Carr. Rev. H. L. Morrison of Brockville performed the ceremony against a background of white and pink gladioli, with blue asters and white 'mums.

The bride, married at the home of her parents, was given in marriage by her father, and wore an original waltz-length gown of white pearl mousseline de soie appliqued with scrolls of satin, embroidered with pearls and diament. Her headdress was a small coronet of satin embroidered with pearls and diament, holding a finger-tip veil of mousseline de soie. She carried a nosegay of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. William J. Anderson of Toronto was matron of honor and Mrs. Murray R. Dobson of Ottawa was bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in waltz-length gowns of frosted blue organdy with portrait neckline, scalloped hemline and coronets of blue cornflowers. They carried nosegays of sweetheart roses and summer flowers.

Mr. William J. Anderson of Toronto was best man, and Mr. Joseph H. Jamieson and Mr. William R. Jamieson were ushers.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Kenneth Burns.

After the ceremony, the bride's mother received in a gown of rose orchid chiffon and lace with matching gloves, navy hat and shoes and a corsage bouquet of 'mums and pansies. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a gown of dark blue iridescent paper taffeta, with matching hat and shoes. Her bouquet was sweetheart roses.

The bride and groom left for a trip to England, Scotland and the continent. The bride travelled in a suit of lilac cashmere with matching shoes, ashes of roses velvet hat and gloves, and corsage of shrimp pink gladioli.

On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Carr will live at 397 Reid Street, Peterborough.

Hats Avoid Width

PARIS—Claude St. Cyr often treats her narrow brims in double rolls which fade away to nothing at the back and avoid adding any width to the sides of the head. In some cases her most original hats are those which fit straight on the front of the head, are cut well away at the sides, but develop again at the back to fit well down as if broken or folded down from the centre of the crown.

Other effective lines from the St. Cyr collection introduce pillbox shapes which sit straight atop the head and have softly draped sides like a model with a black velvet crown centred by a "stalk" of black velvet piping and swathed sides of bronze-green satin.

Foot Care And Exercise Follow-Up Beach Vacation

One beauty gain that's yours after a beach vacation is a pair of pretty feet. But not unless you're a girl who loves to walk along the edge of the surf for hours.

Just sit on the dry sand and you won't get the benefit of the smoothing action of this natural pumice stone—damp sand. Nor the tonic effect of cold salt water. Girls who spend summer at the beach find, at season's end, that their feet never felt so good nor looked so pretty.

Few of us are so lucky that we can take many walks through damp sand and lapping surf. We've got to get back to our jobs —whether of homemaking or careering. But we want and must have well-groomed, comfortable feet, just the same.

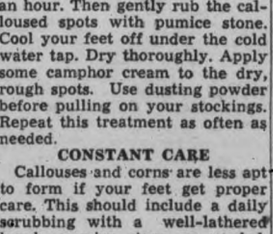
To help rid yourself of corns and callouses in a less pleasant but still effective way, soak the feet in hot sudsy water for half an hour. Then gently rub the caloused spots with pumice stone. Cool your feet off under the cold water tap. Dry thoroughly. Apply some camphor cream to the dry, rough spots. Use dusting powder before pulling on your stockings. Repeat this treatment as often as needed.

CONSTANT CARE

Callouses and corns are less apt to form if your feet get proper care. This should include a daily scrubbing with a well-lathered brush, pumice stone as needed, thorough drying (often neglected), and foot powder. Don't fail to push back the cuticle each time.

When you pedicure, file straight across, never rounding the corners. If you cut or file into the corners, you're likely to develop ingrowing toenails which can be very painful. Keep the nails long enough to insure the natural protection to your toe tips. Lemon juice worked under the nail and around the cuticle with a cotton-tipped orangewood stick will help remove ugly darkness.

To smooth the surface of the nail, buff with powdered pumice. Girls of taste feel that the feet look slightly undressed if the nails are left unpolished when open-toe shoes are worn.



When you select shoes for summer, be sure to have your foot measured each time you shop. Never simply ask for a size. Stand up while your foot is measured. Thousands of girls have learned, much to the benefit of their feet, that spike heels aren't worth the "glamor" they give. Now that pretty dress-up shoes are available without foolishly high heels, they have, to a great extent, given up that nonsense.

ONLY FOR PLAY

You have play shoes, of course. But don't wear them, especially if they're rubber soled, for any but casual play occasions. Your feet must have support, best rendered by flexible, good -quality, all-leather shoes, with a certain amount of heel and a built-in arch, for sports or a lot of walking. They shouldn't be slingpumps if your feet must "take it" for a long period.

To exercise your feet, and it's very necessary, get up on your toes often. Walk about that way. Clutch the carpet, or the grass, with your down-curled toes. And do the opposite—turn them up as far as you can while the foot remains flat on the floor.

This young housewife is the proud mother of a 3-month old son. She uses New Sunlight Soap to wash all his clothes.

"New Sunlight gets the baby things really clean," she says, "and leaves them so soft and fluffy. I recommend New Sunlight to every woman."

New Sunlight is wonderful not only for washing baby things, but everything! Use it for the family laundry, dishes, pots, pans, painted walls, woodwork, bathroom fixtures, dairy equipment—it washes everything washable.

More women use New Sunlight than any other bar soap in Canada. It's all pure, extra soapy. Your hands will love it. Get New Sunlight today!

Canned Ice Keeps Picnic Lunch Cool

NEW YORK—If you want to keep your picnic basket cold or preserve fish and game on a long hunting trip, you can do it with a type of canned ice.

The product consists of a vacuum can filled with a liquid chemical compound.

You simply put the can in the refrigerator, and after the liquid freezes solid, pack it in your picnic or camping kit.

The ice substitute keeps food cold for 72 hours and is deisgned to be the equivalent of three pounds of ice.

The compound may be refrozen and used again.

It's also handy for storing film in insulated boxes during hot weather.

Country Women Delegates Move Into Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Nearly 1,000 women from many parts of the world meet here today for the opening session of the seventh triennial convention of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Mrs. J. E. Houck of Brampton in charge of the billeting problem said: "We expected about 800 delegates, but it turns out we'll have possibly 150 more than that. Most delegates are staying at hotels.

The delegates represent some 6,000,000 women in the rural areas of the world. There are 90,000 members in Canada, including 46,000 in Ontario. The sessions last until Aug. 22.

First on the agenda is registration. Business sessions will be held Thursday with a welcome from Premier Frost. There will be a formal opening Friday at the University of Toronto.

This will be the first time the ACWW has met in Canada although the first rural women's organization in the world was founded more than 50 years ago by the late Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless of Stoney Creek. Mrs. Alfred Watt, a Canadian, was the first president of the ACWW, which was formed in 1933.

Fashion Flashes

A wealth of velvet marks mid-season millinery. Honey-brown velvet is used for a bonnet with an arched, peaked brim, trimmed at either side with big white silk poppies.

E. Berlin Food War Looms As Turning Of German Tide

By DON COOK
(Special To The Examiner)

BERLIN—The longer the Berlin food program maintains its amazing momentum, the greater and stronger is the impression that this is not merely a tactical battle in the cold war but rather that the turning of the tide—perhaps historic—has begun in Germany and from now on anything can happen here.

This could certainly have been said after the June 17 uprising against the East German Communist regime. It might even have been said last February when the Communists suffered the first big setback in failing to stop the flood of refugees who streamed unchecked out of East Germany all winter. But this third great defeat for the regime makes it all the more certain that both the Kremlin and the West are faced with devising an entirely new set of political and military calculations regarding Germany.

People are in motion in East Germany—vast numbers of people, hundreds of thousands, moving restlessly and relentlessly in defiance of police and propaganda and violence and concentration camps they have been living with for eight years. The overwhelming impression of this is that they are not on the move just because the West has offered free food relief, but that they are moving with instinctive mass and defiance.

They are not merely hungry nor are they merely defiant when they come to West Berlin. This is something bigger and more basic. This has power beyond anything Communism has ever been called upon to control. It is like a whirlwind gaining force and heading in man knows not what direction.

CAUGHT OFF STRIDE

Following the June 17 rioting it was clear that the first great task of the East German regime would be to reassert its own discredited authority once Soviet tanks withdrew from the streets But President Eisenhower's food offer and subsequent action to put it into operation here (though delayed, hesitant and not very forthrightly handled) caught the Communists off stride and unable to cope with what followed.

In the days preceding the start of the parcel program there were threats against "Fascists" who might dare to cross to West Berlin. When the program got under way the Communists virtually ig-

Answer to Previous Puzzle

DOROTHY DIX:

Ex-Wife, 19, Mother Of Child Interested In Man Of 40

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm just 19, have been married, divorced, and am now back with my parents, together with my eight-month-old daughter. My mother looks after the baby, while I do the housework. My trouble is that my parents have always considered me giddy and irresponsible; they never wanted me to have dates because they were afraid I could not be trusted. Since I've been home I have met a man of 40 (though he doesn't look it), who says he's fond of me and likes my company. My parents still don't want me to date. I only see him once a week, and am home early. Should I go on seeing him, or listen to my parents?

KATHERINE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I certainly don't envy your parents the job of supervising you. You seem bent on proving their contention that you can't take care of yourself, and apparently are headed for a future of compounded mistakes. Here's hoping that since you at least had sense enough to present your problem to a stranger, you may be on the verge of awaking to reality. You have already proven yourself incapable of making a good decision by your unwise marriage. Are you going to repeat the formula ad infinitum? Remember, your responsibilities now are increased—you have a child to answer for, and her future from now on must be your chief concern.

MARRIAGE NO LASTING LARK

You probably contracted your first marriage under the impression that it would be a perpetual lark; that it failed to accomplish your purpose doesn't seem to deter you from wanting another try. The big mistake you are making now is in giving your child over to your mother's care entirely. The baby is your responsibility and perhaps if you undertook her rearing you might achieve a bit more stability. Mom is sure getting a poor return for raising you; she has a grandchild to care for and a heedless daughter who refuses to act sensibly. Better try to settle down, Katherine, before your mistakes take the turn of tragedy.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the father of three children, and am divorcing my wife who walked out on me and the family. She took with her a 10-year-old boy who is her son by a former marriage. I think the world of this boy, and he wants to come back to us. He's not happy with his mother who is living with another man. Would it be possible for me to get him, and how? At present my mother looks after the children, and she is perfectly willing to have the other boy, too. A. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Under the circumstances, you shouldn't have difficulty in getting your stepson back. Appeal to the child welfare society of your county. Since the home provided by his mother certainly is not conducive to health or morals, he will probably be removed from her custody and returned to you. I sincerely hope so.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My 17-year-old son is making $35 a week. Do you think I'm wrong in asking $10 a week to help out at home? He is shocked at such a request, but I think it will teach him responsibility. The job is only a temporary one until school opens. MRS. X.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The boy most assuredly should recognize his obligations at home by giving you the amount mentioned. The obligation of making a financial contribution should be expected of any working child, whether the family needs the money or not. If a youngster is permitted to keep such a large sum each week, just for spending money, he'll grow up with a false sense of values.

All my troubles are little ones—or maybe I should say young.

I love young people, but sometimes they get in my way. F'rinstance, tonight Pete has Kaye in tow, and Marianne is coming home for dinner, and if she doesn't have two or three nurses with her I'll eat my hat. As for me, today I'm trying to do two days' typing in one, getting ready to leave on our holidays. The boys ordered blueberry upside down cake. I'm going to make it for them, and the lamb pie I want because I have cold roast lamb to use up. I'm sure there are dozens of you who find yourselves in comparable fixes.

All I know for sure is that dinner will be late, and oh joy! that the kids will wash the dishes. It'll be noisy, but if I don't have to be working in the middle of the din I can take it. They sing—of all things—rounds.

LAMB PIE

Scrub, slice and cook 4 medium carrots until partially tender. Drain off the liquid and save it. Put them in a large baking dish the sides of which have been lined with rich plain pastry. Add 2 cups cooked chopped green beans and one finely sliced raw onion and at least 2 cups of cubed cooked lamb. Add the carrot water and bean water if any to pan gravy from which you have skimmed the fat. You should have a tleast 2½ cups of this liquid. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. If you grow your own potatoes and have some tiny marble ones on hand, add about 8 of them. Cover with well-gashed top crust, sealing the edges well. Brush top with a little beaten egg and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat and bake 50 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr.

CABBAGE AND TOMATO SALAD

Because I object to the moisture that collects in cabbage salads I have taken to shredding it and adding whatever is going into it—tomatoes thinly sliced in this case—and putting it in the refrigerator to chill until dinner is served, covered. Then I put it on the table, and when salad-passing time comes I drizzle the French dressing over it right at the table. It is a great improvement over salad that has stood with the dressing on it. Celery seeds are good in this kind of a salad.

BLUEBERRY COBBLER

Two and one-half cups washed and drained blueberries (or sliced peaches or apricots, or blackberries or raspberries are also very good made the same way), 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, ¾ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, dash of nutmeg, 1 tablespoon butter, baking powder biscuit. Turn fruit into shallow buttered baking dish. Mix the tapioca with the sugar, salt and spices and sprinkle over the fruit. Let this stand while you make the BISCUIT DOUGH: 2 cups sifted flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, ¾ cup milk. Flour is sifted with the baking powder and salt, shortening is cut in until it is fine and milk is quickly stirred in. Dot the berries with the butter. Roll biscuit dough ¼-inch thick. Prick it and arrange over top of the fruit. Bake at 460 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, and about 25 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr.

I had both the lamb pie and the cobbler in the oven at the same time, but took the cobbler out ahead of the pie. It was warm when I served it, but I think that's good when it is served with pouring cream.

IF POSSIBLE, BRUSH AFTER MEALS. IF NOT-

Here's a toothpaste for people who can't brush after every meal

Just one brushing with Pepsodent kills up to 98% of the bacteria that cause mouth odors and decay

Get pure white Pepsodent today

Pepsodent gives you whitest teeth, sweetest breath

Note—It's best, of course, to brush after every meal, but if you can't, remember this—Just one brushing with Pepsodent kills up to 98% of the bacteria that cause mouth odors and decay.

It's a fact, proved by impartial laboratory tests. Pepsodent gives you whitest teeth because Pepsodent gets teeth cleaner and brighter than any other leading toothpaste.

Now here's a fact especially important to people who can't brush their teeth after every meal. Pepsodent's cleansing action is so effective that just one brushing kills up to 98% of the bacteria that cause mouth odors and decay!

WHITEST TEETH • SWEETEST BREATH • BOTH ARE YOURS WITH PEPSODENT

Name Sorrie

was a force of 21 men. George Gimblett Sr. was the chief at that time.

FOUGHT FIRES OVERSEAS

He received a leave of absence during the Second World War and in August, 1942, he went overseas with the Overseas Canadian Firefighters, a volunteer organization. In the United Kingdom the Canadian group worked with the National Fire Service and were stationed near "special hazards," such as docks and oil tanks, to put out fires started by German bombing.

Chief Sorrie was stationed at Bristol, Southampton and Plymouth. While in Bristol he helped fight a major fire when a Liberty ship containing 6,000,000 gallons of high-octane gasoline blew up while it was being unloaded. Another big Bristol fire was when 2,500,000 gallons of oil were set on fire by German incendiary bombs.

During his overseas service Chief Sorrie was promoted from leading fireman to section leader. He came back to Canada in 1945 and again rejoined the local fire department in February of that year.

In 1950 he was made acting captain and he got his permanent captaincy in February 1951.

Chief Leonard accepted the appointment with the Peterborough Fire Department last November and officially took over Jan. 1. Before that he was two years an instructor in the Fire Services division of the Fire Marshal's office. He was a veteran of 23 years on the London (Ont.) Fire Department.

FIRST CAME SOON

Peterborough residents got their first glimpse of Chief Leonard when he assumed active command at the Allan B. Collis store fire on New Year's Eve, 12 hours before he became chief officially.

Commenting on his appointment, Chief Sorrie said today:

"It comes as quite a surprise to me. It would have been an even more pleasant surprise if it hadn't come at the expense of Chief Leonard's health.

"I'll make every effort to see that the people of Peterborough get the most efficient protection possible. I also want to say I think we have here one of the best fire departments in Canada."

Fourth Case Of Polio Admitted To Hospital

Fourth case of polio in the city in four weeks was reported today by MOH Dr. J. P. Wells. Victim is a student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital.

At present the girl is in the isolation wing of Civic Hospital as a polio suspect.

A four-year-old boy from Cobourg was also admitted to the isolation wing of Civic Hospital Tuesday with polio. He is partly paralyzed.

Landslide Vote Seen Threat To Gov't System

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers today welcomed the victory of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's Liberal government in Monday's Canadian election, but saw the landslide vote as a possible threat to the two-party system.

The Manchester Guardian says it is hardly an exaggeration to say that Canadian politics are no longer divided between two major and two minor parties, but instead between one major party and three splinter groups, each representing mainly sectional attitudes and interests.

"Clearly this situation cannot endure, in a democracy so serious-minded and alert as Canada," this Liberal newspaper argues.

"The lack of effective opposition exposes the Liberals to the dangers of over-confidence, breeding in time both slackness in detail and errors in principle."

BRILLIANT FUTURE

Another Liberal newspaper, the London News Chronicle, declares that there is little doubt that unparalleled prosperity and a brilliant future have played a major part in the result of the elections.

"Canada is now well launched on its way to being one of the mightiest nations of the world," says the paper.

"Canadians have seen no reason to change the leadership that set them on this road," the News Chronicle adds.

The Financial Times says it is not normally a healthy sign for one party to govern for too long in any country.

"The need for a change in politics can be overstressed, but it is doubtful whether even the best governments can go much beyond the 20th year without creating the undesirable by-products of a one-party syste.m."

GIVES VICTORY MESSAGE—Prime Minister St. Laurent, who staked the future of the Liberal government solely on its record, speaks on a national CBS radio network following the government's re-election for an unprecented fifth straight term. With him is Mrs. St. Laurent.

16 Candidates Win By More Than 10,000

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent led his Liberal Party to a sweeping victory in Monday's Federal election—and his own win was the most sweeping of any-coast to coast.

Running against four opponents in Quebec East, he marked up a plurality of 19,737 votes—more than any other candidate in the country and almost 2,000 more than his own huge advantage in 1949.

Sixteen other candidates had margins exceeding 10,000 votes in Monday's balloting. All but two were Liberals running in Quebec province where their party scored a walkover provincial victory.

The exceptions were in Essex East, where Health Minister Paul Martin had a 14,260-vote edge in a four-way fight; and Calgary North, where Progressive Conservative D. S. Harkness was re-elected with a plurality of 10,839 over four opponents.

Alexis Caron, Liberal elected in Hull, had a lead of 15,209, being second in total to the Prime Minister.

Police Find 'Some Objects' In Investigation

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—"Some objects" were recovered in digging near here Tuesday as the inquiry of an international puzzle—the whereabouts of Rudolph Maier—swung to this area.

But officers indicated they doubted the articles found near here have any significance in the investigation.

Police in Los Angeles said two days ago that Gordon Emerson Weber, 40, a Kitchener native, claimed he killed Maier his father-in-law in a Guelph hotel room four years ago. The body was stuffed in a trunk and burned near Kitchener, Weber was quoted as saying. Police said Weber, an accountant, told how he later dug up the remains and took them to Milwaukee where he threw them on a dump.

While confirming some digging had been done here and some objects found, provincial police expressed doubt the articles were linked to the case.

WON'T DESCRIBE ARTICLES

However, "tests" will be made. Police did not disclose what the articles were.

Police asked that the site of the digging be withheld as mention of it might attract the curious and hamper possible further work in the area.

Inspector Harold Graham of the provincial police criminal investigation branch is believed to have taken part in the digging operations Tuesday. He was also in Guelph during the day investigating the hotel-room phase of the mystery. Local police officers unofficially indicated they find it hard to credit the story ascribed to Weber.

One pointed out that crematio of a body requires hours of co centrated heat and would b difficult to do near a city witho attracting attention.

Opens New Hospital

GALT (CP) — Lieutenant-Governor Breithaupt of Ontario Tuesday opened the new $2,500,000 South Waterloo Hospital here. The hospital is dedicated to the dead of the First and Second World Wars. Part of the money was raised in a campaign in Galt, Hespeler, Preston and North Dumfries township.

Funeral Held For Boy Killed By Tractor

ROSENEATH—(ENS)—One of the largest funerals in this community for some time was held on Tuesday for Ronald Timlin, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Timlin, Roseneath, who died in Peterborough hospital on Sunday morning after being run over by a tractor Saturday afternoon.

The service was held at the home of the boy's uncle, Mr. George Elder, and was conducted by the Rev. J. R. Wheeler, pastor of Roseneath United Church.

Mrs. Sam Black, Bowmanville, sang a solo and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Dowler, Port Hope, contributed a vocal duet.

Pallbearers were four uncles of the boy, Messrs. Lorne, Lloyd, Charles and Theodore Elder. Schoolmates, neighbor boys and girls and relatives carried the large number of floral tributes.

Friends and relatives were present from Bowmanville, Bailieboro, Belleville, Baltimore, Harwood, Port Hope, Coldsprings, Warkworth, Norham, Gores Landing, Cobourg and the Roseneath community.

Surviving are the parents, a sister, Cheryl, 7; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Timlin, Cobourg; and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Elder, Roseneath; two great-grandmothers, Mrs. James Timlin Sr., and Mrs. John Elder, Roseneath.

Burial was in Centenary cemetery, west of Roseneath.

Charge Kitchener Man With Barn Arson

KITCHENER (CP) — Police said today Harold Schlumkoski, 29, of Kitchener has been charged with arson in connection with a fire Friday which destroyed L. E. Kress's barn and almost set fire to his farmhouse, 30 feet from the barn.

Some 900 hens, 1,100 bales of straw and 2½ tons of feed were destroyed.

Frederick Kingston

STIRLING (ENS)—The funeral of Frederick Angus Kingston was held from the home of his sister, Mrs. E. Kingston, Church St., to St. Paul's United Church, where the service was conducted by the Rev. H. Giffin, of Foxboro.

Mr. Kingston died in Kingston hospital after a two months illness in his 78th year.

He was born in Rawdon township, son of the late Robert Kingston and Jane Paterson. He farmed for many years at West Huntingdon and had resided at Oak Lake for the last 21 years. He was a member of Marsh Hill United Church and Stirling LOL 110.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingston celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary only a short time ago.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Emma Burkett, are three daughters, Mrs. Wilfred Johnson, (Vera) of Belleville, Alberta at home, and Mrs. Wilbur Shorey (Helena) of Frankford, one son, Leslie, at home, and six grandchildren.

Ambrose Doris

The funeral for Ambrose Dorris of Peterborough, who died Sunday in Sunnybrook hospital, Toronto, was held today from the Anglesey funeral home to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass.

Celebrant of the mass was the Rev. L. M. Dubbery. The pallbearers were: Harry Donovan, Mel O'Brien, Elmer Crough, Fred Mowry, Archie McBride and Albert Dorris. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery. The Rev. G. J. Weis said the graveside prayers.

13,000 Drivers Settle Strike

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—A nine-day strike of 13,000 truck drivers in three New England states was settled early today at the end of a day-and-night negotiating session.

Details of the settlement proposal were not disclosed. The plan is subject to ratification by 13 locals of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL) in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

The drivers sought a two-year contract with a 15-cent hourly pay increase, overtime pay after 40 hours and a guaranteed 48-hour week. The current average hourly pay is $1.52.

Management had offered a three-year contract with a 14-cent boost the first year and 7½ cents more for the next two years, plus overtime pay beginning after 47 hours the first year, after 46 hours the second, and after 45 hours the third year.

Dulles Skeptical Of Red Claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles said today he accepts with some skepticism Russian Premier Malenkov's implied claim that Russia has mastered production of the hydrogen bomb.

Malenkov said last week-end that the United States no longer has a monopoly on H-bomb production —apparently meaning the Soviet union knows the secret, too.

Dulles told a press conference the United States has no independent evidence that Russia has the powerful bomb.

Specifically, American authorities had not detected evidence of a hydrogen bomb explosion within the Soviet Union.

Hold Fallis Cemetery Remembrance Service

BETHANY (ENS)—The annual Remembrance Day service was held at Fallis cemetery, south of Bethany, on Sunday with many former residents and relatives attending, bringing their floral tributes of respect to those who rest in this historic old cemetery connected with Manvers United Church.

The service was in charge of Mr. A. H. Monk, of Bethany, who announced the hymns, read the scripture and led in prayers.

The sermon was given by the Rev. A. M. Butler, of Millbrook. Major McUergy, of the Salvation Army at Lindsay, spoke briefly and Mr. Fred Barnard, of Peterborough, led in prayer.

On behalf of the cemetery committee, Messrs. Earl Argue, Norman Fallis and Fenton Fallis, Mr. Monk thanked all those who had helped in the service.

Land for the cemetery was given by the Fallis family. It is remarkably well kept and presented a lovely appearance on Sunday.

The Lindsay Salvation Army band led the singing and contributed several numbers at the close of the service.

Freighter Swamps Boat, One Drowns

CORNWALL (CP)—Albert Kiers, 23, of nearby Woodlands, was drowned today when the boat in which he was riding was swamped by the swells of a passing freighter.

A companion, William Jonkers, 28, survived the accident which occurred in the St. Lawrence river's main channel just east of the city. The freighter involved was the City of Kingston. The two men were heading for St. Regis, Que., where they were employed.

Dr. Naham Goldmann Heads Jewish Congress

GENEVA (AP) — Dr. Naham Goldmann of New York has been elected president of the World Jewish Congress. The Polish-born American has served as acting president of the organization since 1949.

Dr. Goldmann was chosen for a four-year term at the closing session of the congress meeting here. Delegates also approved a resolution expressing concern at the "steady growth of neo-Nazi elements" in Germany.

Warn Communists To Release PoWs

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles warned the Communists today the United Nations will withhold "to the last" Red convicted of crimes—to make sure the Reds return UN prisoners in the same category.

In a prepared statement Dulles also said any Communist plan to withhold American prisoners guilty of so-called crimes would violate the Korean armistice agreement.

E. Berlin Food

nored it for three days, filling their press instead with columns and columns of pronouncements by the Politbureau, by Premier Otto Grotewohl and Secretary General Walter Ulbricht about a new course for the Democratic Republic. Finally food queues were so great they could not be ignored any longer and the next step was reprisals.

These didn't work either and then the order came to stop selling railroad tickets to Berlin. This produced a weekend of police clashes and violence and by Wednesday travel was tacitly underway and food queues were running at a steady 150,000 a day. Police have again proven far from reliable. Some will confiscate food, others not. Some police lines held, others broke (some connived with people, others beat them. Propaganda machinery has been even more dismal a failure.

COLOSSAL FAILURE

It all amounts to a colossal failure of the Communists to control their people. It seems clear, moreover, that Soviet authorities gave strict orders to the East German government to take no action which might require Soviet troops to bail out embattled East German police once again. It is not difficult to imagine their troubles in trying to figure out what do to next.

For the West, these events are of even greater importance than for the Kremlin, for it is to the West that the people of East Germany are looking to maintain initiative, to maintain pressures which produce hesitancy and confusion and defeat, to maintain diplomatic pressures on the Soviet Union aimed at getting the Red Army out of East Germany.

At the height of the "Food War" I stopped off in a tour of East Berlin to visit the Great Soviet War Memorial—an entire park five or six blocks long dominated by a tremendous statue of a Red Army soldier with a sword through a broken Swastika and a child held protectively in his arms. It was almost deserted and as I stood looking about an East German came up and agitatedly started conversation. We walked away together as several young Russian soldiers arrived at the scene and his last words were: "And how long do you think this will stand when they go home?"

Truck-Plane Collide

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A truck and an airplane collided at Mexico City's airfield. The truck crashed into a Douglas DC-2 Tuesday as the plane was taking off and ripped off a wing. No one was injured, but the truck driver was arrested.

Mine Hearing Postponed 2 Days

TORONTO (CP)—A hearing of arguments for imprisoning 38 strikers of the Broulan Reef gold mines at Timmins was adjourned today to Friday.

The company filed a motion Tuesday stating that the 38 strikers had committed a breach of an injunction granted July 17 and asking that the men be jailed as a result. It was expected that the hearing would be held today before Chief Justice McRuer of Ontario. Under the July 17 injunction, strikers were limited to four pickets at company property at one time.

Among the 38 named by the company are two men now out on $1,000 bail on charges of kidnapping a worker. Others named in the motion were scheduled to appear in court at South Porcupine near the mine properties today on assault and other charges arising from affrays between strikers and workers.

Some 350 men at the mine's properties went on strike a month ago for higher wages.

Spain Approves Bases Agreement

SAN SEBASTIAN (AP) — The Spanish cabinet is reported to have approved an agreement giving U. S. forces the use of Spanish naval and air bases in exchange for military and economic aid. The pact would tie Spain indirectly into the Western alliance against Communist aggression.

Usually well-informed sources said the agreement was okayed by Generalissimo Franco's ministers at a 16-hour meeting Tuesday and would be signed shortly. A communique issued after the cabinet meeting made no mention of the pact, however.

Sites of bases wanted by the Americans have not been made public but U. S.-Spanish talks concerned airfields at Madrid, Barcelona and Seville and naval installations at Cadiz and Cartagena.

It was believed that Spain would give the United States use of the bases for 16 years.

Excited By Fire Has Attack

COBOURG (ENS)—Harry Perfect, a Royal Navy veteran, who is well-advanced in years, suffered a heart attack Tuesday from the excitement caused by a fire which broke out in the other half of a duplex in which his son, Alfred, resides.

The blaze occurred Tuesday morning in the kitchen, while Mrs. Alfred Perfect was preparing breakfast. It was extinguished by Cobourg fire department without much difficulty.

Mr. Perfect's condition [illegible] night was only fair.

Home Economist Gives Talk To Garden Clubs

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — The "Hoeing Harriets" met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Hilton Minifie, with Mrs. Carl Bowman assisting.

Also present were the Harwood "Gardening Gals" and their leaders, Mrs. Ellis Isaac and Mrs. George Isaac.

The guest speaker was Miss Jean Noble, home economist from the Department of Agriculture. Miss Noble had visited the girls' gardens recently and was pleased with the progress they are making.

Each girl had brought a bouquet of flowers and Miss Noble showed how they should be arranged.

The next meeting is to be held on August 18 at the home of Sheila Ritchie.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Minifie and Elaine.

Draft 23,00 Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Army has issued a draft call for 23,000 men in October. The October quota brings to 1,538,430 the total number of men drafted or earmarked for induction since the resumption of selective service in September 1952.

Protocol Observed In Ticklish Situations Draw Red Attention To Buried Mortar Bomb

MUNSAN (AP)—Protocol is observed even in the most ticklish situations in United Nations—Communist negotiations. Witness this situation, as officially reported today in a UN communique.

The occasion was the meeting of the UN and Communist joint observer teams in what once was no man's land.

"During the early minutes of the meeting one of the Communist assistants amused himself by kicking an object imbedded in the ground.

"Recognizing the object as a mortar bomb, the UN senior member made the following statement to the Communist interpreter during a brief adjournment:

"Our side believes that this object, which personnel of your side have been kicking, is an unexploded live round.

"In order to protect the security of personnel of both sides, our side requests that personnel of your side stop this action."

The dud was removed.

1,000 DEAD, ISLANDS FALL INTO SEA

JET HITS HOMES—A Quebec Provincial Police officer guards the wreckage of a CF-100 RCAF jet fighter which crashed through two homes in the Montreal southsore suburb of Ville Jacques Cartier. Nine persons, including five children, died in the wreckage as the aircraft's tanks burst, hurling flaming fuel over a wide area.

Parliament To Meet In November

Cabinet Tentatively Decides On Autumn Session

OTTAWA (CP)— The cabinet in its first post-election meeting decided tentatively today that Parliament will be called into session in mid-November.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said after the meeting that no final decision was reached but the ministers agreed they would make that recommendation later on the basis of the present situation.

However, he added, the members could be called into session earlier if the situation changed.

The fall session will not be a special one but, as forecast unofficially earlier, will be a start on the regular 1954 session, enabling Parliament to gets its annual work cleaned up earlier in the year.

Mr. St. Laurent said there would be a short Christmas-New Year's holiday, as was the case last year when Parliament started its 1953 session in the fall.

The next full cabinet meeting will be Sept. 6. Meanwhile, the prime minister was leaving today for a post-election holiday at his summer home near St. Patrick, Que.

LEFT TO SEPTEMBER

Mr. St. Laurent, dapper and breezy after his election win Monday, said a number of matters will stand over until the September meeting of the ministers.

One of these was the question of a five-day week for all civil service workers. The present situation, he said, will continue at least until September.

Mr. St. Laurent also said cabinet has not yet had a chance to deal with an eight-province appeal from last spring's freight rate increase of seven per cent.

EARTHQUAKE — According to reports 1,000 persons are dead and at least 250 injured in heavy earthquake shocks which rocked the big islands of Cephalonia and Ithaca (circled) off the western coast of Greece. Rescue teams have started to dig out persons buried under debris.

Warships, Planes Bring Aid To Greeks On Beaches, Fires, Quakes Erase Towns

ATHENS (CP)—Refugees from the quake-wracked Greek islands of the Ionian Sea reached the mainland today with reports that "hundreds" have died in tremors still rocking ruined towns and villages. Twenty-two shocks were recorded Wednesday night in the devastated isles. One eyewitness who flew over the stricken area said it was "much worse than pictures of Hiroshima after the atom bomb." Survivors said that during the four-day ordeal the islands seemed to sink under boiling seas. Flames licked up from shattered buildings and smoke and dust clouds hung over beaches where panic-stricken islanders huddled awaiting rescue.

Three British warships have reached the scene and are taking part in rescue operations. The 20,000-ton United States heavy cruiser Salem is on her way to Argostoli, port for the shattered island of Cephalonia.

Helicopters from American air bases as far away as West Germany have been ordered to the scene.

1,000 KILLED

There was such chaos that it was impossible to estimate the casualties among the islands' 120,000 population. An American official who flew over the islands estimated at least 1,000 had been killed and 10,000 injured.

Billowing fires swept earthquake ruins and huge slabs of the ancient mountainous island of Kefallinia, loosened by the tremors, were reported slipping into the sea.

Officials of the island reported to the ministry of interior that Argostolion, a city of 10,000 and the island's chief port, was "beginning to sink under water."

The Athens newspaper Katherini quoted reports from the port as saying some sections of the town's waterfront were being submerged slowly.

(In Paris Walter Hawkins, Trans-World Air Lines pilot, and Max Scribner, engineer, said their plane flew over Kefallinia yesterday and the stricken island looked like a forest fire. Great chunks of the coast could be seen sliding and splashing into the sea, they said.

SEE SLIDES UNDER WATER

(Hawkins said slides of earth could be seen under the water from the shelf surrounding the island. The biggest settling appeared to be on the northwest and northeastern coasts. he added, and huge bare spots could be seen where the land had fallen away into the water.)

Roads looked as though they had been blasted by mines, columns of smoke rose high in the air and whole districts lay in ruins from tremors and tidal waves.

Fires are still reported raging in Zakinthos, destroyed capital of Zante Island, and in Argostoli and other towns. The town of Lixouri, on Cephalonia, also lies in ruins.

Some reports from Argostoli said the whole town appeared to be subsiding. Dazed citizens huddled along the waterfront with pathetic bundles of belongings, all they had been able to salvage.

The port of Vathy, on the island of Ithaca, legendary home of Homer's Odysseus, was swept all day Wednesday by tidal waves.

WARSHIPS (Continued on Page 2)

Saves 3 Girls Caught By Wave In Trent Canal

TRENTON (CP) — A housewife dived into the Trent canal north of here Wednesday night to rescue three children from drowning.

Mrs. John J. Webb of Trenton was on a bank watching them swim in about five feet of water when the locks at the other end of the canal were opened. A four-foot wave swept down, carrying the youngsters into water 15 feet deep.

Mrs. Webb dived in fully clothed and rescued 10-year-old Nettie Ostrum first. After pulling her ashore, she went in again to reach the girl's 12-year-old sister, Marie, and succeeded in getting her to the bank. The third girl, Cathleen Webb of Toronto, a niece of Mrs. Webb, was disappearing when Mrs. Webb grabbed her and pulled her to land.

Wednesday night, Mrs. Webb, her face scratched and bruised, gave the children a special dinner.

"You know, there might have been four corpses in town tonight," she said.

Fear Detective In Cast For Life

TORONTO (CP) — Detective John Follis may be in a cast for the rest of his life, police said today.

He was one of two officers seriously injured Wednesday in a crash after an 85-mile-an-hour gun battle with three Tillsonburg youths in a stolen car. His partner, detective Ross Fordham, suffered a severe head injury and was still in a deep coma today. Hope is held for his recovery.

Two of the three youths today were remanded a week on charges of attempted murder. They were Donald Benstead, alias Wolf, 19, formerly of Winnipeg, and Alan Pidgeon, 22.

A third youth, William Atkinson, 18, died in the crash. The other two were arrested shortly after the cruiser and the car collided at the city's western outskirts.

Three Men Missing On Plane Jaunt

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (ap) A lost plane with three Detroit men believed aboard was sought today in the rocky wilderness between here and Jamestown (Wawa), Ont.

The single-engine private plane disappeared Wednesday night on the 107-mile flight to the Canadian community.

Harry Butler, 53, of Detroit, was the pilot. Butler's brother and brother-in-law were said to have been aboard.

At Detroit, members of the family waited anxiously for word from a search being conducted by Royal Canadian Air Force planes.

A daughter of Harry Butler, Mrs. Robert Burke, said her father and uncle left Detroit Wednesday on a fishing trip.

$50,000 Fire Forces 7 People From Lodge

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP)—A $50,000 fire forced seven persons from Birch Island Lodge 10 miles north of this Manitoulin Island town early today. They fled in night attire.

Forestry officials said they believed a fan snapped loose from a freezer and crashed into a radiator filled with explosive chemicals.

RCAF Guards Deviated From Policy Inquiry Says

VILLE JACQUES CARTIER, Que. (CP)—Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James, officer commanding air defence command, said today a preliminary inquiry into the control of crowds and treatment of newspapermen following the tragic crash of a CF-100 jet fighter here on Tuesday has revealed that "RCAF policy was not conformed with throughout."

Photographers' cameras and film were seized and reporters hindered at the scene where nine persons were killed when the flaming fighter struck two homes.

In an official statement, Air Vice-Marshal James said nominal guard of one NCO and 12 airmen was sent to the scene.

CROWD BLOCKED AREA

"The crowd was also blocking entry to the area. Many were taking photographs and removing pieces of the burning wreckage. The crowd increased very rapidly to an estimated 5,000 persons.

"With the knowledge that there were explosive charges still in the ejection seat and that the aircraft carried classified equipment, the guards, assisted by civilian police, endeavored to establish order to protect spectators against injury and to safeguard the equipment.

"All normal measures failed to properly clear the area and to keep the crowd at a safe distance. The pressure from the rear of the crowd at one point endangered the lives of the spectators in the front. The NCO in charge of the six airmen, was driven, after repeated but unheeded warnings, to order on his own initiative the firing upward into the air of one volley of blank ammunition."

TURNED HOSES ON CROWD

Air Vice-Marshal James said the guard was equipped only with a few blank rounds. He said at the time the volley was fired civilian firefighters turned hoses on the crowd to assist airmen in maintaining order.

He said:

"I regret the interference and inconvenience caused to some of the newsmen in the performance of their duties. Steps are being taken to guard against deviation from official RCAF policy in future. The official investigation into the cause of this accident is continuing."

Stock Car Racer Dies Of Injuries

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—John Spencer, 21, a stock car racer, died today of injuries suffered while competing at the Stamford track here last night. He received head injuries.

Another driver, John Panes, 58, suffered a fractured skull and his condition today was critical. Both men are from Niagara Falls.

Strike Paralyzes All Of France

PARIS (CP)—The crippling series of strikes in state-operated industries in France spread to government offices and some sections of private industry today, taking some 4,000,000 workers from their jobs.

The strike of postal, telephone and telegraph workers went into its ninth day. Paris was without bus or subway service for the second straight day. The railway strike was in its third day. Bank and insurance company clerks walked off the job today and so did workers in metal industries, including automobile factories. Some department store workers went out.

Printers and other newspaper mechanical workers announced a 24-hour strike; they said no newspapers would appear in France on Monday.

NO TRANSPORT

Marseille, France's second largest city, was without public transport today.

In Lyons, cheques could not be cashed. Army trucks and private buses took over the city's transport.

The strikes grew despite a stern warning by Premier Joseph Laniel Wednesday night that the government would not give in. He called on the strikers to go back to work for the good of France, but his plea fell on deaf ears.

The government, by use of policemen, soldiers and non-strikers, was trying to deal with the mountain of backed-up mail, but with little success. The few deliveries made covered probably less than one per cent of the daily load. Chambers of Commerce were setting up their own distribution systems to keep the strike from completely strangling business life.

FEW TRAINS RUNNING

A very few trains were getting through.

Buses were being put into service on main travelled routes. Normally there are few bus services in France.

Soldiers were out with 300 heavy trucks today to carry residents of Paris and the suburbs to their jobs in the city.

The improvised service caused traffic jams at all main intersections in the centre of Paris.

Unacquainted with the city's streets, soldier-drivers tied up traffic at the entrances to narrow streets and often jammed their trucks across the middle of the roads.

STRIKE PARALYZES

Korean Political Negotiation Long, Difficult—Pearson

OTTAWA (CP)—Political negotiations for settlement of the Korean war will be "long, difficult and complicated," External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

The biggest hurdle has not been overcome in the signing of a truce, he said at a press conference as he prepared to leave later today for the UN General Assembly meeting which may result in a political conference on Korea.

Mr. Pearson, president of the assembly, said he expects the conference will have a "tough" job working out peace arrangements on the basis of a unified Korea.

Mr. Pearson said he could not forecast the make-up of the political conference, but he expected it would include North Korea and China on one side and South Korea and the United States on the other.

It was a good guess, too, that the United Kingdom, France and Russia would be represented.

Canada also believes India should be on the committee because it may have far-reaching effects on peace in the Far East generally, the UN president said.

He did not know whether Canada would be represented but said he did not think he would sit in as UN president.

Mr. Pearson expressed the view that the UN assembly—which meets Monday at New York—probably will give the political conference a broad agenda and let its members work out the details for themselves.

Discussing Canada's stand on the recognition of the Red China government, Mr. Pearson said the position is still that it would be final attitude now.

Will Apply Ban With Care

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States government has made it clear in a note to Canada that import restrictions will be imposed on Canadian products only if their movement across the border threatens American production.

The note said the U. S. government appreciates the need for an expanded volume of trade with other countries, including Canada, and recognizes "that the free world canot be strong without a high level of international trade.

The note, received at the Canadian embassy in Washington Wednesday and released here today, was in reply to a Canadian protest against possible U. S. restrictions on imports of oats and ground fish fillets.

The Canadian note, sent to Washington July 20, said proposals to restrict trade in oats and ground fish fillets were of "major concern" to Canada. It said "a decision by the United States government to limit the imports of either of these commodities would have serious implications, not only for trade but for other aspects of relationships between our two countries.

Load Shifts One Man Drowns

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP)—One man was drowned and four others escaped Wednesday night when a load of cement and lumber shifted on a river scow and plunged into Lake Matinenda, 13 miles north of here.

Ezra Sedore, 66, of Sundridge, an employee of Ontario department of public works was unable to escape from the path of the sliding load and was carried into the deep water. The body was recovered today.

Five men were riding on the scow when the load started to shift. Four leaped into the boat pulling the scow.

The men have been working on the Matinenden dam for the last six weeks.

Last Prisoner Sent

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Allies today sent back the last Chinese Communist prisoner who wants to go home despite a United States threat to withhold some Red captives.

Defeat Move To Allow Reds To Join TLC

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress closed its ranks today to defeat a move which would have thrown open the 580,000-member labor body to unionists with Communist leanings.

In a heated debate, delegate after delegate rose to oppose a resolution by Hamilton Local 105 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers which would have the TLC executive accept convention credentials of any elected delegate regardless of his political opinions.

Only outright supporter of the resolution was George North of the British Columbia United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union who urged the executive to throw out a segment of its constitution which banned Communists from TLC activities.

"We don't want McCarthyism in Canada," he said. "Throw out that section."

PRAISE COMMITTEE

But A. T. Alsbury of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council hit back at North, and commended the TLC constitution committee which had recommended non-concurrence in the resolution.

The Communists, he said, always come out in support of fellow-travellers such as Ethel and Julius Rosenberg, but when someone in eastern countries falls from office and is exterminated, "that says Tim Buck is an example of fearless efficiency."

"If you let Communists get hold of your unions," Alsburg continued, "you'll be the first victims of fearless efficiency."

Amid heavy applause, he appealed to the congress to launch an education campaign against the Reds.

"If you'll give us the educational tools, we will finish the job of ridding British Columbia of Communists."

J. Cain of the Toronto plumbers said he is not a Communist but if there is to be any education campaign it should be launched against the American Federation of Labor.

He charged that an AFL official, Russell Harvey, had stated at a previous convention that those who disagreed with one particular TLC resolutions committee recommendation were Communists. He did not say what the resolution concerned.

Training Plane Crashes Pilot Killed Instantly

BLYTH, Ont. (CP)—A single-engine Harvard trainer crashed shortly after 12 noon today in a pasture field on the farm of Edward McMillan, one and a quarter miles east of here. The pilot was killed instantly.

Witnesses reported seeing the plane circle a couple of times before it crashed and broke into flames.

It ripped out a fence, bounced, and finally came to rest 400 yards away. The two men who reached the wreckage first, Glen Gibson and Scott Fairservice, both of Blyth, found the pilot, still in his harness, several feet away from the main part of the plane. Wreckage was scattered over a 400 yard area.

Blyth is about 25 miles north of Stratford.

Gray Coach Bus Ditched

MIDLAND (CP)—A Gray Coach bus Wednesday night crashed into a ditch one mile south of here, plowing through several highway guard rails and a telephone pole. No one was injured. Officials of the bus company in Toronto said the bus was crowded into the ditch by a passing auto.

U.K. Destroyer Finds Town Complete Wreck

LONDON (AP)—Tremors still are shaking Argostoli, the captain of the British destroyer Daring reported today.

Going ashore in the devastated Ionian Island port, the captain radioed the admiralty he found "the whole town completely wrecked."

Occasional tremors still being felt," said the message. "People are amazingly calm and for the most part stand quietly waiting for us to do whatever we can."

The British destroyer reached Argostoli this morning after a rush trip from Malta.

50,000 WITHOUT FOOD

The ship's captain said on going ashore he was told there were nearly 50,000 people without food or water.

"On landing," he radioed, "we found the whole town completely destroyed. Two hundred and fifty casualties have been evacuated, 70 known casualties still remain.

"At present we are landing doctors, medical supplies, food and water."

The Daring signalled on approaching the island port "we could feel the ship shaking as if distant depth charges were being dropped."

75 PER CENT BURNED

Another British vessel, the cruiser Gambia, which went to Zante, radioed:

"Town destroyed, 75 per cent burned, 50 per cent of inhabitants have evacuated to the hills, remainder in outskirts. Sick and wounded have been evacuated by LCT (landing craft tank)."

The Daring delivered clothing, medical supplies, tents and field kitchens from Malta to Argostoli.

The Gambia later radioed fires were raging in Zante. Residents had moved away from the centre of the town and were reported in urgent need of food and water.

5 Children Die In Old Ice Box

PROCTOR, Ark. (AP)—An old ice box that used to cool soft drinks in a country store caught four brother and their sister in a death trap at a farm home near here Wednesday night.

The youngsters, ranging in age from two to nine, were found crumpled in the coffin-like box by a deputy sheriff called by the frantic mother. Death was blamed on suffocation.

The oldest, Edward Hallman, 9, bore the only visible injuries. He apparently butted his head against the latched lid in a desperate effort to force it open.

The others were four-year-old twins, Odie and Tommy, Wesley, 7, and Barbara Ann, 2.

Canadian PoW Says Red Treatment Fair

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—Gnr Orval J. Jenkins of Hamilton and Toronto said today he played hide-and-seek with the Chinese Communists for about six days before his capture two years ago.

The 25-year-old artillery man told his story at an interview—the first since he was exchanged last Sunday under the Korean armistice terms. A board of enquiry into his capture completed hearings Wednesday. Jenkins is undergoing further interrogation by intelligence officers seeking information on enemy methods.

Speaking in measured tones, Jenkins said: "I definitely was captured under unusual circumstances and I think it reasonable for the army to want to verify particulars. The board was very considerate."

Jenkins leaves for Tokyo today and Thursday will fly from Tokyo to Vancouver.

The member of the 2nd field regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, said he was with an artillery observation party accompanying an infantry patrol when he decided on his own initiative to get some water.

CUT OFF BY CHINESE

"When I got near the stream I saw six Chinese concealed there cutting me off. I eluded them by crawling in a southerly direction.

"I couldn't regain my own lines without being observed. I tried for six days. Three times Chinese patrols crossed my path just as I thought I was making it.

"All that time I lived by drinking water exclusively.

"The final day I was crawling again toward our lines when a Chinese got up five feet ahead training a rifle directly at me—I surrendered. There is no doubt it was all I could do."

FEET BAD

He said by that time he was weak and his feet were bad. Nonetheless, the Communists marched him 30 miles the first day to a headquarters where he was de-

Egypt Breaks Off Talks On Suez

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt today decided to break off talks with Britain on the Suez base and not to resume them, sources close to the government disclosed.

Informants said the Egyptian government would issue a communique tonight announcing rupture of the informal talks with Britain.

These talks seeking a basis of agreement for resumption of formal negotiations which broke down last May, were started July 30. There were three informal meetings.

The informants said Egypt's decision not to continue informal contacts with the British negotiators came after Lt.-Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, chief Egyptian negotiator, submitted a report to President Mohammed Naguib on the latest discussions.

Red Army Officers Wield Little Influence

BERLIN (AP) — Senior Red army men have been given plush jobs in Moscow but actually wield little influence on the Kremlin's political course, a refugee, Russian officer said today.

Major Leonid Rhonzhin, a mechanized battalion commander in East Germany, fled to the West last April. He said at a press conference that Premier Georgi Malenkov and the other "politicians" hold power and that the troops in the field know it.

2 Killed, Score Injured

$35,000,000 Fire Sweeps Through GM

DETROIT (AP)—A broken building was all that was left today of a $35,000,000 fire that roared through the General Motors Corp. transmission and instrument plant in suburban Livonia late Wednesday.

Two men were killed, more than a score were injured.

The ruins still smoldered today. The west wall of the building was buckled and cracked. Inside it seemed like a black metal jungle of collapsed beams.

One GM official, who estimated the damage cost, said that production in the Cadillac, Oldsmobile and Pontiac plants would be hit. An estimated 45,000 workers may be out of their jobs temporarily.

The fire had raged for three hours before it was brought under control.

Most of the injuries were slight.

Firefighters said that a spark from a welding torch set off oil which spread to the rest of the building.

The fire started just before 4 p.m. A pair of plant safety men cleared 3,500 workers out of the building.

A west wind fanned the blaze.

GM officials recruited emergency help from workers who arrived for the 4:30 p. m. shift to find their plant in flames.

Through the night a dozen or more small fires burned inside the building.

RUSH EQUIPMENT

Fire fighting apparatus was rushed from Detroit. The plant is on Plymouth road 20 miles northwest of downtown Detroit.

State police said there was ample equipment at the scene to battle the flames but firemen were hampered by a limited water supply in the industrial suburb.

An explosion, believed to have originated in the heat-treating section of the two-block by four-block plant, rocked the area for miles around.

Flames and smoke could be seen 15 miles away.

Just how many of the 45,000 GM workers would be affected at one time, and for how long, could not be determined immediately.

"The effect upon production is yet unknown," said GM president Harlow H. Curtice.

"Obviously, some time will be required to re-establish a producing unit. But how long cannot be determined until we have an opportunity to examine carefully the facility at Livonia."

Truck Strike May Last Three Months

Union Men Tighten Hamilton Blockade, Seek Outside Help

HAMILTON (CP)— Striking southwestern Ontario truck drivers hope to enlist the aid of other union men in their effort to force transport firms to pay higher wages.

James Groat, head of the Hamilton local of the AFL Teamsters Union, plans to meet Friday with representatives of various labor groups in this industrial city. He will ask their help in picketing and in choking off truck shipments at the source.

Already some shippers at Hamilton plants have refused to load out-of-town truck shipments.

Meanwhile, a meeting in Toronto of trucking firm representatives affected by the strike of 1,500 drivers pledged itself Wednesday to continue united action against "unreasonable union demands and unlawful violence" for as long as is necessary.

MAY LAST 3 MONTHS

Spokesmen for some companies mentioned the possibility the strike, which started 3½-weeks ago, may last three months.

The gathering of representatives of 46 firms accused union leaders of preventing men from returning to work. It blamed union officials for inciting violence which has resulted in injury to non-striking drivers and destruction of equipment. It criticized the union for refusing to honor contracts not due to expire until later this year.

Railway express men and freight handlers say they are working at top speed to meet the demands of shippers switching from truck to rail shipments. One express agent said during a pause in the rush:

"We're handling everything from soup to nuts right now."

TIGHTEN BLOCKADE

Union officials tightened their blockade of Hamilton Wednesday night to try to seal off movement of trucks in and out of the city. They strengthened picket lines at all entrances to the city, but there were no new skirmishes.

Elsewhere on the strike front, which stretches from Hamilton to Windsor, drivers at the Jones Transport Company in Brantford walked out Wednesday on what company officials called a wildcat strike. The firm's contract with the union does not expire until Sept. 17.

Four other firms, two in Hamilton and two in Brantford, which had been on the strikers' "fair" list, announced that on freight would leave their warehouses after last midnight until the strike ends. Their officials decided not to run the risk of clashes with pickets.

Emmerson Edwards of Clinton, a non-striking driver, told police his truck was forced off the road near Windsor when a car carrying four men pulled over in front of him. He was unhurt.

Seven men arrested Tuesday night at Kitchener were remanded a week on charges arising from a picket line scuffle with police.

Strike pay has been increased to $20 a week from $15.

Yesterday:
Highest.....67 Lowest...62

One Year Ago:
Highest.....74 Lowest...49

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

The first major Atlantic hurricane of the season is moving slowly northward about 250 miles off the Carolina coast. Its presence is blocking the normal eastward motion of pressure systems across the United States. However in Canada, the eastward march of weather continues, and the band of cloudiness which crossed the province on Wednesday is entering Quebec this morning, leaving Ontario in a westerly flow of warm dry air. A weak disturbance located in southern Manitoba this morning will cross Northern Ontario on Friday accompanied by a few isolated, night-time thunderstorms. Otherwise the Great Lakes area will see continuing sunny weather with temperature and humidity both increasing a little on Friday.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Friday:

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Niagara, Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions; Windsor, London, Toronto, Hamilton cities. Sunny and warm today and Friday; winds light; low tonight and high Friday at Windsor and St. Thomas 70 and 90, London, Wingham, Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines 65 and 85, Trenton 60 and 80, Muskoka and Killaloe 60 and 85. Summary for Friday: Sunny and warm.

Mystery Woman Gives Evidence

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Provincial Police said Wednesday a woman who tipped them to recovery of a revolver believed to have been used in the slaying of three American bear hunters in the Gaspe wilds, has been taken to Quebec for further questioning and will appear next week at an inquest in the trio's death.

Police, declining to identify the woman, said she had led them to what they described as important evidence in the case. As a result of the evidence, Wilbert Coffin, 37-year-old Gaspe prospector, is being held as a material witness in the case.

Police said the woman is not related to Coffin.

They said she had led them to the home of a man in Montreal North where the revolver was recovered and also told police where they could locate a hunting knife that allegedly belonged to the hunters—Eugene Lindsey, 45, his 17-year-old son Richard of Hollidaysburg, Pa., and Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa.

Last Three Squadrons Moving To Germany

OTTAWA (CP)—The last three squadrons of Canada's 12-squadron Sabre jet air division for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will begin moving from Canada to their base at Baden-Soellingen, Germany, Aug. 27, weather permitting, the air force announced Wednesday.

Arrival of the three squadrons, which make up the fourth wing of the fighter air division, will complete Canada's air commitment to NATO forces in Europe well ahead of schedule. Two wings, each consisting of three squadrons of Sabre jets, already are stationed on the continent and another is slated to move from England to Europe next year.

The squadrons composing the fourth wing are 414 from Bagotville Que.; 422 from Uplands, near Ottawa, and 444 from St. Hubert, Que. They will fly the Atlantic to their German base in a mass flight called "Operation Leap Frog Four."

Firmer Prices Mark Stock Market Trading

TORONTO (CP)Firmer prices and continuing light volume marked early afternoon stock market trading today.

Western oils' stepped forward from the opening bell. Strength in leading shares, such as Pacific Petroleum, Anglo-Canadian, Calgary and Edmonton and Calvan pulled the group into the black for the first time this week. Gains ran to 15 cents. Jasper and New Concord dropped about 10 cents.

In industrials, traders favored such stocks as Burns B, up 2½ points to a new high of 37—Loblaw B, Industrial Acceptance and Brown Company. Widest dips were the $1 dropped by United Fuel B and the $1.62 given up by Weston preferred.

Aside from a few gaining specialities like Brilund and Homer Yellowknife, uraniums and New Brunswick base metals followed an easier trend. Gunnar slipped 30 cents.

The trend turned higher in golds for Bralorne, Giant Yellowknife and Hollinger. In juniors Preston East Dome stood out with a 15-cent jump following promising mine reports. Holding companies were dormant.

In base metals, gains for United Asbestos and Hudson Bay were balanced by weakness in Noranda and Cassiar.

Witness In Case In Germany, Charge Dropped

A charge of having no brakes against Clayton Quibell, of Fenelon Falls, was dismissed in magistrate's court today because evidence on the charge could not be heard.

The witness who was slated to give the evidence failed to show up; as a matter of fact, it turned out he's in Germany.

The charge against Quibell was laid after he was involved in an accident with Alvin Sackrider, 33, of 421 Bellevue St.

The accident, July 17, at the intersection of Donegal and Wolsley Sts., resulted in $500 damage to Quibell's car while Sackrider's vehicle was demolished.

PC Harold Andrew claimed that, upon investigation, he found Quibell's brake pedal went right to the floor without pressure and the emergency brake was also of "no value." The mechanic who later checked the brakes, Jack McWilliams, had since left with the RCAF for Germany.

Quibell's defence maintained that PC Andrew was not an "expert" on brakes and pointed out the Highway Traffic Act requires the use of specialized equipment for brake testing.

Magistrate E. A. Gee dismissed the charge, commenting he would let parties involved "fight it out in civil courts."

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices continued to move narrowly in light trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Commercial demand again was limited, with only routine domestic buying in oats and barley. Some small overseas business was indicated in barley. Rye, for the first time in several days, attracted American buying.

11 a. m. prices:

Oats: Oct lower 73¾-B; Dec ⅛ lower 70B; May ¼ lower 70B.

Barley: Oct ¼ lower 1.15⅛B; Dec unch 1.08¾; May unch 1.07⅝.

Flax: Oct unch 2.92B; Dec unch 2m80B; May higher 2.83¼B.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Grains opened mostly a little lower in fairly active dealings on the board of trade today.

Wheat encountered more hedging pressure and there also was additional selling prior to tomorrow's referendum on wheat marketing quotas.

Cash corn receipts remained rather light, totalling 60 cars, but the market was not able to show any strength.

Wheat started one cent lower to ⅛ higher, Sept. $1.82¼-1.81¾; corn was ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, Sept. $1.45⅞, and oats were ⅛-⅜ lower, Sept. 76¼-⅜. Soybeans were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, Sept. $2.50-2.49¾.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were steady on the few early sales at the Ontario stockyards today. Receipts: cattle 70; calves 30; hogs 160; sheep and lambs 120; holdover from Wednesday 1,000 cattle mostly stockers and killers.

Choice weighty steers 21-21.75; common to medium light steers and heifers 11-15; good cows 12.50-13.50; plain light bulls 6-10.

Calves were steady at 21-23 for choice vealers.

Hogs were 35 for grade A; 22 for dressed sows.

Lambs were steady at 26 for good ewes and wethers delivered by rail; 25 by trucks; bucks were at their usual $1 discount; good light sheep 9-10; a few northern sheep 12.

Canadian Tourist Stranded In Paris

PARIS (Reuters) — A pretty blonde Canadian, Miss Charmaine King of Toronto, was among the tourists left stranded in Paris by the strikes. She said she arrived in Paris the day the strikes began, planning to get in touch with friends living outside the city.

"Then I found there were no phones, no telegrams, no mail, no trains and I could not get in touch with them."

Miss King said she went to the Canadian embassy when her money ran out and was directed to the British embassy for transport to the channel coast. The embassy is organizing bus transport.

FBI Aids Inquiry Into Gasoline Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The justice department said today the federal bureau of investigation is being used "in some aspects" of an investigation the anti-trust division is making into retail gasoline prices in the United States.

The department is seeking to find out if there was any collusion among gasoline companies in connection with a recent general advance in prices east of the Rocky mountains.

Woman Wants Cussing Parrot

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Mrs. W. E. Lott said today she can put a cussing parrot to good use so she has put in a request for a profane parrot which has been causing blushes at Menlo Park, Calif.

The bird has been winging around Meno Park hurling choice, but unprintable, epithets at everyone.

This won't bother Mrs. Lott, if she gets the bird. She said there are a lot of things at her farm home near Shreveport that need a good cussing.

"For instance, the parrot could help me cuss my dogs," she said. She has a dozen Mexican chihuahuas.

"All my life Ive wanted a parrot that could cuss," said Mrs. Lott. "When I read where they were going to shoot the one out in California I wired the sheriff that I wanted it."

Mrs. Lott said she hadn't heard from the sheriff.

She pointed out that her nearest neighbor is a quarter of a mile away—out of earshot.

Tiny Pamphlets Warn Guards To Ease Up

BERLIN (AP)—Tiny pamphlets are showing up in East German camps and jails, urging the German guards to ease up on the inmates one day, the leaflets say the Russians and Communists will go away.

The pamphlets are reaching the guards through underground channels developed by the West Berlin Free Jurists' League, which compiles a record of injustice in East Germany for use in "post-unification" prosecutions.

tained six days under almost constant interrogation. He said that although the Communists threatened him with a revolver he had been able to withhold information.

Then, in a series of 35-mile marches, of nine or 10 hours each, he and other prisoners were paraded north to Camp No. 5 near the Yalu river, Jenkins reported.

From other prisoners' descriptions, Camp No. 5 was the Reds' "model" camp. It was not enclosed by barbed wire and prisoners were allowed to swim in the Yalu river in the summer time and skate on it in the winter.

Jenkins said: "The treatment was fair—not good, just fair."

He said he received five letters from his family and wrote them eight.

He said he is enthused over the treatment he has received since his release Sunday.

OBITUARIES

CHARLES HARVEY

KEENE (ENS) — Charles Harvey died recently at the home of his niece, Mrs. Percy Morden, at Cornith, Alta. He was a longtime resident of Peterborough.

Born at Leskard, Ont., in 1869, son of James Harvey and Elizabeth Westlake, he farmed in Douro during his early life and moved to Peterborough 50 years ago.

A member of George St. United Church, he died following a lengthy illness.

His wife, the former Matilda Nelson, predeceased him last year. Two nieces, Mrs. Percy Morton, of Cornith, Alta., and Mrs. Rhoda Hutchings, of Oshawa, and a nephew, Arthur Harvey, of Tyrone, Ontario, survive.

The body will arrive in Keene Friday night. Burial services will be conducted at the Pines cemetery at 2 p.m. Saturday.

MISS KATHERINE ANN PERDUE

A Detroit nurse, Miss Katherine Ann Perdue, 1966 St. Lawrence Ave., Detroit, visiting her relatives in her native Downeyville, suffered a coronary thrombosis attack five weeks ago and died today in hospital in Peterborough at the age of 69.

Born in Downeyville, Miss Perdue was a daughter of the late Robert Perdue and Rebecca Herlihey. She was educated in Downeyville and Lindsay High School before taking her nursing training in St. Joseph's Hospital, Parry Sound.

Twenty-seven years ago she went to Detroit and has lived there ever since. This summer she returned to Downeyville visiting at the home of her brother, Peter Perdue, RR 1, Downeyville. While in Downeyville she was a member of St. Luke's Church.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Herb Hennessy (Polly), Mrs. Eugene Moloney (Gertrude) both of Ennismore township; and Mrs. Leslie Lucas (Ruby) Detroit; and five brothers, John and Peter of Downeyville; Victor and Dr. Garnet Perdue of Detroit; and Fergus of Rochester.

The funeral service will be held from the home of her brother, Peter, to St. Luke's Church for requiem mass at 10 a.m. Saturday. Burial will be in St. Luke's cemetery.

Noranda Union Taking Strike Vote

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — A strike vote will be taken today and Friday by members of Local 4278 of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) at Noranda mines.

The decision followed three meetings in Rouyn Wednesday after receipt of an arbitration board recommendations in the dispute between Noranda Mines Limited and the steel workers union. Strike ballots will be counted at 9 p. m. Friday.

Other motions passed unanimously by local members were:

Adoption of the report of Theodore Lesperance, union representative on the board of arbitration as basis for further negotiation with Noranda mines.

To empower the president of the local to contact the company and arrange meetings, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

To authorize national officers of the union to take whatever action is necessary in meeting with company officials to resolve the dispute.

Wages, hours and union security are the main issues in the dispute between union and mine. The union is demanding a 40-hour week with no loss in take-home pay, a 30 cents an hour across-the-board increase, eight statutory holidays, two weeks vacation with pay after three years, revocable checkoff of union dues and a measure of protection against sickness, accident and retirement.

Hastings To Instal More Street Lights

HASTINGS (ENS)—Council met for their regular meeting with Reeve J. R. Jones in the chair and a full council present.

A petition requesting street lights on Water St. was presented and the clerk was instructed to write the hydro commission and request these lights be installed. A donation of $10 was voted to Northumberland Music Festival.

Rescue ships reported they were rocked by violent submarine currents.

Last night huge fissures opened on 5,341-foot Mount Aeonos on Cephalonia.

Greek Premier Alexander Papagos ordered all ships sailing under the Greek flag not to take anyone except injured from the three islands. The inhabitants will have to remain where they are so as to provide more space for the increasing number of wounded.

U. S. Rear-admiral Ralph Earl will set up headquarters in Patras to co-ordinate all American aid and rescue efforts to the stricken islands.

ORDER FLEET TO HELP

The entire U. S. sixth fleet, most powerful naval force in the Mediterranean, has been made available to help victims, U. S. naval headquarters announced in London. There are more than 30 ships in the fleet.

Ships of all sizes shuttled unceasingly across the Ionian sea, bringing hundreds of injured to hospitals in Patras, the closest big city.

BEGINNING TO SINK

The interior ministry said officials of Kefallinia advised that Argostolion, the island's chief port, was "beginning to sink underwater."

Most or virtually all of the 120,000 islanders were reported homeless.

No letup was in sight. The brief reports from the area said the tremors still were continuing.

From Naples, the speedy 20,000-ton cruiser Salem—flagship of the United States 6th Fleet—sped to the islands with doctors, stocks of medical supplies and food and a helicopter aboard.

Another American helicopter was on its way from Tripoli and others were expected from Germany. Without them, rescue and aid could come only by ship or amphibian plane. The islands have no landing strips. And only the rotor-bladed aircraft could reach mountain-locked villages whose fate remained a mystery.

LEAVE FOR DISASTER SCENE

King Paul and Queen Frederika, cutting short an Aegean island vacation, planed to leave at once for the disaster scene aboard a Greek destroyer.

Defence Minister Panayotis Cancellopoulos and Welfare Minister Constantine Adamopoulos already were at Kefallinia supervising relief work.

Britain rushed the frigate Rangler and the destroyer Daring from the Mediterranean island of Malta and diverted the cruiser Gambia at sea to bring food, medicines, doctors, tents and demolition tools to the disaster area. Three other British warships in Valletta harbor were under sailing orders.

CAN'T RECKON CASUALTIES

Communications and aid facilities were so hard hit that not even the injured evacuated from the islands could be reckoned. The reports from Patras spoke only of "hundreds" there.

For many of the evacuees, the trip was their first look at the outside world. Many of the villagers had never before left the communities their ancestors founded centuries ago.

A newspaper man who flew over the devastated islands Wednesday reported that "a pall of smoke and death" hung over them.

MORE ABOUT—
Strike Paralyzes

Passengers, packed like sardines in the back, made the situation worse by scrambling in and out in the middle of the traffic.

Many airlines put on extra flights.

Most of the workers were ordered to walk out for only 24 or 28 hours. But a hard core of more than 1,000,000 already is committed to stay out until the premier backs down, tying up mines, railways, gas and electricity works, public health services and postal, telegraph and telephone systems.

As the wave of demoralizing strikes went into the ninth day, Laniel, a millionaire textile industrialist who learned to fight in the wartime French underground, stuck his chin out and said he would not yield.

In a fighting speech Wednesday night, the 64-year-old premier exclaimed:

"I say not to strike. I say no to pressure moves, direct or indirect, which have been imposed on the government."

HEAVY PRESSURE

All factions of French labor pressed him. The first walkouts last week were called by the Socialist Workers' Force, but the Communist-led General Federation of Labor and the Christian (Catholic) Trades Union quickly joined in.

Laniel said it was the duty of the government of a democratic state to oppose the strike.

The walkouts were sparked by disclosure that the government's program for rescuing the treasury from near-bankrupcy included lopping some employees off public payrolls and upping the retirement age for civil servants.

Workers also were angered that Laniel's plan did not put a heavier tax bite on the wealthy. The Communists chimed in with calls for a general wage boost.

HINT FROM PREMIER

The premier hinted the government would not make any reforms as long as the strikes continue. He said:

"Rail stations closed, mothers anxious over the fate of their children on vacation, telephone calls which cannot be made, gas and electricity which may fail—are these good arguments to convince the government it should realize reforms, which it is the first to hope for, but which it will not be able to undertake without first assuring conditions for their success?"

Laniel said the strikes crippled business by disgusting foreign tourists who no longer will want to spend their summers in France.

"Let us not give to the rest of the world the spectacle of people airing their dirty linen in public," he pleaded.

The premier said "defective services" will be replaced. The government has put policemen, soldiers and convicts to work delivering mail, driving buses and collecting rubbish. It also has issued requisition orders to railroad workers.

Defiance to the orders could result in loss of jobs or even imprisonment. Several thousand railway employees returned to their jobs Wednesday night, putting a few express trains back into service.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 5-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 98 27-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.78 7-16, unchanged.

Sees Huge Growth

EDMONTON (CP)—Mrs. George Welbourn, who recently celebrated her 93rd birthday, can remember when Edmonton had a population of 250 and all around "seemed to be, solid bush." She moved west with her husband in 1891 and reached here on the second train from Calgary.

Burned In Blast Condition Serious

SARNIA (CP)—Earl Capling, 45, seriously burned when his home was rocked by a gas explosion Sunday, today was reported still in "serious" condition in hospital.

Mr. Capling suffered first and second degree burns to the face, chest and arms when flames roared through the duplex apartment as he lit a cigaret after an afternoon sleep.

UK Farm Union Asks Canada Send Delegates

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Farmers Union of England has asked agricultural organizations in Canada to send representatives to a London conference to discuss marketing of meat, expected soon to come off the ration in Britain.

A Canadian Federation of Agriculture spokesman said Wednesday the CFA will attend but "we're wondering what the NFU has in mind." A London dispatch said representatives of farmers' organizations in Australia and New Zealand also have been invited. No date has been set.

Reason for the CFA puzzlement is the $6 to $11 gap between Canadian and Danish prices for bacon, a big Canadian export to Britain during the war.

BACON PRICE

Price of Canadian bacon ranges from $30 to $35 a hundredweight. The major part of the British supply comes from Denmark where the price is $24 a hundredweight. CFA officials don't think that a conference will bridge the gap.

Export of Canadian bacon to Britain reached a peak of 600,000,000 pounds during the Second World War. Export fell to 57,000,000 pounds by 1950 and there has been no bacon export contract since.

Plan Details For Funerals

VILLE JACQUES CARTIER, Que. (CP)—Funeral arrangements were announced today for seven civilians killed in Tuesday's crash of a CF-100 jet fighter into two homes in this south-shore village. The RCAF said funeral arrangements for the two crew members have not been completed.

Services for Pierre, 6, Colette, 5 and Normand Lavoie, two months, will be held at St. Jean Vianney church here at 2 p.m. Friday.

For Mrs. Emilien Fournier, 57 and her daughter Mrs. Marcel Bourassa, 30, and Michel, 6 and Ginette Fournier, 2, at St. Gertrude's church here, at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

The RCAF said tentative plans are for a service for FO. Allan Miles, radio observer of the ill-fated plane, at the St. Hubert station, and the body will be flown later to Newfoundland for burial. Services for FO. Alan David Wright, the pilot, are expected to be held at the same time. Mrs. Wright lives at St. Hubert.

Agreements Sought

KARACHI, Pakistan (CP)—The Pakistan government is negotiating bilateral air agreements with Turkey and Egypt allowing free passage of aviation traffic. The move was initiated by Pakistan Civil Aviation, whose services begin early next year.

EXECUTORS AND TRUSTEES FOR OVER HALF A CENTURY

Administering your estate and looking after your family's financial needs is too great a responsibility to entrust to an individual, however capable he may be. Preoccupied with his own business and social affairs he may apply himself to the affairs of your estate only in his spare time—an occasional week-end or evening.

The task of settling accounts, paying taxes and succession duties, managing investments, and collecting revenue cannot be done properly at odd times. These matters require close attention and prompt action. Neglect and delay could be costly for your heirs.

It is both wise and economical to employ an experienced full time corporate executor. Protect your family's future security by appointing The Royal Trust Company in your will.

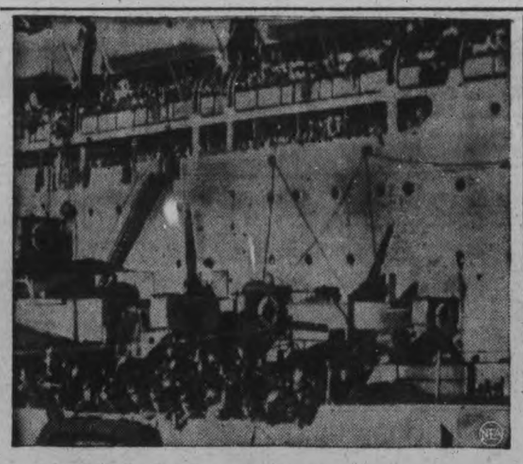
Grass, Bush Fire In Seymour Twp.

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — A grass and brush fire at the farm of Gordon Shearer near Trent River sent Campbellford firemen on a 10-mile jaunt to the scene about 5.30 p.m. Wednesday.

The fire burned out a section of fence but did no further property damage, although it did endanger a few nearby buildings. Firemen were not long bringing it under control.

As usual, scores of automobiles chased the fire pumper along the highway and along the township road where the brush was burning. Clouds of dust stirred up by the speeding cars were almost as dense as the clouds of smoke from the fire, making driving dangerous.

Support Mrs. Pandit



UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Indian sources said Wednesday the United States will support Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru, for president of the eighth United Nations general assembly. It opens here Sept. 15. Support for Mrs. Pandit was reported to have ballooned when the Commonwealth countries and members of the Asian-Arab group swung behind her.

Can't Bet On Horses

DETROIT (AP)—An estranged wife yesterday won a court order prohibiting her husband from betting on horses. Mrs. Carmel Santi, who has filed suit for divorce, accused her husband, Joe, a business man, of losing as much as $200 in daily visits to race tracks. The couple have three children.

Teachers Plan Course In Administration

Public school men teachers will be attending the special summer course in school administration and supervision at Queen's University, Kingston. The course will last from August 17 to 28.

William R. Houle, of Apsley, is one from this area registered.

According to T. D. Aldcorn, president of the OPSMTF, which represents the 4,500 public school men teachers, "This course, the first to be given by our federation, is unique in Canadian educational circles, and has been designed to develop the professional life of our teaching members. Sincere in the wish to raise standards and qualifications of public school teachers, we feel that this course constitutes a practical move in that direction."

Outstanding educators lecturing include Dr. C. F. Cannon, deputy minister of education; Col. S. A. Watson, assistant supervisor of elementary education; P. W. Diebel, president, Ontario Teachers' Federation, and others.

"Functions of a principal, desirable qualities of a good principal, the principal and his staff, the principal and his pupils, and what the school principal should know about school law, will be discussed and studied in a series of lectures," Mr. Aldcorn pointed out.

Course instructors, most of whom are principals, include: R. J. Bolton, Peterborough; G. R. Force, Hamilton; A. Jobb, Oshawa; F. Cooper, Etobicoke; A. Thompson, Bowmanville; Alex Turner, Etobicoke; in addition to P. W. Diebel, Hamilton, and H. C. Hunter.

Sailor Has Completed Round-The-World Trip

STIRLING (ENS) — LSPW 2 Bob Bateman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bateman, of Springbrook, arrived home on Tuesday from Korea. Bob has been stationed on the destroyer "Haida" and spent several months in Korean waters. He has completed a round-the-world trip, having travelled via the Panama Canal and returned home through the Mediterranean and Suez Canal. Gibraltar and other prominent places were visited en route.

Queen Sends Sympathy To People Of Greece

LONDON (AP)—The Queen today extended her "sincere sympathy" to the victims of Greece's disastrous earthquake.

W. M. Platt Dies; Soldiered In India, France

HAVELOCK —(ENS)—A man whose work and military service took him to India, Egypt, France and finally Canada, died Tuesday in Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

He was William Marlow Platt, Examiner correspondent in Havelock since he moved to that village in 1946.

An enthusiastic church worker, Mr. Platt was a member of the official board of Havelock United Church, and for years led the church's junior choir.

Mr. Platt, who was 63, was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, where he received his education. While still young, he joined the Seaforth Highlanders and went with them to India in 1907. After serving on the northwest frontier of India, he joined the Bombay police force in 1913.

Shortly after that he went to Cairo, Egypt, where he was chief clerk and cashier for the Egypt Salt and Soda Co. In 1914, he enlisted with the Royal Engineers and served with them in the First

A gas attack in France left him with a lung ailment that afflicted him for the rest of his life. He returned to Scotland after the war and in 1924 emigrated to Canada, moving to Toronto.

In 1946, he moved to Havelock, where he worked with the Canada Needle and Fishing Tackle Co. for several years. Mr. Platt was a charter member of Havelock-Belmont branch of the Canadian Legion.

He is survived by his widow, the former Catherine Anderson.

The Rev. Lawrence V. Bigelow of Havelock United Church will conduct the service at Mr. Platt's home at 2 p.m. Friday. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

10,000 See Carnival Parade Staged By Lindsay Kinsmen

LINDSAY (ENS)—What police described as the largest crowd ever to witness a parade in Lindsay, some 10,000 people, watched the annual procession that Wednesday night opened the Kinsmen Club's carnival here, visitors from the surrounding district, joined thousands of Lindsayites, lining Kent St. to Victoria Park to take in the popular affair. The parade was headed by local and provincial police, followed by the Peterborough CGE pipe band which drew enthusiastic applause all along the parade route, and played at the judges' stand as the remainer of the trucks, floats, cars, marchers and displays moved past.

Guest of honor on the judges' stand was newly re-elected MP for the riding, Clayton W. Hodgson. Other judges were Mayor Charles Lamb, Deputy Reeve Bert Hick, Rotary President Bill Parker and Kiwanis Vice-President Bill Whyte.

Children's displays were first in the line of march, including Scouts and Guides, and a group of costumed children. The Little Britain Civic Band followed them, and bikes and ponies were next in line, all lavishly decorated. Among the decorated trucks, one of the most popular was that of the IODE, Lady Hughes Chapter, who set up a kitchen on the truck platform and fed the crowd cookies as they moved along.

Old and new cars were also featured in the parade, with local dealers presenting their newest models, and some old timers, entered as amusement, providing the comic touches. In all 35 Lindsay businesses and merchants participated in parade, displaying a total of over 65 different vehicles, floats and displays.

Following the parade judges made their selections of the prize winners in the various divisions of the parade. Before the procession, the Maple Leaf quartette, Lindsay's favorite singing group, and Tony Deprink, accordionist, entertained the crowd of 2,000. The carnival, annually the largest presented by the Lindsay service clubs, is scheduled for three nights. Tonight a square dance will be featured with some of the veteran "callers" from Lindsay and district. Friday night's feature is a street dance.

What's To Become Of The Old Post Office?

Within a year—we hope—the new Federal Building on Charlotte Street will be in use and the present post office building abandoned as a post office. What is to become of it? Its disposal rests, of course, with the Department of Public Works, but the city—and the citizens—have a vested interest in the place simply by virtue of the fact that it has been in their service for so many years.

* * *

The site is valuable but, in its way, so is the solid building. It would be seemingly wasteful to tear it down. Architecturally the building has little to recommend it except its proud ugliness—a lack of grace not unique in federal construction of its period. It is in the high fortress style of Liverpudlian Victorian Gothic, with a flat Canadian accent. The Post Office was built in 1888; the small extension at the rear was added, in the same vein of brick and stone, in 1912. The building is worth preserving as a monument to the pretentious taste, and be it readily admitted, to the solid construction of Canadian Victorians. They built well and to last, though not beautifully. For all its architectural monstrosities of arches, decoration, turrets, niches and ledges, the place has a certain air of state dignity elevating it above the chromium and false fronts of other down-town buildings. Further, it is high. Tear it down and we shall have another two-storey building of the kind that in the last five years has been levelling the city centre to the status of hog-town when ham is high.

* * *

The City Council may fittingly ponder the future use of this building and if it has any, make recommendations to the Department of Public Works. Readers of this newspaper may have valuable suggestions to offer; we shall be glad to air them in our correspondence columns. The Department itself may be contemplating moving another Federal agency into the building.

* * *

In any event, the building should not be abandoned. If it were, who would wind the clock?

"No Arrests Were Made"

According to a news report in the Montreal Gazette an angry mob of a hundred fist-swinging, kicking men Monday (election) night stormed the home of Jean-Paul Boisjoly, defeated Conservative candidate in Montreal-St. Mary riding, wrecked his flat and then marched two blocks to reduce his campaign headquarters to a shambles. Estimated damage to his residence was $4,000—including smashed furniture, a ruined refrigerator, telephone ripped from the wall and smashed windows. Every window in the second-floor campaign headquarters of the defeated Conservative candidate was smashed, lights, tables and chairs were broken and even the fluorescent lights on the ceiling were dashed to smithereens. The first police on the scene were unable to stop the onrushing men. A few minutes later eight radio police cars and five patrol wagons appeared.

Why the mob, why the anger, why the vandalism? The news report says: "An eyewitness said some of the men were shouting: 'We want our money'."

The report also says: "No arrest was made." Why not?

Running Their Own Oil Business

Two years ago, on July 31st, 1951 British oil men closed the last valve at the wells of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and shut down the world's largest refinery. Two months later the staff of the company left Iran entirely. The Iranian Government had confiscated the property and nothing could sway Premier Mossadegh from his nationalistic, state-ownership course.

In the old days Abadan's river into the Persian Gulf was a busy thoroughfare. Tankers pulled alongside the jetties at the rate of six or seven a day, carrying away each year about 32,000,000 tons of gasoline and oil. The traffic has stopped. In twenty-three months since nationalization less than 100,000 tons of oil have been delivered to small Italian tankers and to a Japanese tanker which made two trips, all told.

Abadan is now an inactive town. Built by British engineers from a swamp into a city of a quarter of a million people during forty years of operation, it has not changed much superficially. The nationalized oil company sees that the lawns, hedges and palm trees are watered. There are still 30,000 labourers on the payroll, the same number as under the British management. But there is work for less than a third of them.

Once the refinery was a forest of belching stacks, their flares of flame belching to the sky. Now at night only the solitary glow of waste burning gas is seen. The refinery equipment is running at about five per cent. of capacity, enough to fill the country's own needs. The thousands of idle laborers on the payroll, from the refinery and the oilfields, are still getting pay, however.

The Abadan refineries and oil fields are said to be costing Iran about $1,500,000 a month. When the British company was running the oil industry there, Iran received about seven million dollars a month in royalties and other benefits. Premier Mossadegh is reaping the rewards of his intransigence, and getting a real reason for his tears.

New Count In U.S. Senate?

The death of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio has made it possible for the U.S. Democratic Party to take control of the Senate. When a U.S. Senator dies, the Governor of the State he represented appoints someone to the Senate seat for the remainder of the term. Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio is a Democrat, and he is expected to appoint a Democrat to succeed the late Republican leader. This would make the party count in the Senate forty-eight Democrats to forty-seven Republicans, with Senator Morse of Oregon, former Republican, still sitting as an Independent.

However, if this shift in the majority of one does occurr, it is not likely that the Democratic Party will assume official control of the Senate. Party strategists, it is reported, decided some time ago that they would continue to act in a minority role, no matter what happened, at least until the off-year elections of 1954 had been held. The major objective of Democratic leaders at the moment is to strengthen unity within the party, and they believe this will be easier to accomplish by continuing to act as a minority.

If the Democrats took official control of the Senate, they would become responsible for a legislative program and would be committed to opposing Administration legislation to a far greater extent than they are at present. Party leaders are now able to oppose or support Administration legislation at will, and their strategy is to oppose any legislation which would divide the Democratic vote, while supporting legislation they feel sure will be accorded unanimous party support.

Since it is probable that most of the important legislation of the Eisenhower Administration's program will be accorded unanimous Democratic support, and that some of this legislation will be opposed by a Republican minority, the Democrats may make political capital for the 1954 election by continuing to act as a minority. This would be in accord with, and would provide support for, their policy pronouncement that President Eisenhower is a great man and a great President, but is handicapped by his own party, while the Democrats have aided him for the good of the nation. It is an unusual policy, and it will be interesting to see whether or not it operates successfully for the Democrats.

Three Chiefs In A Year

The turn-over of Peterborough fire chiefs since Chief George Gimblett retired six years ago has been fast. Chief George Smith, his successor, resigned because of ill health, his resignation being effective at the end of last year. Chief Ralph Leonard, who succeeded him on January 1st, has now resigned, and a new Chief has been appointed—Captain William Sorrie of the department. Peterborough has thus had three chiefs within a year. Such a condition is not conducive to stability and efficiency. We hope that the new appointment will mark the beginning of a steadier period of operation in the Fire Department; the members of the Council immediately concerned have expressed their confidence in the new Chief.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The election was a personal triumph for Mr. St. Laurent, yes; but do not forget that he has a cabinet, every one of whose members was re-elected.

Kitchener police are doubtful that a body could have been buried on a local golf course without their hearing of it. We doubt that they have ever been golfers in the rough.

The Ottawa Journal says that "Many, we think, must be shocked by the overwhelming character of the Government's victory." Then it goes on to say: "How comes it that a Government long in office has been able to continue, all but to increase, its public confidence, to counter at this time of world political unrest the attack of an historic party under an able leader with what seemed like appealing policy?" A sentence which illustrate's the Journal's own shocked confusion.

STRIKE WAVE

France In The Red

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH

THE FORMIDABLE strike wave which has been paralysing France's postal system and railways, and has brought to a partial standstill national enterprises and public services as diverse as municipal offices, gas and electricity supplies, and the French mining industry, was the answer of two million French workers to their Prime Minister's appeal for national sacrifice in the face of the country's acute economic crises.

✧ ✧ ✧

EXERCISING THE decree powers which the National Assembly has granted to the present Government until October 1, the Prime Minister, M. Joseph Laniel, has been elaborating with his Cabinet the severe measures necessary to bring financial sanity back to France. Before his decrees were approved or promulgated, however, private enterprise and workers alike began strikes and demonstrations against them.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRENCH NATIONAL expenditure is expected to exceed national income by 700 milliard francs (nearly two thousand million dollars) this year and by 870 milliard francs (approximately $2,400 million) in 1954. At the same time France's deficit in international payments had reached 652 million dollars by 1952 and could be met only by substantial American aid and credits from the Etropean Payments Union. France has been unable to improve her balance of trade because French goods cost up to twenty per cent. more than those of her foreign competitors. At the same time, internal prices, maintaining a similar level, have necessarily forced up salaries of workers in a country where the cheapest grade butter costs 600 francs a kilogram (about 90 cents a pound).

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MAIN CAUSES of this critical situation have been an uneconomical industry, fifty per cent. of whose machinery is more than twenty years old, a top-heavy and wasteful distributive system whereby as many as ten middlemen, earning uncontrolled profits, are interposed, for example, between farmer and retail butcher, the prevalence of tax evasion, and finally a swollen bureaucracy in some departments of which the number of civil servants retired on pension exceeds those still working.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE CABINET now plans drastic cuts in public expenditure with the primary object of saving 220 milliard francs (approximately $600 million). The retiring age for civil servants may be raised from 63 to 64 for those doing desk jobs and from 58 to 60 for "active" workers. A high percentage of posts held by temporary civil servants are to be abolished. Beyond this, the distribution system for consumer goods will be radically revised, profits limited by decree, Ministerial budgets cut and reconstruction credits reduced. The Government subsidies to uneconomical enterprise must cease, the Cabinet claims, and investments so controlled that only efficient industrial plants are encouraged. This two-fold plan to reduce spending and to streamline production affects a wide range of French citizens—from auxiliary civil servants to directors of commercial enterprises.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE REACTION has been strong. Post office workers and other public servants struck in protest against the raising of the retiring age and the proposed cuts in personnel. Ignoring the Prime Minister's statement on the gravity of the situation, trade union confederations went further and demanded higher salaries. Although M. Laniel had promised that the burden would be evenly spread, they accused the Government of effecting economies at the expense of the workers only. Yet at the same time winegrowers in the south of France were barricading roads and immobilising road transport in protest against measures intended to affect private enterprise exclusively, for the Government had decided to end the post-war practice whereby the State guaranteed to buy up the wine that growers could not sell in the normal market.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FAILURE of the country to support the Government in its difficult task has shocked foreign observers here, and the strength of the social reaction—especially at this time of annual holidays—has raised fears that either the Government will fall or be forced ultimately to abandon its projects. Critics of the Government point out, however, that while there have been vague statements of the moves to be made against profiteers and tax evaders the first concrete news of the Government's plan has been of measures which adversely affect the poorly paid civil servant, the state pensioner, and the already hard-hit wine-growing industry. They point out that the popular resentment which disorganised the country's daily life was spontaneous and not instigated for political motives. The postal workers' strike was started by the socialist trade union confederation, F.O. (Force Ouvriere) and not by the Communist-dominated C.G.T., with which the F.O. has refused to associate itself in these strikes.

Unconsidered Trifles

A woman got on a bus and took the only empty seat, next to a harmless-looking reveller. Soon she opened a map of New Zealand and began to study it.

The reveller gazed at the map for a while and finally addressed the woman: "Sure you're on the right bus?"

✧ ✧ ✧

The door-to-door salesman stared doubtfully at the formidable-looking animal lying on the step.

"What breed is your dog?" he asked the little old lady.

"I don't quite know," she said. "My brother sent it to me from Africa."

"Well," said the salesman, hesitatingly, "it's the queerest dog I've ever seen."

The old lady nodded in agreement and said: "You should have seen it before I cut its mane off."

✧ ✧ ✧

A man telephoned a hardware store to order a scythe. "Size?" asked the assistant who took the call.

"Not size," the man replied. "Scythe."

"Yes, yes, I can hear you," said the salesman. "How much size?"

"No, no, no," the customer replied. "Not size, but scythe—SCYTHE. A grass cutter."

"Oh," said the assistant, "I've got you now. I'll send it round in the morning."

The next day a van delivered at the customer's house a glass cutter.

Red Men Won Sometimes

(BRANTFORD EXPOSITOR)

IN most Hollywood "Westerns" in which there is any representation of a clash between the white folk and the Indians, the latter are generally libelled as a bad lot who get their just dust-biting deserts at the hands of a column of U.S. cavalry. There have been exceptions to this crude rule, but, in the main, the complaint stands.

One brought up on this diet of distorted history would think the Indian warriors were a bunch of novices in the warrior game—which they weren't.

It is true that the days of bloody conflict between the Red Men and those whom they saw as invaders of their territories and stealers of their lands have passed, and that is a good thing. But the fact remains that the Indians, when they found occasion so demanding, usually gave a sturdy account of themselves, as the white people found to their loss and sorrow.

This week, as reported, Chief Howard Skye, of the local Six Nations reservation, is in Toronto to recommend to the Motion Picture Industry Council of Canada that it have scenario writers and producers pay a little more attention to history.

We hope he succeeds in convincing the right people.

As every school child knows (or should) the formula of having the Indians put to rout by the cavalry or the cowboys becomes poppycock when universally applied.

Gen. Custers stand, for instance, was his tragic last. The chief Geronimo had some notable victories to his credit. Sitting Bull could do far more than sit. Tecumseh won many battles.

Incidentally, the movie-makers might consult the chronicle to the extent of finding that a sachem by the name of Thayendanegea (Captain Joseph Brant, as most of us call him) was a competent soldier. He fought first in the Battle of Lake George in 1755, as a boy of 13. He served under Sir William Johnson in 1759 in the successful expedition against the French at Niagara. Then he took part in several campaigns in the Pontiac War (1763-64) and ultimately became principal war chief of the Six Nations Confederacy. In the American Revolution, Brant and his Indians, loyal to the Crown, were invaluable allies. It may be remarked, in passing, that the picture of Brant as a bloodthirsty savage leading the massacre at Wyoming is false. Brant was humane for his times and there is no evidence that he was at Wyoming at all. Despite that, the poet Campbell (who certainly wasn't there either!) vilified the great man in an effusion titled "Gertrude of Wyoming." In the Battle of Cherry Valley in 1778, the victor, Brant, proved kind to his vanquished foe.

Letters To The Editor

SUGESTIONS FOR TRAFFIC

Sir: Not long ago your editorial column carried a very good article on ways to improve traffic flow through out city. Who's responsibility is it to institute these changes? I do not know. If the city hasn't anybody then somebody should be hired or appointed with sufficient knowledge or interest and the authority to put into affect some badly needed changes.

All our traffic signals should have a conspicuous back plate painted bright yellow so to attract strangers or tourists' attention more readily. All signals should be visible at least two blocks away and not be obstructed like in front of the De Laval on Park St. If they can't be seen that far back a warning sign should be placed two blocks away. A study of the signal cycles should be made and traffic getting a green light and moving at a reasonable pace (say 20 m.p.h.) would hit all green lights. Signs on the lights could indicate "these lights set for 20 m.p.h." like the system Detroit uses.

The roadway approaching all our signals should be four lanes wide. A heavy white line about six inches wide indicating the centre line and stopping at the pedestrian strip. A 4 inch line separating the through traffic and right hand lane with a conspicuous arrow painted on the roadway partway around the corner. At some signals additional paving should be done to provide sufficient width for the "inside" lane like at all the lights on Lansdowne St.

A traffic expert was here from Toronto some time ago and among the numerous changes recommended and adopted was stopping cars parking with 20 feet of all corners downtown, yet many people in the city are allowed to plant hedges right out to the very corner of their lot so motor traffic can't see one car-length that direction. All these should be cut back at least 10 feet.

All stop signs should be replaced with a different type sign indicating that cross traffic has the right-of-way. "Stop" signs don't stop cars anyway and any nut crazy enough to drive into a busy street without waiting for clear passage should bear all liability for damage. There may be some legal angle I do not know about, of course, preventing this.

Hoping this and the article wrote in your editorial attracts the attention of our council, traffic committee, or what have you and some action is taken soon. I thank you for your attention.

Yours truly,
J. MEEHAN

CONSERVATIVE EXAMINER

Sir: What a laugh.

Holding Mr. Ketcheson's letter till after election. I wonder if its publication would have been held back if a Conservative had written same? Or is the Examiner Liberal? What right have you to hold anyone's letter back? What has Mr. Frazer done about the Community Centre?

No, I guess the Examiner is Conservative—what an Editorial—"Mr. Frazer's Return" (Aug. 11).

Fraternally yours,

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Then Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyre and Sidon. And, behold, a woman of Canaan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of David; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil. But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us. But he answered and said, I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me. But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to dogs. And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table. Then Jesus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour. (Matt. 15: 21-28.)

Breakdown of Law and Order

(Calgary Herald)

Normally, we tend to look upon strikes and strike threats with considerable suspicion, but we must confess that we think railwaymen employed in the Kootenays would have our sympathy if they refused any longer to face the perils created by the current wave of sabotage in that area.

There have been many acts of violence against railway property during the past few months. Tracks have been dynamited, and during the weekend a wooden trestle bridge was set on fire. Constant vigilance by railway authorities has so far prevented any of this from leading to a serious wreck, but it is by no means surprising that railway workers are becoming apprehensive. Operating trains through exceedingly difficult mountain country, with the constant threat of finding the track blown up ahead of you, is not our idea of fun.

Fundamentally, the problem which is loosely described as the Doukhobor problem, is a breakdown of law and order. It makes no difference in principle whether bridges and houses are burnt and railway tracks destroyed by Doukhobors, Hottentots, Arabs or Afghans. The only matter of consequence is that these crimes are being committed almost daily in Canada.

The Coffee Hour

(Ottawa Citizen)

An Ottawa Supreme Court judge has provided new ammunition for those who declaim against the "coffee hour" now so prevalent among employees in commerce and industry. He has ruled that an Ottawa department store employee injured during the refreshment period cannot claim damages under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

This mark against the coffee hour, coupled with the frequent charge that it is a time-waster, must be set against its undoubted advantages.

To begin with, employees who bolt down an abbreviated breakfast or leave no time for breakfast at all, get vital re-fuelling at coffee time. The interval also presents an opportunity for exchanging the latest gossip or airing the inevitable gripes. For the conscientious, it may provide a quiet moment for planning of the day ahead. For the resourceful, it opens up a way to meet people, express ideas and even garner new ones.

Weighed pro and con, the coffee hour seems destined to stay.

SMART LADY

A post office clerk asked an old lady who was posting a Bible to her brother in a distant city if there was anything breakable in her package. The woman snapped: "Only the Ten Commandments."

Woman Crosses Ocean Alone In Sailboat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. Ann Davison, blue-eyed British widow, docked here Wednesday to complete a 15-month voyage alone from England aboard her 23-foot sailboat Felicity Ann.

The 38-year-old woman, tanned by months at sea, had no entry papers but immigration authorities admitted her as a passenger and told her that she could stay in the United States until Oct. 31.

Mrs. Davison said she must be back in England by that time to write a book and carry out other commitments.

Clad in shorts and a sports shirt, the barefoot woman parried reporters' questions as to when or how she is going home and if she would try the voyage again.

Mrs. Davison said she left Gloucestershire, England, May 18, 1952, and stopped in Brittany, Spain, Gibraltar, Casablanca, the Canary Islands, Dominica, Antigua, Nevis, St. Thomas and Nassau.

Two Have Deer Fined $50

BANCROFT (ENS)—Convicted of being in possession of deer out of season, Fred Rallison, of Detlor, and Robert Peck of Demorestville, were each fined $50 and costs.

William Murphy, of Steenberg, was fined $50 and costs for failing to remain at the scene of an accident. Kinley Scott of Oshawa was fined $20 and costs for careless driving.

Convicted of traffic offences, Uriel Moxam of Bancroft and Harold Dillon of Maynooth were fined $10 and $5 and costs respectively.

Earl Allison of New Carlow paid a fine of $15 and costs for having liquor at a place other than his residence and Elwood Nofke of Maple Leaf was fined $10 for being drunk.

Committed For Trial

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Henry Verschoore of Thamesville Wednesday was committed for trial by a higher court on a charge of criminal negligence following an accident in Harwich July 6 in which two men lost their lives. The victims were Glen Jordon, RR 3, Chatham, and Wilfred J. Rush, RR 4, Chatham.

JUMPED RAILS—A CNR train jumped the tracks near St. Bruno Tuesday night. The locomotive and fender broke loose from the rest of the train, rolled 100 feet and overturned. Splintered ties traced its path. An engineer in a passing locomtive, background, surveys the wreckage.

Oil Industry Watches Drop Of Geophysical Exploration

EDMONTON (CP) — Western Canada's rapidly-maturing oil industry took an important first turning in the first half of 1953 as geophysical exploration slackened off for the first time since the Leduc discovery of 1947.

During the first six months of the year the rate of exploration activity showed a marked decrease compared with the rate for the whole of 1952

The seven months discovery score for this year, although down about 20 per cent from the same period of 1952, stands at an indicated 77 new strikes, including 46 that gave up oil and 31 gas finds. Alberta accounted for 75 per cent of the new discoveries.

As areas of intensive drilling were completed, with good or bad results, the districts in which a completely new search for oil could be conducted aturally became fewer. Surveys show a wider distribution of crew-months worked during the first six months of 1953 compared with the whole of 1952.

For the first half of 1953, the movement of exploration crews into British Columbia received its impetus from the enormous gas development which took place in 1952 and extended into this year.

The total number of crew-months worked in the coast province so far this year totals 50, almost as many as the full year 1952. Crew-months so far in Saskatchewan are estimated at 157, while Alberta meets the 1952 rate of 844.

The swing into Saskatchewan became most pronounced in 1952, when total geophysical crew-months soared to 2,181, of which 414 were in the wheat province. Manitoba accounted for about 24 and B. C. 63. Alberta operations reached a total of 1,680 crew-months.

Another recent feature of the western oil industry has been the reduction of gravitymeter operations and the relatively larger position of seismograph work. And the expanding search for new territory has brought about many improvements in seismic equipment and methods.

The Alberta government made its roadside ditches available to seismic crews this year, and the sight of a drilling rig backed into a muddy ditch has become almost as common as the road grader.

USE LIGHT RIG

A light rig is used in most cases. As it sinks the shot hole, water is supplied from a tank truck. A charge of dynamite is set off in the hole.

Shock waves reflected from rock formations deep in the ground are picked up by geophones on the surface and recorded on sensitized paper in the recording truck.

However, the areas accessible to ground parties are becoming fewer in number. Wider use of the airborne magnetometer has cut down the length of time required to complete a magnetic survey of any area.

Exploration techniques have been most revolutionary in the far north. Development in the cold muskeg regions has been largely by unique track-mounted rigs, which have a wide distribution of weight, allowing the vehicle to "walk" over soft ground and obtain traction on snow and ice.

McConnell Clan Holds Reunion

NORWOOD (ENS)—The McConnell family, descendents of the late Mary Ann Irwin, and James McConnell, met at Cobourg for the 15th consecutive reunion with 101 present. A picnic dinner was enjoyed and hosts and hostesses for the day were, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beamish, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Warner.

It being the 15th picnic novelty gifts were given to each 15th person around the dinner table. Those receiving gifts were, Mrs. Mabel Stillman, Jack Warner, Ralph Bickell, Bob McClellan, Mrs. Reg. McConnell and Mrs. E. McConnell.

The prize to the boy or girl nearest age 15 was won by Anna Vansickle of Brighton; second prize went to Judy McConnell of Detroit; Larry McConnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McConnell of Campbellford won the prize for the youngest one present.

Arthur Beamish, the president, presided at a short business meeting. It was planned that flowers be sent from the group to Mrs. Samuel McConnell of Toronto as the oldest member of the clan and the last surviving member of that generation. It was decided to hold the reunion in Cobourg again next year.

Raymond Vanderburg took charge for the election of officers. Officers for 1954 are as follows: President, Ralph Bickell, vice-president, Milton McConnell, secretary, Ruby McConnell, assistant secretary, Flora Metcalfe. Committee members, Arthur Beamish, Ernest Warner, Edith Metcalfe, Fleda Stillman, Myrtle Buck, Russell Thompson.

Engineer Dead

TORONTO (CP)—Funeral services will be held at St. Thomas Saturday for John A. Perry, 69, who died here Tuesday. Born in St. Thomas, Mr. Perry came to Toronto in 1915 and was an engineer with Dominion Wheel and Foundries Limited for 30 years.

GEORGIA BEARS ARMS—Dorothy Millsap, 15-year-old resident of Adairsville, Ga., carries a rifle with her to the mailbox. The North Georgia town has taken to arms as tension mounted in the intensive search for two dangerous escaped convicts who jumped their guards, killing one and holding the other hostage.

Petes Down Orillia By 14-8 In Rugged Senior OLA Tilt To Lead Semi-Finals By 2-0

Peterborough Trailermen finished strong in Orillia last night to down the Yorks by a 14-8 count and take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven OLA and Eastern Canada semi-final series. The third game is here Friday night and the fourth back in Orillia next Monday. It was 1-1 in the first frame and Orillia had a 5-4 edge at the halfway mark, but the Petes fought an uphill battle to lead by 7-6 going into the fourth. They exploded then for a 7-2 scoring margin in the last chukker to tote home the win. In the furious fourth, they scored three straight goals with a man in the sin bin, and later got another with the same player (Rusty Slater) sitting out a penalty and leaving the squad a man short. In all, they tallied six goals in the game when short a player through penalties.

EIGHT, COUNT 'EM—Washington Senators' pitcher Bob Porterfield holds up eight fingers to count out the eight shutouts he has pitched this season. In Washington, where he was celebrating his 29th birthday, Porterfield threw a one-hitter against the Boston Red Sox to become the first Senator hurler to match Walter Johnson's 1924 record with Washington.

BRUISING BATTLE

It was a rugged, bruising battle, a typical Yorks-Petes' game — very unlike the tame tussle shown here last Monday night. The Yorkers laid on the gad hard from the start on the home floor and before a friendly crowd, and the scrappy Petes replied in kind. The Thorpe team drew 12 of the 20 penalties, which included majors to Scotty McPhail and Ike Hildebrand for a fist fight in the third period.

Though minus Dootch Vitarelli (who was working) and Don Ashbee, who missed the bus, the champs turned in their usual steady, smart showing and outlasted the homesters to earn the win. On the other hand, Yorks came up with a hard-hitting and classy display (unlike the first playoff game) to make it nip-and tuck till out in the fourth heat. Both goalies were brilliant as a lot of rubber was stopped with playing swinging up and down the floor at a hot clip throughout. The checking was stiff and some excellent and exciting lacrosse served up by the rival crews.

Several of the Petes nursed big bruises afterward and Russ Slater had a cut on the forehead. McPhail was helped off once after being boarded hard, and Goalie George Johnson needed help when hit hard on the mask by a sizzling shot from Ross Powless. Referees Joe Murphy and Jack Williams let a lot of rough stuff go and yet handed out quite a few rather cheap penalties.

RUSTY STARRED

Russ Slater led the winners in goals scored with four, including two picture plays. Once he was ragging the ball, when short-handed, but beat two men neatly for his rush on goal. Late in the game he held the ball for a minute and 10 seconds in ragging, despite a severe beating from Pud Hammond, and then wound up by rifling a hot one into the cage. Nip O'Hearn (who played a dandy defensive game) tallied two, as did Curly Mason and Ike Hildebrand, with singles going to Lou Nickle, Bob Thorpe, Ross Powless and Roger Smith. Leading in assists were Jerry Fitzgerald with four, as two apiece were counted by Slater, Powless, Mason and Nickle, one each going to O'Hearn and Hildebrand.

Tony D'Amico was the big star for the losers with five neat markers, most of them solo efforts as he tore in fast and was deadly in shooting. Leo Teatro had two and George Masters one. An assist apiece was notched by Les Digby, Jimmy McNulty—playing with an injured shoulder—Ken Croft and Merv McKenzie. Teams:

Petes: Goal, Wootton; defence, O'Hearn and Nickle; centre, Thorpe; wings, Hildebrand and Wipper; alternates, Fitzgerald, Mason, Slater, Powless, Smith, Ashbee, Batley and G. Robinson.

Orillia: Goal, Johnson; defence, McPhail and Webster; centre, D'Amico; wings, Croft and Teatro; alternates, McKenzie, Lee, Masters, Scott, Facto, Hammond, Jim McNulty and Kapasky.

Referees—J. Murphy and J. Williams.

Distillers Invade Sports To Build Up Publicity

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Bans on liquor and beer advertising in Ontario and some other provinces are driving distillers and brewers to mad lengths.

Not satisfied with subsidizing the drama, the arts, equestrian talent and golf, they are moving in on football to beat the bans by attaching their names to competitions and trophies.

The latest is a distillery (Schenley) which will pay Canada's outstanding football player $1,000. Teammates who throw him passes and bore holes in the line for him will get mementoes.

And, of course, there will be a big, shiny trophy—in this case a $2,000 gold cup—bearing the name of the distillery. It goes to the player's club.

The idea, if we may hazard a guess, is that newspapers and fans will use the trophy's name. The player gets the money, the distillery has a fighting chance for a bit of publicity, the governments who impose the bans are satisfied and everyone is happy.

The offer of the award and the trophy has been accepted by the Big Four and the Western Interprovincial club executives and a board of trustees has been chosen from prominent football executives. The presentation probably will be made at the Grey Cup dinner, held in Toronto each year on the eve of the East-West classic.

The idea of presenting awards for their publicity value goes back many years to the time when a tobacco company (Macdonald) presented curling trophies to publicize its brand of tobacco. The practice seeped through the sports world until now thousands of small merchants kick through yearly to have their names on bowling, curling or softball trophies.

GOLF TIE

For years one distillery (Seagram) has provided money for the $15,000 Canadian open golf tournament in the hope that editors will be kind enough to delete the brackets the prudent reporter always puts around advertising matter.

This year a distillery (Labatt) is staging a $25,000 golf tournament with a prayer that it will become known as "the —— Open" rather than "the $25,000 Open."

So far hockey hasn't been invaded, probably because the National Hockey League provides $1,000 bills to its trophy winners. In baseball players usually have to hit a signboard to touch the local merchant for a suit or a watch.

Strong Argo Team Heading For West

TORONTO (CP)—The Grey Cup champion Toronto Argonauts, strengthened this week by the arrival of two more pro-experienced imports, head west by air today for exhibition football games against Edmonton Eskimos and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Friday and Monday nights.

The newcomers, quarterback Don Panciera from Chicago Cardinals and guard Joe Soboleski from Dallas Texans, were included in the large contingent although they have had only one practice with the Argos.

Panciera, who has also played for New York Yankees and Detroit Lions, will share the quarterback slot with first-stringer Nobby Wirkowski.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Standing in the Eastern Ontario Soccer League has Peterborough UEW atop with 10 wins and a tie in 12 games for 21 points. Kingston has 19, Concordia 17, local Merchants 14, Batawa 10, Belleville seven, Trenton four and Picton two. Players Croll, Strong, Foster and Hutchinson of this city are on the loop all-star team playing in Toronto, Aug 23. Players report with shorts, stockings and boots—what, no uppers? Five bucks has been allowed for a car from here and meals will be provided for players after the game, plus the trainer and the league vice-president from Peterborough. Local Scots of the city circuit have been coming strong lately, also.

Orfuns' grid season will be opening in Cobourg on Aug. 29 an a double schedule, plus playoffs, is expected to be drawn up. Tony Kotowski has a big bunch of prospects drilling nightly with all positions open. A number of ex-high schoolers from PCVS and SPS are making a real bid for spots on the squad. Don Bark is a fine looking newcomer working out, having a law practise in the city. Orillia chaps returning include Milligan, Newark, Ouellette, McIntyre and probably Berthelot. Jimmy Wilde is out with an injured knee. With the Ex. on here in September, practises at that time may be switched to Riverside Park. Schedule should be drawn up soon. It looks like Orfuns will have a club even stronger than last year. Booster tickets are on sale now.

Horses, Horses, Horses

About 40 horses will be here Saturday aft for the harness meet in Morrow Park, post time being 2:30. It is the first of five Saturday meets put on by the Peterborough Turf Club the rest of this season, concluding the weekend before the annual exhibition. Ten heats daily for prizes totalling $1,200. Each of the five races consists of two heats, and wagering at the track is permitted by handbook under government franchise. Among these 40 horses will be some of the best pacers and trotters in the province fresh from the big Thorncliffe meet. District and local entries in it, too.

Ontario Baseball Association has drafted its playdown list. Whitby and Lindsay are presently set for Lakeshore League intermediate "A" semi-finals, winner to meet Oshawa. Other lakeshore clubs go in "B" series, except for Peterborough Liflocs who are now in OBA junior "A" playdowns. First game against Belleville Regents is at six p.m. Saturday in Riverside to open the best-of-five set. This city also has provincial entries in midget "A" and bantam "A", both classes having no less than 11 loops listed. Our midgets likely will play Oshawa or Belleville first, and ditto with the bantams. Ray Pammett is local convener. No OBA umps listed from here.

Lacrosse Disa And Data

Report of the OLA junior "A" semi-final opener here last night is in elsewhere. Pats proceed to Long Branch tomorrow and have the third of their best-of-five sawoffs here again Monday. Senior Petes take on Orillia here Friday in the third of their best-of-seven set, with the fourth in Orillia next Monday. St. Kitts and Fergus in the meantime are going ahead with their semi-finals. A recent CLA bulletin remarked: "It would not be surprising if the same two teams as last year met again in the Mann Cup finals. Peterborough is stronger than last year and, barring injuries, should give a very good account of themselves. While Victoria leads in the west, they have met with a number of injuries which have greatly weakened their club, and the Vancouver club is coming strong."

* * * * * *

As expected, Orillia Yorks were much stronger on their floor last night than in the first game. The Petes had to come from behind to notch a 14-8 victory, but they made sure of that important second one in a row. If they can beat 'em here Friday, they're sitting pretty in this series. But they have a lot of bumps and bruises to show for last night's triumph. It was another slashing struggle between these hot rivals and, while the Thorpe team got the worst of it in penalties, they held their own every other way—including the department of bumps. They can take care of themselves. A dandy, exciting and hard-hitting duel, with brilliant netminding on both sides and some smart, open lacrosse seen. Slater, Fitzgerald, O'Hearn, Mason, Powless and Nickle all figured prominently in the sniping for our gang, while Tony D'Amico was an Orillia standout. The Friday fray should be another hot one.

Noted Horses Entered At Meet Here

Daisy P. Gratton pacer which came second in the last heat recently in the Canadian Cup derby at Thorncliffe—paying $128.40—is one of the outstanding horses being brought here Saturday. Owned by J. Woods of Chesley, Daisy P. Gratton will be driven by Hugh McLean of Port Elgin in the meet put on by the Peterborough Turf Club on Saturday afternoon in Morrow Park. Wagering is permitted at this meet.

Among other fine pacers and trotters to be seen Saturday in the five afternoon races (consisting of 10 heats) will be Neal McLean's entry, Afton Prince, of Port Elgin; Graydon Sheldon's Gadabout; Manson Cathcart's Miss Chipso; Clayton Hodgins' Silk Gratton of Haliburton; Amelia Brook of Oshawa; Vera Patch K of Malton; Penny Patch of Midland; Stan Blewett's Mac Volo; and Blacklock of Brighton, owned by Tom Fritz. This horse held the Peterborough track record for a long time until it was broken at 2.06 2/5 two years ago by Danny Direct. This record still stands.

These are just a few of the 35 to 40 outstanding horses entered in this August meet here. There will be eight more-or-less green colts listed, also, making for some keen speculation among close followers of harness horse races. Entries have come in from Toronto, Chesley, Port Elgin, Oshawa, Malton, Midland, Trenton, Port Hope, Cobourg, Brighton, Haliburton and the immediate city and district. Post time is 2.30.

Local Horse Wins At New Hamburg

Lady Victoria J, owned by Dr. Arthur Johnston of Peterborough won the Dufferin Purse at New Hamburg Wednesday.

Driven by Jimmy McIntyre, Lady Victoria J placed fifth in the first heat and first in the second heat. As this was the best placing in the race the local horse was awarded top money.

Harriman Hanover, also owned by Dr. Johnston and driven by McIntyre was third in both heats of the McColl Derby Pace. The highly-regarded colt picked up third money in this event.

Dr. Johnston has had considerable success this summer with the three horses under his care, Harriman Hanover, Lady Victoria J and Elgin Silk. The trio picked up a fair share of prize money. McIntyre has handled the reins in all races.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The men's club singles competition will continue Friday night. All bowlers who are still in this competition are requested to be at the club 7 o'clock sharp tomorrow night.

And also on Friday night it will be invitation night. That means everybody is welcome to come up to our greens and try their hand at lawn bowling.

It seems like only a few days ago we were announcing the opening of our season with the annual President—Vice-President competition and now here we are, in a day or two, right down to the middle of August. As if the summer is not passing quickly enough we notice they were playing rugby last Saturday. What's all the rush? Some people do like to push the other fellow's sport off the map.

Tonight the men continue with their schedule games.

Police, Bell Both Trample Fairviews

Police and Bell Telephone recorded victories over Fairviews Wednesday night in Civic softball league games at Ashburnham Bowl. Police took the opening game 8-5 while the Bell nine took the second game 12-1.

Chum Gillespie's Bell Telephone team now have a record of eight wins and two defeats and are crowding the IOOF which has a record of 10 wins and a loss. Police top the second division.

Junior Pats Lose 14-12 In First Of Semi-Finals Winning Goal Disputed

Lou Vitarelli's fighting junior "A" Pats lacrosse club suffered a heart-breaking loss to Long Branch in the first game of their best-of-five semi-final series at Miller Bowl Wednesday night before a fair-sized crowd. The final score read 14-12, and the visitors potted what turned out to be their winning goal midway in the fourth, when Larry Ruse snared a rebound close in after the visitors broke away while Pats changed men. Coach Vitarelli protested loudly to referee Alex Edmunds on the play, but to no avail. An insurance counter in the final minute of play sewed up the verdict for Jack Dorney's boys after a hard, fairly rugged, if not dirty, contest.

The teams played to a 4-4 tie in a fast period, but Long Branch showed more zip in the second, to earn an aggregate edge of 8-6. Pats flew hard in the third frame to outscore their visiting rivals 5-4 with all hands doing yeoman service before a howling gallery. Victory seemed on the way as Bob Curtis and Jerry O'Reilly combined neatly in the early seconds to draw even. But it was not to be, as the Dorney lads, led by Larry Ruse, again took the lead and were never headed. Goalie Chub Russell was impregnable in the dying minutes.

It was a nip-and-tuck struggle throughout with some fine lacrosse in spots and the odd spirited mixup. No serious fighting broke out except in the third period when Neave and Bloom and Curtis and Smith hooked up. All received majors. No damage resulted. The series continues Friday at Long Branch.

Merchants Blast Port Hope 7-1

Peterborough Merchants handed Port Hope a 7-1 defeat Wednesday night at King Edward Park in a city soccer league game. In their previous meeting the lakeshore lads blanked the Merchants 4-0.

Port Hope were shy their regular backs, two forwards. Former UE goalie Art Jones made up for their loss by playing spectacular goal, even though seven did get past him.

After five minutes of play the Merchants took the lead when J. Downer converted from a pass by W. Downer. Then Payne tallied on an individual effort. Despite his brilliant play Port Hope goalie Jones had to concede another goal to J. Downer.

RALLY FAILS

Port Hope rallied, but failed in tehir attempts around the Merchants' goal. Then dribbling his way towards the goal, the German youth Ramond finished with a hard drive to make the score 4-0 at the half.

On resuming play Port Hope set up a terrific siege on the Merchants' goal. They found the defence too strong and were turned back without a counter. The Merchants gradually worked the scoreup as interest dwindled.

The Merchants will play Bats on Saturday at King Edward Park in the Eastern Ontario league game, while UE travel to Port Hope for a city league game.

Canadiana Runs Away From Fillies At Stake

NEW YORK (AP)—Canadiana, a sway-back daughter of Chop Chop gifted with the speed of the wind, ran away from seven other 3-year-old fillies in the 29th running of the Test Stakes at the Saratoga meet Wednesday.

Canada's top-ranking sophomore filly, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, set a scorching pace under Dave Gorman and blazed home two lengths ahead of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Home-Made, the favorite. Four lengths back was Brookmeade's Tritium, in third place.

Yanks Whitewash Senators 22-1 With Landslide

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

The major leagues are two-thirds of the way through a fence-busting campaign that threatens to endanger a flock of modern home run records. At least five already have been equalled or broken. The National League is well on the road to an all-time seasonal total. Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee is keeping close to Babe Ruth's 1927 pace—the year the Babe clouted his never-equalled 60. One mark was tied and one surpassed Wednesday night.

At St. Louis Ray Boone hit a bases-loaded homer in the ninth inning, providing the winning margin as Detroit beat the Browns 7-3. It was his fourth grand slam drive of the season, tieing major league record shared by nine other players including Ruth (in his Boston Red Sox days of 1919), Lou Gehrig and Ralph Kiner.

At Washigton Yogi Berra homered in the first inning of New York Yankees' 22-1 landside against the Senators for the Yankees' 100th homer of the season—the 30th year since 1920 that the Yankees have hit 100 or more. No other club comes close to this all-time mark.

OTHER RECORDS

The other records equalled or erased this season include:

Most seasons of 100 or more homers by a National League club—22 by New York Giants who have 122 to date (old mark 21 by the Giants).

Most homers in five consecutive games—20 by St. Louis Browns (old mark 17 by the Yankees).

Consecutive home runs in an inning—three by the St. Louis Browns (equals a record held by numerous teams).

Grand slam home runs played vital roles in two National League games Wednesday. At New York Duke Snider of Brooklyn blasted his second bases-loaded drive in three games as the dodgers came from behind to nip the Giants 6-5. And at Chicago Andy Seminick cleared the bases with a homer in the ninth for the winning margin as Cincinnati whipped the Cubs 10-6. The Cubs won the second game of the doubleheader 3-1.

LOP-SIDED WIN

The Yankees' lop-sided victory increased their league lead to seven games over Chicago White Sox who lost to Cleveland 7-4. Boston beat Philadelphia 3-2 in 10 innings.

Milwaukee clipped half a game off Brooklyn's lead—now seven games—by winning a doubleheader from St. Louis Cardinals 8-2 and 5-3. Robin Roberts became the first pitcher of the season to win 20 games as Philadelphia Phillies beat Pittsburgh Pirates 8-4.

In their last dozen games Washington pitchers had yielded only 16 runs. The Yankees shattered this mark with a 28-hit barrage, highest in either league this season.

The White Sox put on one of their patented late inning rallies to pull ahead at Cleveland in the eighth. But the Indians staged a rally of their own, getting four runs in the bottom of the eighth to win.

Three singles and a long fly produced two runs for Boston in the top of the 10th at Philadelphia and then the Red Sox threw in three pitchers as the Athletics narrowed the gap with a single tally in the 10th.

STAGE SPURT

After an easy first game triumph, the Braves had to stage an eighth-inning spurt in the nightcap to put down the Cardinals. Jim Pendleton doubled home the deciding run. Mathews didn't get a home run and slipped one game behind Ruth's 1927 pace. The Milwaukee third baseman has 36 in 114 games. Ruth hit his 37th in his 114th game.

Roberts, foiled in his first attempt to win 20 at Chicago last Saturday, took matters in his own hands Wednesday night and drove across three runs.

Bisons Whip Orioles 4-1 To Hold Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The pace-setting Buffalo Bisons still hold their two-game lead over Montreal Royals in the International Baseball League.

The Bisons whipped Baltimore Orioles 4-1 Wednesday night while Montreal Royals were conquering Syracuse Chiefs 6-3.

Paul Foytack fanned 10 Birds for the Herd at Buffalo to bring his strikeout total in his last three starts to 31. It was Foytack's 11th victory. Jake Crawford's three-run homer—his 18th of the campaign—anchored a payoff thrust good for four markers in the seventh.

At Syracuse, Don Hoak clouted a pinch hit, three-run homer in the seventh to lead the Royals to victory. Hoak hit for starter Gil Mills, who got the win.

SPLIT DOUBLEHEADER

Ottawa and third-place Rochester split a twin affair at Ottawa, the Athletics taking the abbreviated opener 4-2 and the Red Wings the nightcap 9-5.

Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Springfield Cubs 8-3 at Springfield.

Lou Limmer, Ottawa first baseman, paced his club in the first game, whacking two base-empty homers. He got a third homer in the nightcap, which the Wings won.

Playing-manager Harry Walker of the Wings sparked his club's nine-inning win with a three-run homer in the fourth and a one-run single in the fifth. Walker's circuit clout was his fifth of the campaign.

Toronto's four-run fourth inning, when 10 men went to the plate, was enough for the triumph over the Cubs. Southpaw Vic Lombardi started for the Leafs and although he wasn't around for the finish was credited with his eighth victory against six setbacks.

Chicago Black Hawks Buy Three Players

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League Wednesday purchased forward Lou Jankowski from Detroit Red Wings and defenceman Larry Zeidel and forward Larry Wilson from Edmonton of the Western Hockey League.

Jankowski, 22, is a 180-pounder who jumped directly from junior amateur ranks to the Red Wings. Wilson, also 23, is the younger brother of John Wilson, now with the Red Wings. Zeidel, 26, turned pro with Indianapolis Caps in 1950 and had several tryouts with the Red Wings, as did young Wilson.

McKeage Wins One Of Top Rifle Matches

SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—Lieut. Arthur McKeage of Montreal Wednesday captured one of the top matches of the week-long 85th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot.

Lieut. McKeage posted a score of 176 of a possible 200 to win the Queen's Gold Medal match competing against a field of some 400 marksmen.

Open to members of the armed forces, the match is deliberate firing from 600 yards: firing with movement at 600 to 100 yards, rapid firing at 300 yards and snap-shooting from 300 yards.

Lieut. McKeage posted 48 of a possible 50 in the deliberate, 43 in the movement, 41 in the rapid firing and 44 in the snap to finish with a one-point margin over his nearest competitors.

NEXT IN LINE

Next with 175s were Cpl. Gerald Ouellette of Windsor, Ont., Sgt. W. J. Lightburn, Mission City, B.C., and Flt. Sgt. J. V. Martin of Camp Borden, Ont.

The qualifying stage of the Governor-General's Match is the big shoot being fired today from 200, 500 and 600 yards. Also scheduled is the Provincial match from 600 yards, the Coates match from 500 and 600 yards and the Otter match from 500 yards.

In another match Wednesday, Maj. A. P. Williams of Ottawa won the City of Ottawa gold watch in a two-way shoot-off as dusk fell. Maj. Williams posted a score of 24 of a possible 25 in the regulation five-round shoot-off to beat out CSM. Norman Beckett of Hamilton who earlier in the day tied with him in the match proper with possible 100 from the 200- and 900-yard ranges.

Sqdn. Ldr. Dave Reynolds gave Ottawa its second win. He pumped five consecutive bulls-eyes into the target to win the shoot-off for the Connaught Cup from CQMS. J. A. Draper of South Porcupine, Ont., who scored four bulls but dropped to an inner four on his other shot.

A BIG CUP OF JOY—Lew Worsham (right) holds the championship cup at Niles, Ill., where he won golfdom's biggest pay check—the $25,000 top money in the "World" tournament at Tam O'Shanter Country Club. He had a 10-under-par total of 28 for 72 holes. At left is Frank Stranahan who took the men's amateur division title with 298.

FALLS TEAM TOP WINNER

TORONTO (CP)—Four trophies were won Wednesday night by Canadian and United States teams as the rink competitions of the Ontario Provincial Lawn Bowling Association's 19th annual tournament ended. The Scotch doubles and singles contest remain to be decided in the three closing days of the six-day contest.

A team from Niagara Falls, N.Y. skipped by a native of Niagara Falls, Ont., took the rink division's most cherished prize—the Eaton Gold Trophy.

The rink, comprised of John MacDicken, William Scott and Elmer Lewis and skipped by Jack Knowles, defeated Fred Cochrane's four from Oshawa 28-9. The match was conceded by Oshawa at the 18th end of the 21-end match.

The Simpson Trophy, next highest award, was won by Dick Edney's Kingston rink, who beat a Toronto Balmy Beach crew 16-13.

John McArthur's rink from Quincy, Mass., took the Pilot Trophy, defeating Jim Weir's quartet from Detroit, 28-8.

The Northern Electric Trophy was taken by Alex Barbour's Windsor club who defeated Harry Taylor of Toronto's Withrow Lawn Bowling Club 19-13.

HALFBACK TO KITCHENER

KITCHENER (CP)—Ralph Bartolini, a Hamilton halfback with Big Four experience in Ottawa and with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, has been released by Tiger-Cats to the Kitchener-Waterloo ORFU senior team.

Bartolini, 23, was sidelined most of last season with a broken ankle.

Tiger-Cats have decided not to release fullback Blake Taylor, a native of Galt who recently obtained employment with a Kitchener firm.

PRO SHOOTS FIFTH ACE

SIMCOE (CP)—David Noble, pro at the Norfolk Golf and Country Club here, Wednesday shot his fifth hole-in-one on the local greens. He holed out in one on the 142-yard second hole. Noble has been a pro at the club for almost 30 years.

QUITS AS MOHAWK COACH

MONTREAL (CP)—Resignation of Buddy O'Connor as coach of Cincinnati Mohawks of the United States Hockey League was announced Wednesday by the parent Montreal Canadiens organization.

The announcement said O'Connor indicated he wants to remain in hockey but would like to be closer to his Montreal home and business. Last season he piloted the Cincinnati team to the U.S. League championship in his first coaching job.

Judge Rules Kissell To Play For Rough Riders

TORONTO (CP)—John Kissell, 260-pound star tackle of Cleveland Browns, will play his football this season with Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four, instead of with the Browns.

That was the effect of a ruling Wednesday by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court. The chief justice turned down an application by the Browns for a temporary injunction to keep Kissell, who signed contracts with both clubs, from playing for Ottawa. The Browns still seek a permanent injunction.

Chief Justice McRuer said he was not satisfied the Cleveland club had a "clear right to an interlocutory injunction" in a case where the contract is for personal services.

The law "won't compel an employee to work for an employer," he said. Then, with a smile, he addd:

"Perhaps they (the Browns) have so many other good players that they won't suffer any damages."

CONTINUE TO APPEAL

W. G. Burke-Robertson of Ottawa, appearing for the Cleveland club, argued that the Browns will suffer "irreparable damage" if Kissell does not play for them. He said the Browns "could not be adequately compensated by any court damages."

It has been reported Kissell signed with Ottawa for $10,000 a year on a two-year contract, compared with the $7,200 he received at Cleveland last year, when the team reached the league finals.

(In Cleveland, Browns' vice-president Homer Marshman said the club will appeal to a higher court. He said legal precedent is on its side and contended Chief Justice McRuer's ruling "flies in the face of every ruling that has ever been made in the 48 (United) states, England and Canada.")

Keep Durocher As Manager Of N.Y. Giants

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Speculation over Leo Durocher's future in baseball came to an end Wednesday with the announcement he would continue to manage New York Giants through 1955.

The fate of the fiery little 47-year-old skipper had become a chief topic of discussion following the Giants' dismal western trip in which they lost 12 out of 15 games, dropped into the second division and almost completely out of the National League pennant race.

Club president Horace Stoneham declined to disclose the salary but said it was the same Durocher is receiving this year, believed to be in the neighborhood of $60,000. That would make him the highest paid manager in the National League.

Stoneham, who announced Durocher's signing following a half-hour conference with Leo just before the game with Brooklyn, made it plain he was not blaming the manager for the tailspin.

QUITE SATISFIED

"I'm quite satisfied with Leo," he said even after the Giants had blown a 5-0 lead to lose a 6-5 decision to the Dodgers. "It's not his fault that the club is playing poorly. It's just a combination of circumstances that has loused us up."

Leo, naturally, was happy about it all although much of his joy had been wiped away by the Dodgers' victory.

"It's gratifying to know that Mr. Stoneham has so much confidence in me," he said. "Of course, this has been a bad year but my one aim is to bring another pennant to the New York Giants real soon."

Australians Hammer Essex Attack

LONDON (Reuters)—The Australian cricketers hammered the Essex attack at Southend Wednesday to score 477 for seven on the ground where the touring team of five years ago set up a world record of 721 runs in one day.

Jim de Courcy, stocky New South Wales batsman, hit five consecutive balls for six, six, six, four and six in a searing attack on the leg-breaks of Bill Greensmith. His feat of 28 runs in one over has been surpassed only six times and equalled three times.

De Courcy, spearhead of the Australian assault, made 164.

Final scores:

Australian Tourists 477 for seven vs Essex.

Gloucestershire 321 for nine vs Worcestershire.

Nottinghamshire 252, Somerset 90 for seven.

Lancashire 163, Northamptonshire 157 for nine.

Yorkshire 167, Derbyshire 99 for four.

Hampshire 294, Glamorgan 4 for one.

Leicestershire 243, Surrey 65 for two.

Warwickshire 327 for nine declared, Sussex 7 for no wicket.

Cow Saves Golfer 2-Stroke Penalty

WINNIPEG (CP)—There is a cow with a two-stroke headache near Winnipeg's Pine Ridge Golf Club.

Jerry Morrissey of Winnipeg Rossmere Golf Club drove lustily off the fourth tee in the Manitoba amateur championship Wednesday. The ball bounced on the fairway, skipped over the fence, struck the cow between the horns and rebounded to the fairway.

The lucky bounce saved Morrissey a two-stroke penalty, gave him a par for the hole but failed to qualify him for further play.

Saratoga Yearling Sales Top Million

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP With two nights to go, the annual Saratoga yearling sales already have gone over the $1,000,000-mark, far ahead of last year.

Wednesday night's sales boosted the total to $1,034,900, better than $100,000 ahead of a corresponding time in 1952.

The top price Wednesday night was $23,000 brought by a chestnut colt by War Jeep out of Theme Song. The Owl Stable of Compton Calif., was the purchaser.

Marlene Wins Thrilling Second Round

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—If Marlene Stewart doesn't win another golf tournament—and that's unlikely—she can take her place among Canada's greatest competitors.

The chunky five-foot kid with the twisted grin proved that Wednesday over the 6,225-yard Hunt Club course when she streaked out of nowhere to post a spine-tingling extra-hole triumph over classy Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., in the second round of the Canadian women's Open championship. It will go into the books as one of the stubbornest comebacks in the game in Canada.

The Fonthill miss, shaky as a school kid on the first nine when she trailed by three holes, steadied down to a grim battle with her more-experienced opponent until she tied it up on the 18th and then sent 1,200 fans home talking to themselves with a deadly 18-foot putt that sent her into today's quarter-finals. None in the crowd—except Marlene—gave her a chance as the pair made the turn home.

HIGHLIGHT OF DAY

Victory for the British open champion was the highlight of a day that saw six Canadians eliminated as the seven-day championship hit the half-way mark. Hard-hitting Barbara Davies of Vancouver defeated Mrs. Helen Cleat, also of Vancouver, 4 and 3 to give Canada two quarter-final qualifiers.

Three Toronto women, Ada Mackenzie, Shirley Woodley and Mrs. J. H. McCarter, were eliminated. And joining them on the sidelines were Anne Sharpe, clubmate of Miss Stewart at Fonthill, and Mrs. W. S. Edey of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Cleat.

Miss Mackenzie, who has won the Open title five times, the first in 1919, went out 3 and 2 to Pat Devany of Grosse Isle, Mich.; Miss Woodley lost 5 and 4 to Pat Lesser, Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. McCarter was defeated 3 and 2 by Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif. Miss Sharpe was overwhelmed 8 and 7 by defending champion Edean Anderson, Helena, Mont., and Mrs. Edey bowed 3 and 2 to Grace Lenczyk, Newington, Conn.

INCIDENTAL MATCHES

But these matches were incidental to the Stewart-O'Sullivan championship golf until the 410-par-five 16th. She missed a three-foot putt after sinking eight, 10- and 25-foot putts earlier. Her second shot bounced into a trap and she was lucky on her third when her ball headed for a bunker until it hit a spectator. She went down in six against Marlene's five and it left the American girl only one up.

She had a 25-foot putt for a birdie three on the 17th and Marlene, eight feet from the pin on her second shot, had to sink it or bow out of the tournament. She made it after deliberating nearly two minutes.

On the last-chance 18th Marlene was just off green on her second shot while the American clubbed hers beyond the apron into deep grass. A chip and five-foot putt gave Marlene a par four but Miss O'Sullivan's chip rolled 12 feet past the cup and she missed the putt to send the game into the extra hole.

And it was here that Marlene proved she was of championship calibre, sinking a 25-footer for a birdie three. The American girl was wide of the green on her second shot and her approach left her a 10-footer.

Canadian-Owned Horse Wins Hambelton Stakes

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—A 29-year-old Vermont farm boy, who seven years ago literally begged for a job, today was the toast of light harness horse racing after driving a finely-tuned Canadian-owned filly to victory in the richest of all Hambletonian Stakes.

Harry Harvey brought Helicopter home first in the second and third heats of the $117,117.98 buggy whip derby Wednesday at Good Time Park to become the youngest driver ever to win the classic.

In winning the third and deciding heat, Harvey beat 71-year-old Tom Berry, the man who finally tired of discouraging the youngster and gave him a job. Five years with the old master and Harvey switched to a job as fourth string driver with trainer-driver Del Miller.

"Del gave me a fine filly and I was lucky," said the modest New England horseman after winning second mile in 2:02 4-5 and the third in 2:02 3-5.

Helicopter, daughter of Hoot Mon, 1947 Hambletonian winner and ninth filly to win the classic, was purchased as two-year-old for $7,500 by the Canadian road-building brothers, J. Elgin and C. E. Armstrong of Brampton, Ont., from Miller and the latter's partner, Johnny Simpson.

It proved a mighty profitable transaction for Miller, for as trainer of the winner he gets 10 per cent of the purse of $63,126.59. Miller wouldn't say but he indicated Harvey also would put a nice piece of change in his pocket.

Morse Hanover turned in the fastest time of 2:01 3-5 in winning the first heat for W. C. Evans' Milkway Farm of Rockville Center, N. Y.—a heat in which Helicopter wound up 17th in the record field of 23 three-year-old trotters.

In winning the third mile, young Harvey beat out Berry, driving Kimberly Kid for Leonard Buck's Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N. J., and but for a break in stride near the finish, Berry might have beaten the man to whom he gave a job after receiving a half-dozen letters and answering none of them.

Second money of $22,955.12 went to Morse Hanover. Third share of the purse, $13,773.07, was won by Margaret Critchfield's Singing Sword of Wooster, O., with Miller handling the reins. Singing Sword wound up second in the first mile and third in the next two.

Newport Star, pre-race favorite, had to be content with sixth after finishing 3-4-6.

Labor Congress Split On Lotteries Issue

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A majority group of the Trades and Labor Congress Wednesday bucked a protesting opposition to push a resolution through the convention floor calling on the federal government to legalize government - operated lotteries in Canada.

The 650-delegate convention split over the lotteries issue so sharply that for the first time the chairman had to call for a show of hands before ruling in favor of the lottery legalizers.

More agreeable to the delegates was a resolution, passed unanimously, demanding that the federal government establish a government-subsidized contributory national health insurance scheme covering every Canadian.

The lotteries resolution was sponsored by the Quebec Federation of Labor. It called for an amendment to the Criminal Code to permit establishment of provincial lotteries, but the resolutions committee amended this to "government-operated" lotteries.

BUY TICKETS

The federation observed that a large percentage of Canadians buy sweepstakes and lottery tickets but the money goes to other countries. It could be used to improve social services and eliminate tag days in Canada.

The battle that ensued saw Ford Brand of the Toronto pressmen charge that legalized lotteries would conflict with the national health insurance plan.

G. P. Schollie of Montreal, chairman of the officers' reports, said he was glad to see that some people in Quebec had the "guts" to stand against legalized lotteries in that province.

Other developments:

Premier Frost of Ontario, in a brief appearance along with Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro commission, said his government is prepared to assist co-operative house building in the province.

REPORTS SURPLUS

Gordor Cushing, TLC general secretary - treasurer, reported a surplus of $35,630 in the labor body's 1952-53 operations.

Some delegates, debating the health insurance resolution, suggested it did not go far enough. Some expressed concern over the possibility that it may be handled by insurance companies and not directly by the government.

Percy Bengough, TLC president, assured delegates that though there are a lot of details to be worked out, the executive knows what is needed and will work to get the plan through.

Australia Plans To Establish Research Station In Antarctic

By JEFFREY SMITH

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Australia's plans for establishing the world's first permanent scientific research station in the antarctic are entering their final stages.

Early next year, a tiny but sturdy ship will nose out of Melbourne harbor and travel south, carrying the small group of men who will set up a camp and establish the research station.

For more than five years Australia has been maintaining scientific stations at lonely, snow-swept islands in the Antarctic ocean. The new expedition is another step in the battle to conquer Antarctica.

The snow-covered, icebound land has not been extensively explored geologically and Australian experts believe that the continent, 1,500 miles to Australia's south, has untold wealth for the nations which control and exploit its resources.

External Affairs Minister Richard G Casey told the federal parliament:

"For us to neglect the Antarctic could be as serious a matter as if our forefathers had confined themselves to a small strip of coastal settlement in Australia and left for others the development of the resources of the rest of our continent."

The expedition will leave Melbourne about the beginning of January in the Danish motor ship Kista Dan, 1,200 tons, which is specially designed for navigation in ice.

The Kista Dan can be driven like an automobile because, from the bridge, the captain or officer on watch can steer the ship with his left hand by means of a small handle, while with his right he can, with a similar handle, directly control the main engine.

Once Antarctica is reached, the ship will slowly work its way along the coasts of Princess Elizabeth Land and MacRobertson Land and search for a mainland site where a station can be established.

It will carry two small airplanes equipped with floats and skis and Royal Australian air force crews to guide Kista Dan through the ice and help to find a suitable base on the Australian sector of the continent.

Everyone aboard the ship will go ashore to help erect the huts, unload the stores and dequipment, and begin the work of establishing the station.

Throughout the 12 months the men will carry out work in meteorology, geology, surveying, geophysics and biology.

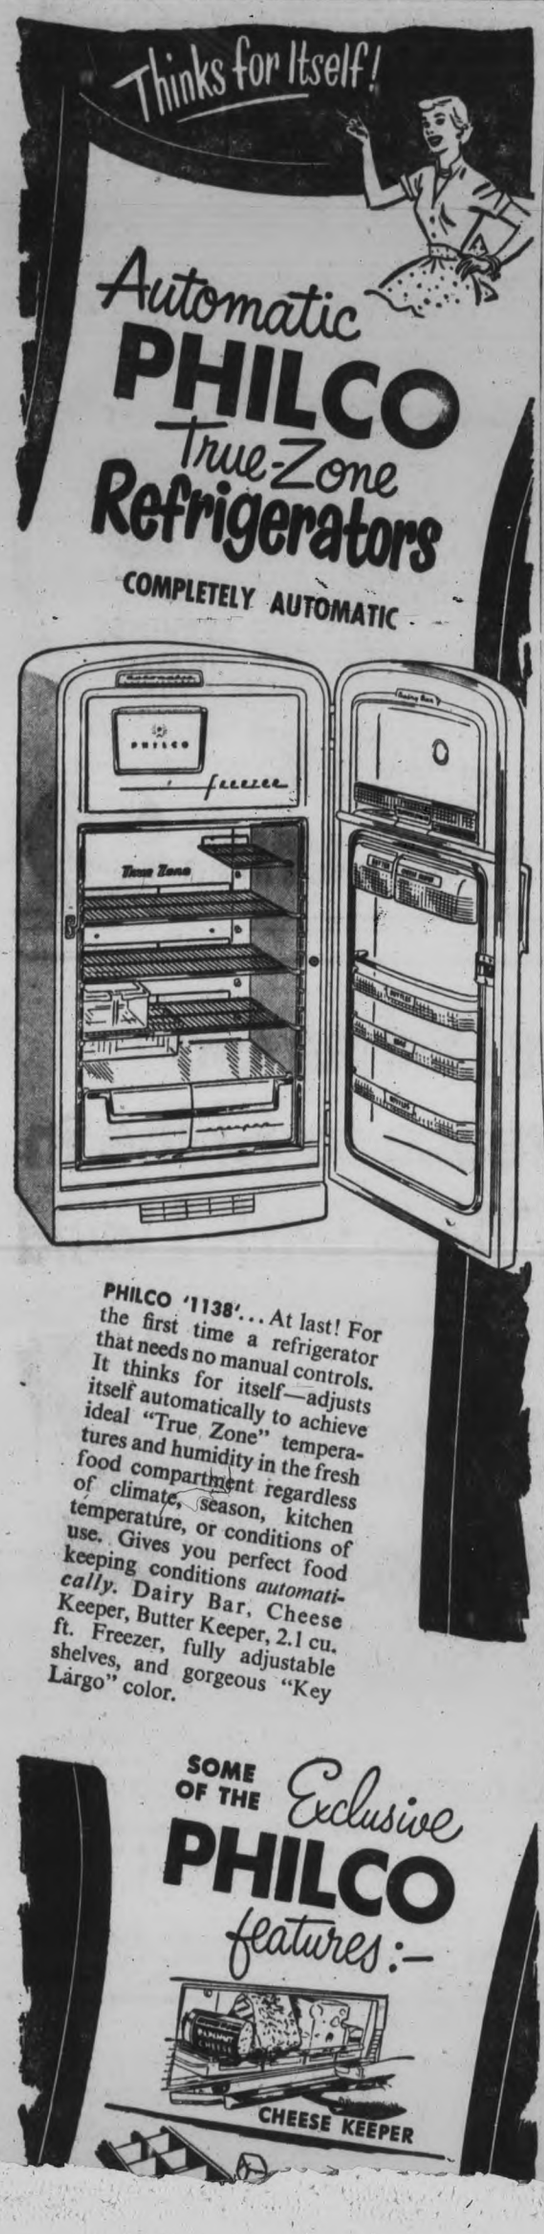
MP Prepares To Eat Shirt In Kitchener

TORONTO (CP)—George Hees, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Toronto Broadview, plans to eat his shirt in Kitchener today.

Mr. Hees made the announcement today. It followed a demand by Norman Schneider, Liberal MP for Waterloo North, that Mr. Hees should not back down on his promise to eat his shirt if Elizabeth Janzen, Progressive Conservative candidate for Waterloo North, didn't win the seat for the Conservatives.

Miss Janzen lost to Mr. Schneider.

Mr. Hees, who has a 42-inch chest measurement in shirts with a 16½-inch collar, promised to pay off—"collar, cuffs, tail and all"—on Kitchener's city hall steps.



He didn't say just how he'd go about it.

Injured

TORONTO (CP)—Patrick ..., 75, of Toronto died Wednesday from injuries received when he stepped from behind a bus into the path of a car driven by Heino Sipp, 27.

"EVIDENCE —Harold ... Agonis, former executive clerk to New Jersey's Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, tells newsmen in Southampton, England that he has "documentary evidence" that he is innocent of bribery charges that face him at home.

Chinese Novel Shows Life Under Rule Of Communists

By O. M. GREEN

LONDON (OFNS)—In the last agonizing years of the struggle in China between Communists and Nationalists, before the Kuomintang Government fled to Formosa, little has been heard of what it meant to ordinary people, bewildered by the strange new doctrine of the Communists, terrified by the cruelty they inflicted in the name of "the people"; and who were on the Nationalist side, utterly disregarded by a ruling class intent only on filling its pockets.

This is the theme of an absorbing book "Until the Phoenix" by F. S. Chang which has just been published. Told in the form of a novel, in order to concentrate in the lives of a few individuals the experience of the masses, it is obviously based on personal knowledge, and brings into a single whole what has been told in fragments by missionaries and merchants.

The book begins in a quiet country village, with the wedding of the handsome Lee Ho (still only 16 by Western reckoning) to the lovely Yu Lan. These pages are full of old-world charm and ancient custom—why the bride must weep loudly before being taken to the bridegroom's house; why, on arrival she must step from her sedan chair to a box instead of the ground, and must wear a piece of silk over her head to prevent her seeing anybody.

But with the coming of the Communists, pastoral comedy changes to blood-stained drama. It should be said that by no means all Chinese landlords were the ogres of Communist propaganda. Some were; the majority treated their tenants fairly, and even with certain paternalism. But for the Communists there are no distinctions. The landlords' property is roughly broken up, their houses invaded, and their furniture and clothing carried off to divide among the peasants: even their kitchens are watched to ensure that they do not eat better than others; some were brutally beaten.

DESCRIBES TRIAL

Here is a description of the trial of one landowner, which recalls the "People's Courts" in 1952 when two million "reactionaries" (the Communists' own figures) were hounded to death. Beaten and kicked until he is helpless, the victim agrees to write "a repentant letter", knowing that two landlords have already been killed. "Holding a brush pen between his fingers, dyed with the blood from his nostrils, he wrote: 'I have oppressed many friends and killed many persons without a knife. A hundred deaths would not be sufficient punishment for my crimes. I agree to divide my property equally with al the peoor who save my life from punishment'."

Eventually Lee Ho escaped to Shanghai. This vivid and deeply-moving section is the longest and far the best in the book. Already the Nationalist currency has galloped downhill so fast that a thousand dollar note dropped in the street was not thought worth picking up. Whoever made a little money spent it at once on food, knowing that by next morning its value would be halved.

Having brought away a few small gold bars and two or three hundred silver dollars concealed in a bamboo pole, Lee Ho calculated that he had enough for five or six years. With an ounce of gold for key money he obtained a small room.

"'The rent is nothing,' said the former occupant, 'it hasn't been collected for months because the street-car fare is higher than the rent. So the room is practically yours, you can sell it to anyone when you leave.' And she added: 'We call it the million-dollar room. Look at the walls and ceiling. We papered them with banknotes'."

HEARTLESS FRAUD

It is not known who was responsible for the "gold yuan" swindle in 1948, surely the most heartless perpetrated by a government. By promises of a stable currency based on gold and fixed prices the people—Lee Ho among them—were induced to give up their gold and silver dollars for the new notes. But within a month the new paper was becoming as worthless as the old. And now the people had nothing else.

A mad rush ensued to buy up anything of real value—clothes, furniture, hardware, even coffins.

The desperate expedients of Lee Ho and Yu Lan to buy rice from day to day are typical of those of hundreds of thousands of others. Many failed and died in the streets.

It is no wonder that Lee Ho hated the rich—the minority who had got in on the right side—with an intensity of hatred hitherto unknown to his gentle nature.

The last section, in which Lee Ho and Yu Lan escape ot Formosa, is the least convincing. The author evidently felt the need for a happy ending; also for the purposes of the story, he had to get rid of Sen Mei, a Communist Amazon leader (the best drawn character in the book) who fell insanely in love with Lee Ho and hunted him all through the story.

But as a whole, "Until the Phoenix" is a footnote to history much to be recommended—though the title expresses a confidence in the future which one can only hope will be justified.

Urges Ireland Vote Unionist

ENNISKILLEN, Northern Ireland (Reuters)—Lord Brookeborough Wednesday called on Protestant Northern Ireland to vote for his Unionist party at forthcoming general elections to save the country from "an all Ireland Gaelic republic."

Brokeborough, 65, prime minister since 1943, told an Orange demonstration here that to return the Unionist party again would be a pledge of loyalty to the Queen and would demonstrate the north's right to remain within the British constitutional system.

"The alternative would be the submergence of Northern Ireland in an all-Ireland Gaelic republic—a sorry fate for a proud, industrious and British-minded people."

No date has been fixed for the general election, but it must be held before the five-year term of the present House of Commons expires next February.

Brookeborough's Unionist party has a 29-seat majority over nine Nationalist members.

Drowns While Fishing

MERRICKVILLE (CP)—Norman Happ of Rochester, N.Y., was drowned Wednesday night in the Rideau river near here when he apparently tripped on a fishing net and fell from a rowboat. Merrickville is about 30 miles south of Ottawa. Happ was fishing with his wife at the time of the accident.

Abadan Now Ghost City Since Iran Runs Refinery

By FRED ZUSY

ABADAN (AP)—It has been two years since Iran started going it alone in the oil business.

Grass doesn't grow in the streets of this oil capital. It's too hot and dry for grass to survive. But it's a ghost town, just the same.

British oil men closed the last valve at the wells and shut down the world's largest refinery as the clock struck midnight July 31, 1951. A couple of months later, the staff of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. pulled out entirely, unable to withstand the pressure from a nationalization-minded government.

With its departure, Abadan and its refinery wonderland of vats, stills and odd-shaped pipe coils turned into a lonely, quiet city.

In the old days, the palm-lined Shatt-El-Arab river, where the Tigris and Euphrates wed for the journey into the Persian gulf, was a busy noisy roadstead for tankers carrying oil all over the world. They pulled alongside the jetties at a rate of six or seven a day, carrying away each year about 32,000,000 tons of gasoline and oil.

STOPPED IN DAY

The traffic stopped in a day, after Iran demanded that tanker captains sign receipts promising payment to the National Iranian Oil Company instead of Anglo-Iranian. For about a week there was confusion. Nearly 50 tankers piled up. Then one day they all left—empty.

The Shatt-El-Arab became a shimmery, empty ribbon of water under a baking sun.

Ships now are scarce indeed. In 23 months since nationalization, less than 100,000 tons of oil has been delivered to small Italian tankers and to a Japanese tanker which made two trips. That's all.

At night, you can see the lone flare of waste gas burning over the sprawling refinery. Iran is running the equipment at about five per cent of capacity, just enough to fill its own needs. Once the refinery was a forest of belching stacks, with tongues of flame licking at the sky, making fuel for the world.

BUILT FROM SWAMP

British engineers built Abadan from a swamp to a city of 250,000 during 40 years of operation. It hasn't changed much on the surface. The nationalized oil company sees that lawns, hedges and palm trees are watered. It also goes through a maintenance routine for refinery equipment.

There are still 30,000 laborers on the payroll, the same as under British management. But there is work for less than a third. Thousands more in the oil fields have nothing to do, but they also get paid.

Today, reliable informants say, it costs Iran about $1,500,000 a month to keep its nationalized oil industry limping along. When the British company was running things, Iran received about $7,000,000 a month in royalties and other benefits.

2 Defeated Candidates Remanded In Break-in

OTTAWA (CP)—Two defeated Labor-Progressive (Communist) candidates in Monday's general election were remanded to Sept. 2 in police court today for formal committal on charges of breaking into the Rockcliffe emergency shelter July 15.

The pair, Ernest Gervais, 38, and Daniel Nerenberg, 31, pleaded innocent and elected trial by judge and jury. Gervais was defeated in Hull, and Nerenberg in Ottawa West.

Gervais and Nerenberg were arrested after a padlock had been forced on a door to an apartment at the emergency shelter to allow a homeless family to enter the quarters.

Runs Into Car, Dies

HAMILTON (CP)—Catherine McKinnon, 4, died Wednesday night on the way to hospital after being struck by an automobile. Police said the child ran into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Cristalle Dunn of Hamilton.

DAMP STROLL—It was warm, so Alex Wozniak, of London, England, decided to put on his walking "shoes" and take a stroll down the Thames. His shoes in this case are skis, each of which is, in effect, a miniature boat with a keel. Wozniak pushes himself through the water with two ski poles which have cork floats at the end. He plans to "walk" the English Channel in the future.

Poor Salaries Turning Teachers Away

MONTREAL (CP) — In many areas of Canada salaries are "much too low to attract or retain qualified teachers," George G. Croskery of Ottawa, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Teachers Federation, said Wednesday at the federation's annual meeting.

In his anual report, he told the representatives of more than 65,000 elementary and high school teachers that while there has been some improvement in salaries, "as long as these depressed areas exist, they seriously affect the status of the profession."

Mr. Croskery recalled that the federation said six months ago a "new deal" would be a constructive move "between the provinces and the federal government in the matter of educational finance."

He said some provincial teacher organizations are "still struggling for recognition of their rights" in collective bargaining and protection against unfair dismissal.

Ottawa Encouraged By Reply From U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Government officials said Wednesday they were "encouraged" by the U.S. reply in connection with the Canadian protest last month against proposed new import curbs.

A note of reply received Tuesday from Washington said, in part, that investigation on importation of oats and ground fish fillets from Canada—worth millions of dollars annually—did not "necessarily mean that restrictions will be imposed on imports."

The Canadian protest last month followed a previous note against new U.S. dairy import curbs. The reply gave little satisfaction, unlike the note received on oats and fillets.

VICTORY SMILES—Finance Minister Abbott, left, and Defence Minister Claxton, right, hemmed in by an overflow crowd of admirers at the Montreal Reform Club, cheer news of the Liberal electoral sweep. Both were re-elected. Mr. Abbott said of taxes: "When they can be cut the Liberal government will cut them."

City Council Jottings

City Council Tuesday night accepted the offer of Dave Gerolamy, 14 Edgewater Boulevard, to purchase the club house at Burnham Point for $200.

The understanding is that Mr. Gerolamy is to remove the club house and the property on which it stood will be surveyed to be divided into lots for sale to adjoining property owners.

The price to individual owners is to be the cost of the survey plus the cost of transfer of deeds.

Council also approved the following work at Dixon House:

Removal of old plaster on existing three walls, to be replaced with lath and stucco reinforcement and restuccoed at a price of $1,297.95.

Gave a contract to Goodfellow & Dougherty for eavestroughing the building at a price of $125.

Authorize the property manager to have facia board put on the building previous to stuccoing and eavestroughing.

Council also approved the following recommendations:

Of the property committee, that in view of the necessary tenders for re-roofing the Queen Mary Hospital building, the matter of securing additional tenders be left in the hands of the committee chairman and the property manager, and that they be auhorized to let the contract and have the work done.

Of the board of works:

That the city clerk be authorized to advertise, as soon as possible, the proposed construction of sanitary sewers on Western Avenue, from Chamberlain Street to Lansdowne Street, thence to Erskine Avenue, to Borden Avenue, and to Monaghan Road, and from Weller Street to Clonsilla Avenue via Dobbin Avenue, and the proposed bypass highway.

Change of street names: From Second Avenue to Maryland Avenue, Elm Street to Hopkins Avenue, Lee Street to Hillside Street, Wiliam Street to Poplar Street, Nicholls Street to Hemlock Street, Hall Street to Willow Street, Gordon Street to Birch Avenue, Erskine Avenue to Trent Street, and River Road North to Armour Road.

Officially naming following streets: Stewart Street north of Parkhill Road, Water Street norh of Langton Street, Sunset Boulevard, Harper Avenue.

Ganing Junior Chamber of Commerce permission to erect directional signs to their tourist bureau, subject to conditions set out in their request.

prepare the necessary bylaw for extension of the sanitary sewer north from the corner of Dumble Ave. and Barnardo St. to serve Queen Elizabeth School.

Holding the application of the E. L. Ruddy Co. to erect billboards on the west side of Stewart St., north of Wolsley St., for further discussion at the next board of works meeting.

Authorizing the city solicitor be authorized to prepare the necessary bylaws for construction of the following works: sewer on Fairbairn St., from Bellevue St. to Highland Rd., sidewalk on Steele Ave., east side from Cameron St. to Riverside Dr., sidewalk on Chester St., west side from McKellar St., to the river front.

Of the sanitation committee:

The property committee to be requested to arrange to have storm windows provided for the garage building.

Authorizing the superintendent of the sanitation department to replace a window in the garage building with a door for pedestrain use, particularly by the employees of the department.

Granting permission to Peterborough and District Labor Council, AFL, to hold Labor Day celebrations in Nicholls Oval, provided it is not allocated to any other organization, as well as permission for a street dance on Aylmer St., between King and Charlotte Sts., on the same date.

Granting permission to Brock St. Gospel Hall to conduct open-air meetings at George and Simcoe Sts., during the rest of the summer, on Saturday evenings, after the Salvation Army meetings.

Approving the resolution of the fire, water and light committee, in respect to the sick leave plan as applied to employees who are injured while gainfully employed outside regular city employment.

Of the committee of the whole:

That application be made to the Department of Planning and Development to change the designated land use from residential to industrial of the property owned by Outboard, Marine and Manufacturing Co. Ltd., at Monaghan Rd, and Romaine St., purchased by the company for expansion of its buildings in 1945, long before the offical plan of the city was made, informing the department it is an error that this property was ever designated for residential use.

Authorizing the city engineer to grant a building permit for the above expansion, in accordance with the plans submitted, except that no part of the building shall be erected closer to the street line on Romaine St. than the outside edge of the verandah of the adjacent house to the east.

Approving the resolution of the city planning board in respect to the new plan of subdivision of the Hatton property.

Of the fire, water and light committee:

Filing the letter from the PUC, outlining its desire to use mercury vapor lights as street lights on certain locations, until additional information on costs is obtained.

Of the special traffic committee:

Pope Will Issue Papal Bull In Sept.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—High Vatican sources said today that Pope Pius will issue a papal bull Sept. 8 proclaiming 1954 as "Anno Mariano"—the year of the Virgin Mary.

Next year will be the 100th anniversary of the Roman Catholic church dogma proclaiming the immaculate conception of the Virgin Mary.

U.S. To Build Pipeline In B.C.

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States will build a $40,000,000 oil pipeline—passing through northern British Columbia and Yukon.

The external affairs department today announced that Canada and the U. S. have concluded negotiations for building the line which will supply U. S. forces in Alaska and Canadian forces along the Alaska highway. Civilian needs will be filled when the line is not needed for defence purposes.

The eight-inch pipeline will link Haines, Alaska, on the pacific coast 450 miles northeast of the Queen Charlotte Islands, with Fairbanks. United States army engineers will build it.

The Canadian section will cost about $12,000,000 of the estimated total.

The Canadian section will start at the Alaska-B. C. boundary, about 30 miles north of Haines, and end at the Yukon-Alaska boundary on the Alaska highway, a total of about 285 miles. Total length of the line is estimated at about 600 miles.

Mauled By Dogs

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — John Anderson, two-year-old Labrador boy, was reported recovering in hospital here after savage dogs attacked him near his home at Makkovik. Two dogs tore the scalp from his head when he fell while carrying a kettle of water from a well.

Party Dominating Control In Russian Affairs Now

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Prime Minister Malenkov and his Communist party have apparently overwhelmed their internal opponents, at least for the time being, and are ruling the Soviet Union independently of any other force, including the army.

This seems to be the story told by the meeting of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) last week. Russian newspapers carrying detailed accounts of the meetings give the distinct impression that the party, powerfully asserting its own dominance, has shoved the army marshals and generals into the background.

Malenkov has emerged as the top man, but watched carefully by a small, closely knit hierarchy. His pre-eminent position depends upon the tolerance of men like Nikita S. Khrushchev, now apparently the No. 2 man, and Lazar Kaganovich, reputed to be Stalin's brother-in-law.

TELL DIFFERENT STORY

The texts carried by the Soviet Press still indicate a titular hierarchy of nine men, but the pictures of the Supreme Soviet meeting tell a different story. The real leadership is shared by a half-dozen, possibly even less.

The top four, the pictures tend to show, are Malenkov, Khrushchev, Kaganovich and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Ranking behind them are Nikolai Bulganin, the Communist politician who became an army marshal and defence minister without ever leading troops, and A. I. Mikoyan, the foreign trade minister.

In all the pictures, the first four are seated in the dominating position, with the aged Marshal K. E. Voroshilov in their midst. He now is "president" of the Soviet Union, holding an honorary position as an old comrade-in-arms of Stalin, but hardly a power. Mikoyan and Bulganin occupy seats behind this quintet.

The other two of the nine are pushed off to one side. M. Z. Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin, who owe their positions to their business abilities, are seated with N. M. Shvernik, formerly "president" but now chairman of the Soviet "trade unions." These three are definitely lesser personalities.

ON OTHER SIDE

On the other side of the leaders are seated such Communist powers as P. N. Pospelov, the party theoretician; M. A. Suslov, N. N. Shatalin and M. F. Shkiryatov, subordinates of Khrushchev in the party secretariat, and P. K. Ponomarenko, the minister of culture.

The tipoff on the subordinate role of the army marshals came in last Sunday's Soviet papers dealing with Soviet air force day. Three generals sign three separate articles in three different newspapers. All stress, over and over again, the commanding role of the party in the development and leadership of the armed forces.

This is important, because elements of the armed forces long have balked at party interference and demanded more "command authority" for the army officers as opposed to the political officers.

FULL OF MEANING

The party unquestionably rules at the moment, and this is full of meaning for the Western world. For one thing, it means a continuation of the war of attrition against the West—indeed, a stepping up of such things as the economic offensive, the peace offensive and the international fifth column activities.

Internally it means a continued emphasis on production for heavy industry, despite the promises to the Soviet consumers, and for the Soviet satallites it means still more Russianization, in spite of promises to the contrary.

Mail Handling Charges Dropped

WINNIPEG (CP).—Post office officials announced today that a charge of alleged mishandling of election material in Winnipeg mails has been discussed with the persons involved and it was decided to drop the matter.

Complaints regarding the mail mixup were made by W. B. Sword, committee chairman for C. Russell Simonite, unsuccessful Liberal candidate in Winnipeg South.

Mr. Sword said that some election material sent out by Mr. Simonite arrived at its destination containing pamphlets supporting Dr. O. C. Trainor, Progressive candidate who was elected by a 538 vote margin.

C. W. Heisler, Winnipeg postmaster, said he and Mr. Sword had discussed the matter at length, and are both ready to let the matter drop.

"There had been no blame definitely placed on anyone," Mr. Heisler said. "We feel that the whole thing was sheer accident."

Two North Korean Leaders Shown Fantastic Imposters

By BILL SHINN

SEOUL (AP).—Marshal Kim Il Sung and Gen. Nam Il, the two men who emerged as kingpins in the newly-purged North Korean Communist regime, were revealed today to be "fantastic imposters" who borrowed their names from well known North Koreans of years ago.

The information came from a South Korean intelligence officer with excellent connections in North Korea.

Kim's role as an imposter who borrowed the name of a North Korean hero who fought the Japanese during the occupation of Korea has been known for some time.

But for the first time it was revealed that Nam Il, chief Red negotiator in the truce talks at Panmunjom, also borrowed the name of a prominent North Korean.

Here is the story as detailed by the intelligence officer:

Kim's real name was Kim Sung Joo. He was born 42 years ago in a small village near the Red capital of Pyongyang, the son of an anti-Japanese nationalist. He became a member of the Chinese Youth Association of the Communist party when he was 17.

At the age of 30, Kim became commander of the guerrilla corps in Manchuria.

During the Second World War Kim commanded a Korean army corps that fought alongside the Russians.

In the battle of Leningrad, he won special recognition from Stalin. He was ordered to Manchuria to fight the Japanese in the final days of the war.

However, by the time he reached Manchuria, Japan had surrendered.

SECRET INSTRUCTION

Kim arrived at Nam-hi, his birthplace, in September, 1945, carrying secret instructions from Stalin on how to communize Korea.

He adopted the name of Kim Il Sung, a Korean patriot who had been fighting the Japanese as a guerilla in Manchuria.

The real Kim Il Sung was then about 53 years old; the imposter about 34.

In October, 1945, the bogus Kim appeared in public for the first time under his new name.

Oct. 14, he was introduced as a "victorious general" to more than 200,000 North Koreans assembled at a parade ground in Pyongyang.

The story of Nam Il's life revealed that his real name was Kim Chang Man. He now is about 47. He was born in a small Korean village near Pyongyang.

PROPAGANDA CHIEF

Nam Il was propaganda chief of the North Korean Labor Communist party until he was appointed chief truce delegate for the Reds in July, 1951.

He was not a general. He appeared at the Kaesong and Panmunjom truce negotiations first under a title of lieutenant-general and later as a full general.

The real Nam Il is a man about 50, trained in Russia. He was president of a Communist college in Pyongyang and also an instructor at the Kim Il Sung University there.

He also was chief of the education bureau in Pyongyang and had been educated in Moscow.

STROKE! STROKE!—And stroke they did as Lorne Hale and Wendy Collins cross the finish line, winners of the mixed tandem gunwhale race at the Chemong Junior Regatta Wednesday afternoon. Betty Dalton (left), one of the day's prettiest competitors, shows how its done as she prepares to climb into her boat for one of the regatta's 32 races. A trio of Peterborough sisters who were present during the events watch (right) from the boathuose verandah. Left to right are Cathy, Margaret and Helen Rutherford.

Wendy Collins, Lorne Hale Win Chemong Regatta Titles

The Chemong Park, Lake and Bridgenorth regatta, held Wednesday afternoon at Wasson's beach, was particularly noted for its efficiency of management—and the number of children participating.

At least 75 percent of the total number there, were children and provision had been made to give all of them at least one ice-cream. All of the children under six years of age who participated in any one race were winners—and received their prizes accordingly.

The committee in charge of races, scoring and judging were an able group and the whole program, consisting of 32 races, was run off in approximately two and a half hours.

The races included everything but motor and sailing events—and since the participating group was limited to the areas previously mentioned—the varied swimming and canoeing races were sufficient.

Prizes were presented immediately after the last race and the two top performers, Wendy Collins with 28 points and Lorne Hale with 25 points, each received a large silver cup, indicating their championship.

Another point of interest was the winning of the 20-year-old and under open crab race by Gene Blewitt—aged 12. He was well on his way back to shore before any other competitor had crossed the line.

The regatta was under the auspices of the Chemong Park Cottagers' Association — President Don Dalton.

Crisis Mounts In Pakistan, Hostility Grows

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—A crisis atmosphere mounted in Pakistan today in the wake of hot-blooded demonstrations against the removal of Sheikh Abdullah as premier of neighboring Kashmir.

Prime Minister Mohammed Ali, who heard crowds Tuesday night shouting for "war with India," Wednesday held his third emergency cabinet meeting in three days. He and his ministers discussed the "serious repercussions" felt in Pakistan over the replacement of the arrested Sheikh Abdullah by pro-Indian Bakshi Ghulam Mohammed.

Stores, theatres and schools were closed to protest the developments in Kashmir. A similar shutdown was staged for the second day running in Azad (free) Kashmir, on the Pakistan side of the cease-fire line which divides the buffer state between India and Pakistan.

Big celebrations planned in Pakistan Friday to celebrate the sixth anniversary of Pakistan independence were cancelled, except for parades of the armed forces. Prime Minister Ali will address a mass meeting.

Hostility against India found expression Tuesday night at an open-air meeting of 50,000 which shouted approval of a resolution asking for United Nations intervention in Kashmir to protect its Moslem population. Some demonstrators clambered on the platform with cries of "we want war."

Pedal 3,140 Miles

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jack Weavell and his wife Hazel, young newlyweds from Manchester, England, have pedalled into Vancouver Tuesday night to end a 3,140-mile bicycle jaunt across Canada.

They arrived on their tandem bicycle just 78 days after pushing off from Quebec City May 26. The Weavells, who hope to make Vancouver their home, said the whole trip from England cost them only $640.

In averaging 40 miles a day, the Weavells had two punctures, wore out the rear wheel, broke a few spokes and broke the back axle of their overworked tandem.

SPIRITUAL GUIDANCE—Father Paul Hammerl (left), of Buffalo, N.Y., takes time out from Communion Services at Panmunjom to talk with released PoW Pfc. Edgar Hinton, of St. Louis, Mo., who had just come through operation "Big Switch."

Boy 3 Anxiously Waits To Have Own Car

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — While most three-year-old boys are content to travel in the tricycle set, Michael Pageau is impatiently waiting for his father to put the finishing touches on a 10-foot, 500-pound automobile he has been building for the last few months.

His father, Robert Pageau, a 28-year-old cabinet maker, expects to have the vehicle ready for use in a few days but it may be some time before young Michael will be allowed to drive it himself.

Equipped with a 2.7 horsepower gasoline engine, the car will be capable of up to 25 miles an hour. "Of course," Mr. Pageau said, "it won't be geared that high until Mike is quite a bit older."

The car, a convertible, is made of molded plywood and solid wood and is painted a light blue.

Tenders Now Called For Defence School

ARNPRIOR (CP)—Tenders have been called for renovation of buildings at the former RCAF station here to house a new civil defence school, it was learned Wednesday night. Arnprior is about 50 miles west of Ottawa.

At the same time, it was learned that the Piasecki Helicopter company has been awarded a $5,000,000 government contract to assemble and service helicopters here.

Revenue Minister McCann indicated helicopter operators will be trained as part of the civil defence program.

Canada Packers Report Record Tonnage

TORONTO—A record volume of products sold, but lower dollar sales were revealed by J. S. McLean, President, in the report of Canada Packers Limited for year ended March 25th, 1953, just released. Sales volume was 1,859 million pounds compared with 1,708 million pounds the previous year, an increase of 8.8%. Dollar sales were down 1%, from $390,000,000 to $386,000,000.

Net earnings were $4,400,598, equivalent to slightly less than ¼c per pound of product sold and 1.14% of dollar sales, compared with just under ¼c per pound and ½ of 1 per cent of sales the preceding year. Since the company was organized in 1927, net earnings have averaged 16.2c per 100 lbs. of product sold and 1.105% of sales.

Mr. McLean points out that the decrease in dollar sales was not unexpected. While the prices of many foods registered only a slight change and a few advanced, prices of all meats, which represent 60% of the company's business, declined an average of 22%. The most drastic decline was in cattle, and consequently beef, prices. Between October, 1947, when ceiling prices were abolished and January, 1952, prices of good steers advanced from 13½c per lb. to 34c per lb.—an increase of 152%. During the same period the increase in the price of all foods (including meats) was 46%.

The results of the year made it possible for Canada Packers to resume bonus payments, and a sum of $1,700,000 was set aside for distribution to employees. Of this, $200,000 was distributed amongst retired employees, supplementing their retirement pension, remaining $1,500,000 went to active employees.

Voracious Fish

TORONTO (CP)—A burbot or ling, caught by Ontario lands and forests officials, had swallowed a pike 17 inches long. The ling, a predatory freshwater codfish, measured only 25 inches.

FAULTY SPRINKLER

A false alarm set off by a fault in the sprinkler system sent firemen hurrying at 3:10 a.m. today to the Canadian Nashua Paper Co.

APPOINTED LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR

Walter Howell, immediate past-president of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, has recently been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of district six of the Kiwanis Club, which takes in all clubs from Peterborough to Toronto.

RESULTS NOT RECEIVED

Results of the Upper School examinations written in June by students of St. Peter's High school, have not been received in the city it was announced this afternoon. The results of the PCVS students are to be found in today's paper.

IN AIR FORCE REVIEW

Flight Lieutenant Dean Kelly and Sergeant Sam Pollock of Peterborough participated in the recent RAF coronation review for the Queen held at RAF station Odiham, Hants, England. Thirty-six RCAF Canadian-built Sabres, stationed at No. 1 fighter wing, North Luffenham, England, were among the 600 aircraft present.

AUCTION OFF GLADIOLI

Following the song and dance follies and the presentation of awards at the annual two-day gladiolus show being held at the market hall, there will be an auction tonight of all gladioli entered in the show. The three winners of the door prizes were: Bill Millean, 109 McDonnel St.; V. W. Shaughnessy, 41 Crescent St., W. Lehman, 650 Downie St.

INITIATION

Four-year-old Johnny Westwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Westwood of 256 McGill St., went fishing with his brother David, 11, at Tindal's Bay, Chemong Lake, on Wednesday. A green bass 4¾ pounds took his hook and gave the lads some exciting moments up to the point of getting the fish into their landing net. "Gee, it jumped," commented noviate Johnny.

$65 ACCIDENT

Damage was estimated at $65 in an accident Wednesday afternoon on Charlotte St. near Aylmer. Drivers involved were Melville Mumford, 19, of Harcourt, and Charles Meyette, 44, of 198 Hazlitt. Meyette was driving west and Mumford pulling out of a parking spot at the north curb when the accident occurred. PC Ted Stephen investigated.

SET EXAMPLE

Kitchener has decided to follow the example of Peterborough in giving police officers instruction on how to give testimony in court. The officers will be shown how to prepare evidence for presentation in court and how to give it during a hearing. City and provincial police officers last winter attended a series of lectures along similar lines.

BUS TOUR OF CITY

When the Guelph Transportation Commission organized a scenic bus tour of the city, more than 1,000 sight-seers, most of them local residents, showed up. Only 850 of them could be accommodated, but the project proved so popular that another tour was arranged for today to take care, not only of those who had been disappointed, but many of the lucky ones who said they wanted to make the trip a second time.

Tete-A-Tete

Dancing can be dangerous and Margaret Ramsay, Aberdeen Ave., will verify that. While swinging through a good old-fashioned square dance Wednesday night at the Pines at Bridgenorth, Miss Ramsay's head met in contact with her partner's head. It was quite a tete-a-tete, but she didn't realize that then. When she went home, her landlady realized something was wrong. Believing the girl suffered from a slight concussion, she sent Miss Ramsay to Civic hospital. Early today the hospital reported Miss Ramsay's condition satisfactory and said she would be discharged.

Probing Shows Not Suitable For Industry

Test boring to determine the load bearing value of ground in the area south of Highway 7A and west of Erskine Ave., carried out from May 6 to June 4, indicate that heavy buildings, especially industrial sites, would have unstable foundations. The findings were revealed today.

C. E. Hawke, chief engineer for the Construction Boring Co. Ltd., recommended that loads of not more than one ton per square foot be put on any area unless piles were used and sunk to the hardpan which is approximately 40 feet from the surface.

"If piles were to be used we would recommend that a boring be put down at the exact spot where the building is to be constructed so as to get the depth to the solid material at that spot," said Hawke.

He went on in his report to say that, "owing to the amount of sand and water in this area we would not recommend that any building being built on it (specified area), have any large machines that would cause vibration, as the sand is very fine in places and any kind of vibration over a period of time would cause a settlement of the building."

SHOULD BE DRAINED

It is the opinion of the Construc Boring Ltd., "that it would improve the whole area investigated by us, if ditches were dug to drain all the surface water. Water level over the whole area was approximately two to three feet and pumping quickly reduced it to zero."

The three holes drilled in the vicinity generally indicate the same geological formation. Layers of fine, grey and brown sand, interspersed with gravel and clay, and varying in moisture from slight to extreme amounts, make up the first 36 feet. At this approximate depth a hardpan is reached which is described as having "good load bearing value." The estimated bearing value is ten tons per square foot.

The approximate cost of the drilling operations was $2,500.

Woman Gets $763.60 For $2 On Local Horse

NEW HAMBURG (CP) — A woman who refused to give her name pocketed a $763.60 payoff for a $2 straight bet on Lady Victoria J. at a harness racing meet here Wednesday. Lady Victoria J is owned by Dr. Arthur Johnston of Peterborough and was driven by Jimmy McIntyre of Peterborough.

The anonymous punter held the only ticket on the winner of the second heat in the third race.

The mutuel clerk who sold the winning ticket said the woman obviously was a newcomer to the races. She asked him how to place a bet, he said, and then chose Lady Victoria J. because she liked the name.

The payoff is believed the highest ever paid on a $2 straight bet at a Canadian track.

GLADIOLI AT THEIR BEST were shown Wednesday and today at the Gladiolus and Flower Show in the market hall. Pair Used Guns To Halt Cars, Freed By Court

LINDSAY (ENS)—Two Toronto men, Frank Spence and Jack Prentice, Wednesday had three charges—two of carrying weapons for a purpose dangerous to the public peace, and one of impersonating a police officer — dismissed by Magistrate Gee, in one of the most involved cases heard in the Lindsay court for some time.

The charges were laid on the complaint of Kenneth Hart, of Omemee. Hart told the court that after finishing his work at a Thurstonia Park dance pavilion on Sturgeon Lake on August 2, he started to drive toward Dunsford on Highway 36. He noticed a car with flaring headlights, he said, and when he came closer found it parked across the road, blocking it.

When he stopped, he said, Prentice, carrying a shotgun, approached and asked for his name, address, licence, and destination. Hart, understanding that he was an officer, gave the details to him. He was also told, he claimed, that the other man, Spence, who appeared with a pistol tucked in his belt, was an officer "on the Toronto force."

After completing the investigation and explaining that an attempt had been made to steal their car, the two men allowed Hart to go his way. But when he passed their parked car, he said he noticed a woman in the front seat. Becoming suspicious, he drove to Dunsford, roused the telephone operator and relayed a call to Provincial Police via Peterborough headquarters. He then started back toward the scene of the incident.

SECOND CAR STOPPED

Meanwhile, another driver, Dan Molloy, 19, of Toronto, was also stopped. He saw Hart being questioned and got out his car. He was also questioned, allegedly by Spence, who told him, too, that he was "on the Toronto force" and that they had authority from the OPP to search cars.

A third man, unnoticed by Hart, but whom Spence and Prentice claimed was there, was heard to say he was a member of the OPP. Molloy also was allowed to go. After inspecting the two cars, according to the two accused, they drove to Dunsford, still suspicious that Hart had been the only one they noticed attempting to take their car. His car, they said resembled the one they had noticed driving away.

When all three parties, Hart, Molloy and the two accused arrived in Dunsford, the accused again searched Hart's parked car, just before Provincial Constable Jim Hall arrived from Lindsay. The accused claimed they had phoned Provincial Police earlier, and produced the telephone slips they had received at Dunsford. Their counsel, Col. R. I. Moore, claimed they proved their contention they had authority to search cars. "Perhaps their methods were slightly dangerous," he said, "but the guns weren't loaded at any time, and no one was threatened with them."

Magistrate Gee, trying the case of impersonating an officer against Spence first, dismissed the charge on the defence contention that though Spence said he belonged to "the Toronto force," he had not specified which "force" He then intimated he would dismiss the weapons charges against both men, and they were withdrawn by the Crown. The guns were returned to the two cottagers.

T. H. Jackson Top Exhibitor In Annual Gladiolus Show

A display of more than a thousand colorful gladiolus blooms filled the market hall Wednesday to open the annual two-day Peterborough and District Gladiolus Show. The T. Eaton Trophy for the exhibitor obtaining the highest number of points was awarded to T. H. Jackson of Peterborough.

Also included on the program was a demonstration of floral arrangements by six floral artists and a song and dance follies staged by Judith Welch.

The ladies' sweepstake, for the lady obtaining the greatest number of points in the artistic division, was awarded to Mrs. C. Plunkett.

Drivers Asked To Be Cautious Near Play Spots

When school is dismissed for summer holidays, motorists heave a visible sigh of relief, secure in the knowledge they can now discard usual caution exercised at school crossings.

Few realize, however, that many more, in fact hundreds of thousands of street crossings are made during the summer by children of school and pre-school age on their way to and from city playgrounds.

Many of these children, not having attended school, have had no safety training and as a result, endanger themselves every time they go out.

City Police Traffic Constable Don Mackay has utilized the traffic caution cones used on school crossings in attempting to protect the children. Over the top plate reading "school zone" he has fastened cards marked "play grounds" warning drivers to slow down in the areas in which they are placed.

IN SOUTH FIRST

First playground to benefit by this new system will be McKellar Park, between Hamilton and McKellar Sts. This ground has attracted an attendance of up to 2,575 children a week.

Children travelling to and from the park have had several close calls already, although, fortunately, none have been injured.

Constable Mackay asked drivers, especially truck drivers making deliveries in residential areas, to use caution in playground districts.

Thieves Rob Two Garages

STIRLING (ENS)—Two district garages, at Foxboro and south of Frankford, were entered Tuesday night, and cash and cigarette were stolen.

At Foxboro, the thieves smashed a window in a rear door, entered, and stole about $20 in cash, credit cards worth about $60, and a negotiable note worth $100.

At the Stan Herrington Garage south of Frankford on Highway 33, Mr. Herrington was called out during the night when a neighbor reported noises at the garage. He found the rear door had been forced. He found nothing taken, secured the door, and went home.

Wednesday morning he entered and found the front door had been forced and about $600 in cash, credit cards and cheques stolen. Some cigarettes were also missing. Provincial police are investigating.

Woollens Employees Suggest Contract

Contract proposals were drawn up Wednesday night by union employees of the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds plant and they will soon be forwarded to management.

The Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CL) are the bargaining agents for 150 production workers at the plant. They were certified by the Ontario Labor Relations Board late in July after a hearing earlier in the month when the union filed 107 cards from workers in support of their claim.

The application on behalf of the production workers was made in June. At that time 102 cards were filed. Five more were filed at the time of the hearing before the OLRB.

On the negotiating committee of the local are President Gerald Wood, and George Drury, Donna High, Ernest Burton and Peggy Purvis. They are being assisted by Ray A. Ruggles, director for the Greater Toronto Textile Joint Board, and Dick Hinde, TWUA international representative.

City To Buy King St. Site For $20,000 To Build Parking Lot

Four Houses Will Be Demolished To Make Room; Will Handle 67 Cars Expected To Be Ready By Next Spring

City council has authorized the purchase, for $20,000, of property on King St., opposite the Colonial Coach Lines bus terminal, for future development as a downtown parking lot. The property has a frontage of 113 feet, three inches, and a depth of 192 feet and will provide metered parking space for 67 cars.

The site at present contains four houses which will have to be demolished by contract to make way for the new project, which it is hoped to have established by next spring. The property is owned by the Medical Centre.

The problem of finding new parking facilities in the downtown area has been under study for some time by city council, it special traffic committee and the city planning committee.

NONE BETTER

Certain other locations were investigated but there were difficulties in acquiring them and none was considered any better than the one on King St., according to city clerk E. A. Outram.

Mr. Outram describes the site as a handy one from every vantage point. It is centrally located and easily accessible.

"If anyone has any better sites to suggest, we would like to hear about them," Mr. Outram said today.

The problem of providing downtown parking is one that plagues Peterborough as much as practically every other city on the continent. Chiefly a headache for merchants, the rapid increase in private car ownership in the last couple of decades filled the streets will all-day parkers who tended to keep shoppers, especially visitors from out of town, away from the stores.

The attack on the all-day parking problem began with the introduction of meters which, it was hoped, would clear busy streets of cars whose owners spent the day in downtown offices and stores.

CRITICIZED

When parking meter revenues began to soar, there was wide-spread criticism that city councils were using them as a bountiful source of revenue rather than a means of traffic control. Last year the Peterborough police department collected $31,689.37 from regular meters and $11,469.80 from meters in the city square parking lot on the old market place.

But when city council Tuesday night approved installation of meters on several more downtown streets, Mayor Hugh Waddell maintained it was "to prevent all-day parking and to keep traffic moving," rather than for revenue.

"It's about the most effective method cities have found for doing that," Ald. T. D. Miller elaborated.

Installation of meters on the new King St. parking lot will be for the same reason.

"It's the only way to handle a parking lot without having people stay all day," the city clerk said today.

Traffic Officer Praised By Visitor

A Peterborough traffic officer, William A. Scott, received compliments of the highest order in a letter from a Toronto man, Wesley Parkes.

Parkes was involved in an accident Saturday on Water St., and wrote to Chief Constable John Thompson that the officer who investigated was "most courteous and helpful . . . I cannot speak too highly of this officer," the letter said, and if the rest of your 'finest' is of the same calibre, you have a force you can be justly proud of."

5 Subdivisions Added To Polls For Bigger City

Peterborough's rapid growth in size and population in the last few years has made it necessary to increase the number of polling subdivisions for city elections.

Five new subdivisions have been added this year to bring the total up to 67. Until now, there have been 62.

In the west ward, former subdivision No. 25, bounded on the north by Weller St., on the east by Monaghan Rd. and Margaret Ave., on the west by Gordon St. W. and Albertus Ave. and on the south by Sherbrooke St., has been divided in half at Charlotte St.

In the east ward, former subdivision No. 47, bounded on the north by Parkhill Rd., on the west by Armour Rd., on the south by Caddy St. and on the east by the eastern boundary of the city, has been divided in half at Swanston Ave.

PART OF SMITH

In the north ward, part of the area annexed from Smith township has been added to subdivisions Nos. 35 and 44 and three additional subdivisions have been created.

Because they are located in the annexed area, subdivisions Nos. 47, 48 and 49 are temporary, city clerk E. A. Outram stated in announcing the changes. During the next few years, he explained, new housing subdivisions will be completed and it will be necessary from time to time to change these divisions.

Reason for splitting No. 25, he said ,was that the subdivision had grown considerably and the voters in this part exercise their franchise to a greater extent than that of any other part of the city.

He said that No. 47 had been divided because the voters there also exercise their franchise to a great extent.

Blocks Street Entrance House To Come Down

Slated for demolition this fall is the city-owned house at 531 Parnell St., which at present blocks the entrance of Lynch St.

The house was bought by the city in the early 1940's in order to complete the intersection of the two streets. Meanwhile traffic has been proceeding around the house in order to get from one street to the other.

The present tenant, William H. Curtis, has been advised to vacate the house by the end of September.

PIPELINE SHAPES UP — The eight sections of pipeline that will form the first of the crude oil links across the Straits of Mackinac, near Sault Ste Marie, Ont., are given last minute tests by workmen. The 2,500-feet sections are beinng towed into place by a 200-ton pulling engine, located nearly four miles distant at the Lower Michigan peninsula. Straddling the pipe at 80-foot intervals are pontoons filled with compressed air. They will prevent the 20-inch line from digging into the bottom of the Straits.

Won't Return To Red Domination Says Marshal Tito

By ALEX SINGLETON

BRIONI, Yugoslavia (AP) -President Josip Broz Tito pledged Tuesday that Communist yugoslavia never will return to Russian domination, predicted Red China eventually will pursue an "absolutely indpendent policy," and said prospects for avoiding a third world war look better now.

Here on the beautiful Adriatic island of Brioni, where Yugoslavia maintains an unofficial summer capital, Marshal Tito granted an exclusive interview to the Associated Press. He answered spontaneously more than a score of questions about world and domestic affairs.

His answers reflected confidence, tempered by some caution, that both are improving.

WON'T TURN BACK

At the outset, he made it clear that Yugoslavia never will return to the position of close co-operation with Russia on world problems which it practised prior to this country's break with the Soviet-dominated Cominform in 1948. It is perhaps his most positive statement on that point until now.

"No matter how the Soviet Union changes its foreign policy in the direction of improving relations and approaching settlement of all international questions by way of agreement, Yugoslvia never would return to its previous position, that is, to the policy of co-operating with the Soviet Union on all questions regardless of whether such co-operation is in the interests of Yugoslavia or in harmony with the desires of a peaceful nation," he said.

"Yugoslavia wants normal relations with the Soviet Union just as she wants them with all countries in the world."

NEITHER ONE

Tito was asked whether Malenkov or the Red Army was the real boss of Russia now. He expressed belief that it was neither one nor the other, adding:

"The Russian leaders are now returning to the policy of giving priority to the party, of letting it have the leading role."

Of the truce in Korea, Tito said he believed the peace conference, "although it will not be able to settle the problem in its entirety, will nevertheless in a certain sense consolidate what has been achieved so far, that is the avoidance of future conflicts there."

Asked about the possibility of a break between Red China and Russia, Tito observed that "this will depend on the type of policy the Soviet Union pursues toward China. An absolute break need not occur, but what may happen is that China may begin to pursue an absolutely independent policy and may begin making independent decisions about her own future and free herself from the influence of anyone."

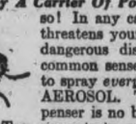
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, August 13th — No more wash-day "let-down" for me. Now when my wash is done, it's not only clean, it's sparkling white ... truly a "dream wash". And you know the simple secret? Just use Blue. Yes, it's easy to get sparkling white sheets, towels, pillow cases and table linen when you use Blue. You and I know you have to rinse clothes clean, then it's simple to put a dash of Blue in the water to get them really white. Blue is kind to your finest fabrics—you're not taking chances when you use it to get your washings snowy white. And the cost? ... A few pennies a month, that's all.

Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE



"Oh Boy!" you can almost hear your pup say, when you give him the dog food with lean red meat. None other but famous KEN-L-RATION! Ken-L-Ration with lean red meat provides the protein dogs must have for normal growth and development ... all dogs, that is. For Ken-L-Ration is a complete food for dogs of all breeds. And it costs only pennies a serving. Get several cans of Ken-L-Ration ... then send for this SPECIAL OFFER—a unique Puppy and Kitty Salt-and-Pepper Set—only 25c in coins or stamps—plus 2 can labels from Ken-L-Ration Dog Food (or Puss 'n Boots Cat Food). Send to—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Is The Housefly A Carrier Of Polio? Many health authorities think so! In any case, I do know that this filthy pest threatens your family with over 20 different and dangerous diseases. That's why it's just plain common sense during these late summer months to spray every room every day with a FLY-TOX AEROSOL. This new, handy, push-button dispenser is no bigger than a water tumbler. Yet it contains a Fly-Tox concentrate equal in strength to 1¼ gallons of FLY-TOX LIQUID SPRAY. At a touch of your finger it will keep your home "insect-free" for many weeks, yet costs you only pennies a day!

Have You Ever Longed for a "FAIRY GODMOTHER" to give you "new" feet in exchange for the old? Well, I know a more practical answer to the problem of painful corns and calluses. It's Phenylium, the wonder-working ingredient in BLUE-JAY Corn Plasters. Phenylium gets right down under the corn and helps push it out from underneath ... the first really new medication for corns and calluses in over seventy years! In actual tests, Phenylium went to work 33% faster and worked 35% more surely than other leading remedies. Why don't you enjoy this wonderful relief from painful feet? ... ask for Blue-Jays with Phenylium at your favourite drug counter today.

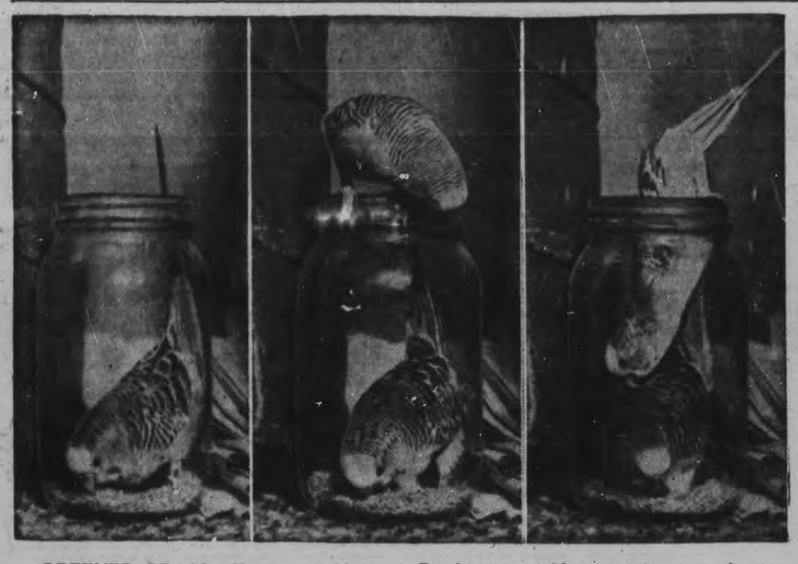
Remember That Song ..."Summertime — and the living is easy"? Actually, summer is a busy time of year. That's why the experts say it's important to eat well. A good breakfast, for instance, with hot "CREAM OF WHEAT", gives you enough quick-starting food energy to last right up to lunch time. And here's something else — for best summertime eating, there should be one hot dish with every meal. What could be better than "CREAM OF WHEAT" as the breakfast "hot dish"? It's so smooth and delicious. And it gives you iron for good red blood and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in those elements. Yes, hot "Cream of Wheat" is good breakfast eating for a busy, happy summer!

Baby's Ready And So Are You when his mealtime comes around. When you give him FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATO for supper, you don't have to worry about boiling potatoes beforehand. It actually takes just one minute to whip up a serving of creamy-smooth mashed potatoes with French's Instant Potato. And it's so good for baby. You see, it's made from top quality potatoes, pre-cooked by a special process that preserves the important nutrients. Simply follow the instructions on the package to make exactly the amount you want—with no waste. Incidentally, baby's serving is prepared differently from grown-ups' servings. The package will tell you how.

It Goes To The Cottage With Me. Because wherever I can boil water, I can have a cup of NEW INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. You know, it's 100% real coffee, made by a new process that keeps the flavour and aroma, in fact, the very colour and texture of freshly ground coffee. And talk about magic! New Instant Chase & Sanborn dissolves instantly in hot or cold water. It's so easy to prepare ... and so economical. Saves me up to 40c a pound compared with regular coffee. Once you've tried it, you'll want to make it your regular coffee ... everywhere you go.

There's Definitely A Difference ... your family will taste it right away. Pickles pickled in HEINZ WHITE VINEGAR are perfect. That's because crystal-clear Heinz White Vinegar is distilled and aged by the firm who made pickles famous. It's full-bodied in flavour — uniform in strength ... and it makes pickles your family will rave about. So ask your grocer for the thrifty gallon jug of Heinz White Vinegar and, incidentally, if the free recipe booklet, "Pickling Success" isn't attached to the jug —write to me for yours ... Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Surprise Your Baby with this good-to-eat treat ... FARLEY'S RUSKS. Treat him to these famous English rusks often—they're so good for him! You see, they're made from specially milled English wheat flour and other important-for-baby nutrients—and fortified with calcium and phosphorus to aid in bone and tooth development. Crush them, cover with warm milk and feed them to baby in a spoon or simply let him eat them in hand. For children, invalids and old folks, too, ask for Farley's Rusks in the yellow box with the cellophane top.



You Don't Have To Be A Hay Fever Victim to appreciate the gentle softness of Face-Elle tissue handkerchiefs. But for those who are, Face-Elle provides more nose comfort than any other tissue. The reason: It's made of the purest Canadian cellulose with no harsh filler to irritate tender skin. It's lint-free too and more absorbent. ... And Face-Elle's velvet-smooth caress gives luxurious comfort yet costs no more! And only FACE-ELLE offers 3-PLY strength in regular or big man-size tissues. So remember to ask for Face-Elle by name whether for hay-fever or ordinary use.

Have You Seen Them? You'll be fascinated by the new GURNEY Gas Ranges. They have all the latest features and they're actually "Kitchen Tested" for perfect cooking and baking. Take my tip—see your Gurney dealer tomorrow. He'll be glad to show you the new Gurney Ranges ... from the "Deluxe Table Top" model with the divided top range that gives you plenty of elbow-room—Dual Feature Minute Minder and a host of other "Deluxe" features ... to the new "Three Quarter Table Top" Range and the trim "Deluxe Model 14G68X". All of them with modern improvements to delight the heart of any good cook ... and all, of course, with the famous Gurney sound construction.

GREENER GRASS—Skippy, an adventurous budgie, left, discovers that the interesting looking stuff in the glass jar is bird seed. Not that he's hungry, because his own bird cage contains plenty of seed. Then Butchie, a neighbor, peering into the jar, centre, figures the forbidden fruit must be something special. After a few words, Butchie makes a move, right, for what he feels should be his share.

Accordion Fences Keep Cows On Varied Diets Of Grass

WASHINGTON—The life of a cow, once lived in pastoral association with daisies and dairymaids, has become a factory existence.

Modern cows have cafeterias. They have efficiency ratings, on which the marks, as far as they are concerned, read from Grade-A to Abattoir. Movable electric fencing confines them to shrewdly calculated daily bits of meadow.

Cow cafeterias deliver breakfast of cut green grass, says the National Geographic Society. Overhead feeding devices, for all the world like automat restaurants, dole out scientifically measured rations of hay and grain.

When they are allowed to eat out, cows are chaperoned by disagreeably but not dangerously charged wires. Dairy operators using the modern system of "accordion pastures" divide their meadows into plots that are varied in size to suit the growing season. Each day, fence and herd are moved.

Favorable reports on the system have come in from such widely separated states as California and New Hampshire. Proponents say it provides as much as a third more feed, which means less supplementary grain feeding. Also, they add, it makes cows eat a varied diet, for a cow is a great one to wander around a large pasture, eating only one variety of its grasses. In a small space, she eats everything rather than go hungry.

Like factory workers coming off a shift, cows have hot shower baths. Dairy farm loafing barns and stainless steel milking sheds with electric milking machines are nothing more than industrial processing plants.

Name Montreal Flier Belgium Air Attache

OTTAWA (CP)—Wing Cdr. E. L. Wurtele, 39, of Saint John, N.B., and Montreal, has been appointed Canadian naval military and air attache to Belgium and air attache to Norway and Denmark, the RCAF announced today.

Educated in Montreal, he joined the RAF in 1936, coming to Canada in 1943 as chief instructor at Patricia Bay on Vancouver Island.

He transferred to the RCAF and attended the RCAF staff college at Toronto in 1946. He served two years as RCAF liaison officer in Newfoundland when that province entered Confederation.

No successor was named to his post as commanding officer of the RCAF station at Toronto.

Nordic Co-operation

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Three inter-Nordic conventions in the field of social welfare were signed at a recent meeting in Reykjavik by social affairs ministers of the northern countries. They stipulate that mothers, when living in another Nordic country, are entitled to the same maternity benefits they receive in their native country.

British General Dead

TYWFORD, England (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Sir Noel Mason-MacFarlane, head of the Allied control commission in occupied Italy in 1944, died Wednesday. He was 63. Mason-MacFarlane, who led Britain's military mission to Moscow from 1941-1942, retired from the army after the war and entered parliament as a Labor member in 1945. He resigned in 1946 due to ill-health.

Mrs. Carl Oliver

HASTINGS (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Carl Oliver was held from her home to Trinity United Church for service, with Rev. N. Cole officiating.

Born Edith Elizabeth Bowen, she was a daughter of James Bowen and Anne Hubble of Gravenhurst. She resided in Campbellford before coming to Hastings to reside 29 years ago. She was a member of Trinity United Church and a member of the Evening Auxiliary.

Surviving are her husband, five daughters, Mrs. Murray Stevens (Muriel) of Newmark, Eva of Toronto, Doris, Frances and Karen of Hastings; two sons, Raymond and Kenneth of Hastings; five sisters, Mrs. A. Johnston (Beatrice) of Northwood, Mrs. C. McGuiness (Eileen) of Singhampton, Mrs. E. Bradley (Winnifred) of Sudbury, and Jessie of British Columbia; three brothers, Charles of Sudbury, William and Earl, and her parents of Gravenhurst.

Burial was in Trent Valley cemetery.

Pallbearers were I. Bonds Jr., F. Crate, W. Dainard, R. Masters, F. Morrow and C. Lockhart. Flowerbearers were J. Morrow, B. Sullivan, F. Parker, J. Duff, J. Free, J. Coupes, R. McGuire, E. Richardson, A. Beamish, R. Williamson.

Seeks U.S. Investment

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Labor Minister Harold E. Holt said here that Australia can expect an increased flow of U.S. capital investment because of improved Australian employment conditions and a recent taxation agreement between the two countries.

Crowd Damages Mayor's House

WATERLOO, Que. (CP) — A crowd estimated at 200, angered by what it considered unjustified dismissal of Police and Fire Chief Antonin Robillard, attacked the home of Mayor Raoul Deragon Tuesday night, causing damage placed by the mayor at more than $2,000.

The demonstration followed a special meeting of the council of this Shefford County town of 4,000, 60 miles east of Montreal.

The dismissal followed a special meeting of the council at which Mayor Deragon said the chief was dismissed for "failing to act in the best interests of the town." After receiving the notice the chief called the volunteer firemen together by sounding the town siren and related the situation to them. They also decided to resign. The special constables acted similarly later.

A number of citizens gathered at night and finally a parade to the mayor's house began. The crowd shouted and sang. Soon a rock was thrown, then others. Three large windows in the house and windows in the garage were broken. The garage doors were smashed and the telephone wires cut.

U.S. Casualty List

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defence department Wednesday announced a new total of 142,294 U.S. battle casualties in what may be the next to last weekly summary of the Korean war.

The new total was 589 higher than last week's. It reflected the start of the prisoner exchange by listing 35 fewer current missing and 166 fewer known prisoners.

Dies Under Truck

PORT CREDIT (CP)—A. Leivo of Erindale was fatally injured Wednesday when the gravel truck he was driving overturned on the Queen Elizabeth way, pinning him underneath. The accident occurred when the truck crashed into the side of a car driven by Donald Speed, 17, of Morpeth, near Chatham.

Textiles For Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (CP)—Eight textile mills will start functioning shortly in East Pakistan. The government has recommended permits to six companies to establish two more under its own sponsorship. Japanese technicians are setting up the mills.

Deepest Descent

TOULON, France (AP) — The French Navy ministry announced Wednesday that two of its naval officers had descended nearly a mile below the surface of the ocean, the lowest point ever reached by man under water. The ministry said the men, Capt. Houet and engineer's mate Willm, had plunged 1,550 metres, or 5,082 feet, in a French bathysphere.

HERE'S HOW—Ben Hogan, recent winner of the British Open Golf Championship, shows President Eisenhower, a keen golfer himself, how he holds his club, as Mrs. Hogan looks on. There was no club handy so the President handed Hogan a letter opener with which to demonstrate his famous grip. Hogan was in Washington for Exhibition matches over the weekend and called upon the President at the White House.

U.S. Team Scales Rockies' Highest

JASPER, Alta.—Mighty Mount Robson, highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, has been climbed for the third time this year. Word of the new ascent by five United States climbers was brought today to Harold J. Gunning, manager of Jasper Park Lodge by Mount Robson Park forest ranger Jack Wilson.

Latest party to conquer the 12,972 foot peak included Will Siri, Allen Steck and Bill Dunmire of Berkeley, Calif., Dick Houston of San Francisco, and Bill Long of Richmond, Calif.

The California group followed the same route up the mountain, previously unclimbed since 1938, as the other two 1953 climbing expeditions. Manager Gunning said the Californians are members of the Himalayan expedition planning next summer's attempt on 27,790 foot Mount Nakalu the fourth highest mountain in the world. They made the Mount Robson ascent to test high altitude equipment.

LAND RECLAIMED

Nearly 11,500 acres of waste land were reclaimed in the first six months of India's community program.

Fisheries Experts Refuse To Say Sea Monsters Don't Exist Off Coasts

OTTAWA (CP)—Do sea monsters exist off Canada's coasts? You'll see a sea monster on Parliament Hill here sooner than you'll find a fisheries biologist who will come out with a flat "no" to that one. A qualified "no," maybe, but never a flat one. Particularly after that ghastly thing dredged up off Africa some months ago, a monster supposed to have become extinct 2,000,000 years ago. A fisheries department expert here was asked to comment on two reports: (a) that fishermen at West Dover, N.S., had been chased by a fish described as 30 feet long with a yellow head and grey body; and (b) that iron miners on Bell Island in Conception Bay on Newfoundland's east coast had seen a 40-foot monster of greenish hue with dark stripes.

"The probability exists there are many fish—and large ones—in the sea that we do not know," he said.

LOOK IN BOOK

In case that should keep fishermen awake nights, he hurriedly added: "But nothing has ever been seen in Canadian waters, and authenticated, that is not listed in a science book somewhere—to date."

The fisheries expert said that from time to time fish appear in regions where they have no business being. Fishermen see a "monster" and may become excited about the find, whereas it is only a fish from another clime.

He mentioned an instance where a basking shark had been caught near Prince Rupert, B. C. By the time biologists had heard of the catch, the fish had sprouted figurative whiskers and hair. Yet the 18-to-20-foot shark was comparatively common.

Canada's fishing records on the east coast go back 400 years, on the west coast nearly 150. But know ledge of fish which exist—or may exist—in deep waters is limited or altogether unobtainable. Little or nothing is known of possible monsters lurking below 100 fathoms, such as the South Africa catch, said to be the link between land and sea creatures.

When the trans-Atlantic cable was hoisted to the surface for repairs after the First World War, strange, ugly, previously unknown fish were found clinging to the line.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY

The fisheries expert said that if there is anything to the West Dover and Bell Island reports, "it will be the first time in recorded Canadian fishing history."

This flat statement gave the cold shoulder to both Victoria's Cadborosaurus—Caddy for short — and Okanagan lake's Ogopogo doesn't live in the sea now but, as everybody knows, he swam from the Pacific to Okanagan lake by means of subterranean rivers.

A tourist reported two years ago he had taken photographs of Victoria's monster. As luck would have it, he dropped his camera over the side of the boat in the excitement.

One suggestion is that Halifax and Bell Island think up tourist-trade names for their monsters without delay.

Ask Joint Action On Pollution Problem

BRANTFORD (CP)—Representatives of most of the municipalities in the Grand river valley Wednesday night passed a resolution calling for immediate joint action by all the municipalities to remedy the serious pollution problem.

Hon. Dr. McKinnon Phillips, Ontario minister of health, noting that this was the first occasion when such joint proposal had been put forward, said it would be important for the municipalities to appeal to Ottawa for support.

Because of pollution the Grand river has been condemned for swimming in Brantford and some other points.

Coal Plant

FERNIE, B.C. (CP)—The Crows Nest Coal Co. has started a $600,000 coal briquette plant at its Michel colliery. The plant, due for completion in February, will produce 1,400 tons of briquettes daily.

HAMILTON, ONTARIO

Celebrating 90th Birthday Mrs. J. Robinson Still Active

MILLBROOK (Staff).—Despite her 90 years, Mrs. Jane Robinson is an avid book-worm.

"I read all the books I can get hold of," says Mrs. Robinson, who is celerating her 90th birthday today.

Mrs. Robinson, whose taste in literature is for novel "but not detective stories," does all her reading, including the newspapers, with ut the aid of glasses.

The passing years have scarcely left their mark on Mrs. Robinson. She admits that her hearing is not as goo as it used to be but, although she likes to listen to the radio occasionally, she prefers to read.

GLASSES FOR SEWING

She finds she needs glasses in order to sew but she does little of that now, explaining that it keeps her busy most of the time doing the housework in the neat frame house on Main St., where she lives with Mrs. Ida Patton, who is a mere 85 years old.

Mrs. Robinson likes to walk downtown at least once a week to do the shopping.

The last surviving member of a family of four girls and three boys, she was born August 13, 1863, on the 8th concession of Clark township, Durham county, daughter of the late George Kidd Simpson and the former Jane Manes.

Her family moved to Cavan township from Clark and there she met her future husband, Thomas James Robinson, a native of Otonabee township. The couple were married in North Monaghan township.

RETIRED FROM FARM

Later, Mr. Robinson farmed on the Zion line, southwest of Millbrook, for 12 years, before he retired and moved into Millbrook to live in the house now occupied by Mrs. Robinson. He died 14 years ago.

The couple had no children but Mrs. Robinson's nephew, Suttle Pritchard, farms near Millbrook on the 4th concession. His son Donald is an implement dealer in the village. The remainder of her relatives live in Clark township.

A member of the United Church, Mrs. Robinson still attends Sunday services but decided to forego the activities of women's organizations when she moved into the village because of her advancing years.

CELEBRATING HER 90TH BIRTHDAY today, Mrs. Jane Robinson, of Millbrook, who does the housework in her house on Main St., still reads without the aid of glasses. "I like a good story," she says, but has no taste for detective novels.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Killed By Arrow

RIFLE, Colo. (AP)—Jack Allen Porter, 11, was killed — shot through the heart by an arrow—in an accident Wednesday. Coroner Wayne Burdge said the boy was retrieving arrows shot into bales of hay by Ronnie Cole, 14. Young Porter was protected behind the piles of bales and, apparently thinking the other youth had fired all the arrows, stood up just as the last one neared the hay.

Hastings WA Holds Meeting For August

HASTINGS (ENS)—Mrs. F. C. Foster was hostess to group 2 of the Women's Association for their meeting on Tuesday; 23 members and two visitors were present.

Worship was in charge of Miss K. German and scripture was read by Mrs. E. Burke. The theme was taken by Miss German; the worship period closed with prayer. The secretary Mrs. A. Poole and treasurer, Mrs. H. Oliver, gave their reports. The president, Mrs. Arthur Beamish, presided for the business period. An afternoon tea is planned for Aug. 20 at Elm-Mere, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Foster. Committee in charge will be Mrs. H. Anderson, Mrs. W. Buck and Mrs M. Baker.

Mrs R Collins and Mrs W. Wray are to be in charge of the flowers for the church for September.

Mrs. Virgil Oliver thanked the ladies for the cards and flowers she received while ill in the hospital. Committee for the meeting in September, Miss K. German, Mrs. J. Essex, Mrs. L. Fallis and Mrs. Wm. Fleming.

Miss K German read an address and Mrs. F. Foster presented Mrs. Fallis with a pen and a corsage. Mrs. Fallis has moved to Peterborough.

Uranium Resources Hold Great Future For Australia

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — A bearded Canadian-born scientist, Prof. Harry Messel, is trying to convince Australians that their country's uranium resources may make it the richest and most powerful nation in the world, if they make proper use of them.

In tours through the country, he is preaching that the uranium fields at Rum Jungle in the Northern Territory and Radium Hill in South Australia one day will make Australia "the United States of the southern hemisphere."

Appointed head of the physics school at Sydney University early this year, the 31-year-old ex-para-trooper who was born at Levine Siding, Man., has plans for making his school a world centre of nuclear research. He has already obtained the services of five top atomic scientists from overseas and is now seeking, and getting, the financial support of big business.

He tells his audiences that the U.S. and Canada are great countries because they have the water, coal and oil resources to supply cheap power and that although Australia has none of these sources of power on the same scale, she does have two of the world's biggest uranium deposits right in her own back yard and these could be used to produce vast amounts of atomic power.

Prof. Messel says science and uranium could turn the great Australian desert into grasslands, provide cheap power for a tremendous expansion of heavy industry and make Australia the wealthiest nation in the world.

He wants to build up at Sydney University one of the greatest research teams in the world. He hopes not only to discourage brilliant young Australians from going overseas, but also to bring to Australia the cream of overseas scientists.

Prof. Messel hopes to work in close co-operation with big business. Private firms can become members of his nuclear research organization and share in the research results by paying an annual subscription of from $900 to $4,500.

He has told private enterprise that if it supports him Australia can have nuclear power stations working within eight years. Australia's complete power needs could be met with about 15 to 20 tons of uranium a year, he estimates.

As a long shot to tickle the imagination of the common man, he has forecast that atomic - power will heat homes, drive cars and enable aircraft to span the world in an hour.

OBITUARY

GORDON ZACK TAYLOR

Gordon Zack Taylor, three-year-old son of Horace Taylor and the former Kathleen Smoke, of Curve Lake, died Tuesday at his parents' home, following a prolonged illness.

He is survived by his parents, one brother, Maurice and three sisters: Linda, Donna and Virginia.

The funeral service will be held Friday at the parents' home. The Rev. W. B. Day, of the Church on the Rock, Burleigh Falls, will officiate. Burial will be in Curve Lake cemetery.

MRS. ROLSTON MacAFEE

Mrs. Louise MacAfee, 68, of 348 Burnham St., died Wednesday in city hospital, following a prolonged illness.

Mrs. MacAfee was born and raised in Peterborough, daughter of the late James Fox and the former Rachel Shields. She has lived in Peterborough a lifetime and was a member of St. John's Anglican church. Her husband, Rolston MacAfee, predeceased her a number of years ago.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. G. L. Hay (Rose) of Peterborough, and one brother, W. C. Fox of Calgary, Alberta

The funeral will be held Saturday at the Comstock funeral home at 2 p.m. The Rev. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson will officiate. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Brig. Anderson To Command Army Brigade

OTTAWA (CP) — Appointment of Brig. W. A. B. Anderson, 38, of Montreal as commander of the Canadian Brigade in Germany was announced today by Army headquarters.

The appointment is one of four involving senior army officers. They will take effect this fall.

Brig. Anderson will be replaced as commander of Western Ontario area by Brig. T. G. Gibson, 45, of Toronto, now deputy chief of the general staff at Ottawa.

Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, 45, of Toronto, present commander of the 27th Brigade in Germany, will become army member of the Canadian joint chief staff at London, England. The present army member of the joint staf, Brig. R. W. Moncel, 36, of Montreal, will take over as deputy chief of the general staf, replacing Brig. Gibson.

Brig. Anderson, a member of one of Canada's most distinguished soldier families, is a former director of military intelligence. At 26, he was one of the youngest lieutenant-colonels in the Canadian Army.

He served with headquarters First Canadian Army in northwest Europe in 1944-45, three years ago was appointed director of the Canadian Army Staff College and in December, 1951, was promoted to his present rank and appointed commander of Western Ontario area.

Brig. Pangman commanded the Carleton and York Regiment in Sicily and Italy and later the Essex Scottish in northwest Europe. He won the Distinguished Service Order. He later served as director, military operations and plans, and commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade replacement group at Wainwright, Alta. He took over as comander of the 27th Brigade last December.

Brig. Moncel commanded the 4th Canadian Armored Brigade in Europe and won the DSO for gallantry and leadership in the Hochwald forest fighting in Germany. He also won the French Croix de Guerre. He was appointed to the Canadian joint staff three years ago.

Brig. Gibson served in the Italian and northwest Europe campaigns as an infantry brigade commander, winning the DSO. He became deputy chief of the general staff in 1950.

TO GERMANY—Brig. W. A. B. Anderson, 38, commander of the Western Ontario area, will take over command of the 27th Canadian Brigade in Germany this fall. He succeeds Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, 45, who becomes army member of the Canadian Joint Staff in London, Eng.

Reds Threaten To Hold Back PoWs

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Another 400 prisoners of the Communists became free men at this dusty village today even as the Reds warned ominously that they have the right to hold back Allied prisoners facing or serving jail terms.

The Reds also disclosed that a third Canadian will be among the 409 Allied prisoners to be exchanged Friday. The first two Canadians were Cpl. Joseph Pelletier of Chatham, Ont., and gunner Orval Jenkins of Hamilton and Toronto.

Prisoners freed today in the ninth day of the PoW exchange were 75 Britons, 75 Americans and 250 South Koreans.

Most of the repatriates appeared healthy.

This was the first large group from Camp 1 at Chongsong. Almost all PoWs returned previously were from Camp 5 at Pyoktong on the Yalu river.

The stories of turncoats, informers and cruelty in Camp 1 struck a note heard from the Camp 5 veterans.

Meanwhile, Red China's warning backed stories from returning prisoners that buddies had been left behind, sentenced to jail for terms up to three years by the Reds on such charges as "instigating against peace."

U.S. State Secretary Dulles warned the Communists Tuesday that the UN command would not return Red captives convicted of crimes "until we know the attitude of the Communists toward ours." He said the UNC wanted all PoWs returned.

However, Peiping radio said the Geneva Convention provides that prisoners facing "criminal proceedings for an indictable offence . . . may be detained until the end of such proceedings, and, if necessary, until the completion of the punishment. The same shall apply to prisoners . . . already convicted. . . ."

Peiping charged Dulles with "blackmail" in his threat of retaliation and said that while he charged that the Reds do not intend to return all the PoWs, "Dulles, nevertheless, has to admit that it is too early yet to know for sure whether any PoWs are actually being withheld."

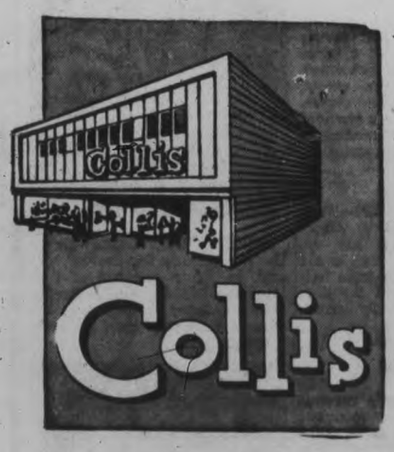
The broadcast said Dulles "thus . . . unwittingly stamps himself a liar."

Peiping said there is no basis in the armistice agreement for the United States to demand the return of "convicted PoWs."

U.S. state department officials said in Washington Dulles' statement made clear that regardless of the Geneva Convention, the truce agreement itself specifically states that all prisoners shall be returned.

It said the Geneva Convention has certain complicated provisions regarding retention of PoWs, but said the armistice agreement overrides any such provisions. Neither the Korean Communists nor the United States signed the convention, but both have agreed to abide by it.

The 400 Allied men returned today brought the total Allied figure to 3,572 of the Reds' figure of 12,763.



The UNC Thursday shipped back the last 222 of 5,495 Chinese PoWs who wanted to return to communism. Thursday's total Red shipment brought the number sent back to 24,546 of 74,000 Chinese and North Koreans promised.

Returning Allied captives said one Red truck bearing them from the Red grouping point at Kaesong overturned, but no one was injured seriously.

Beauty Spot In Norwood

(NORWOOD REGISTER)

There was something warm and hospitable in the greeting that we received this morning from a stranger as we paused on the highway to enquire our way to the planing mill. Perhaps it was the array of many colored flowers in front of the verandah, or it might have been the huge ornamental maple tree, or was it that we might find a beauty spot in Norwood that we did not know existed.

We were leaving with our necessary directions and as we passed the riot of bloom remarked "there must be a green thumb somewhere". Mrs. Davey offered us slips and as she cut them we chatted of gardens. "Just step around the corner of the house", she said, and what a sight met our eyes.

A stream that flows through the country will show you many a bit of painting. A garden streching down the hill to the water was a riot of lovely color—crimson poppies, dahlias, gladioli, daisies, sweet William and edging it all was the brilliant wine color of the prince's feather. And down the hill by the stream were three Manitoba maples. A little punt was drawn up on the shore and on the other side a green pasture stretched to a woods which stood out high on the hill. The shadows and the highlights made a perfect picture of peace and contentment.

But it is not only to the real life of trees and birds and flowers that streams introduce you to human nature in simplicity. Mrs. Davey apologized for her neat morning dress and apron and told us that she had been in the hospital and that things were behind in her work. Her face was good council against discouragement as she talked. "You could hardly believe how many operations I have had but in each I find something for which to be thankful". We agreed that they were not like family heirlooms to be brought out and aired and to be admired.

Then Mrs. Davey told us of her successful Guest and Boarding House and how she had cared at times for sick people. Now she could no longer do more than look after her home. "It must be quite a big effort," we said. "O no," she replied. "I have every convenience and my lovely new bathroom and as my hlsband and I are both living on simple diets I can manage splendidly. We thought how essential water is to easier living. In this end of Ontario how many are handicapped by lack of it.

Presently Mr. Charles Davey joined us and we noted his gentle decilate features. When speaking of his beloved maple trees his face fairly glowed. "No money in the world could buy that tree. It is priceless for its companionship, shade and beauty." The simple, homely sayings that come from these people who have learned the lessons of patience and courage in the school of hard work and suffering are inspiring. It is not the profundity of their remarks but the truth and the sincerity with which they are said.

In September these two courageous travellers on the stream of life hope to celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary. May they be spared many happy years to enjoy their garden, their view, their maple tree and the "peace which passeth understanding" in their souls.

When bowed with the toils of many years,
I would rest if it be love's will,
In a vale where the bird-songs to my ears
Come floating across the hill,
And the sweet breath of the June air
And the purple clover,
And the lone dream of the old love,
And the blue skies over.

FREEDOM'S MUSIC — Pvt. James Gatin of Chicod, N.C., a former prisoner of the Communists, enjoys two treats he hasn't had in quite some time: American food and American music. As a GI orchestra gives out with the latest song hits in the background, Gatin leaves the chow line with a loaded tray at the Korean port city of Inchon. One of first American repatriated in "Operation Big Switch" at Panmunjon, Gatin is awaiting transportation home.

Says "Monster" Just Alligator

NEW HAMBURG (CP) — Police Chief George Thomas said Wednesday night New Hamburg's "slimy three-toed monster" is an alligator.

"Make no mistake about it," he said. "We know what it is."

Chief Thomas said in a telephone interview with the Canadian Press that a few years ago a district family visited Florida and brought back a baby alligator. Six months later, the reptile disappeared.

"This may be it," Chief Thomas said. "We're not pulling anybody's leg down here. Lots of people have seen it, especially farmers along the Nith river and others who have been to Florida and seen alligators and know what they look like."

The "monster" came into prominence recently when news of a "lizard-type thing" circulated among residents here. It was reported to leave a trail like that of a bicycle tire and prints of three-clawed feet.

New-Type Treatment

HAMILTON (CP) — An electro-stimulation machine, replacing the familiar shock treatment, has been installed in the Ontario Hospital here for treatment of specific type of mental ailments. Dr. J. N. Senn, medical superintendent, said the machine has produced "encouraging" results in patients suffering from hysterical forms of illness.

WILL SMOTHER PLENTY OF STEAK—It may, or may not be a record, but Frances Beeman and Jean Malick, of Philadelphia, Pa., are very proud of their mushroom discovery. The huge fungus weighs 40 pounds and measures 26 inches in diameter.

Used Car Lots Sell Automobile Every Four Minutes

TORONTO (CP)—Known as the street of 10,000 cars, it stretches through Toronto's east end for miles. The men who work on it call it "the great white way of Canadian motordom." The city street guide lists it as Danforth avenue.

They don't make automobiles on Danforth avenue, but the used car lots that line it put another car on the road every four minutes. Police statistics show more than 100 used car lots on this motorcar marketway.

And the lots are not broken, glass-dotted blots squeezed in between buildings. They are expanses of landscaped grounds with streamlined, air-conditioned offices where seller and buyer can sit in comfort and dicker. Besides the office there is usually a spacious garage where weak spots are made strong, and cars are given a complete overhaul before being placed on the lot.

With an estimated $300,000,000 cash turnover the street of cars is the biggest used car market in Canada—one of the biggest anywhere. There is no guess work in the used cars sold from this market place. These merchants are in business to stay, in a business that, to a large extent, depends upon return trade for its life. One bad bargain could mean a big loss from potential buyers.

Almost Everybody in Canada Wears Clothes

. . . and also uses sheets, draperies, towels and hundreds of other textile articles. That's why Canada has its own textile industry, like every other major nation of the world . . . to meet these needs . . . day in, day out, year after year, in peace or war.

In normal times Canada supplies most of her own cotton textile needs. In wartime all of them. Foreign suppliers concentrate on serving Canadian customers only when their own markets are flooded and goods have to be unloaded at any cost. Low Canadian tariffs invite the dumping of such goods here.

Canadian textile goods . . . match foreign materials in quality

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Must Not Break Seal You Worked To Get

One thing that some home canners do not understand is why the headspace at top of canned fruit is greater after the fruit is sterilized and cooled.

They should understand it for it is an important step in a highly technical process.

When the sealed jar starts to cool after processing, the steam condenses and a partial vacuum is formed within—thus greater pressure outside the jar than inside presses the top down firmly and the perfect seal is formed between the top, the rubber (or gasket) and jar rim. The sealing material (be it jar rubber or ruber compound) hardens as the jar cools, thus making the seal complete.

Always use new rubbers which have been diped in boiling water.

These details are given because some girls who write to me want to know why they cannot open a jar with an air space at top and fill it from another jar. You must not do it, for if you do you will break the precious seal you have worked to get.

CANNED PEACHES AND APRICOTS

Sometimes apricots are left whole, and sometimes they are not peeled. Otherwise the processing for apricots and peaches is the same.

A heaped 6-quart basket of peaches weighs approximately 10 lbs. and will yield approximately 5 well-packed quarts of fruit.

Prepare at least 1½ cups syrup for each quart of peaches or apricots you expect to produce, and make a little extra so that you do not run out. Most Canadians like peaches canned in thin syrup which made of 1 cup sugar to each 2 cups water. One cup sugar and 2 cups water make about 2½ cups finished syrup.

Thus if you are going to can 1 6-quart basket of peaches make syrup of 3 cups sugar and 6 cups water by bringing these two to boiling point. For safety's sake add an additional ½ cup sugar and 1 cup water, a little surplus, for the sizes of fruit vary.

Blanch peaches so that skin removes easily by submerging them in boiling water for 15 or 60 seconds. Time depends on ripeness. If skin slips off easily in 15 seconds lift peaches out or drain off water. A wire basket is very handy for blanching. Slip off skins, cut in halves, remove stone, and place in sterile jars on which you have fitted the rubber, pit side down, overlap peaches. If you use a utensil to move them in the jar, be sure it is sterile. Pour over peaches boiling thin syrup, leaving ½-inch headspace. Put on sterile glass top, using sterile tongs to lift this from boiling water. Put on screw top, screw down tightly, then unscrew for ⅛ turn. Place in hot water bath, having water cover jars. Bring to boiling, covered, and process 25 minutes at boiling for quarts. Allow 20 minutes for pint jars. Remove from hot water bath and tighten seal while hot. If spring top jars are used spring down the lower bail while jars are hot. Stand jars on folded towel in upright position to cool, out of draughts. Wash jars when cold if this is needed and store in dark cool place.

In areas where fruits are sold in crates or boxes the fruit weighs 18 lbs. and will yield 9 or 10 quarts.

CANNED TOMATOES

Use only ripe best quality tomatoes. Blanch. (see directions for blanching under Canned Peaches.) Cold Dip and peel and remove stem core. Leave whole or halve. Drop in sterile jars with rubbers fitted on and press down with sterile utensil until tomatoes are covered with their own juice, leaving ½-inch headspace. Add 1 teaspoon salt for each quart. Put on tops and seal to within ⅛ turn of tight. Sterilize in hot water bath 35 minutes for quarts; 30 minutes for pints.

I will give you more canning instructions as the fruits come into season.

PERSIAN LAMB grows younger-looking each year. This year, it's definitely youthful fur both in styling and in trim. It's used for trim little jackets with birdtail back fullness to wear over slim skirts. It's cut into slim-lined, full-length coats that wrap luxuriously. It appears even in the form of the Chesterfield (both new and classic) and in a 40-inch length.

In the short (or 26-inch) jacket length, Persian lamb is shown with flat back, soft fullness at the sides and hemline slits. Cuffs are deep; collar is fairly small.

We show (LEFT) a light and supple jacket with horizontal bands of jet-encrusted braid for a sparkle that lights up black. This has push-up sleeves, looks best worn with narrow skirt.

Wrappy, full - length coat, (RIGHT) has dropped shoulder accented by tuck across the sleeve and calla lily collar to frame a pretty face.

Short Hair Continues Paris Style

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — Short hair will continue to be the fashion in style during the coming autumn season.

The latest cut, replacing the poodle or short cut curled all over the head, is the corolla which features a smooth flat crown giving a neat cap effect.

Ends are shaped and thinned, and often swirled to one side rather than turned up or under.

Bangs which became a vogue in the U.S. when Mrs. Eisenhower became the first lady, are growing in popularity in Paris. Especially favored here is the half bang or windswept fringe over the temples.

Beaux catchers and short end curls break the natural hairline for women who feel that their foreheads are too low to wear a full bang.

Antoine recently presented a show of wax hands which proves how many of his current-day styles have been evoked from past eras.

But for actual wear "today," Antoine tends to cut the hair shorter than ever. His styles are based on the corolla, but with an even briefer cap which has the back hair clipped and stepped at the nape of the neck.

For youthful debutantes, he shows a version of the popular "pony-tail" in a shoulder-length bob.

For formal wear, Antoine prefers decoration assorted to the costume, and presents ornaments of plumes, sequins, ribbons and small fruits.

A "coronation coiff" features an open banded calot made of false hair twined with brilliants worn behind a tiara of soap bubble pearls.

Another evening fantasy is a side coxcomb made of false hair which has been dyed a rainbow harmony of pastel shades from pale yellow to shell pink and sky blue.

In hair coloring, Antoine tends to discard the "coup de soleil," or lighter streaks, in favor of single-toned rinses. He predicts that light reddish casts and venetian blonde shades will be most in demand this season.

Other salons affect certain greyish and silver rinses, often sugesting ash blonde and grey-haired women are suddenly finding themselves in the height of fashion.

Different interpretations of the corolla are starred by Alex Tonio. The top hair is left thick and heavy in a type of natural cowlick radiating out from a star point at the crown. One or two medusa curls may be brushed forward over the temples, while the back hair is thinned in graduated points to a modified "duck's tail" at the nape of the neck.

Another style is Greek inspired, and consists of sculptured flame curls forming a diadem across the top of the head.

FRENCH HAIR STYLES for fall (top row of pictures) contrast strongly with American ones (bottom row). Notice the use of artificial curls and chignons on the French styles and the velvet ribbons and flowers. They are intended to add variety to short cut but, to American eyes, seem fussy and exaggerated. Henry of the Roosevelt, American hair stylist, created fall version of the Italian boy-cut (left), toned down and smoothed out for the wearing of hats. His duck-tail cap coiffure (centre left) is for girl with good hair line, is brushed back in shadow waves without a part. Side and back of his third style are seen at right: there's a centre part and a winged back effect on either side, with short hair overlapping for a close-to-head lifted look. Reverse curl on top of head ends in casual kiss curl. These sleek styles contrast with deep waves and width of recent past.

Too Many Tastes Spoil The Cook

Many a pretty young housewife has lost her figure through taste-testing her own cooking. If her cooking is excellent and she is enthusiastic about creating dishes, one taste leads to another.

She lets the necessity for tasting for seasoning become an excuse for taking tastes enough to make a complete meal, as far as calories go. She then sits down with the family and eats another complete meal. She fools no one but herself this way until she wakes up and finds herself unable to get into her clothes.

AVOID TEMPTATION

If you are such a housewife, remember, when you're tempted, that the amount of exercise needed to get your figure back into its former shape might easily wear you out. It's far easier to put yourself on a "diet" of cutting out extra tastes, tasting only when absolutely necessary and then spooning up the merest dot of the food being tasted.

As for the bottom of the bowl, when whipping up a lemon meringue pie, for example, you can either use a rubber scraper to get it all up into the pie shell or give the bowl to your youngster (providing he is not overweight!).

All this takes self-discipline, but it's a case of deciding which you want the most—your girlish figure or an unnecessary extra meal every day or so.

Quebec-Born Girl Title Of Miss Nato

PARIS (CP) — Quebec-born Angela Duquette can qualify any time for the title "Miss NATO."

Miss Duquette in the last two years has managed to work in such North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries as Greece, France, Belgium, Italy, Britain, Holland and Luxembourg. She has also spent time in Germany, Syria, Trans-Jordan and Egypt.

Most of her time has been spent, however, in France. A naturalized American born in St. Alexander, Que., she is a tireless student of the French language and people. For eight months, Miss Duquette served as bilingual secretary to the French chief of staff on NATO's six-nation Allied Air Forces Central Europe, Lt.-Gn. Pierre J. Fay.

Her latest task, to be tackled after a month's leave with her parents at New Bedford, Mass., starting in mid-August, involves confidential investigation.

Miss Duquette will live in Paris at the Hotel Astoria, renowned spot where then-general Dwight Eisenhower first set up shop for his Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE).

She figures that her most hectic operation so far involved Maj. James Jabara of the United States Air Force, the jet ace who toured 14 NATO countries to explain how to handle the Russian MiG-15 jet fighter.

"Have you ever tried to keep a calendar up to date on a guy who is used to travelling 600 miles an hour?" says Miss Duquette of the 45-day Jabara trip.

General Rules In Jam-Making

1. Select firm, ripe but never over-ripe fruit.
2. Measure fruit and sugar accurately.
3. Wash fruit, peel if necessary, cut or mash to start the flow of juice. To prevent sticking, a little water may be added but as this must later be boiled away, care should be taken not to use too much. A little cider vinegar, rhubarb or lemon juice may be added to less acid fruits such as peaches or pears.
4. Heat fruit very slowly to extract juice. Stir frequently, using wooden spoon.
5. Add sugar. Time is saved by heating it first. Fruits with tough skin make better jam if cooked for a short time before adding sugar. Peeled fruits are usually mixed with sugar before cooking.
6. Boil jam, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking, until it remains heaped up or sheets from the spon (220F.).
7. Pour hot jam into hot, sterilized jars.
8. Seal with paraffin when cool. Cover with paper or metal lid.

Egypt Now Easier In Social Service

By JOAN BARBERIS

TORONTO (CP)—The new government of Egypt has made it easier for women in social service work but not in the political field, Mrs. Matilda Greiss of the Country Women Association of Egypt said Wednesday.

"There is a great need for Egyptian women to have their religious and political standing clearly separated and defined," Mrs. Greiss told a press conference.

Mrs. Greiss is here in connection with the seventh triennial meeting of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Most Egyptians are Moslem, she said, and if a married woman of this faith leaves her husband she can be compelled to return to him if he so desires.

Egyptian women have not the right to vote but they hope to get the franchise under the new constitution which would be completed in about two years. The constitution is being written following the banishment of former King Farouk by strongman Gen. Mohamed Naguib and the establishment of Egypt as a republic.

Birth control is another great need in Egypt, said Mrs. Greiss. "Plans have been formed for education in birth control but are not yet in force."

Two Pakistan women, the Begum Amin-Ud-In and the Begum Hussain Malik, both of the All-Pakistan Women's Association, at a press conference stressed the need for women in Pakistan to do social service work before entering the political field.

Mrs. Malik said that with the number of refugees in the millions after partition of India and Pakistan there was a mammoth housing problem.

Soups and Salads Gladden Summer Days

MOST pleasant interlude on a summer day is the pause for dining. It's especially welcome when the table is set with a refreshing spread of fragrant soup and a big salad.

Always complimentary to each other, soups and salads have special charm in warm weather. The tempting flavor of a soup like cream of mushroom or tomato acts like magic on appetites. Salad gives a nice contrast with the crispness of fresh greens and other vegetables or fruits.

There's joy for the cook in such menus too. Fixing time is so quick when you use the fine canned soups. No dallying in the kitchen, no standing over the stove. By keeping a wide choice on your soup shelf, you're ready with the current-favorite flavor at a moment's notice. Plenty of easy variety is another advantage. Each day, you can have a different condensed soup, a new salad.

These add up to wonderful possibilities for meal after meal during warm weather. Some perfect couples in the soup-salad line are the following:

SOUPS AND SALADS FOR SUMMER

Soup:	Salad:
Cream of mushroom	Tomato stuffed with tuna.
Tomato	Deviled egg and asparagus
Cream of chicken	Peach and cottage cheese
Vegetable	Shrimp and celery

SOUP SCOOPS

For feasting at your summer picnics, carry along a glorified casserole of pork and beans. Pour two cans (15-fluid ounce size) of the beans into the deep dish; over these arrange 3 slices of fresh tomato and 3 strips of bacon. Heat in a hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes or until heated through. Wrap in heavy paper to carry to the picnic. Makes 6 servings.

• • •

A cold-plate menu is the best bet on days that are scorchers. For a pretty plate, have a bowl of chilled jellied consommé; beside it on the plate put deviled eggs, sliced tomatoes, and carrot sticks. Pass crusty buttered rolls to go with it.

• • •

Tuna or salmon croquettes, crisp and brown, supply you with an easy main dish. For a magical sauce to accompany these, blend 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup with ½ cup milk; heat. Enough sauce for 6 croquettes.

"Crease Resistant" Means Wrinkles Will Hang Out

What is a "crease-resistant" finish? Does it have any real value? These questions are asked by girls who want to get the most for their clothes money.

This finish is intended to overcome cotton's old drawbacks — crumpling, mussing, wrinkling. To prevent this wilted look, a processor applies a finish to the fabric, which may be made from linen, wool or other fibres and not just cotton.

This finish, when given by a reliable processing firm, really enables these fabrics to recover from wrinkles. You simply hang the garments up for a rest and the creases fall out. They'll never be deep in the first place. Many kinds of fabrics, chambrays, taffetas, tweeds, and so on, are treated.

Don't depend on any salesperson's word for your information. Look for a hang-tag which gives the manufacturer's name and tells you just what permanence you can expect from the finish, which will be trade-marked, and just how to care for the garment.

Tests have proven these fabrics absorb less soil than the same fabrics untreated. This makes strenuous washing unnecessary and fast drying a certainty. Pressing, when slightly damp is easier. Stretching is never needed. You are asked not to use bleach on garments with this crease-resistant finish. Have your water temperature in accordance with the color-fastness of the fabric.

New "Hankies" One-A-Day Use

NEW YORK—If you've been wanting a cross between the cloth handkerchief and the throw-away paper tissue, it's here.

The new handkerchief looks something like a paper napkin, but it is much softer to the touch. The product is made of chemically treated, 3-ply cellulose.

You use one for one day and then throw it away.

The disposable handkerchiefs are seen as a boon for people suffering from colds. Or a mother can tuck one into a youngster's pocket before sending him off to school. Each handkerchief measures 13½ inches square.

And what do you think is the latest notion for mink? The fur now appears on compacts as well as on carryalls for fitted vanities.

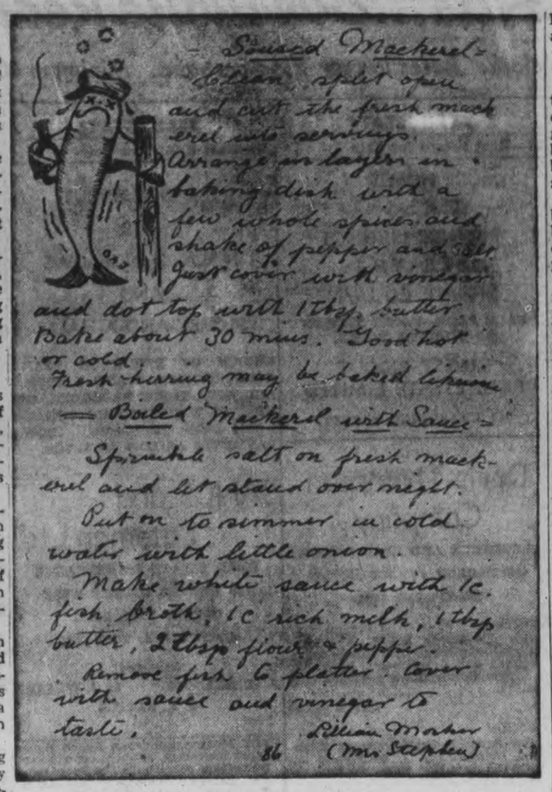
Women Publish Cook Book To Wipe Out Hospital Debt

By KINGSLEY BROWN Jr.
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP) — To wipe out a debt, the women of this fishing town published a cook book. It is as Canadian as Indian summer and salty as a fisherman's mitten.

They have also made a unique contribution to Canadiana by compiling for posterity traditional recipes that have earned Lunenburgers a reputation of being the most hearty eaters in Canada.

Although they had difficulty selling the idea to their menfolk, "Dutch Oven" is selling itself. The tiny Progress-Enterprise printing shop on Lincoln street is preparing to increase its original output from 5,000 to 10,000 copies.



MACKEREL TO BANKIN

The homy, lighthearted book tells how to cook, among hundreds of other dishes, soused mackerel, house bankin and kartoffelsuppe—recipes already old when they arrived here from Germany 200 years ago.

The book, a bicentennial birthday present to help wipe out an $82,000 debt incurred in building the town's 50-bed, $375,000 hospital, is illustrated in the spirit of the occasion by Philip Backman and armless Earl Bailley, Lunenburg's well-known artists.

And its recipes are written in the hand of the town's men and women contributors, including veteran "fishing cooks" whose hands have long been cramped from a hard life of harvesting nets from the icy Atlantic.

It costs $2.50. The Lunenburg Hospital Society's ladies auxiliary has been selling it locally but because of increasing demand plans are being made to circulate it in larger centres and ultimately on a national basis.

COOK BOOK PAYS DEBT—To wipe out a debt, the women of Lunenburg, N.S., have published a cook book that is Canadian as an Indian summer and as salty as a fisherman's mitten. The book contains traditional recipes, including one for soused mackerel. Its recipes are written in the hands of the town's men and women. Proceeds will go towards wiping out a $82,000 debt incurred in building the town's 50-bed hospital. (CP Photo.)

SAUERKRAUT APPLES

Methods of cooking fishes and the favored plate of sauerkraut are covered thoroughly in its 347 pages. Even sauerkraut apples, made by popping apples into a kraut barrel and taking them out when soft and juicy, are included.

A typical old-fashioned Lunenburg meal is kartoffelsuppe, house bankin, cucumber salad as a side-dish, barley bread and butter-milk pie. Here's how to make it:

Kartoffelsuppe, or potato soup, is made by dicing three ounces of fat pork and frying until light brown. When slightly cooled place in pot with a quart of diced potatoes, two quarts of water and a sliced onion. Cook until potatoes are soft. Brown six tablespoons flour in the pork fat. Add to soup, stirring until flour is dissolved. Add seasoning and boil for a minute.

House bankin is salt cod and potatoes. The dried cod is torn into strips and soaked overnight after being thoroughly washed in several waters. Remove fish from water and add six large potatoes. When potatoes are half-done add fish and cook until potatoes are tender. Gravy is made by frying out two ounces of salt pork. Add two diced onions and fry until brown. Add a tablespoon of vinegar and two of cream. Boil and serve.

DISHES FOR GOURMET

For the gourmet, there are dishes like soused mackerel. The fresh fish is cut into servings and laid in a baking dish with a few whole spices and a shake of pepper and salt. Barely cover with vinegar and dot the top with a tablespoon of butter. Bake about 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

Desiree Bourque, the publisher, has his recipe for frying trout, and mayor Homer F. Zwicker, whose family sold salt codfish in an era when the town was a big cog in the rum-running "industry," has one for rum punch.

The men scoffed in this town of 5,000 when the ladies' auxiliary proposed to publish a cook book. There were already too many, they said. They again threw up their hands upon learning their wives had ordered 5,000 copies. Never sell them, they said.

The success of "Dutch Oven" has them wearing their embarrassment more gracefully these days.

DOROTHY DIX:

Girl In Quandry Regarding Fiance's False Report

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 22 years old and am engaged to a man who is 26. We had planned our wedding for the near future, but a recent occurrence has made me undecided. The fact is, he told me a lie. I had asked him to see about a house. He reported back to me an entire conversation about the transaction which I later discovered to have been entirely false. His reason for lying was that I had been nagging him about the house, and he didn't want to start another argument. He claims that if I promise not to nag, he won't ever lie to me again. I admit I was at fault to some extent. I do want things done promptly and thoroughly. Am I making too great an issue of his failing? In every other respect he is a fine person.

LISA V.

TWO-ANGLED PROBLEM

ANSWER: Your problem involves two angles—ethics and expediency. Ethically, of course, lying is never permissible, and the discovery that your fiance is capable of telling an untruth is warrant enough for a broken engagement. However, since practically no one goes through life always telling the precise truth, we'll consider the situation from the expediency point of view. Probably the most common cause of lying is the desire to escape unpleasantness. It is, of course, not to be condoned, but, since we are dealing with human beings, we might as well face the fact that the practice is human. Since you admit being a nagger, and a stickler for detail, your fiance exhibits a natural reflex in his manner of avoiding a bawling out. As your impatience with imperfection clearly extends to your young man you are wise to ponder whether or not you are willing to take him as he is. Bear in mind, however, that if you're searching for a perfect man, you'll have a long and weary hunt.

My conclusion is that you could very well have a happy and successful marriage if you are willing to face the fact that adjustments are necessary on both sides. You must be more patient with human foibles, he must be more careful in attending to details and trying to conform to your high expectations. Since any success in marriage is achieved only through adjustment, you must realize the necessity for exerting some effort toward your own future happiness. It will be fine if you can bring your fiance up to your standard of perfection, but do it without scolding.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem is shared by several other couples. We have a chance to spend the next few weekends at a beach resort, but my mother won't let me go unless there's an older person along. The girls, like myself, are around 17 and boys 19. I see no harm in our going, since the boys will stay at one rooming house, and we'll be in another. I think I'm old enough to be trusted.

BEACH FAN.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your mother is right; young people should not be away on weekends like this without chaperonage. It isn't a question of being old enough to be trusted. Temptation knows no age, and young couples away without any supervision are very susceptible. The very fact that you don't realize the need for discretion is proof of the fact that you still have much to learn.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is a fine man, and a good father to our little girl, but he's not affectionate. The only time I get kissed is when I kiss him. I've threatened, accused him of not loving me, though I know he does, but to no avail. He just says he doesn't like "necking." I think I deserve some effection.

B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Threats and accusations will never win the affection you want; flattery and cajolery might. You may have to work for the kisses, but you're sure of the love of a good man. Learn to be content.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 22 and for seven years have been going with a man a year older. During that time, we've never gone out with anyone else. Even during his two years of service I didn't date. Now, though he often mentions marriage, he refuses to make it definite. He says he wants a better job and security. Am I wasting my time?

K. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: After devoting seven years to the man, it wouldn't be too much to wait a bit longer. His reason for postponing marriage seems valid enough. He certainly isn't making a big salary now, and since you are city dwellers, living will be quite expensive. You intimate that a better job may be along in six months. Give him that much time, anyway.

Have Bomb Stockpile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-Admiral Leslie C. Stevens, former U.S. naval attache at Moscow, said Wednesday there is every reason to believe the Russians by now have a "respectable stockpile" of atomic bombs and may soon have hydrogen bombs. Stevens also told a John Hopkins University conference the Soviet Air Force is estimated at 20,000 first-line aircraft, including more than 1,000 heavy bombers capable of carrying the atomic bomb.

Man Robbed 2 Youths Held

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two London youths were arrested early today after a 34-year-old transient was attacked and robbed in Thames park.

Max Raymond Anderson, of Cardinal, Ont., an unemployed farm worker, told police he was robbed of his wallet by two men.

He said he was kicked in the face and hit over the head with a beer bottle. He received hospital treatment.

Police found two youths crouched in the grass near the Thames river bank a short distance from the scene.

In city court today, Lawrence Gilmore and James Wilson, both 19, were charged jointly with robbery with violence. They were remanded to Aug. 19 for trial.

4 Richmond Boys Trapped In Ice Box

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Four Richmond boys—three of them seven and one five—were found dead today in an abandoned ice box.

The discovery brought to a macabre close a two-day search by upward of 1,000 volunteers aided by planes and helicopters.

Three of the victims, twins Woodrow and Wilson, 7, and George, 5, were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Blackstock. The other boy, Walter Charles (Tex) Boykin, 7, was the son of Dr. J. Melvin Boykin.

The old refrigerator was in an unused building less than 25 yards from the Boykin home.

Canada Represented

EDINBURGH (CP)—More than 280 films, among them 13 from the national film board of Canada, have been entered by 34 countries for the seventh International Film Festival, to be held here Aug. 23-Sept. 13.

Descend 5,082 Feet Into Sea Off Italy

CASTELLAMARE, Italy (AP)—Auguste Piccard rode his bathysphere 65 feet down into the sea today and politely complimented two French officers who had just descended 5,082 feet.

It was a test descent for the Swiss-Belgian explorer who hopes eventually to take his stubby submarine device 12,790 feet down.

That would beat the mark set Wednesday by French navy officers Houet and Willm, who took a bathysphere to record depths off Toulon.

Ex-Councillor Dies

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — John Horne, Jr., 49, former council member, died in hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Horne came here as a child and went into the electrical business with his father later opening his own bicycle and electrical appliances business. He was a councillor in 1932, 1933 and 1934.

Predict Battle On Annexation

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The city's application for annexation of 7,950 acres of London township probably will come out a full scale battle in the Ontario legislature next year, a reliable source indicated today.

The informant also doubted the city's chances of ever receiving the province's nod of approval in view of a strong group of rural legislators who are opposed to annexation of township areas by major municipalities.

Representatives of Western Ontario rural areas met in Brantford last year and organized opposition to combat cities' applications for annexation.

The Ontario municipal board last April approved London's application for annexation of London township land.

The application, however, still has to go to the private bills committee of the provincial House for a recommendation to be considered by the legislature.

SOUTHAMPTON (Reuters) — A party of 100 American teachers arrived Wednesday on the liner United States to spend a year in British schools. In many cases they will live in the homes of the British teachers with whom they are exchanging posts.

Charge Father Denied Entry

VILLE JACQUES CARTIER, Que. (CP)—An RCAF official said today an investigation will be made of reports that a grief-stricken father was refused permission by RCAF guards to visit the ruins of the home where his three children were burned to death following Tuesday's crash of a CF-100 jet fighter.

Omer Lavoie, whose wife is still in hospital from shock suffered while trying to save her three children, was reported to have been stopped Wednesday night by rifle-carrying RCAF sentries when he sought permission to "look around" the ruins.

The RCAF placed a cordon around the scene following the crash and posted armed guards at close intervals.

The RCAF official said that no comment would be made on the reported treatment of Lavoie until an investigation has been completed.

Charges Organized Forces Destroying Co-Operative Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt contended today that "strongly organized forces," in and out of Congress, are trying to destroy international co-operative efforts by the United States.

The widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt came to Washington to announce formation of the national issues committee, described as an information and education group. She said it would be independent and non-partisan, neither opposing nor endorsing candidates for political office.

Mrs. Roosevelt said in a statement that both Democrats and Republicans were among those she accused of blunting United States world leadership and rejecting an expanding economic policy of full employment and ever-greater opportunity at home.

Mrs. Roosevelt said her observations on her recent round-the-world journey convinced her that friends of the United States abroad are losing confidence. She said President Eisenhower's foreign policy has been undermined to a serious degree by forces which simply have not accepted U.S. responsibility for leadership in the free world.

U.K. Editorials And Cartoons Suspicious Of U.S. Policy

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—With cartoons and uneasy editorials, British newspapers Wednesday give further vent to suspicions about United States policy in Asia.

Press treatment of such issues as the forthcoming political conference on Korea, and the 16-power declaration on what might happen if the armistice is broken, indicates growing concern over apparent Anglo-American differences of approach in the far east.

The situation seems similar to that two years ago, when conflicts over relations with Communist China appeared likely to threaten the basic unity of the Atlantic alliance.

The Times, in its main editorial Wednesday, sharply criticized the declaration by 16 United Nations countries made public last Saturday. The key sentence of the declaration is an affirmation that in event of a breach of the armistice, "in all probability, it would not be possible to confine hostilities within the frontiers of Korea."

DANGEROUS BUSINESS

The Times calls this "deceptive and dangerous," warning that threatening policies should never be announced unless there is a readiness to carry them out.

A favorite American target for British critics is State Secretary John Foster Dulles, who is regarded as having come off second best in his talks with Korean President Syngman Rhee. A cartoonist in the right-wing Daily Express pictured Dulles coming home from Korea minus most of his clothes.

David Low in the independent Liberal Manchester Guardian presented Dulles in the likeness of a hooked fish, extending to President Eisenhower the fishing rod which Dr. Rhee sent as a gift to the president. This is Low in his most acid mood.

The Yorkshire Post, Conservative editorially supported the theme of the cartoonists, saying it looks as though Dulles made himself "the instrument of Dr. Rhee's potential blackmail."

Carpenters Quit Ranks Of AFL

CHICAGO (AP) — The 600,000-member Brotherhood of Carpenters withdrew Wednesday from the American Federation of Labor.

The carpenters, one of the AFL's founding unions, quit the AFL ranks in an angry protest against the AFL executive council approving a "no-raiding" agreement with the CIO.

The council earlier had approved the "no raid" agreement designed to prohibit one union from seeking to take over membership of another union in a rival federation.

Notice of the carpenters' summary withdrawal from the AFL was served by Carpenters' Union president, Maurice Hutcheson, in a letter to AFL President George Meany.

SERIOUS BRITISH-U.S. SPLIT ON PARLEY

7 Countries Rush Food, Medicine To Greek Islands

PATRAI, Greece—(AP)—Modern Greece's worst disaster continued today to give up its dead and injured in uncounted numbers as fresh earthquakes brought new landslides, fire and misery to three small Ionian islands. Air-sea rescue units and supplies from many countries converged on the devastated islands of Zakinthos, Kefallinia and Ithaca. There still were no definite figures on casualties. The Greek government said the death toll may reach 1,000 but an American observer who flew over the stricken areas said Thursday that all casuality figures "appear to understate the situation."

Rescue workers counted more than 400 dead in only two communities.

Hundreds of persons were injured and almost all the 120,000 population were homeless, many without food or water.

LIVE ON ROOTS

Survivors subsisted on greens and roots from their ruined garden plots.

Islanders and thousands of rescue workers spent another night of terror as 11 more earthquake shocks rocked the Ionian Sea area.

American and British sailors are working non-stop alongside Greek troops and rescue squads to bring food, water and medical supplies to the islands.

Plan Meeting To Discuss Cheese Problems

TORONTO (CP)—Problems affecting Ontario's cheese industry will be discussed at a meeting at Belleville Sept. 8 and 9, Acting Agriculture Minister Doucett announced today.

The meeting, sponsored by the Ontario Agriculture Department in conjunction with the Ontario Cheese Producers' marketing board, will be attended by representatives of the various divisions of the industry.

"The manufacture and sale of cheese constitutes a very important part of our dairy industry," said Mr. Doucett. "Over the years the manufacture and sale of cheese has become more important for cheese production has acted as a balance wheel as far as the dairy industry is concerned. The difficulties encountered by the cheese industry have a definite reflection throughout the entire dairy industry."

NEED TO BE REVIEWED

Mr. Doucett said that there were certain problems facing the cheese industry at the moment that should be subject to review.

"Difficulties are being encountered especially in the field of merchandising and marketing," he said. "It is felt that there should be opportunity for representatives of the whole industry to assess the current situation and reach conclusions that may be helpful to the industry as a whole."

Mr. Doucett said that the Ontario government was appreciative of the importance of the industry to the economy of the province.

"For this reason the department of agriculture will give its fullest co-operation and support to any working committees which may be formed as a result of the conference," he said.

It is expected that the conference will appoint several active committees for the purpose of taking immediate steps in an endeavor to break down some of the problems confronting the industry.

Everett Biggs, dairy commissioner for the province of Ontario, will act as general chairman for the two-day conference.

Say Dangerous Winds To Hit Nova Scotia

HALIFAX (CP) — Dangerous fringe winds of the Atlantic hurricane sweeping up the eastern seaboard will strike the Bay of Fundy and Nova Scotia coastal waters about dawn Saturday, the weather office reported today.

It warned fishermen to stay in port for the next 36 hours. Increasig easterly winds will hit the southwestern part of Nova Scotia about midnight and bring extremely heavy rain to southern New Brunswick.

Base Digs In For Typhoon

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — This great U. S. island base dug in tonight for one of the wildest typhoons ever recorded in the Pacific, only a few hours away.

The typhoon's winds were howling up to 184 miles per hour.

The forward edge of howling storm was about 200 miles southwest of this island and was expected to hit Saturday morning.

Already angry gusts whipped across air base runways and some B-29 Superforts took off for safer airfields elsewhere in the Pacific —possibly Japan, the Philippines or Guam.

Other aircraft stayed at the field, loaded with sandbags or circled by fuel trucks filled with oil to break the typhoon winds.

Maj. Maurice R. Fowler, spokesman for the Ryukus command, said 24 hours of emergency rations were issued.

Favor Finger-Printing Of All Lawbreakers

TORONTO (CP) — Finger-printing of all lawbreakers including minor offenders was favored Thursday by several members of the Ontario legislature at a meeting of the select committee on reform institutions.

Only committee member to oppose finger-printing was Rev. W. A. Downer (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe). He said a man's past would then be held against him if he had got into a minor scrape or two.

Only those convicted of indictable offenses now are fingerprinted. C. F. Neelands, former deputy minister of reform institutions said it was nearly impossible to keep accurate records of minor offenses because there were no finger-prints for positive identification.

UK Demands Russia, India Be Included

U.S. Would Restrict Conference To 16 Allies In War

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — (AP)—Britain and some other Western Allies were reported ready today to go on the floor of the United Nations general assembly with a demand that Russia and India be included in the forthcoming Korean political conference.

Informed sources said the split between the United States and Britain over the composition of the Korean parley is much more serious than previously indicated.

The British are understood to feel even more strongly about the question of Russian participation than about the possibility of India being given a seat.

U.S. PROPOSAL

The United States has indicated that the UN side of the conference should be restricted to the 16 countries which fought under the UN banner in Korea.

As for Russia, the U. S. position is that the Soviet Union may represent the Communist side in the talks but should not sit as a UN representative.

The question of composition has been debated behind the scenes by the 16 UN allies in two long meetings without any sign of an agreement.

As a result, the British are understood to feel that if the 16 countries cannot agree on the inclusion of Russia and India a separate proposal, or possibly two separate proposals, on these countries should be put before the full 60-country assembly.

REFUSES TO COMMENT

UN Secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold, who has been trying to play a mediation role, refused at a press conference today to say explicitly whether he thought either India or Russia should be seated at the Korean conference.

But he came out for a broad interpretation of the armistice terms to retain UN direction in getting a peace treaty rather than restricting it to only the belligerents.

Indian sources conceded, however, that the United States appeared to have the most support

Egypt Eases Suez Position

CAIRO (AP) — Vice-Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser said Thursday night Egypt is willing to let the Western powers use the great Suez canal defence base if conditions suitable to Egyptian sovereignty are met.

Nasser denied a declaration made earlier in the day by sources close to the government that the Egyptians had decided to break off the Suez talks with Britain.

It was the first time Egypt has given any official indication the base would be available to the West after evacuation of British forces.

But this was not interpreted as a commitment for Egypt to join a Middle East defence organization—as proposed by the west—should British forces move out.

EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS—Against a background of ruined dwellings, a shocked and shaken Greek family displays the few bits of clothing they managed to salvage after giant earth tremors rocked a group of islands in the Ionian Sea in a four-day reign of terror. New earthquakes in the area today swept part of the Cephalonian Island capital of Argostoli into the sea.

Strikers Tie Up Niagara Area

HAMILTON—(CP)—Striking truck drivers, their ranks swelled by new drivers' walkouts and encouraged by support from steelworkers, moved into the Niagara Peninsula today and tied up most of the highway truck traffic in the area. With the strike of 1,500 drivers in southwestern Ontario spreading to the new area, Labor Minister Daley announced at Toronto that he has asked union and company officials to meet with him next Monday at Toronto in an attempt to end the strike and the violence which has accompanied it.

The ranks of strikers were increased Thursday when their union, AFL Teamsters, ordered drivers who belong to the union but whose employers are not members of the Automotive Transport Association to join the walkout.

Striking electrical workers here also joined the picket lines. And officials of the powerful United Steelworkers of America, a CIO-CCL union, announced steelworkers would support the truck drivers in their demands for higher wages by refusing to handle shipments on trucks at steel mills.

Labor Minister Daley, in requesting next Monday's meeting, said, "I feel every effort should be made in the interest of the communities affected and the industry itself to bring about a settlement of the strike."

Meanwhile strikers from Hamilton and Windsor locals of the union set up picket lines around trucking yards in Niagara Falls, St. Catharines and Fort Erie. Picketing was peaceful, and one striker said:

"We will not stop any trucks crossing our lines. We are merely seeking sympathy at this point."

Police at Niagara Falls said nonunion truckers who went to work this morning went home again rather than try to cross the lines of pickets outside their company offices.

Police chief Cecil Pay said he was conferring with crown officials to determine the legality of the picket lines. He said none of the depots being picketed in the Niagara Falls area were in the area of the striking locals.

Some 350 men, with some women supporters, picketed highway entrances to Hamilton Thursday night. More than a score of extra police officers were on duty near the picketers.

Say Disloyalty To Drew Within Ranks

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says in an Ottawa dispatch that a close adviser of Progressive Conservative leader George Drew expects "charges of disloyalty to Mr. Drew within the party ranks" will be aired before Parliament opens.

The paper's eight-column frontpage headline reads: "Claim Drew 'Sabotaged.'"

The paper, which supported the Progressive Conservatives in the federal election campaign, says the allegations of intrigue within the party are made by Grattan O'Leary, editor of the Ottawa Journal which also supported the Progressive Conservative campaign. It says Mr. O'Leary wrote in an editorial:

"For four years under Mr. Drew, it (the party) has been a party of schism, rent by intrigues, by the manoeuvres of disloyal forces. Mr. Drew's leadership has been hampered by both open and overt acts of rebellion."

The newspaper says the news source for its story—bylined by Norman Campbell, its Ottawa staff reporter—is certain the national executive of the Dominion Progressive Conservative Association will meet before Parliament opens in mid-November.

The party's national executive was scheduled to meet last spring, but the meeting was delayed indefinitely because of the Coronation, the Telegram says.

"The national executive cannot deal with party leadership, but can deal with internal matters within the party organization. It could decide on the holding of a national convention at which the leadership would, as a matter of course, be thrown open.

"There is a feeling in the party ranks, many think, that a national convention should be called. It is just as probable as not that such a convention would confirm the Drew leadership should Mr. Drew decide to be a candidate for it again."

Reached in Guelph, Mr. Drew said he would not "comment on speculative stories of any kind."

Suggests Labor Enter Politics

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian labor was urged to engage in political action today by Toney Gallo, Chicago union executive.

Mr. Gallo, general secretary-treasurer of the AFL Cement Workers' Union, addressed the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada shortly before a debate was due on a proposal that the politically-neutral TLC take a more active part in politics.

"To neglect political action is to court political attack," said Mr. Galo, AFL fraternal delegate to the TLC.

Speaking of United States politics, Mr. Gallo said the wealthy are on the receiving end of a "gigatic give - away program" staged by Congress.

50,000 Men May Be Idle From GM Fire

DETROIT (AP) — The multi-million dollar General Motors transmission plant fire took its first big bite out of the company's vast auto production Thursday almost before the heat-curled steel girders had cooled.

These were other developments as state investigators joined plant officials and employees in probing the ruins from Wednesday's roaring blaze in suburban Livonia:

A third death, this one indirectly stemming from the fire, was reported.

State fire marshal Arnold Renner, calling it Michigan's costliest fire in history and estimating loss at nearly $50,000,000, said the huge, four-year-old plant was inadequately protected with automatic water sprinklers.

NO ESTIMATE GIVEN

General Motors gave no estimate of loss but said it would "substantially exceed" the coverage by insurance.

Officials of the various General Motors divisions dependent on the plant for automatic transmissions called their production men into emergency huddles to see what can be done.

Their estimates indicated that possibly 50,000 GM workers might be made idle by the cutoff of transmissions. But the picture was confused as to when the layoffs would come and for how long.

Richard Smith, 55, a Livonia fire department handyman, collapsed and died Thursday while helping to unload hose from a truck to quench the last smoldering embers.

Reds Admit Miners Crippling Production

BERLIN (AP)—The Communists said Thursday that rebellious miners are seriously crippling production in East Germany's only hard coal field, the foundation for its strategic industry.

The field, located in the Chemnitz area, regularly produces 3,000,000 tons a year.

Walter Buchheim, first secretary of the party in the area, said "in all mines there has been an important drop in daily output and none is filling its quota." He charged that slackness among Communist union officials was playing into the hands of the class enemy, meaning the West.

"The enemy not only has placed his agents and helpers in the hard coal industry," Buchheim continued, "but they are actively carrying on their disruptive tasks."

The Chemnitz coal area embraces Zwickau, Oelsnitz and Freital. The coal is indispensable to many German enterprises manufacturing machinery, chemicals and other strategic wares for the Soviet cold war economy.

Express Sympathy

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has instructed her ambassador in Athens to express sympathy to the Greek people over the earthquakes which are bringing death and destruction to three Greek islands, the external affairs department said today.

Hurricane Batters Eastern U.S. Coast Death Toll Light

NORFOLK, Va.—(AP)—The first hurricane of the season howled into Norfolk today after buffeting North Carolina's coastal regions throughout the night. Striking Norfolk at 7 a.m. EDT, the hurricane moved steadily northward and headed for southern New Jersey where it was expected to strike this afternoon. Hurricane warnings were displayed as far north as the Massachusetts coast. The Norfolk weather bureau reported shortly after 7 a.m. that the winds had begun to diminish, dropping to an average of 35 miles per hour with top gusts of 56 miles an hour. The wind had reached its peak at Norfolk at 4:30 a.m. with an average of 43 miles an hour and a top gust of 76 miles an hour. At Cape Henry the average velocity was 55 miles an hour. The hurricane itself bears winds up to 80 miles an hour over a small area near the centre and gales extend outward 140 miles.

Arrival of the hurricane coincided with low tides in the Hampton Roads area. The weather bureau said the tides were only a little above normal and a minimum of flooding was expected. Heavy rain squalls developed at 4 a. m. and continued for several hours.

HUNDREDS OF LINES DOWN

Police reported hundreds of power lines and telephone wires and a score of trees were blown down.

North Carolina fared worse under the beating of the wind, which reached 90 miles an hour, killing at least one man and injuring five other persons.

Power and communication lines were torn down, trees uprooted and broken, roofs and signs blown away. High tides and terrential rains flooded streets, highways and basements.

Forewarned, however, residents battened down everything that could be, evacuated the most dangerous areas and braced for the blow. Damage, as a result, was relatively light. Much of the North Carolina area swept by the storm is sparsely populated.

The long, sandy beaches from Wilmington to Kitty Hawk were packed with vacationers when the storm was reported. There was no general evacuation order, but thousands moved inland before the hurricane struck.

Houston Jernigan, 46-year-old Dunn, N.C., department store owner, was blown off a fishing

Earthquake Record

Here is the record of some of history's greatest earthquakes:

Port Royal, Jamaica, 1692—More than half city beneath sea.

Lisbon, 1755—City destroyed, over 50,000 lives lost.

Cutch, India, 1819 — Depressed an area of 2,000 square miles forming an inland sea.

Aleppo, 1822 — Destroyed city, 22,000 lives lost.

San Francisco, 1906 — 500 lives lost, great destruction of property by fire.

Kingston, Jamaica, 1907 — 1,400 lives lost.

Messina, 1908—77,000 lives lost.

Central Italy, 1915—30,000 lives lost.

Kansu, China, 1920—About 150,000 lives lost.

Tokyo, 1923—150,000 lives lost, property damage $4,500,000,000.

Kaoti, China, 1932—70,000 lives lost.

France Settles Down To Long, Bitter Struggle

PARIS (CP) — France settled down today to a bitter struggle between striking labor and economy-minded Premier Joseph Laniel. With millions already off their jobs, the walkouts spread to civilian workers in the arsenals, army hospitals and quartermaster outfits.

Only 80,000 workers were involved in the 24-hour walkout at the military installations, but they dramatized the unions' determination not to stop until Laniel abandoned plans to trim government payrolls and up the retirement age for the civil service.

With no end in sight, the railroads were still paralyzed, gas and electricity service diminished and the communication system tied in knots.

Employees in these and other government services, more than 1,000,000 workers, were out for an indefinite period. Their ranks were swelled Thursday by more than 3,000,000 others in numerous activities, public and private, who quit for 24 hours to support the civil servants' demands.

But Thursday's response to the strike call was only partially effective, indicating the wave might have reached its peak. Banks and insurance companies stayed open, as did department stores. The stock market functioned. So did most other private businesses, although all have been slowed by the lack of communications. Only in the meat working industry was the strike generally effective.

There still was no sign of any move to end the walkouts. The adamant unions already have widened their demands to include a call for a general wage increase. And Laniel, a millionaire textile manufacturer, insisted he would not be pressured into revoking his cost-cutting decrees. The government made no step to even negotiate.

U.S. Army and Air Force units in France set up their own "operation strike" to cope with the upheaval. They flung their own network of planes and buses across the country, keeping food, mail and personnel moving to fill their forces' needs.

New walkouts threatened. Newspaper workers were ordered out for 24 hours on Monday.

Third Canadian PoW Returned, Condition Good

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA CP)—A grinning red-haired Canadian soldier today celebrated his seventh wedding anniversary as well as his first day of freedom from a Red prison camp.

Pte. Thomas E. Rothwell, 27, of Dundas, Ont., third Canadian to be exchanged at Panmunjom, and eight Americans repatriated with him today were classed as sick or injured, but none was a litter case.
